

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1161

Chapter 1161 I Can Accept It

Janet's legs felt like lead when she walked into the isolation room. During the afternoon, she had been working hard in the laboratory, and the development of the antidote had reached the final stage. However, the drug molecules needed to be precipitated and polymerized, so to get the antidote, they had to wait until the day after tomorrow at the earliest. She could wait, but Mason's body couldn't. If he were any ordinary man, he would've already died of the disease. Herbert and James had told her that Mason was able to survive thus far through sheer willpower. Although he was in stable condition now, no one knew when it would worsen, and she dared not take the gamble! After taking just one glance at the man on the bed, Janet felt as if her heart was in piercing pain, and grief consumed her at once. She took step after step toward the man's bed before holding his hand. "As long as you're alive, no matter what, I can accept it." All of a sudden, she felt her hand being held equally as tight.

Mason opened his eyes, and his lips curled up. "Babe, you finally came to see me." For a moment, Janet was stunned, then she returned his smile. "You're awake?" "I woke up when I heard your voice." After speaking, Mason tried to get up. Janet swiftly pushed him back onto the bed and said, "Even if Herbert said that your condition is stable, you can't move around. Got it?" "Babe." There was a strange look on the man's face. "Although I'm sick now, it doesn't mean I can't move."

In fact, apart from some red spots on his body and how haggard he looked, his body was still in good condition.

Bending down, Janet caressed his face before giving it a pinch. "It's good that you have strength."

When Mason heard this, his eyes suddenly darkened. "Babe, what are you implying?"

Then, he reached out, clasped the back of her head, and kissed her. It was an extremely tender kiss.

Mason pressed his forehead against the tip of her nose and smiled. "Unfortunately, we can't do it."

Janet froze, and her eyes dimmed.

After today, the heat from the man's chest and the tenderness of his lips would be shared with someone else.

From then on, he would no longer be hers alone.

When Janet came back to her senses, her eyelashes fluttered. She placed her hand on his shoulder and pushed him back down. "Herbert will come in later to perform a reexamination. I'll go out first."

"Then, when the examination is over, will you come to see me again?"

Mason suddenly

asked in a pleading tone. "I really missed you."

Janet was at a loss for words.

She pursed her lips, then said after a long time, "Okay."

When she left, Janet couldn't help but look at the man a few more times before reluctantly closing the door.

After leaving the isolation room, everyone stared at her with strange looks in their eyes.

Janet said blankly, "You guys can handle the rest. Call me when it's over."

With that, she walked toward the laboratory, her face void of expression.

Sean retracted his gaze, then looked at the two people in front of him and said, "If we ask Mr. Lowry to sleep with Emily, he probably won't agree, so can you give him a hallucinogen?"

Herbert narrowed his eyes. "Are you saying that we should let him think that Emily is Janet?"

Sean gave a slight nod. "That's right."

Hallucinogens could affect a person's nervous system, so they could see anyone as whoever they thought they were.

"Shouldn't we discuss this matter with Mrs. Lowry first?" White Python asked with a frown.

Upon that, Black Python objected. "Don't trigger her again!"

Herbert and James exchanged looks. "Then, we'll go in first. You guys can bring that woman over in a while."

"Understood." Sean nodded.

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1162

Chapter 1162 You're Not Janet?

Meanwhile, Sean and Lara brought a subordinate into the laboratory. When Sean saw the woman sitting leisurely on the sofa, he said coldly, "Bring her here."

Upon hearing this, his subordinate stepped forward to grab hold of Emily, who was a little displeased. "Is this how you're supposed to ask for someone's help?"

Lara's lips curled into a sneer. "Ask for your help? What right do you have for us to ask you for help? Aren't you the one who's eager to offer assistance?"

When Emily heard this, her face darkened considerably, but when she remembered that what happened next would make Janet suffer, she reckoned this was nothing. Hence, she smiled and said, "Where's Janet? What, now? Does she not dare to face me? That makes sense. After all, from today onward, I'll belong to Mason. No one would be able to accept that. I understand."

Sean narrowed his eyes and warned in a low voice, "You're just a tool being used to get rid of the virus. From now till forever, the Lowrys will only acknowledge Janet as the lady of the family."

Emily raised her eyebrows indifferently. "Is that so? Janet can't even save Mason, so what right does she have to be the lady of the family!"

And yet, she calls herself a divine doctor. Now, she's been served a slap in the face. This is how it ends when you lie without proper planning. This is her retribution.

When Emily thought of the twisted and disappointed look on Janet's face, she couldn't help but feel happy.

After today, Janet would live in suffering for the rest of her life.

When she walked through the corridor, Emily's laughter grew louder. She wanted to let Janet hear how happy she was.

After such a long battle, Janet had still lost to her!
"Hahahaha!"

Staring at the isolation room, Emily suddenly felt a little nervous, and her heart throbbed inexplicably.

Mason used to be a man who was out of her reach, so she never thought that she would be able to sleep with him one day.

When she thought about the fact that she could be on an equal footing with Janet in the Lowry Family in the future and that she would become Mason's woman, her heart thumped.

No. Maybe after Mason experiences it with me, he'll abandon Janet! After all, those who had slept with her were ultimately infatuated with her.

Finally, a woman brought Emily into the isolation room. When Janet heard Emily's laughter, her hand holding the drug trembled. She took a deep breath, then slowly took a syringe before drawing up the liquid from the medicine bottle.

The needle was oozing yellow liquid. Janet injected it into her arm without thinking twice.

...

Meanwhile, after walking into the isolation room, Emily was a little nervous, and her face was a little flushed as she walked toward Mason.

Although he had gotten a lot more haggard, he still looked very handsome.

This was as expected of the man Janet fancied.

"Come here and help me undress," Emily impatiently instructed the woman behind her.

The woman nodded, then started helping Emily unbutton her shirt.

At this moment, the man on the bed suddenly opened his eyes.

Looking at the woman who was about to undress before him, Mason called out with uncertainty, "J-Janet..."

Emily stiffened.

Did Mason just call me 'Janet'? He actually thinks I'm Janet?

Emily figured that if her guess was correct, Janet must've given Mason a hallucinogen.

Janet, that b*tch, actually did such a thing. Does she think that by doing that, her relationship with Mason won't be estranged?

Taking a deep breath, she stopped the woman who was helping her undress, then turned and walked toward Mason.

"Young Master Lowry." Emily spoke coquettishly and was about to reach out to touch the man's face.

But when Mason heard the unfamiliar voice, his eyes narrowed slightly.

He avoided her touch without thinking and asked coldly, "You're not Janet?"

Emily was a little stiff as she pouted. "I'm Emily. I'm here to serve you today."

Looking coldly at the woman in front of him, Mason's voice was frighteningly low as he yelled, "Get out!"

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1163

Chapter 1163 Get Out!

Mason had somewhat figured out that Herbert had just injected him with hallucinogens, which was why he thought Emily was Janet just now.

What are they trying to do?

Emily was caught off guard by his reaction, but she still pressed her body as close as possible to his. "Young Master Lowry, don't resist. I'm here today to cure you. The antidote for the virus is in my body, so as long as we sleep together today, your illness will be cured.

Besides, it was your people who let me in."

Although Emily had taken the initiative, she still couldn't get her hands on a single part of Mason's body—not even a single hair.

His gaze was becoming increasingly terrifying as his pupils turned red, and his voice was cold when he asked, "Where's Janet? Does she know this too?"

Emily nodded obediently. "Of course she does. Otherwise, they wouldn't possibly let me—"

"Get out!"

Before Emily could finish speaking, Mason directly jumped up from the bed.

His voice was low and cold, and he was staring at her like a viper.

Emily's first reaction was fear, but when she thought of how much Janet was suffering outside, she endured all her fears.

Suppressing the timidity in her heart, she took a deep breath, then looked at the pale man in front of her and said, "Young Master Lowry, you should know whether it's more important to be innocent or stay alive, right? No matter how much you love Janet, you have to think about her. She'll be so sad if you're gone! If you're dead, what's the use of innocence! Besides, my skills are no worse than Janet's. I'll definitely satisfy you!" Emily didn't expect Mason to accept her at once, so she was fine with taking it slow.

Whatever the case, after tonight, there would be a gap in Mason and Janet's relationship. It would be impossible for them to go back to the way they were. It didn't matter if she didn't survive in the end, because she would have already achieved the goal of making Janet suffer.

At this thought, Emily walked toward Mason and approached him with her breasts.

But before she could touch him, the man in front of her lifted her up with one hand like a madman before tossing her hard onto the ground.

Emily's head suddenly went blank, and blood flowed non-stop from her forehead.

Has Mason gone insane? Would he rather die than let me touch him? In what way am I inferior to that b*tch, Janet?!

Emily was livid, and she felt extremely insulted!

Mason fixed her with a fierce glare, and his voice was extremely low as he growled, "Get out of here!"

Upon hearing the commotion in the isolation room, Henry, who was waiting outside the door, frowned. "What's going on?" Sean grew nervous as well. "Could it be that Young Master Lowry recognized Emily?" Upon hearing this, Herbert was the first to stand up and deny. "That's impossible. I already gave him enhanced hallucinogens."

At this moment, Janet came out from the second laboratory after hearing the noise. Her face was a little pale as she looked at the people outside the isolation room and asked, "What's wrong?"

"I don't know," the few of them answered in unison.

Janet walked to the isolation room without hesitation. She took a deep breath and prepared to observe the situation inside.

However, at this moment, the door of the isolation room was opened. The few of them instantly stiffened in place.

Janet looked at the man who had just opened the door, and her vision turned blurry while her voice turned hoarse. "Mason..."

She was staring at the man in front of her in disbelief.

He was dressed in casual black clothes, which made his originally pale complexion even paler, and there was some sadness in his dull eyes.

Fixing her with a stubborn stare, he said a little aggrievedly, "Babe, you said you'd come see me after the examination, but why did someone else show up instead?"

For a moment, Janet felt suffocated.

He continued, "Babe, are you trying to give me to another woman?"

Stunned, Janet shook her head.

If it weren't because of how desperate the situation was, she would never be willing to give him to another woman.

"Babe, I didn't touch her, so hurry up and hug me."

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1164

Chapter 1164 She Had Really Gone Insane!

Almost instantly, Janet rushed toward Mason and wrapped her arms tightly around his waist.

She pressed her pink lips against the tip of the man's nose and said softly, "In fact, I would rather you die than let her touch you, but I was afraid you'd think I was selfish. I can't deprive you of the right to live!" Then, she uttered each word clearly, "But I'm glad you didn't touch her at all."

Mason's lips curled up into a smile. "I knew you weren't so generous, Darling. I want to keep my innocence for you."

Janet stood on her tiptoes and kissed him on the lips before gently letting go of him. Then, she revealed two small sharp teeth and fiercely bit the man's neck.
When her teeth penetrated his skin, black blood instantly stained Janet's lips.

The faces of the people behind them went pale!

It was too late to stop her.
Mason's body stiffened slightly, but he had also completely accepted this fact.
Sure enough, as he thought, she had really gone insane!
Blood was still pouring out of Emily's forehead, but as she watched the crazy duo, she began to laugh. "You're crazy! You're all crazy! Now, besides me, there's no other antidote in the world that can save you!" She never would've thought that Janet would be so crazy as to willingly get infected with Mason's disease.
These two people have really gone insane!
Janet moved her lips away from the man's neck, then looked down at the woman on the ground and said coldly, "Lara, bring her downstairs."
"Okay."
As Emily was dragged up from the ground, she rattled on, "Janet, you b*tch! You're finally about to die! After all this time, you've still lost to me. Janet, even a divine doctor can't save you now."
Janet closed her eyes and tightly hugged the man in front of her.
Herbert finally couldn't help but chide, "Janet, you're too impulsive!"
Even if it proved how much they loved each other, they shouldn't hurt themselves like this.
The drug needed to be precipitated and polymerized, so they could only get it the day after tomorrow at the earliest!
Not to mention, even if they managed to create the antidote, it might not be right yet.
Now that she had bitten Mason's neck, it meant that Janet was also infected with the virus.

Everyone in the room looked extremely troubled!

Janet's eyes were profound as she pursed her lips. "Just now, in the laboratory, I've already injected the antidote into my body. If by tomorrow I still don't show any symptoms, it means that the antidote is successful."

As soon as she said that, Herbert and James' faces grew even paler. Janet actually skipped the precipitation and polymerization stage of the drug?

It was important to note that if the drug molecules didn't get enough time to precipitate and polymerize before entering the blood vessels, it had a high potential of becoming dangerous.

Janet was truly too impulsive for doing this.

James couldn't stop himself from exclaiming, "Janet, this is clearly suicide!"

When Mason heard this, his eyes darkened, and he studied the girl in front of him with a pained look.

Janet touched the man's face, and the corners of her lips twitched.

"Don't listen to them. I know what I'm doing. Don't worry."

Everyone knew that Janet was only doing this for Mason. To be precise, she also bit Mason's neck to turn herself into a lab rat. As long as she was still disease-free tomorrow, it meant that the antidote was a success, and she would be able to inject the antidote into Mason tomorrow as well.

To Mason, for it to happen one day sooner meant that there was a little more hope.

Herbert was so worried that he nearly pulled all his hair out of his head.

"Janet, if the old man in Markovia found out you were doing this, he would be furious." Janet slowly brought her hands down, then cast Herbert a sideway glance while saying lightly, "Can't you say something nice? Do you want me to die that badly?"

"I-I'm not..." Herbert was speechless for a moment.
Janet looked back at the man in front of her, then held his hand tightly and said, "So, no matter what, please stay strong for my sake, okay?" Mason's thin lips were a little pale, but he answered firmly, "Okay. For you, babe, I'll persevere no matter what."

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1165
Chapter 1165 Hurry and Get the Doctors!
In the hours that followed, it was time to observe Janet's physical condition, and everyone was very anxious about this. All night, no one even dared to close their eyes because they were afraid that something would happen to Janet if they did.
Besides, not only did everyone from the Lowry Family come to the hospital to see Mason, but everyone from the MX were also here at the hospital to see Janet.
For some reason, looking at the sleeping man beside her, Janet suddenly felt at ease.
Seventy-two hours of researching and creating the antidote had really pushed her limits.
Regardless, she was still quite confident; otherwise, she wouldn't be worthy of her title as a 'divine doctor'.
Meanwhile, the people outside the isolation room were as impatient as ants on a hot pan.
Even though the Lowry Family had placed an embargo on the news on purpose, Old Madam
Lowry still managed to find out about it. Looking into the isolation room with a serious expression, she asked, "If I didn't manage to find out, how long were all of you planning to hide this from me?"

If it weren't for the servants who were sneaking around whispering about this in the past few days, she wouldn't have known that Mason's condition was this serious. Moreover, when she heard that Janet had entered the isolation room as well, she simply rushed over without a second thought.

Sean was a little embarrassed from being questioned by Old Madam Lowry. "Old Madam, this was Mr. Lowry's instructions—he just didn't want you to worry." Lara also followed along and continued comforting her, "Old Madam Lowry, my master is a divine doctor, so I'm sure they will be fine."

Old Madam Lowry was a little taken aback when she saw Lara, and it took her a few seconds to realize that she was with Janet. She nodded and tried to force out a smile. "Yes.

I know. She did all my surgeries, so I trust her medical skills. She will definitely be able to save the day this time round as well."

Sean and Lara stayed by Old Madam Lowry's side and continued to comfort her. Henry, on the other hand, couldn't help but exclaim, "Damn it! I hate these kinds of displays of 'sacrificial love' the most." It was just so cliché!

"Young Master Moss, my master and his wife are not dead yet. Please don't curse them,"

Black Python couldn't help but retort after hearing what Henry said.

Not backing down, Henry continued to say angrily, "F*ck it. It's better for them to die. This way, I can also share the property of the Lowry family."

Hearing the conversation between the two, Lara walked up to the two of them, squinted her eyes, and said in a dangerous tone, "Shut the f*ck up, both of you."

Henry and Black Python were immediately stunned silent after hearing what she said.

When Henry finally reacted and wanted to say something, Lara glared at him. "If you want a share of the Lowry family's property, you're free to do so over my dead body." Her aura was domineering, and her tone was cold. Judging from these traits, she was just as fierce as the woman who was lying on the bed in the isolation room. Black Python became a little cowardly all of a sudden and dared not to say anything more. Even Henry was scared and stopped talking.

...

In just that one night, everyone present was in different moods, and their faces were filled with worries. Throughout this period, none of them rested much. In the blink of an eye, six hours passed.
“Cough, cough.”
Janet was awakened by a series of coughs and hacks. As soon as she heard that, she opened her eyes and reacted in a split second. She quickly turned her head and looked over. The man’s face was even paler than yesterday, and he was even coughing up blood. This symptom was definitely a bad sign for Mason. Janet quickly got up and walked in front of the man. She was holding the man’s hand tightly with one hand while helping him wipe the blood from his mouth with the other. This movement in the isolation room shocked the people in the corridor outside as well. At this moment, a group of people rushed in. Sean was the first to get in. When he saw the scene in front of him, his face suddenly darkened. Immediately, he instructed the people behind him, “Hurry and get Dr. Fernandaz and Dr. Torrez!” “That’s not necessary.” Janet interrupted Sean. Everyone immediately froze in place. Just then, Black Python noticed Janet’s neck and arms, so he hurried over and held her hand before yelling out, “Young Miss Jackson, y-you...” Black Python was so worked up that he couldn’t speak very clearly.

Mason, who was coughing blood, suddenly narrowed his eyes and his breath became cold.

Then, he looked at Black Python coldly and warned, “Black Python, are you looking to die?”