

Chapter 11 Sleep on the Sofa

Bena froze for a second, then burst out laughing.

It turned out that cat didn't want to go back with him.

Galen was controlled by a kitten. It's so funny.

Galen glared at her and went on to coax Louis.

No matter how he cheated and coaxed, Louis refused to leave even when he took out the precious dried fish.

Just a few days, the cat raised by Galen since childhood defected.

You can imagine how indignant Galen was.

"Chubby refused to leave, That's not my fault!" Bena didn't believe that cat would refuse to go back with its master, so she was moved.

It is a grateful kitten!

After a while Bena felt hungry.

She didn't care of Galen, so she ran to the kitchen to get some noodles to eat. When she cooked the delicious noodles and brought them out, Galen sat down at the table impolitely and raised her eyebrows: "Where are mine?"

Bena stared at Galen with some dissatisfaction. "Why should I cook for you?"

"Shouldn't you apology for stealing my cat and instigating it not to go back with me?"

"I told you, I didn't steal chubby!" Bena blushed and defended. "I found it in the community. At that time, it was bullied by a group of children. I took it home to raise it because it was pitiful. I didn't steal the cat!"

In fact, Galen already believed that Bena didn't steal the cat because of the cat's dependence on Bena.

It is impossible to get close to the cold temper cat.

Galen just couldn't help teasing Bena.

He has seen so many women and most of them feel very terrible. But he thought this woman is very interested, and he actually wanted to possess this woman.

His tight thin lips slightly raised "Since Louis won't go back with me, I'll stay here."

Bena, who was eating noodles, almost choked when she heard this sentence.

"What are you talking about?!"

Is Galen crazy or out of his mind?

Unexpectedly he want to live in her broken rental house with the size of one room and one living room?

Bena stared at Galen as he called the housekeeper and asked for some clothes and toiletries. "I don't agree!"

Galen gave her a cold look. "It's too late."

"I... will call the police, you are entering my house illegally!"

Galen smiled. "I can buy the whole community."

Bena swallowed her saliva.

She knew that is a piece of cake for Galen to buy the community.

Thinking that she might be driven out by Galen, who became the landlord in the future, it seems that it is better to agree to let him live...

Besides, didn't she plan to seduce Galen before?

Although she gave up the idea of after being kicked into the water, it was a great opportunity for her that Galen lives with her.

"OK, but you can only sleep on the sofa."

Then she pointed to the sofa which was only 1.6 meters long. Galen is 1.88 meters.

Glancing at the narrow sofa, Galen frowned.

"I'll sleep in the bed and you'll sleep on the sofa."

"Why! This is my home!" Bena jumped.

"I'm Galen!"

The man's words hit the floor did not give Bena any chance for resistance.

Chapter 12 The Hairpin

Bena didn't know how to say for a moment.

She knew she couldn't compete with him, so she had to eat noodles silently.

After eating noodles, she went to the room and changed into casual clothes. Despite Galen's eyes staring at her as if he were going to eat someone. She took her bag and ready to go out.

"Where are you going!"

The only response to Galen was the sound of the door being shut with a bang.

Looking at the back of Bena's departure, Galen's eyes were deep.

Louis in his arms jumped restlessly from him, shouted in the direction of the door, and looked back at Galen.

That means asking Galen to go and have a look.

Obviously, Galen understood. He touched his chin and he just wanted to hand out.

So he ordered people to keep up with Bena's taxi.

Kevin, who drove the car, said honestly, "Mr. Galen, are we tailing her?"

Tailing?

"Are you kidding, I just came to see the scenery."

Kevin did not expose his lies.

The car followed Bena all the way. After Bena got off in front of an exhibition hall, Kevin stopped and asked, "Mr. Galen, are we still following her?"

"Stop."

Galen got off the car gently, followed Bena, and entered the hall together.

This is a jewelry exhibition.

There are all kinds of jewelry from ancient to modern countries.

Galen knew that T's family was on jewelry business, and it was not unusual for Bena to be interested in jewelry exhibitions.

Bena wore a pure white T-shirt, a pair of jeans and a ponytail, which looks very youthful and beautiful.

She is really an eye-catching landscape.

Galen was a little lost in thought for a moment.

Bena stood in front of a Chinese booth for a long time.

She looked at the objects displayed in the glass cabinet, and her eyes flashed with excitement.

There is a Chinese sandalwood hairpin inside, which is decorated with jadeite jade, and it is full of brilliance in a low-key manner.

She has been looking for this hairpin for a long time!

This hairpin was once a dowry item brought by her grandmother to T's family. Because they encountered problems on business, Grandma reluctantly sold the hairpin.

Later, when the T's family passed the crisis, Grandpa always wanted to get it back.

In the past life, Grandpa had searched for more than ten years and couldn't find it. Later, she accidentally found that this hairpin had appeared in an exhibition. However, at that time, she had been expelled from the T's family.

Of course she wanted to get this hairpin back in this life.

Grandpa will be happy to have this hairpin as a birthday present.

Bena found the owner of this exhibit and wanted to buy this hairpin.

The owner of the exhibit is a man who likes Chinese culture very much. After meeting Bena, he shook his head and refused.

"No, I like this hairpin very much. I won't sell it to you." The foreigner rejected Bena.

Bena knew that it would not be so easy to buy this hairpin.

She prayed, "Please, this hairpin used to be my grandmother's dowry item. My grandmother died for many years. Grandpa wanted to find this hairpin again. As long as you are sell it to me, I will pay as much money!"

Bena's mother left her a fortune when she died.

After she turned eighteen, she could use the inheritance.

So she decided to use the money to buy this hairpin.

It's just that man was stubborn and still refuse to sell it. "No, no, this is my favorite collection and I will not sell."

Bena was very disappointed.

The exhibition hall manager also advised: "Miss, I you'd better give up. Mr. Jason is not short of money. It won't work if you want to impress him with money."

Bena lowered her eyes and knew that it was impossible for her to buy this hairpin today.

Just then, a low and dignified voice came.

"I wonder if Mr. Jason can sell this hairpin to this lady for the sake of me?"
