Chapter 401 She Was Always Wishful Thinking

When Kathy answered John's call, she was in the hospital. And she immediately came back to school.

Ella came back and they could explain this thing to the president right now.

But Kathy didn't expect that Ella was Sophie Fisher.

Seeing Kathy's surprised expression, Ella did not plan to explain. "I am not sure whether I can help you. I just want to help Joseph."

Ella was arrogant as usual.

"Anyway, thank you for coming to City N." Kathy softly said.

"I will stay at City N." Ella answered.

Kathy didn't pay more attention to her words. They came to the president office. John had got the video again and found the evident that it was edited again. And Ella also explained that when she got the surgical tools, she was told that they had been disinfected. So she told Kathy too.

"I need to confirm the specific situation about it." The president did not make the decision immediately.

Kathy frowned and planned to go to the hospital again.

She left the office and Ella left soon. When John was going to leave, Kathy stopped him.

"Is Joseph busy recently?" Kathy asked.

Now that Ella had come here, why didn't Joseph come back?

Did he need to deal with other things?

She really missed him all the time.

"Mr. Joseph was indeed busy." John embarrassingly said.

Actually he was not very busy. But John did not dare to speak more.

"Could you please help me thank him for finding Ella and asking her to help me?" Kathy said.

No matter what the final result was, she owed Joseph favor.

She even did not know how to pay him back.

"I will. Mrs. Kathy. I shall leave now." John soon caught up with Ella and respectfully drove her back.

Kathy clearly remembered it was Joseph's car.

"Did you have a fight with Joseph?" Zofia asked worriedly.

In fact, she also noticed these days that Kathy and Joseph seemed to have lost contact, let alone seeing Joseph appearing at school.

"No... maybe." Kathy frowned.

They didn't seem to have quarreled before.

She was not the type of person who would always lose temper. Joseph was also very gentle to her. There was no conflict when the two got along.

"Really? Why didn't I see him come here these days?"

"Maybe he is too busy."

"Maybe? You are his girlfriend, don't you know his whereabouts?" Zofia was even more surprised.

Kathy's face turned pale. Even in the days after they got married, she didn't really know about Joseph's whereabouts.

"What's wrong with you guys?"

"I don't know." Kathy held her chin. She and Joseph seemed to lose contact all of a sudden.

Maybe he hadn't taken their relationship seriously.

Probably it was always her wishful thinking.

"Did he cheat?"

"Huh?" Kathy frowned.

"He had time to have dinner with Ella recently but has no time to come to you... Isn't this cheating?" Zofia forwarded the news to Kathy.

The photos showed that Ella got into Joseph's car and the two had a meal together.

The angle of the photo was...really convincing.

Kathy's face turned pale suddenly, staring at Ella's hand which seemed to have held Joseph's arm.

After a long while, she snorted, "It turns out to be like this."

"Don't you know?" Zofia was even more surprised.

"I don't know."

"How could Joseph do this? Isn't he dating you! What a bastard!" Zofia scolded.

Especially at this time, Kathy might be dropped out of school, which was her hardest time. Joseph actually cheated on her!

As Kathy listened to them, her face became paler. If the hospital needed someone to be responsible for this accident, it must be her.

And Joseph insisted on performing this operation... Was it because of her?

To prevent her from being punished?

But soon this thought was ruled out by her again. Joseph was supposed to protect Ella, right?

After all, Ella was also involved in this matter.

Moreover, he and Ella had been very close recently. Maybe they were already together...

Kathy was quite confused at the moment. She had so many different thoughts, but she still didn't understand.

The operation had already begun, so she immediately ran to the office nervously, where the projector was showing the video of the operation.

Kathy was frightened while seeing every movement of Joseph.

Benedict was explaining his operation to everyone. All the people were holding their breath.

If the operation went well, Joseph would be considered a hero of the hospital.

Even the dean also came here. This was simply risking his career.

Finally, when the operation lasted for 55 minutes, Joseph finished the operation.

Only when the patient woke up today could the operation be considered a real success.

Now the work was half done.

Kathy breathed a sigh of relief, sitting stiffly. When the patient was transferred to the intensive care unit, she immediately followed.

But as soon as the patient's family saw her, they couldn't help but scold, "Why are you, an assistant physician, still here? Hasn't the hospital fired you yet? You can only bring harm to people!"

During this time, Kathy had already accustomed to these hurtful remarks. Now she was only worried about the patient's condition and Joseph...

Not long after, Joseph also came out of the operating room. On this day, everyone was waiting for the patient to wake up.

Kathy left the ward. Not far away, Ella was walking over in her high heels.

Seeing Kathy, she smiled and asked naturally, "Has Joseph finished the operation?"

"Yeah," Kathy murmured.

Mathew was waiting in the living room until mid-night.

The worried Veronica also stayed with Mathew.

Finally, there was someone walking near the door from the outside. Joseph was home now.

She called, "Joseph!"

Joseph had a frown and walked to them.

Matthew looked at him unhappily.

He gave Joseph a hard hit with his crutch when Joseph was near him.

Matthew shouted, "What are you doing? You plan to marry Ella. Why not tell me?"

In fact, he spoiled Joseph so badly that seldom got angry with him.

But now he was irritated too much!

Joseph did not avoid the hit, just saying, "Now you know it."

"Please give me a reason. Why did you decide to marry her?"

Joseph got along very well with Kathy for some time; now he decided to marry Ella!

Matthew did not believe that he was also the one who failed to know the truth.

Obviously, Joseph would not like to talk more about it, "Grandpa, I will explain to you another day."

Matthew was not satisfied with his answer after waiting long time.

He said angrily, "No, Joseph, give me a reason now!"

"No comments." Joseph only left the two words and went back to his own room.

It caused Matthew angrier to throw away his crutch.

Veronica looked at Matthew and then had a look at Joseph. What happened?

She held Matthew to go upstairs to sleep. After Matthew getting eased, she went to Joseph's room.

Kathy woke up at the noon time of the next day. Without any classes to attend today, she dared have much beer last night.

She only felt much headache after the hangover.

To her surprise, Kathy opened her eyes to see everything strange.

She remembered to stay with Sofia last night.

Where was she now?

Just thinking about it, someone walked to her room and knocked at the door. Then Bertie was in the room.

Today Bertie was in all-black dress. He said, “You got drunk yesterday.”

Kathy scratched her hair unhappily and said, “I know. But why am I here?”

She started to look at herself still getting dressed, which caused her feel assured.

Bertie frowned and walked towards her to say, “You are much drunk, so I have to take you to my home.”

He was getting closer with Kathy to bend over.

At the moment, Kathy was stunned by the inner overwhelming feeling of his presence.

She said, “I am sorry to disturb you last night.” and ready to get off the bed.

Bertie squatted and helped her get on her slippers.

His cool fingers touched Kathy who shivered with it and soon avoided him.

She said, "No, thank you. I can do it." and got the slippers from Bertie.

Bertie was surely upset by his hands being stopped. He held Kathy's wrist immediately and pushed her down on the bed. Kathy got laid and Bertie got on her soon.

Kathy was badly frightened by him.

She saw how angry Bertie was now.

Kathy was also in rage to say, "Bertie!"

Bertie would not like to be stopped further, pinching her chin to ask, "Kathy, why don't accept me?"

Kathy bit her lips, getting frightened by Bertie.

What she would like to do was to leave him as soon as possible.

Chapter 406 I Will Make Her Stay Put

Kathy went to the hospital in the afternoon. Benedict was holding a special consultation session today and hence she needed to be there.

On the way, she went to pick up some documents. Ella was on duty.

"Miss Bridges, I need these, please," said Kathy as she handed the form she filled out earlier.

Ella answered with a slight arrogance, "This form had some information crossed out on it. I need you to fill out a new one."

Kathy frowned, this wasn't a requirement she knew of.

But she needed to get the documents over soon, so she quickly filled out a new form.

Ella walked over to get some water. She deliberately bumped into Kathy and the water in the cup spilt all over.

The newly filled out form was now all wet and soggy.

Kathy looked grim, she knew that Ella did it on purpose!

Ella pretended to be apologetic, "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to..."

"Ella, I really need these documents. The professor has already started his consultation," said Kathy in a harsh tone.

But Ella moved slower than ever, "Even so, we still need to follow the protocol. I cannot give you special treatment, you know?"

"There's a camera here, it records everything you've done. I will complain about you if you keep interrupting my work on purpose. I think you are not officially employed yet, right Miss Bridges?"

Ella's face turned pale, she glared at Kathy angrily.

But she did notice that there was a camera and didn't dare to pull any stunts anymore.

She had some connections here, but she shouldn't be stirring up unnecessary trouble.

She grabbed the form that Kathy handed in from the start and found the documents that were needed.

"Thank you."

Kathy was only done with work around the evening. It was already nighttime by the time she finished up everything.

She planned to eat after she got back to the university. Unanticipatedly, she saw Joseph walking into the hospital building just when she was going to leave.

Their eyes met.

Kathy remained emotionless and she quickly looked away.

"Did you miss me all these while?" he asked in a low voice.

Kathy shook her head coldly.

"Are you not going to ask me anything?" He frowned.

"I knew everything already. There's nothing else to ask about," said Kathy bitterly.

Of course, she knew that Joseph was talking about him and Ella.

"I won't marry her," said Joseph as he stared at her intensely.

Kathy smiled and said, "It doesn't matter to me if you marry her or not."

She then tried to push him away with all her might.

She ran out of the office without looking back. Tears started to well up in her eyes and in the end, she couldn't help but started to bawl.

She wiped her eyes and took a deep breath, but she couldn't control her emotions. She found a corner and squatted down as she sniffled, though her tears began to come down like a waterfall.

"Joseph, you bastard!"

She grabbed a stone and threw it hard, trying to vent her anger.

The rock fell on a flawless and shiny pair of leather shoes.

"I'm sorry." Kathy apologized without looking up, she was still immersed in her negative emotions.

The shadow looming over her bent over and gave her a piece of tissue. The scent coming from the person was so very familiar.

She looked up and met Joseph's eyes, he was wearing a pained expression.

She had to be seeing things. Why would he feel pain for her?

He wouldn't possess such emotions.

Kathy thought briefly, she didn't take the tissue from him and she tried to run away.

But Joseph already hugged her tightly in his arms. His voice vibrated on the top of her head, "Trust me, okay?"

His voice was ever so enchanting.

Kathy was trembling, but her voice was still as cold as before, "Let go of me."

"I won't," answered Joseph aggressively.

This made Kathy more repulsive, she sounded furious when she said, "Joseph, we shouldn't be having any contact at all. You are getting married!"

She bit her lip and mustered her courage; inside the office, Kathy saw a bear-shaped doll on the desk.
She recalled the same bear was on Ella's shoulder bag.
A bitterness flashed by her eyes.
"Mr. Joseph, here is the report; if there is nothing else, I'll take my leave now."
As soon as she said these words, she turned around to leave.
But Joseph was even quicker; he pressed on his remote and locked the door.

Kathy's face turned white as she heard the sound of the door lock.

"What are you doing?" She lost all politeness from a while ago.

In a commanding voice, Joseph said, "I promised you a make-up lesson; we'll get started once I finish the matter on hand."

"No need, I can look over the course material by myself." Right now, she didn't want to be with him at all.

"Not up to you." Joseph said coldly.

"Mr. Joseph, are you biting off more than you can chew?" Kathy stared at him and mocked.

"We're just teacher and student, isn't that what you said?" Joseph raised his eyebrows.

"Yes, but who knows what you're thinking." Kathy whispered.

In a split second, he stood before her; he raised her chin and gazed deeply into her eyes.

"Do you want to know what I'm thinking?"

"No..."

Before she had a chance to finish, he kissed her lips, and pushed her words down her throat.

He...

She regained composure and smacked hard on his chest, trying to push him away.

But Joseph's strength was too great; Kathy couldn't move at all as he held her in his arms.

After a while, Joseph let go.

Kathy raised her hand and slapped Joseph with force. A flash of anger quickly ran by his eyes.

Ella stiffened and said timidly, "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to..."

"I'll send you back." Joseph frowned.

"So early!" Ella frowned, she wanted to spend more time with Joseph.

Although she knew that he didn't like her...

"Well, there's nothing for you to do if you stay." Joseph's face was indifferent.

"I can stay with Veronica." Ella said suddenly.

"She has to study for her exams, do you want to do it too?"

"I... I haven't started working at the hospital officially yet. I have to study!" Ella was looking for an excuse.

Veronica looked at Ella's nervous expression, and she thought to herself that Ella liked her brother a lot!

However, it was obvious that her brother did not have her in his eyes at all.

"Go back to the apartment and study on your own." Joseph did not give her a chance to refuse again.

He had to go back to The Joseph Group. He had to send Ella back to her apartment first and worked overtime at the Joseph Group at night.

When Kathy received a phone call from the head of the R&D department, she was just about to leave the hospital. There was a problem with yesterday's report, no one was available at the time, and Kathy was needed to go over to the Joseph Group to modify it.

The idea of going over to the Joseph Group was something that Kathy resisted.

Furthermore, the research report would directly be received by Joseph.

That could mean that Kathy needed to meet Joseph personally.

After a while, Kathy finally arrived at the top floor of the Joseph Group.

It was Sunday, there were not many people there, and the whole building was somewhat quiet.

"Miss Kathy, you're here." John was waiting at the door.

Kathy handed the report to John, "Assistant John, this is what I've already modified, please hand it in for me."

John showed a troubled look, "Miss Kathy, I think Mr Joseph will have some comments about it, it's safer for you to take it in yourself."

"Then tell me what he said after that." Kathy's attitude was resistant.

Chapter 410 You Couldn't Refuse

The guests who could attend the party were all rich or noble and had gone through strict identity checks, but Kathy's only had eyes on the food.

She didn't even seem to have eaten anything yet that day, and her stomach was already growling.

After noticing Zofia, she went over to the dining table.

She looked for a sit and sat down to relax her feet.

A tall black shadow suddenly appeared in front of her, and when she raised her eyes, she met Bertie Marshall's playful gaze.

"Mr Bertie." Kathy's attitude was distant.

Bertie pursed his thin lips and handed over a tissue, and his fingertips pointed to the corner of her mouth.

Kathy reacted and immediately took it and wiped the corner of her mouth. There was some tomato juice on it.

"Are you starving?" As soon as Kathy came in, Bertie noticed her.

Kathy didn't say anything, but in Bertie's eyes, it looked like she admitted to it.

He sat down next to Kathy. The spot was away from the most lively area.

"Has the internship been busy lately?" He sounded like he was concerned about a friend.

"Quite busy."

"When you first came to the Ocean University, why did you choose neurology?" This was a question that Bertie had wanted to ask for a long time.

Kathy's face was calm, and she said lightly, "No professor wanted me, only Professor Watson was willing to accept me, and he happened to be a professor of neurology."

Bertie frowned, Mr Watson... he had not been guiding postgraduate students for several years already.

However, he figured it out quickly, and it was probably related to Joseph.

"Still want to eat? I'll help you get something else."

After saying that, Bertie immediately helped Kathy to add food without waiting for her answer.

Kathy didn't take the plate Bertie handed over, "I'm full."

Bertie frowned, but he was not angry. He elegantly put down the plate, he gentlemanly bowed and reached out his right hand, "Miss Kathy, will you accompany me with a dance?"

"I... I can't." Kathy showed a troubled look on her face.

She didn't know how to dance...
