Chapter 31 Special Relationship

The flashlight was facing Kathy at this time, and Joseph quickly took her into the car. Kathy looked at him worriedly, not realizing that she was holding his palm.

"Joseph, are you okay?"

There are a lot of rumors on the Internet, and she even saw a piece of news saying that if the patient wasn't saved in time, Joseph would be investigated.

As for how serious the consequence was, she was afraid that his reputation and achievements in recent years will all disappear.

The man always pressed his thin lips indifferently, and tightened his cold face.

He didn't answer, but asked her gently, "Why you come here?"

"I ..." Kathy kept silent. She didn't know why she came here.

Obviously she was going back to the Joseph Family, but she still ordered the driver to come.

"You are worrying me?" Joseph raised the hand that was tightly held by her.

Kathy recovered and immediately released his hand in embarrassment, but was caught by Joseph and could not struggle.

At this time, an automatic reminder came from the mobile phone, 'Joseph returned to the hospital today!'

Chapter 32 Didn't You Care about Him?

When he came back to the office, Jade came in and reported to Joseph the situation of the investigations over the past few days.

"Director, I have watched the video surveillance of the ward and this floor the previous week. There are no other suspicious people entered the ward. You can watch this video." Jade found out one of the surveillance videos.

Joseph pursed his thin lips. For a while, there is some helplessness in his eyes.

Lily was so willful. He actually had guessed that she secretly changed the medicine.

"I know."

"Director, shall I show this video to the dean?"

"No, she will wake up tonight."

In the afternoon, when Zohm knew that Joseph came to the hospital, he immediately entered nervously.

He didn't want Joseph to continue to treat Lily, but he was a professor of neurology, the leading medical talent in the country, and no one could compare with Joseph in neurology.

He couldn't even contact other doctors to replace Joseph.

"Do you really plan to be a phony couple with Dr. Joseph?" Alexia thought for a moment, and suddenly said.

Kathy frowned, "I really didn't plan to fall in love with him."

"Silly girl." Alexia showed a hopeless expression.

Kathy smiled, but she didn't put the things back. She could ask other fans to give Joseph the things later.

Alexia knew Kathy's thought, so she will not force Kathy to go with her to visit Dr. Joseph. However, Kathy grabbed her and asked, "Do you know Joseph's phone number?"

"You don't know?" Alexia froze again.

Kathy shook her head. It was her fault...

At first, Joseph gave her his business card, but there was no phone number on it.

"I also don't know. This is Dr. Joseph's private privacy." Alexia could not help her.

Kathy was a little lost. She went back to the villa and the bedroom was empty. After getting used to Joseph at home these days, she felt a little uncomfortable at this moment.

Chapter 34 Hold Me Tightly

At this time, Lily's voice came again from the cell phone, "Why you are holding Dr. Joseph's cell phone? Are you his nurse?"

Kathy picked up the phone. "Yes, Dr. Joseph is busy now."

Lily frowned, and always felt that the woman's voice was strange, with a strong nasal sound, as if she had just woken up.

But soon she shook her head again, absolutely not!

"Where did he go? I didn't see him in his office." Lily's face darkened.

Kathy frowned and looked at Joseph again, but he was already awake, watching her talking on the phone with a smile.

Her hand shook a little bit and the phone almost slipped.

Fearing that Joseph could speak, Kathy immediately said, "Dr. Joseph just went out and will go back later."

When she'd finished speaking, she handed Joseph the phone.

He just hung it up directly and dragged Kathy in his arms.

The warm sun shone in, and their bodies clung together.

"Now Grandpa is not here." Kathy reminded him and pushed Joseph with her hands.

The dean then came into Joseph's office, "This matter was discovered long ago? Why didn't you tell me?"

"Not necessary." Joseph's face was cold.

"... Forget it, now it's okay. The Smith's Family has promised to donate a new building to our hospital and said it's a compensation for you."

Joseph looked at the case and answered indifferently.

The dean understood Joseph's indifferent temper, and said nothing more.

Joseph began to treat patients this afternoon. Alexia had registered early and was watching the news while waiting.

"Finally, the truth became clear, and I knew that Dr. Joseph would not have taken the wrong medicine. That patient was going too far. She even took the medicine at random by herself!" Alexia said angrily.

Kathy also saw it, and couldn't help thinking of the phone call she got up and received today.

When she was lost in thought, Alexia had already dragged her into the consulting room. Joseph saw Kathy and frowned slightly.

Kathy did not look at him deliberately, but stood close to the door.

"There are no other symptoms after using this medicine, so you can stop using it." Joseph looked at the case.

At this time, there was a knock at the door, followed by a familiar voice, "Dr. Joseph!"

Although Joseph had let go, Kathy was still leaning on Joseph's arms. It seemed that they were intimate.

Lily looked at the two in front of her, and her face suddenly paled. She said angrily, "What are we doing?"

Her attitude made people feel like she was catching adultery.

Kathy stepped back immediately and kept a distance from Joseph.

There was a flicker of discontent in the man's eyes.

"This is my office. Didn't you see the word 'Do not disturb' outside?" Joseph's voice was extremely cold.

Lily held her fingertips, and was a little scared by Joseph's scolding.

But when she saw Kathy, she remembered that just now this woman was so close to Joseph and she was suddenly angry again.

"I am not your patient now." Lily said and walked in.

The two women looked at each other. Kathy frowned. Lily was very hostile to her.

Kathy was displeased and pushed him away.

At this time, the knock on the door sounded, and it was Jade who came in.

"Dr. Joseph, the dean asked you to go to a meeting."

Joseph nodded and looked at Kathy, "Wait for me to pick you up."

Kathy sat alone in the office. The condom next to her was conspicuous. She immediately took it over and put it in her bag. After she zipped up the bag, she called Alexia.

"Alexia... why you buy that thing!" Kathy said sullenly.

"You found it? Is it used?" Alexia asked with greater curiosity.

"You can't do that anymore. I don't know how Joseph thinks of me!" Kathy frowned.

Thinking of the expression Joseph looked at her just now, it seemed a bit ambiguous...

"Of course not." Peter looked away.

"At that time, it is you who want to have sex with me. Peter, you are responsible for me." Herbert said eloquently.

For Peter, she liked him earlier than Kathy. He must be hers.

"Herbert, don't get me wrong. I only like you now, believe me." Peter took her hand and said solemnly.

Herbert didn't let her guard down.

Back to Joseph's office, Kathy hadn't pushed the door open, and Lily next to her came to her. It was obvious that she was waiting for her.

She was wearing a hospital gown. She hadn't recovered, so her face was pale and her figure was even thinner. Nevertheless, her facial features were still amazingly beautiful.

"You are not Dr. Joseph's nurse." Lily used a positive tone.

Kathy paused and then pushed the door open, and Lily followed.

"I am Joseph's girlfriend." Kathy spoke naturally.

Lily pursed her lips. Her fingers trembled as she pointed at Kathy. For a while, she couldn't say a word.

Kathy didn't reply. After a while, Peter asked again, "Kathy, will you come?"

"No." Kathy replied.

After that, there was no more information from Peter.

Did this man deliberately make her sick?

Kathy was irritable for a while, put the phone aside and went into the shower.

When Joseph came in, Kathy's phone rang. The caller's name was not shown.

After a pause, he picked up the phone.

Chapter 40 It Has Nothing to do with You

Until the maid came knocking at the door, Kathy was recovered. She raised her foot and kicked Joseph.

The man frowned. His face was cold, and his body backed away.

Kathy looked at her feet, and it seemed that she had kicked important part...

She swallowed her saliva nervously and immediately grabbed the quilt and shrank. "I ... I didn't mean it! Go and open the door."

Joseph narrowed his eyes, " Mrs. Joseph, this may be related to the rest of your life. So, be gentle, understand? "

Kathy was stunned. What was he talking about?

The maid came to deliver milk to Kathy. She had the habit of drinking milk before going to bed.

Looking at Joseph's somber face, the servant looked down and left immediately.

Joseph's temper was fairly mild in the home. He was seldom angry.

"Drink it." Joseph's voice was a little cold.
