Chapter 481 Hard to Control

"Julian is kind of doomed now. Now HY Group is bankrupt and he's in jail." Kathy said lightly.

She knew the resentment between Joseph and Julian. Given Joseph's tactics, there was a good chance that he would not give Julian a chance to get out of prison either.

"But with Joseph inheriting the Joseph's Group, he won't be able to be a doctor anymore. The Joseph's Group has so many properties, he can't keep up with them, I guess."

"He still has weekly sessions, but Mathew doesn't approve of him doing that." Thinking about what Mathew had told her, Kathy sighed in annoyance.

And at this moment, Mathew and Veronica came together. They were both from the Joseph family. Many guests came up to talk to them.

Suddenly Kathy was not in the mood for anything.

It wasn't long before a tall man came this way. Seeing Reece, there was a flash of displeasure in Kathy's eyes.

"Miss Kathy," Reece's low, attractive voice was impressive.

Of course, Alexia remembered him. She glanced at Kathy and noticed her face was indifferent as hell.

Kathy nodded faintly in response.

"You didn't go in the ballroom. You prefer the quiet, don't you? It just so happens that I do too." With that, Reece took a seat in the swivel chair opposite them.

His every move was elegant and dignified, giving the impression of being a gentleman enough.

With Reece next to them, both Kathy and Alexia were out of the mood for conversation.

Alexia put her glass down, glared at Reece, and walked in with Kathy on her arm.

Reece, who had been left behind, frowned. He tightened his fingertips as he held his glass.

"Kathy, that Reece makes me feel weird." Alexia looked at the man's back. She couldn't help but feel that he was very cunning.

"You don't want to have too much contact with him anyway," Kathy warned.

The star of the party was Joseph, but also Mathew.

He was on crutches and old, but at the moment he was still sort of in good spirits.

"Grandpa, I told you to stay home and rest. Why did you come over here?" Joseph was a little disgruntled.

With a stern face, Joseph gazed at Ella with fury.

Clenching his fist, he thought of the glass of wine the waiter had passed him a while ago.

"Did Grandpa ask you to come?" He didn't answer Ella's question but asked grimly instead.

Ella was startled by Joseph's cold aura.

But she was not going to waste her effort after all she had done to get to this point.

"I came because I want to, Joseph. You're now the president of the Joseph's Group. You should be staying with woman who's worthy of you," she said.

"What makes you think you're worthy of me?" Joseph cut her off.

"I'm the daughter from the Bridges family, I'm the only woman who's worthy of you!" she added.

Joseph smirked. He pinched Ella's chin and pushed her to the ground relentlessly.

The strap of Ella's nightgown fell off from her shoulders. Her smooth fair skin was seductive.

But Joseph didn't lay his gaze on her for even one second.

As Joseph walked towards the balcony, Ella went after him and hugged him from behind.

"Joseph... aren't you going to comply with your grandfather? He wants us to get married too."

She could tell Joseph was actually pleased with her as a woman.

She didn't know what agreement had her brother made with Joseph that he brought her here to sleep with Joseph.

But it didn't matter as long as she got Joseph.

"That's what my grandfather wants, not what I want," Joseph said expressionlessly.

He still had an excellent self-control even though he was drugged.

He yanked Ella's hand off him and his gaze turned darker, "Don't make me repeat myself again, Ella. Get away from me!"

This was the first time Ella saw Joseph in such a ferocious state. He was looking at her with the gaze of utter loath.

But... this was her only chance.

"No, Joseph. I must sleep with you tonight!" she yelled.

Joseph felt like tearing Kathy's clothes apart when he laid his hands on her.

But he had to control himself.

His self-control was crumbling in front of the woman he loved the most.

But it seemed Kathy didn't want to do it, so he just cuddled her. That was enough to help him feel better.

Kathy could sense Joseph suffering, but she was really not in the mood...

But she couldn't bear to see Joseph being tortured like this either.

"Joseph, let's do it."

She raised her head and looked into Joseph's eyes. Gritting her teeth, she put her lips on his.

Joseph narrowed his eyes. He couldn't resist Kathy's initiative. With his hand cupping the back of her head, he lied her down under him...

Outside the hotel.

Looking at his unconscious sister, Reece's eyes were grim.

“To the hospital,” he told the driver.

On the way, he got a phone call from Mathew.

“Pleasure working with you, Mr. Bridges.”

“Mr. Mathew, the plan has failed. Ella is unconscious by my side right now.”

“What? My grandson was drugged, it’s impossible for him to hold himself back with that influence.”

“Joseph’s self-control is beyond our expectations,” Reece said blandly.

That drug was developed by the Bridges family in the early days. He was the only person who could resist the influence of the drug.

But now it seemed Joseph was the second person who could do that.

“I’ll handle things on my side. Please propose the marriage date soon.” Reece’s tone was authoritative as usual.

Ella came to the moment Reece hang up the phone. The wound on her forehead was roughly taken care of, but it was still painful.

“Reece?”

“Joseph didn’t touch you?” Reece narrowed his eyes.

A coat was put on Ella at this moment. But Reece already saw it. There was no sign of shagging underneath that coat.

Chapter 484 It Was A Transnational Love!

Kathy looked down at the ring on her hand while Joseph's large palm was wrapping around her small hand, and on his middle finger, he was wearing a ring as well.

"Joseph! I don't even agree to marry you!" Recovering from her surprise, Kathy glared at him angrily.

For Joseph, she was completely charming and attractive.

Pulling her into his arm, Joseph then gave her a kiss on her ear while murmuring, "Kathy, if you don't want to get married, I can wait, but you can only be mine."

Joseph's words which were domineering made Kathy couldn't hold herself back to smile at him.

Unknowingly, she was again pressed onto the sofa by Joseph. Her bright eyes looked at Joseph and she was counting inside her heart that two months had passed since she and Joseph had fallen in love.

Although the engagement was fast, it seemed like there was no way to refuse, then accepted it!

She then wrapped her arms around Joseph's neck, "Oops, you cheat me and own me again!"

"Cheat? When do I cheat you?" Joseph discontentedly pinched her chin.

"Isn't? I don't even say a yes and you have put the ring on me!"

"Well, it is also a skill to cheat, isn't?" The smile on Joseph's face grew bigger and bigger.

Hammering his chest, Kathy said, "Yes, yes, yes, Professor Joseph is the most capable!"

As the night gradually fall, Joseph kissed on Kathy and both of them were touching and playing with each other for a while, it was getting dark outside.

By the time the two left the room and had a light snack at the Chinese restaurant, it was just about time for dinner.

Just after ordering, Veronica's phone call came through.

"Brother, when are you coming back?" Veronica asked apprehensively.

She didn't know what had happened yesterday as she didn't attend the dinner.

However, grandpa had been in a bad mood since he came back and brother hadn't come back yet, so she felt that there should be something wrong.

And just a moment ago, grandpa had dropped the word to inform Joseph to come back for dinner together, so she could only call her brother.

“Tonight.”

“Can it be now?”

“Two hours later. What does grandpa make fuss about?” Joseph frowned.

“Nothing, he means to wait for you coming back for dinner together.”

After going back to the hostel, Zofia found the ring on Kathy's finger.

"Hey, what happened?"

"Joseph said that we will make engagement first," Kathy smiled happily and shared the good news.

"The progress is fast. When is the engagement?"

"We make it next week tentatively," Kathy smiled.

"Why don't you remarry?"

Kathy stunned for a while, "Hmmm, I told Joseph that I want to prepare for marriage only after I graduate."

Now, she wanted to focus on her study.

"It is two years from now, can Joseph wait for you? There are a lot of women coveting him, queuing from the north to the south of the city."

"I trust him."

"Alright, I believe that both of you love each other very much, I will look forward to your engagement."

Two days later, Joseph sent the proposal of their engagement to Kathy. It came from the creative idea of the PR department of the company.

The engagement location was located at the coastal city near City N. They would hold their engagement on the beach.

But Kathy thought that it was...too extravagant.

She just wanted the engagement to be simple.

She told Joseph her idea, "I think it is better if we just have a meal with our friends and announce our engagement. No need to make it so grand."

After hearing that, Joseph frowned, they skipped this step before. So, he wanted to hold a grand engagement for her to fulfil the missed step.

"In my opinion, this engagement is similar to the formal wedding," Joseph looked at her.

Kathy stunned, if it was a wedding, she also wanted it to be...simple.

Her grandfather was alive on her first wedding, they had to hold a grand wedding to serve the guests in order to maintain the two families' reputation. In fact, she would like to have her wedding to be attended by her best friends and family members only. Then, she wanted to make a promise with Joseph under their witness.

That was enough.

Chapter 486 Challenging My Patience

According to the GPS provided by John, Joseph drove over to the West Suburban. The GPS showed that Kathy's phone was on this road. But after going around several times, he didn't see her.

After a while, he stopped in front of a rubbish bin.

After kicking over the bin, he squatted down and found a white mobile phone.

When he opened the phone, a note popped up automatically. The note was written with "Before night falls, I will ask you out alone."

She would not have lost her phone on her own unless it had been robbed.

He threw the phone away huffily and picked it up again after calming down.

He called John, "Check Julian's location for me."

He later went over to the nearest bureau. The Joseph family's status was powerful enough, and the chief personally came out to greet him.

Joseph said indifferently, "I need the road surveillance from Sea Road to LY Road this afternoon."

Sitting in front of the computer, he looked at the screen. He stopped the surveillance footage during the period of 4 pm.

Stopping the progress bar, he saw Julian's figure and targeted the license plate number.

At this time, an apartment in the West Suburban.

The surrounding was very dark when Kathy opened her eyes. She wondered since when she passed out.

She felt the pain on her neck, thinking that it should be Julian who had did something to her.

"How is it here?" A familiar voice sounded next to her, and he was standing just a few meters away from her.

She had already remembered what had happened earlier and said coldly, "You're crazy."

The door was pushed open completely and Kathy could gradually clearly see Joseph's full figure, until the sight of him was ingrained into Kathy's eyes.

He gazed her for an incredibly brief moment, but Kathy still managed to see his worry.

It was more than enough.

Joseph turned his gaze to Julian.

"Tsk, you really are a member of the family to find this place so swiftly." Julian moved to behind Kathy to keep a safe distance.

"We're not family anymore, Julian," Joseph briefly said.

These words must have irked Julian; he began to shout uncontrollably, "Who says I'm not a member of the Joseph family! I'm the son of Diego Joseph! My last name is Joseph! Even if I'm an illegitimate child, I'm still a member of the family!"

"Julian, just accept the facts; Diego is now in jail; your only supporting pillar is long gone."

"No! Who says I have no support! Your woman is in my hands, Joseph; if you don't find a way to free me, don't expect her to live."

Kathy was scared stiff; the cold gun on the side of her head made her subconsciously look up.

The man standing before her was still dressed in his typical white clothes and black pants, with a cold expression on his face and radiating an aura of coldness.

His sight was fixed on Kathy, staring at her deeply.

His anger swelled and was slowly waiting to explode.

Kathy slightly moved and regained composure; she wanted to break free from Julian's grasp, but the eminent danger of being shot made her afraid to move again.

Even though she has lived for so many years, this was the first time that she has faced such a predicament. Right now, her eyes slowly began to turn red as she began to tear up; she was completely unable to control her emotions.

She wasn't even scared prior to Joseph arrival, since she knew that he would come save her, so she didn't think the situation was that threatening. As long as Joseph was around, everything could be resolved, anything was possible.

In her heart, he was always the strongest, most capable person.

Chapter 488 An Island as a Gift

Kathy was in a state of astonishment as if she was trapped in a nightmare, she could barely walk.

There was a strong scent of blood that triggered her smell. It was Julian's blood, it was terrifying.

The sniper aimed to the slight right of Julian's heart. Even though it was not fatal, but Julian still fainted.

All of a sudden, Kathy's wrist was being held by a big warm hand. When she looked up, she stood excitedly then rushed into Joseph's arms.

At this moment, she finally let go of all the emotions that she was holding. She was trembling in fear but when she hugged Joseph, she calmed down.

Her eyes were already red. She was too frightened to look at Julian. Joseph then left with Kathy while his arm was around her, "Kathy, I'm always here."

She absent-mindedly nodded her head. She already knew that.

She trusted Joseph.

When they left the apartment, Lincoln Fletcher and Johnson came to check on them. They were relieved when they saw Joseph accompanying Kathy out of the apartment.

There was blood on Kathy's arms. Lincoln volunteered to send her to the hospital because he thought she was hurt, but Joseph stopped him.

"That is Julian's blood. Please send him to the hospital and clean this place."

They carried Kathy to the car.

When they arrived at Joseph Bay, Kathy instantly went to take a shower. Joseph wanted to come in, but Kathy stopped him.

The blood on her arm was there for quite a long time, even the shower water was dyed blood red. She could not help but recalled the time when Julian fainted next to her. Although she knew that he would be fine, she was still traumatized.

Joseph already had a thorough plan.

But she was afraid.

After showering for an hour, she finally came out. Joseph kept standing in front of the door. There was tiredness that could not be concealed on his handsome face.

Within a second, Joseph dragged her into his arms while breathing heavily onto her scalp. He said with a hoarse voice, "Kathy, are you afraid?"

Kathy forced out a smile and said, "I am fine. Everything is settled, right..."

"I am worried." Joseph expressed his emotions in front of Kathy.

He was very calm when he was confronting Julian. But when he was with Kathy, his self-control vanished.

"Joseph, I know that you will save me, so I am not afraid," Kathy said aloud and solemnly.

Chapter 489 They Were Here, Together

Joseph saw the shyness shown by Kathy, he hid his smile deeply and said purposely, "Are you feeling hot? Why your face so red?"

After hearing Joseph's mischievous words, Kathy did not bother him and simply walked in front.

They walked barefoot on the beach, the sky-blue seawater reached them following by the wave, they felt a sense of coldness on their feet.

The seawater near the shore was floated by a lot of seaweeds, they tangled Kathy's foot and stuck on her leg, she felt itchy yet comfortable.

Joseph walked towards Kathy and asked, "Can you swim?"

"Of course, I am a part of the school swimming team before!" Kathy said proudly.

"The last place?" Joseph said mischievously.

Kathy stared at him, "Let's have a swim!"

"Ok," Joseph smiled dotingly.

Kathy wore her goggles, the seawater went over her arm followed by her shoulder and finally her head.

Kathy felt like she was a fish, wrapped by the seawater tightly.

She did not swim for a long time, Joseph was beside her. He was obviously following her steps.

Through the goggles and seawater, Kathy saw the handsome man beside her without blinking. He swam ahead of her a bit, she then tried to catch up, they kept chasing after each other.

Kathy banged into something unknown when her sight rest on Joseph. She did not manage to adjust her breath and choked by the water.

The salty seawater lingered in her mouth and made Kathy feel a sense of sourness and pain in her nose.

She struggled instinctively but realized that she had been lifted up.

Kathy took off her goggles and looked at Joseph with embarrassment. Her nose was painful, she could not hold back her tears.

Joseph kissed her instantly and licked her tears.

Chapter 490 I'm Yours, I Won't Leave You

"Do you mean I'm old? Huh?" Joseph's tone was even more sepulchral.

"That's what you say. Anyway, I'm yours, I won't leave you." Kathy stood up, crossed half of the table and kissed Joseph's thin lips.

Joseph was still immersed when the kiss ended.

Kathy quickly bit a piece of steak, preventing Joseph from kissing her.

She had a self-satisfied smirk on her face.

Joseph had already been sexually aroused by Kathy when they got back to the room. However, Kathy put his hands against Joseph's chest and smiled like a little fox.

On such a beautiful night, they couldn't waste their time in bed.

"You should go and choose a bottle of wine, and I'll take a shower." Kathy said softly.

Joseph nodded. At this moment, he would do whatever Kathy said.

He chose a bottle of Ausone from 1995 and ordered the manager to bring it into the room. After him decanting it, his slim body leaned lazily on the sofa, waiting for his little prey.

After a long while, Kathy finally came out of the bathroom.

Her hair was still wet, and the pure white suspender nightdress perfectly outlined her slender figure. With bare feet, she smiled and walked to the side of the bar facing the sea. Taking out two wine glasses, she held the middle of the glasses with one hand.

The alcohol red wine slowly flowed out, and under the orange light of the room, the light color of the wine made it particularly attractive.

The rich aroma gradually spread throughout the room.

She sat down on the sofa and handed one of the glasses to Joseph.

"Cheers." With a charming smile, Kathy gently clinked her glass against his.

Joseph looked at her, only feeling his throat dry.

Raising his neck and taking a sip, Joseph lifted his thin lips and stared at Kathy with his obsidian eyes.

"You want to get drunk?" Joseph smiled broadly when he saw Kathy drank half of a glass in one breath.
