My Sweetheart

Chapter 411 Aren't You Afraid That I Will Come And Destroy The Venue?

Jennifer was very happy to see Kathy, knowing that Kathy had been very busy and hadn't had the time to call her.

"Sorry to trouble you, Bertie."

"I was going the same way, Kathy. I will pick you up when I go to school tomorrow." He said firmly.

Kathy frowned and said lightly, "No, I can go back by myself."

Jennifer looked at her daughter's cold expressions and sighed inwardly.

After Bertie left, she sat with Kathy on the sofa and asked with concern, "I heard a rumor that Joseph is going to marry Ella. Is it true?"

"I... I don't know." Kathy's expressions stiffen as she shook her head.

"Bertie's feelings towards you look sincere." Jennifer said solemnly.

"Mom, don't say this again ever. I didn't like him before, I don't like him now and I will never like him even in the future. Do you want me to marry him because his family is rich?" Kathy's tone dropped with her mood.

Jennifer paused for a bit.

Marrying him because his family is rich? The Booth family was strong enough now and they didn't need to do such things.

It was just that she didn't want her daughter to still be thinking about Joseph.

"No, I don't want that. Okay, you tell me what kind of person you want, and I will find him for you."

"Mom, I don't have any thoughts about marriage right now." Kathy rubbed her weary eyebrows.

"I am going upstairs to rest." She said and went up the stairs.

The next day, Kathy was woken up quite early by her phone ringing. It was from the hospital, asking her to come immediately.

Today was Joseph's first day at work. The hospital was understaffed and Kathy needed to temporarily fill in for the doctor's assistant.

"I..." Kathy froze.

Joseph's assistant?

Since it was a request from the hospital, she couldn't refuse and agreed to do it, and Mr. Waston agreed on it too.

By working beside Joseph, she could learn more.

She scratched her head, feeling irritable, then she washed up and went out without having breakfast with Jennifer.

Dylan looked directly at Kathy, unabashed. His looks were ordinary but his clothes were definitely high-class. His overall look was luxurious; his family must obviously be very wealthy.

Kathy, on the other hand, just came from school. She had no make-up on her face and was wearing a simple white t-shirt and jeans, looking much simpler.

"Are you still studying?" Dylan asked Kathy.

He was on the other side of Kathy, the two sat very close together.

"Well, yes." Kathy replied indifferently.

"Almost graduated, right? It's good! Perfect time to get married." Mrs. Lloyd was quite satisfied with Kathy.

Unlike her son's previous girlfriends who had heavy make-up and red lipstick on, Kathy looked simple and decent.

"I have no plans of getting married." Kathy's tone was slightly cold.

"Oh! No, no! I don't mean it. Of course, first you just have a nice time dating Dylan. No need to hurry."

"Mom, why don't you and Jennifer go back first and leave us to talk in peace. We are too embarrassed to talk with you guys here." Dylan smiled shyly.

"Okay, then you two talk. We will leave first."

Kathy's face showed reluctant expression.

After the two elders left, Kathy immediately stood up, "I'm sorry, but I have no plans to get married."

"Who is in a hurry to get married? Shouldn't we start from friendship first?" Dylan looked at her playfully.

Kathy didn't like the way he looked at her, as if she was already his girlfriend.

"No." She turned and left.

Despite her clear answer, Dylan caught up with her, saying, "You are not young anymore, and I know about your divorce."

Kathy stopped after hearing this, "Then I must not be of your standard, don't follow me anymore."

Dylan didn't leave, "Wrong! I don't mind the second marriage."

Kathy smiled sarcastically, "I am not interested in you."

"Isn't it a bit early to say that?" He said dissatisfiedly.

He didn't have much interest in Kathy, but he knew the power the Booth family held. This marriage was definitely going to help him in his career.

What he needed was exactly a woman like Kathy.

Joseph stopped in front of her and said, "You were nervous just now? Hm?"

Joseph was able sense how she was feeling just now.

"I'm fine." Kathy muttered.

She did not want to admit anything in front of Joseph.

“Sorry for troubling you today, Doctor Kathy.” Joseph then quickly left.

Kathy felt slightly baffled when she heard him call her that.

This was the first time that someone had called her that.

She was after all still just a student and an intern at the hospital. However, Joseph calling her by this name gave her a feeling of recognition.

The smile on her face spread.

However a second later Ella said coldly, “The patient needs to remain in the hospital for observation, so tonight you need to stay on duty.”

The way she said this made it seem like she was a superior giving an order.

Kathy frowned, for she had always known what her job obligations were, and the person to stay on duty was Ella therefore she would not agree to this.

“Miss Bridges, I am scheduled to work tomorrow morning. In addition, I think you need to consider what your position is before you can expect me to follow your orders.”

After she said this she quickly returned to the office and wrote down the notes regarding today’s surgery.

Just as she was about to leave, Joseph walked in holding his white doctor’s coat that he had just taken off.

Kathy handed the report over to him and said, “Dr Joseph, here are the written notes regarding today’s surgery.”

“Ok.” Joseph responded but didn’t look at it straight away.

“Would you like to eat with me in a bit?” His flat tone made it seem as if he was just casually asking.

Kathy’s face froze and she quickly shook her head.

“I need to go back to my school.”

“Then how about I drop you off there?”

“It’s not on your way.” Kathy was trying to find an excuse.

Once she had packed her bag she quickly walked out.

"Why are you the only one?" There was a dissatisfied look in Joseph's eyes.

"I'm ready to go too."

"Are you working late?" Joseph asked.

"Not really. I just didn't pay attention to the time." Kathy whispered.

Once she got focused, she always forgot everything around her.

She didn't mean to work late. But by the time she got things done, it was already late.

"Or are you waiting for me?" Joseph, however, acted as if he hadn't heard her. He forced her almost to the wall and then raised his long arm. Kathy was completely trapped in the crook of his arm.

She was almost indulging in the cold aura that belonged exclusively to Joseph.

She turned her head away, not wanting to look at him.

But he was holding her chin, and she had to meet his deep gaze. His black eyes clearly reflected her blushing face.

His thin lips curled into a smile, "Are you afraid of me?"

"Of course not, Mr. Joseph, I just want to go back to school." Kathy scowled.

"I'm getting married to Ella tomorrow. Aren't you sad?" Joseph asked her in a grim tone as if he hadn't heard her.

Hearing what he said, Kathy was still indifferent, "Mr. Joseph, do you want to see me cry? Sorry, you're going to be disappointed."

At this moment, there was a cell phone ringing. It was Joseph's cell phone.

He frowned and took out his phone from his pocket. The caller ID was - Ella.

Kathy pushed him away hard almost immediately.

Only when she got to the door she found that it was locked.

She turned her head to find Joseph already picking up the phone.

"Joseph, are you still at the office? I haven't seen you."

"Yes." Joseph's face was cold.

"I ... want to see you. I'm so nervous ..."

She was so uneasy for the past few days. The wedding date was getting closer and closer, and everything was ready.

But she couldn't even see Joseph once these days. Only she and Veronica were preparing everything.

Sunday, nine o'clock in the morning.

Since Joseph kept staying in the office, Veronica called him worriedly as she failed to wait for him to come to the hotel.

“I'll be there later.”

After that, he finally realized that since last night, he just sat on the sofa and did not went to sleep.

His mind was preoccupied with the rejection given by Kathy.

As he tiredly pinched his eyebrows, he instructed John to come in.

After he changed into the groom's wear, he departed from the company.

John looked at the boss apprehensively, today should be President Joseph's great day, but his expression was extremely cold.

He even worked overtime a day before his wedding.

John did not dare to ask anything and continued driving.

Hotel at City N.

The makeup artist was applying makeup on Ella, she wanted to raise a smile, but couldn't.

The groom and bride were not allowed to meet before the wedding, but she was very worried as she did not see Joseph last night.

This mood lasted until Reece came over.

He was dressed in a navy-blue custom-made suit which made him looked elegant and dignified.

It was just that Ella knew him too well, he was just like a wolf in a sheep's clothing.

“You're here.” Ella said indifferently.

“It's your heart's desire to finally marry Joseph.” Reece approached and looked at his beautiful sister in the mirror.

Although she was still a bit young, after this year of conditioning, she became more mature and charming.

She was a beauty indeed.

“Yes, it is, thank you brother.” Ella raised a false smile.

“I'm going for a walk outside, call me if there is any problem.” Reece turned around and went out.

Ella's smiling face gradually disappeared.

Time passed, and it was getting closer and closer to the time of the wedding.

Ella called the bridesmaids in, “How is it going with Joseph?”

“Mr. Joseph is already outside.”

“Then let's head out.”

When they reached the doorway at the hotel, Kathy said to the man beside her, “Thank you.”
Reece nodded indifferently. When he raised his vision, he immediately met with a sharp gaze.
Joseph was staring at him coldly from a distance away.
Curling his lips slightly, Reece asked Kathy,
“Do you want me to send you back?”
“It’s okay, I’ve already gave you a lot of trouble today,” Kathy replied.
With that said, she quickly headed for the door. However, a familiar figure emerged in front of her.
Black suit, white shirt, and the aloof good-looking features.
He was standing in her way.
Why... why was he here?
Thousands of thoughts ran through Kathy’s mind in that instant, and one stood out particularly- he didn’t marry Ella.

But she just couldn't believe it.

She said in an indifferent tone, "Can you let me through?"

Joseph frowned and didn't move an inch.

His expression in his eyes gradually darkened.

His menacing aura trembled Kathy.

"Joseph," she said in a colder tone.

Their interaction attracted some passers-by's attention.

"Hmm." After a short while, he slowly moved towards the car at the door, which had been long waiting for him.

As she watched him left, Kathy felt Joseph was so lonely at that moment.

But how was that possible.

Wasn't he supposed to be with Ella right now?

Why was he leaving by himself...?

Kathy looked at him leaving in a daze until he was out of her sight.

In the car not far away, Joseph was sitting in the back seat, looking at the slim figure in the rearview mirror.

"Mr. Joseph, the meeting is about to begin."

John in the driver's seat couldn't help but speak.

After hearing this, Joseph withdrew his gaze indifferently.

At the Booth family.

Recently, a lot of things had happened to the Booth Group. When Kathy came over, many shareholders of the Booth Group were also there, including Bertie.

Kathy felt a little out of place on such occasions.

Bertie Marshal walked towards her, "Mrs. Booth is in a meeting. She has not been to the company recently because she is sick. She is working at home."

"What's wrong with mom?" Kathy asked worriedly.

She knew that Jennifer Booth had always been in poor health.

"They're all old problems. She's been very weak since she had the car accident. If you have time, you should come back to see her more. Now Billy Hilton has broken off with her, and no one takes care of her."

"I will." Kathy nodded. "When will mom finish?"

Bertie looked at the time. "Soon."

Kathy went for a walk in the garden alone, and subconsciously opened a news page to see the current situation of the Joseph's Group.

However, she didn't see anything about the Joseph's Group, but got news about The Hilton Group.

With the recent investment into the company, The Hilton Group had reorganized its industrial chain. The current momentum of development was very strong, and it was gradually turning the corner.

Kathy stopped looking at it, because she didn't want to pay attention to The Hilton Group.

At this moment, there was a long shadow shrouded in front of her and a familiar voice sounded in her ears, "Miss. Kathy, we meet again."

The displeasure flashed across Kathy's eyes. She raised her eyes and saw Dylan.

"Why are you here?"

"Mrs. Booth invited me over for dinner."

Kathy frowned, looked at the time and went to the main building.

Dylan looked at her indifferent face just now. He rubbed his chin and narrowed his eyes.

Obviously, at this moment, the reporters below the stage were also surprised and had asked Julian what he intended to do.

He looked at the reporters around with a faint smile, "The Joseph's Group is now in charged by my younger brother. I am not related to the Joseph's Group anymore. Please correct my identity. I am now Hilton Group's deputy general manager."

"No wonder Mr Joseph is not coming over. His brother even joined a rival company. He is too much." Sia huffed.

Kathy face was indifferent, even from a distance away, she clearly felt that there was hatred behind Julian's word for the Joseph's group.

He joined Hilton Group, so it was inevitable that they would work together to compete with the Joseph's Group.

Joseph was aware of this long ago. When he got off the plane, a bunch of reporters had surrounded the airport exit.

He was wearing black clothes and pants, releasing an intimidating aura.

He was so cold that people didn't dare to approach him.

"Mr Joseph, what do you think about Julian's move to join Hilton Group?"

"I heard that earlier, he wanted to seize your power, and you assigned him to North Africa. Did he come back to take revenge on you?"

"Hilton Group has always been Joseph's Group competitor. Now that Julian had joined Hilton Group, is he in the position to compete with the Joseph's Group?"

The reporters' words were harsher than one another, but Joseph remained calm, a cold aura spread from him.

The bodyguards were already opening the way for him. And just right before getting into the car, he gloomily said something.

"Whether it's the Joseph's Group or the family, there's no room for people who betrays."

The news screen was live. Kathy looked at the handsome man on the phone screen and smiled.

"Mr Joseph is so handsome! That scum, Julian, will definitely not threaten the Joseph's Group." Sia next to her was fantasizing.

Joseph was really too handsome!

"Well, it definitely won't." Kathy nodded her head.

At this time, a figure came in front of her, and she looked at Billy Hilton, her eyebrows furrowed up.

"You're now one of the Booth family. Could you treat yourself better?" Bertie Marshall sighed.

Although Kathy had returned to the Booth family, her lifestyle remained unchanged.

"I'm used to live like this. I don't want to make any changes."

"Kathy, you will change your mind."

Kathy did not know that Bertie's word would come true in the future.

In Joseph's house, when Mathew knew that Joseph did not marry Ella, he was relieved.

He planned to return to City N, but his schedule was packed, and could not leave.

In the living room, Joseph and Veronica were video calling Mathew.

"Grandpa, Joseph didn't tell us about the cancellation of his wedding. I've worried for a long time!"

"You don't need to worry about it. All you need to do is prepare for your examination. I'll handle my own stuff."

"I'm scared that you will be cheated by the Bridges family!" Veronica mumbled.

Joseph was her favorite brother. When Joseph was married, Veronica felt emptiness.

Unless she was satisfied with her sister-in-law!

"Am I that silly?" Joseph frowned.

Veronica silenced. She thought that Joseph was silly when he fell in love with Kathy.

Joseph knew what she was thinking. When he recalled Kathy's calm face, he was surprised.

"Joseph, you cheated the Bridges family's member, they may have further action on you." Mathew reminded. He understood Joseph's mind exactly.

Joseph wanted to investigate the Bridges family's background, so he announced that he would marry Ella.

"Yeah. Although the Bridges family's power was not mainly in City N, I'll still take note of it."

Joseph ended the video call. When he was going to enter his room, Veronica stopped him.

"Billy is stupid." Bertie shook his head and said with a mocking expression.

"He will be convicted, right?" Kathy said lightly.

"Well, with something like this happened, he couldn't play innocent anymore." Bertie said, "However, I didn't expect this day will come so soon, after all, the Hilton Group just got the financing."

Kathy didn't understand about business, nor care about Billy being convicted. She just got surprised hearing Billy got in trouble suddenly.

Seeing Joseph went inside, Kathy didn't say more, she got out of the car.

But Bertie suddenly said to her, "I will pick you up after work."

"Mr. Marshall, please park your car further," Kathy said coldly.

Bertie smiled, "I will try my best."

At the same time, on the top floor of the Joseph's Group,

John came to work early in the morning. When he saw his boss Joseph came in, he immediately handed the tablet over.

"Mr. Joseph, this is the news of the Hilton Group today."

Joseph took it and glanced indifferently.

"Who reports this incident?"

The Joseph's Group had known about this incident for a long time, but Joseph hid the news because it was not the time to defeat the Hilton Group yet.

"It should have been reported by someone who works in the Hilton Group."

"It's the person who invested the Hilton Group secretly."

After a long while, Joseph said coldly, "Is Reece still in City N now?"

"He is in the Bridges residence in country C. Mr. Joseph, Reece invited you to meet him."

Hearing this, Joseph rubbed his chin with his fingertips, then he murmured coldly with a cold and scary smile, "Reece."

In the evening, it was almost ten o'clock when Kathy left the Joseph's Group.

Bertie called her several times, but she only saw it when she was off work.

While walking into the elevator, she called Bertie back, without noticing that there was someone else standing next to her.

"Bertie."

"Are you off work now?" Bertie said with a cold voice.
