Kathy hugged Joseph, "Then I'll accompany you here."

"Didn't you say you haven't finished memorising?" Joseph raised an eyebrow.

"I can accompany you while memorising."

"There's still an hour left, let's go for lunch first." Joseph brought her out of the venue.

In the afternoon, Kathy brought over her materials. The personnel of the research and development department of the Joseph's Group were in charge of the promotional speeches. Kathy basically knew the contents, so she started memorising on her own.

Sitting at the back row, Joseph's arm that was beside her was very comfortable, and her eyes could not help but became heavier and heavier.

But she suddenly sat up straight.

Joseph who was sitting beside her looked at her in adoration. "You must supervise me, I shouldn't fall asleep!"

"If you're tired just sleep."

"No, this is the event venue..."

"I'll wake you up in half an hour."

It was tempting...

Kathy mumbled but she gave in, but she slept right until the night...

She did not even know when did Joseph carry her back to the hotel...

Waking up from the bed, she did not seem to see Joseph in the room. She looked at the time, it was already eight o'clock at night.

Her phone flashed with a WeChat message Joseph sent her an hour ago.

"I went to the meeting room downstairs to handle some work affairs, come find me when you've woke up."

Kathy stared blankly at this message for a while, thinking that Joseph was working, then she would not disturb. She was a little hungry so she decided to go eat something.

At this moment, at the meeting room on the 28th floor.

Joseph was reading the closely packed rows of English on the computer. Suddenly, the sound of footsteps sounded outside the door. Assuming that it was Quinn, he did not raise his eyes.

"Really? Kathy, I'm the daughter-in-law chosen by Joseph family, not you!" Ella looked at Kathy angrily.

Underneath her cool exterior, Kathy was still a little uncomfortable.

"Say it when you truly become a member of Joseph family, but now, can you walk away? because good dogs never get in the way." She was in a bad mood now!

Everyone around her looked at Kathy, though her voice was not very loud.

Ella was a little embarrassed and retreated a little.

Then, she cleaned her face and smiled again.

"I will be the Mrs Joseph!" Ella thought.

Kathy walked into the lift and pressed the button to the top floor subconsciously. But she didn't want to see Joseph at this moment.

With the support of Mathew, Ella was such aggressive in front of her and said these words.

Kathy saw Joseph as soon as she got out of the lift before she was ready.

Her pale face was noticed by Joseph.

"Joseph, your pursuer is really annoying!" Kathy was angry and her tone was very strong.

She was really fed up with Ella.

Besides, Joseph belonged to her!

As soon as they entered the room, Kathy suddenly stood on her toes and grabbed Joseph's shirt collar.
She was not tall enough to look at Joseph horizontally, but she was very imposing.

"You belong to me, say it!"

Hearing this words, Joseph relaxed a lot. He smiled and hugged the back of Kathy's head with his big palms. "Yes, I belong to Ms Kathy." His voice was intoxicating.

"Do you really mean it?" Kathy looked at him straightly.

At this moment, she was a little worried.

"I dare not lie to you. I will drive the Bridges family out of City N immediately." He said in a fierce tone.

"Did Ella seduce you? You can't help..." Kathy mumbled.

The hickeys on Ella's neck she saw just now persisted in her mind for a long time.

What she believed right now was that Ella was all acting.

Chapter 543 The Omnipotent Joseph

Two hours later, in City N.

After getting off the plane, Joseph needed to go back to the Joseph's Group, and Kathy went back to University F.

Professor Zane had just returned from the hospital. She was not surprised to see Kathy waiting for her.

The incident that University F just announced the suspension of cooperation with the Joseph's Group was not her decision. Considering that the reputation of the Joseph's Group was not good and the University F was a century-old institution, the school managers had proposed to do so.

"Kathy, you know what happened to the Joseph's Group recently. I'm afraid that I can't change the decision of the managers." Professor Zane said. The cooperation was proposed by her. So she thought that she was responsible for what happened now.

"The reports about Joseph were fabricated by the media. It is not true!" Kathy explained.

"Of course I know, but the University F attaches great importance to its reputation. Perhaps, this problem still has to be solved by Joseph." Dona Zane said earnestly.

Kathy suddenly understood, "Thank you, Professor."

"Don't mention it. By the way, now you have no itinerary, isn't it? Do you want to go back to the hospital for a residency with Reeze?"

Kathy was stunned when it comes to her residency with Reeze...

She was very resistant to Reeze because he might have always been framing the Joseph's Group.

"Professor, I..." Kathy frowned, she felt awkward for it.

"I have a vacancy for internship. You can follow me." Perceiving Kathy's embarrassment, Dona Zane kindly said.

"Really?" Kathy was surprised.

"Well, but I'm very strict with my students. You'd better to be prepared." Dona smiled.

Kathy nodded earnestly and left the office. She thought that Joseph might be busy, so she contacted him with WeChat instead of calling.

In the evening, Kathy was informed to be back on duty at the hospital, as the intern who was originally on duty was on leave. She had been on leave quite a lot before, so she happened to be making amends.

As she toured the wards, Kathy's footsteps stopped before the door at the end. This was Reece's ward.

He was only there for one night, and it was not because of any big problems, so she decided not to go in.

Yet Reece pressed on the bell, so Kathy went in.

"Mr Bridges," she maintained her manners.

"Come here," Reece frowned.

Kathy stood where she was, even looking at Reece she had a look of caution.

"I don't want this needle in me, come help me take it out," Reece waved his hand.

Kathy saw that the back of his hand still had a needle in it, so she walked over.

She helped him to take out the needle quickly and immediately gave him a piece of gauze to stop the bleeding, pressing on the back of his hand she ordered, "Wait for five minutes."

“Dr Kathy, sit here for a moment,” Reece’s tone was a little commanding as usual.

“Is there anything else, Mr Bridges?” Kathy frowned, her expression obviously showed that she was unwilling.

“Yes, there is.”

“What?” There was impatience in Kathy’s eyes.

“Accompany me.”

Kathy was speechless.

“Have a good rest, Mr Bridges.” As she said so, Kathy slammed the door and left a little angrily. Reece watched as she left, as a dark smile slowly grew on his lips.

At midnight, Kathy heard the bell calling. Seeing that it was Reece’s ward, she did not take heed of it. But the bell kept ringing, and without other options, Kathy went over.

“Reece...” She was a little angry as she pushed the door to the ward open, but her voice immediately went silent.

Reece actually vomited...

There was a disgusting odour in the ward, Kathy pinched on her nose and ordered for the cleaning lady to come over. She walked towards Reece and helped his to get up. At this moment, Reece’s complexion was very pale.

After she had dinner at the cafeteria, Kathy received a call from Professor Zane.

The research and development project for the new medicine between University F and the Joseph's Group was restored. But now, the control was passed from the Joseph's Group to University F, and the person in charge was confirmed to be Reece.

"Kathy, you're already in this project, so I won't pick any other students. You'll be working with Reece, alright?"

From what Professor Zane said, she had obviously reached a decision, there was no room for Kathy to refuse.

"I'll follow what is arranged by you, Professor."

Professor Zane did not know the entanglement between Kathy and Reece. Reece was her favourite student, and Kathy's grades were exceptional. For the two to take part in this project together, it was the best to her.

But Kathy was quite annoyed once she thought that she would be facing Reece every day. Would Joseph be jealous?

There were no lessons the next morning, so Kathy planned to return to Joseph Bay and have a good talk with Joseph about this matter.

Yet when she just reached Joseph Bay, she received a call from Joseph that there was an unscheduled surgery tonight and he had to stay at the hospital.

Kathy could only stay there herself and return to the school tomorrow.

At this moment, at the Central Hospital.

The woman who was just sent in by the ambulance was in her fifties, the preliminary judgement was that she had encephalitis. Joseph happened to be there so he took in this patient.

But when he saw the woman's face, then only he knew that it was Mrs Marshall.

Zofia came accompanying her and her face was very pale.

"Joseph, you must save my mother... her entire body is twitching and she is vomiting a lot..."

Zofia was so anxious that her words were not complete.

"Alright, be rest assured." Joseph was always brief in words, as he said so, he entered the surgical room quickly.

Zofia sat in the corridor, she had already alerted her brother about this. But since he was still in Country C, it would be at least tomorrow before he was able to return.

Until midnight, then only Mrs Marshall was moved to the normal ward.

Zofia cried until her eyes were all red, following behind Joseph and listening to his instructions, only his handsome face was left in her eyes eventually.

“When would my mother be awake?”

The research program was confirmed, and Kathy received a notification from the professor that she had to represent University F to go over to the Joseph's Group for a meeting together with Reece.

Kathy had just gone out from the dormitory building when Reece's car was already waiting downstairs.

She frowned, Reece had already opened the door for her.

"I'll go there myself, Reece," Kathy avoided him.

"The meeting is brought forward, it's half an hour later, are you sure that you can make it on public transport?"

Reece's chides came from behind.

Kathy froze in her footsteps, she turned to look at Reece. He looked believable.

Indeed, she would possibly not be able to make it if she took public transport.

"I'll hail a cab."

"This research program should go on for at least one year, are you sure that you're going to be like this with me all the time for this one year?" Reece raised his eyebrow.

Kathy pursed her lips and looked at Reece coldly.

"Thank you then," she got into the car.

Reece's lips curled up in satisfaction.

“Did you know why this research program is suddenly restarted?” Reece asked on purpose.

“Did you want to say that you helped too?” Kathy replied simply.

“The Bridges Group is investing as well.”

Kathy stunned, looking at Reece in surprise.

No wonder Reece became the person in charge now.

Then Joseph...

Would the Joseph’s Group still be willing to take part?

“Relax, the Joseph’s Group wouldn’t leave this program. The Bridges Group didn’t invest a lot in this. Now, the control is with University F,” Reece explained.

Kathy frowned, she understood now. But now, all the power must have landed on Reece.

When they arrived the Joseph’s Group it was right at 2 p.m., Quinn came personally to greet the two.

Kathy washed up and changed her clothes, unexpectedly Joseph was already there.
She opened the door, the exhaustion on his face could not be hidden. Did he not rest last night?
In her distractedness, Joseph already embraced her tightly, "Kathy, I missed you so much."
Closing the door, he pushed her towards the wall, Kathy almost could not handle his passionate kisses.

Her whole body went soft, and could only stand well leaning into Joseph.

But now, she was a little reluctant. She could not help but bit onto Joseph stopping him from continuing, she pushed him away immediately.

"I went to the hospital last night," Kathy said lightly.

She was not a person who could hide her thoughts, and she did not want to have any misunderstanding between her and Joseph.

This was what she thought thoroughly last night.

"Why didn't you wait for me?"

"I saw Zofia," Kathy's tone dimmed.

Her chin was suddenly lifted, now, Kathy had to look at Joseph.

He looked at Kathy's reddened eyes, did she cry last night?

His warm fingers touched the corners of her eyes caringly, and gave her a soft kiss.

"Did you misunderstand Zofia and me?" Joseph asked almost certainly.

This little woman...

Kathy was silent, did she misunderstand?

"Mrs Marshall was admitted to the hospital, and Zofia's emotions were unstable. But she and I only have the relationship of a patient and a doctor," Joseph explained slowly word by word.

Now, Kathy froze.

"Mrs Marshall's in the hospital?"

Joseph nodded, "Her condition is a little complicated, the professors at the hospital had meetings almost every day to discuss."

Kathy lowered her gaze, then Zofia must be devastated.

Only Joseph could have soothed her sadness.

"Then you should accompany her more," Kathy replied lightly.

Chapter 548 Why Did He Leave

Reece had been looking at Kathy, whose features were exquisite and charming. She was asleep, finally not pulling a long face with him.

His thin lips slowly curled up into a smile, which disappeared after a while.

He went out of the ward, taking out a cigarette. The female doctor walked up to him. "Didn't you say you will quit smoking?"

"I can't quit." Reece said indifferently as he skillfully lit the cigarette.

"This is the first time I've seen you so nervous about a woman." The female doctor said wistfully.

She had thought that no one could have this man's heart.

It turned out she was wrong.

"Do you think so? Am I nervous?" He had been confident about everything, but he did not know that he could have such a feeling.

"Yeah. You are so nervous that I'm very jealous of her." The female doctor never concealed her thoughts.

Reece smiled without saying anything.

When he saw Kathy this morning, she looked frighteningly pale. He could not allow her to work in such a state.

"So, what is the nature of your relationship with her?"

"Enemies?" Reece pondered and said.

"You're lying." The female doctor obviously didn't believe him.

Reece shook his head. "Who knows?"

The female doctor could not see through this man, and she did not continue.

He was always mysterious and unfathomable, but he appealed to women most strongly.

At the Central Hospital.

Joseph stayed in his office. He had cancelled all the appointments today, asking not to be disturbed by anyone.

However, Zofia had to come to him because her mother vomited again.

Joseph frowned and quickly went to check on her mother.

Mrs. Marshall would have a surgery the next day, and today she had to have various physical checkups, which didn't go well.

"Does my mother have to take the surgery?" Zofia's was on the brink of collapsing these days.

The red light on the door of the operating room was on.

Zofia was in tears snuggling up to her brother, groggy.

Being said, she still peered at the operating room.

Three hours later, the red light went out.

A different doctor came out. Zofia scooted over and gripped his hand. "Doctor..., how is my mother?"

The doctor pursed his lips and said nothing.

After a long while, Joseph walked out and said in a deep voice, "I'm sorry."

Zofia's eyes widened. Teetering, she fainted in Bertie's arms.

Bertie looked much calmer than her, but pain crept up on his eyes.

"My mother...."

"You can see her one last time," Joseph said heavily and took off his mask.

The next second, Bertie grasped Joseph's shirt, and the two tall men locked eyes with each other.

The other doctor said calmly, "Sir, please take a grip on yourself."

Bertie squinted and clenched his fists. After a while, he let go of Joseph.

Joseph said in a grave tone, "I'm sorry for your loss."

Bertie asked his assistant to drive Zofia home and went into the ward.

Mrs. Marshall's eyes were closed, and her lips frequently parted. She was having trouble speaking.

Bertie stood at her bedside, tears rolling down his cheeks.

Shuddering, he bent down and said in a tone peppered with sorrow, "Mom...."

Zofia woke up two hours later in another ward with empty eyes.

A nurse came to pull out the needle for her. She asked in panic, "Where's my mother...?"

The nurse did not know the specifics and could not answer.

Kathy didn't get out of the elevator until the people behind urged her.

It was three o'clock in the afternoon, and there were still two hours before Joseph could finish his consultation.

Ella was no longer in the neurosurgery department, and she was not familiar with the nurses here.

Not long after, a nurse came and announced that Joseph's appointments ended ahead of time today, and they could come again tomorrow morning.

Then Joseph....

When Kathy arrived outside his consulting room, Joseph had already left.

She frowned, and the disappointment in her heart overwhelmed her.

After leaving the hospital, Kathy was about to call Joseph, and she suddenly saw him get on a black car.

This car belonged to the Marshall family.

Kathy knew this car because it had stopped at the dormitory building of Ocean University several times.

Inside the car was a woman. It should be Zofia.

Not long after, the car quickly left.

Kathy stared blankly in the direction where the car was leaving, and her face turned pale.

The number she was about to dial was deleted slowly by her.

After getting on the taxi, she subconsciously gave Joseph Bay's address. The driver had already started the motor, and Kathy finally realized it.

What was she coming back ... for?

However, there was still a glimmer of hope in her heart that Joseph would return.

Before returning to Joseph Bay, Kathy went to the supermarket again and bought a lot of fresh vegetables and meat.

The house was empty. And every day, servants would come to clean it, so it was spotless.

However, there was no trace of Joseph at all.

It must have been a long time since he came back.

After walking into the kitchen, she began to prepare the dinner.
