Chapter 361 Come Over to Me

At the Joseph Group, Herbert was waiting outside when Julian was leaving.

She didn't have much time left.

"Isn't this, Miss Herbert?" Julian's tone was cold.

"Julian, I won't let you go." Herbert looked at him resentfully.

Julian was so calm that he put his hands in his pockets and looked at her condescendingly, "I'd like to know what you can do to not let me go."

"If I go to jail, you will too."

Julian laughed out loud when he heard it, "Herbert, do you have the ability to do that?"

"I don't, but someone else can."

The coldness in Julian's eyes surfaced, and suddenly he grabbed Herbert's neck hard, "Do you dare?"

"What would I not dare to do!"

"Your father is still in the hospital," Julian reminded her.

Herbert widened her eyes. Since the Herbert Group got into a critical situation, Kingston had been hospitalized in bed.

What did Julian want to do...

"Herbert, before you do anything, think of your loved ones."

Julian loosened his hand, turned around and got into the car. His tone was cold to the extreme, he knew Herbert's weakness.

It was already winter, and the coldness was pervasive. Herbert slowly squatted down in front of the Joseph Group's entrance.

After a while, she calmed down and sent an email on her cell phone.

The next day at the hospital, John came over early in the morning, and his face was very anxious.

"Mr Joseph, Herbert is missing. Kingston passed away this morning."

Upon hearing this, Joseph's face got serious.

"What was the cause of death?"

"The report from the hospital is myocardial infarction."

"Check all the surveillance cameras from last night and track down Herbert," Joseph instructed.

"I got it."

Soon after, grandpa's video call came in, and Joseph answered.

The doctor stopped talking abruptly when he saw them in each other's arms.

"Umm..."

Kathy was already too embarrassed to raise her head. She didn't know how many people came in behind her. The feeling of being watched made her feel terribly humiliated.

"Help me up." Joseph's deep voice came into her ears.

Kathy regained her composure and stood up immediately. The doctor walked forward to help Joseph get up, checked his wound, and left after confirming that the wound had not reopened.

Kathy's face was red with embarrassment throughout this time.

"Have you still not hired a care giver?" Kathy asked in worry.

Under these circumstances, it was almost impossible for Joseph to take care of himself.

John was his assistant for work, it was not suitable for him to take care of him in his personal life too.

"No." Joseph answered coldly.

“ ... ”

“Didn’t Grandpa ask you to come and do that for me?” He asked.

“I... I don’t think it’s a good idea.”

“What if I pay you salary?” Joseph looked at her.

“Joseph, do you really need me that much?” Kathy looked up at him blankly.

She couldn’t understand him even more as time passed.

However, she knew that she also wanted to stay close to him.

“Yeah!” Joseph admitted openly.

“I will take care of you until you are discharged from the hospital. But it’s only because of Grandpa, you don’t need to pay me.”

“Kathy, you should think carefully about my proposal!” Joseph pinched her chin, his deep eyes twinkling.

Kathy was stunned. Was he talking about... remarriage?

“What proposal?”

“Remarriage.”

“Stop with your jokes.” Kathy pushed him away.

However, Joseph pulled her in his arms again, “At that time, I had no choice. Your safety is always more important, you know that, right?”

Kathy was looking at him with her eyes wide, her heart had stopped beating in a shock.

Because of Joseph’s attitude, she had always speculated that maybe he divorced her for her own safety.

Kathy had to go back to campus at night. Seeing that it was almost time to go, she picked up her purse.

“If you need anything, call the nurse.” She told him yet again.

Joseph hummed in response without looking up.

Seeing his indifferent attitude made her somewhat disappointed.

However, Kathy wasn’t able to leave at all.

The doorknob was not budging at all.

She frowned and turned around.

Joseph pressed the call bell, but even after waiting for a while, no one came.

Even the cellphones had no signals.

“Is anyone out there? Open the door!”

There were bodyguards stationed outside, but there was no response this time.

Kathy’s face turned pale. She turned to look at Joseph in panic, “Hurry, ask someone to come over.”

“Since we are trapped, just stay here.”

“ ... ”

“You didn’t plan this, right?” Kathy glared at him.

“How despicable do you think I am?” Joseph’s tone turned a little cold.

Kathy pursed her lips. Of course, she didn’t think that.

She was just too angry and anxious and the words slipped out.

She turned back at him, "Aren't you worried? We are trapped."

"I already have to stay here in the hospital."

Indeed, this incident had no effect on Joseph.

"I have to go back to school." Kathy said solemnly.

"Just skip research and development tomorrow."

"I have other things too." Kathy said avoiding his gaze.

The thought of staying in this room with Joseph over-night... was just... too much.

No, Absolutely no!

As he looked Kathy looking at him with defiance, his deep eyes darkened with gloom.

"Joseph, can you get the door opened or not?" Kathy looked at him expectantly.

“Can we go out now?” Kathy changed the subject.

After putting on her shoes neatly, she walked over to the door and twisted the handle, but it still would not open.

“Not yet,” replied Joseph who was behind her.

Kathy quirked her eyebrows, “How much longer?”

“You really don't want to be around me? Hmm?” Joseph’s voice became deeper and sounded cold.

Kathy looked at him and said, “Yes,”

On hearing this, the man’s expression became even more terrible.

Kathy sat on the sofa, several meters away from Joseph.

However, she could still clearly feel his anger.

What was he angry about?

Did he really care about her?

...

Half an hour later, a knock on the door could be heard, and Kathy turned around to see John enter.

Noticing that he had the keys in his hand, it was obvious he already knew about this matter.

“Mr. Joseph, Miss Kathy.” John greeted politely.

“Speak now.”

“Mr. Joseph, the shareholders' meeting has started, and Mr Mathew is hosting it.”

After explaining, he quickly handed over the tablet, which was broadcasting the shareholders' meeting live.

Kathy was packing her bag and planning to leave, but she caught a glimpse of Joseph... actually standing up!

He actually was able to stand up!

Although his leg that got injured was still wrapped in two casts, he didn't look like a wounded man at all.

Remembering when she hammered him yesterday, he did not have a big reaction.

Did Joseph fake his injury?

Kathy had a feeling of being deceived, her face sank, and she walked over to Joseph.
Then, she picked up the medical case next to him, but there was nothing written on it...

“I want to go to the Joseph’s Group now, would you like to go with me?” Joseph walked towards her.

Kathy’s attention was still resting on his leg.

“Your leg is still in injury!” She frowned.

“The doctor has wrapped it, it does not block my movement.”

Did Joseph lie to her just now?

She could not differentiate the credibility of his words...

“Is it okay?” Kathy asked.

“I can walk.”

After that, he held her hand imperiously.

Joseph walked fast, Kathy had to run a bit to follow up his steps.

"I have to go back to the campus," she kept struggling when she walked into the lift.

But she did not manage to get her hand out from Joseph's hand.

Joseph looked at her action, slightly darkened his face.

Just then, his phone rang. Joseph received the call.

His face was darkened gradually.

Kathy was shocked and did not move anymore.

"What happens?"

Joseph did not look well.

"Veronica is at the Hilton's Group."

After leaving the hospital, Joseph got up his car instantly, Kathy hesitated beside the car.

She worried about Joseph but it was the affair of Joseph's family, it had nothing to do with her.

"Get up my car, Kathy. Only you can comfort my emotion," Joseph said coldly.

After shutting the door, Kathy was still frowning.

She could not help worrying.

Joseph drove by himself at a high speed. When Kathy gained back her attention, she found Joseph's legs were stepping the accelerator agilely.

"Joseph, you lie to me!" Kathy was surprised.

She could affirm that Joseph was not suffered from a heavy injury, or...he had recovered long time ago.

Kathy nodded, Joseph had been waiting for her outside.
"I will go back by myself," Kathy frowned.
"It is 12 am now, there is no bus anymore. I will worry about your safety if you take a taxi by yourself," Joseph showed cool expression.
"Get on my car," he did not allow Kathy to hesitate and pushed her into the passenger seat.
When Joseph got up his car, he immediately helped Kathy to fasten the safety belt.
His long fingertip caressed her skin, Kathy shook slightly. When she looked up, her lips nearly touched Joseph's face.
There was a loving feeling spreading across the atmosphere. She moved backwards instinctively but Joseph held her head quickly and they kissed...
The recognized odour was smelt. Kathy tensed herself but Joseph had good skill, he made her relax.
He had a good understanding of her and controlled her easily.
Kathy looked at the handsome face in front of her, her breath was disrupted. Joseph kissed deeply...
She was unable to defend and so, she made up her mind to bite him.
Both of them could smell the blood.
Joseph did not get angry, he went away from her but his sights were glowing.

However, the breath became much intense.

Kathy knew him well, she quickly pushed his chest.

“You go away...” it was a scolding sentence but after Kathy said it, it became a soft sentence.

Joseph curved his thin lips, moved backwards and helped her to fasten the belt.

“It tastes sweet.”

“Gangster!” Kathy wiped her mouth.

The smell of blood and Joseph’s odour mixed together and lingered in the air.

When they reached the campus, Kathy quickly got down his car, she did not want to stay even for a second.

Kathy had just come back after a full day of classes. When she reached her dorm, she found half a dozen miscalls from Jennifer.

“Mom?”

“Billy has come to. Do you want to come visit him?” Jennifer couldn’t hide the exhaustion in her voice.

"No, I'm not close with him anyways," Kathy said in an expressionless tone.

"All right. Do you want to come over and have dinner together this weekend?" Jennifer asked.

"I'll have to check my schedule first," Kathy replied.

Hung up the phone, Kathy headed into the ward.

Done with the testimony, Billy decided to sue Veronica.

Jennifer wanted to stop him. "Billy, you hurt that girl yourself back then. Now you still want to get back on her?"

"Look what she did to me. You think I'll let her off? No, mom, I'll put her into jail. Only then will she learn the lesson." Billy said furiously.

Back when Veronica beat him up, she was really trying to beat him to death.

She will not let him off.

He could only strike first and get the upper hand.

"You will only get yourself in trouble with the Joseph family if you do this," Jennifer said.

"I'm already in bad terms with them anyways," Billy insisted.

"I'm saying this for your own good. You know the situation Hilton Group is in right now. If you let Veronica off, maybe they won't come after you." Jennifer.

"Mom, even if I let this slide, the Joseph family will definitely not let me off, they will only come at me harder." Billy.

Jennifer fell silent. She understood they needed to bring this whole affair with Veronica to an end for everyone's sake.

"Are you really going to sue her?" Jennifer.

"Yes!" Billy.

The Joseph family soon find out about the lawsuit.

Afternoon that day, Veronica was brought to the police station.

Joseph rushed there immediately, but Veronica was already under a temporary detainment with no bailment allowed.

Chapter 368 Falling into a Familiar Embrace

Kathy froze slightly as all traces of her anger were now seemingly gone like the wind.
She finished her meal very quickly, and soon she was about to go back to her classroom, but at that moment she was halted by Joseph.
"Help me to carry some of the exercise books here."
Kathy felt speechless when she heard that.
She had feeling that she had transformed into Joseph's assistant at that moment.
Nevertheless, he was still the professor, and she had no choice but to comply to him...
When Joseph saw Kathy's unwillingness which was evident on her face, Joseph stopped short in his tracks.
Kathy who was oblivious about this almost bumped into him.
Joseph cupped her forehead gently as Kathy fell into his embrace. She felt her face started to turn red as she leaned on his chest.
As the realization that they were in school struck her, she immediately pushed him away.
Despite that, Joseph looked like he had no intentions to let go of his hands.
Some nearby students were beginning to notice them...
"Joseph."
"Are you hurt?" He asked in a low voice.
"I'm not hurt, but let me go!"

Joseph chuckled when he heard that. He gazed at her, "Everybody has seen us, you know."

Kathy couldn't produce any response to that.

She pushed Joseph away hard and scurried forward.

Joseph was able to catch up with her in no time since he had long and slender legs. A look of infatuation slowly entered his gaze.

When they arrived at the classroom, Kathy hurriedly put down the exercise books and almost broke into a run as she returned to her seat.

Kathy didn't dare to distract herself in class, but ever so accidentally, her eyes would be locked with his.

After class, Joseph was seen huddled up by a great number of students, and Zofia was already there too since the beginning. However, she couldn't find the chance to talk to Joseph.

"Do those students really have so many questions?" She muttered while taking a seat beside Kathy to wait for her turn.

"After all, Joseph has been absent from school for a month."

"You're really fortunate to have Joseph teach you guys. I'm really jealous." Zofia said teasingly.

"What, are you planning to let Julian send you back?" Joseph asked coldly.

Kathy was terrified at the sound of his voice.

She wanted to retrieve her hand from Joseph's grip, but that only caused the grip to become stronger.

She frowned as she came to a halt.

"I was waiting for a taxi just now." She began to explain.

Suddenly, she recalled a trivial detail. She turned around and looked at that black car which was disappearing into the distance.

She had seen this exact same car before. It was the car that Herbert had gotten into as reported by the media.

At that time, she thought that this car belonged to Joseph. In hindsight, was the owner Julian all along?

"Don't ever have anything to do with Julian." Joseph narrowed his eyes and his face was very gloomy at that moment.

His intimidating aura successfully clammed Kathy up. However, she could see that Joseph's face was much mellower compared to before. At least, she was sure now that Joseph had never sided with Herbert all along.

"I don't have anything to do with him at all." She explained.

"Stay with me." After saying that, he motioned for Kathy to enter his car.

Kathy froze momentarily when she heard that.

She couldn't really comprehend the meaning behind his words nor did she get into his car.

"Mrs. Joseph." A familiar voice sounded by her ears, and Kathy felt her body slightly jerk.

She looked up and met Joseph's deep gaze and in the next instant, his burning kiss immediately consumed her.

She was almost breathless after being caught off guard.

While she wriggled around in his embrace, she felt her body slowly losing its strength. She was lying limply in his embrace and could only support her own weight by clinging to him.

"You've... you've gone too far." Kathy scolded him.

Joseph already carried her into his car as she said that. He helped her buckle up.

Kathy was very tired at that moment since she had experience five hours of surgery while being in a focused state. She would fall asleep at any minute.

“Have a good rest.” His long fingers glided over her brows and his tone was very gentle.

Kathy was trying to keep her eyes wide open but she couldn’t resist the comfortable ambience enveloping her. She finally gave herself up to the dream world.

The next time she opened her eyes, sunlight had dyed the sky a blinding white.

So it really happens...

She looked sideways but found no signs of Joseph. In fact, she was in her... hostel?

My Sweetheart

Chapter 370 Bone Chilling

Joseph's voice did not go away for a long time, and Billy only felt as if a bang had hit his head.

When Billy regained consciousness and looked outside, Joseph and Veronica were nowhere to be found.

"Rubbish! You all are useless!" Looking at the bodyguard flabbergasted at the side, Billy was furious.

At the corridor, Veronica was still struggling hard.

"I want to kill him." Veronica raged.

Joseph frowned, and his long legs paused in their tracks.

He turned his head and looked at Veronica coldly.

"Veronica, if you still think of me as your brother, stop those childish acts of yours!"

Veronica froze after what she heard what her brother said.

She was holding her tears back, and she was unsatisfied with it.

She knew all along that if Billy had wanted to sue her, she had no chance of winning.

Unless the past incidents were exposed.

"I... I really can't help it." Veronica muttered.

Veronica's head was filled with nothing but hatred.

"I won't let you go out again," Joseph said ruthlessly.

Not long after, Quinn Davis also came over. Knowing that Veronica was avoiding him intentionally, he was disappointed.

But he still came over and hugged her, "Don't you trust your brother and me?"

Veronica pursed her lips, she had the idea of destroying Billy for a long time.

She squatted down. Veronica felt dizzy and later passed out.

"Veronica!"

Joseph brought Veronica back to the hospital. At the door, the figure of Joseph was always frozen.

Kathy was standing not far away, clearly feeling his pain.

She wanted to approach but then hesitated.

At this time, he would be better alone.

When Kathy turned around, she heard Joseph's voice.

"Come here."

Kathy raised her eyes to Joseph's gaze. The emotions in Joseph's eyes were too complicated for her to understand.

"Thank you for informing me to come over," Joseph said in a deep voice.
