

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1087

The door of the lounge was slowly pushed open by someone.

Then, Sean laid designs for the wedding dress on the table and said respectfully, "Miss Jackson, the sizes of these dresses are all customized according to your girth. I can ask the designer to bring over the dresses that you like."

After perusing the designs on the table, Janet casually answered, "All of it doesn't feel right."

Sean was confused. "Miss Jackson, you don't like any of them? But these are all customized for you by excellent designers. Not only that, the style and fabric are all the latest trends." Didn't she used to say that she is fine with anything? Why does she now have such a high standard? She didn't even take a look before saying that she doesn't like them.

"Not even one?" Mason approached the girl to grab her waist.

She raised her brows and uttered while being thankful, "You may not like what I like."

"Jan, how do you know I won't like it?" The man smiled.

Then, Janet grabbed the designs in her hand and scanned through it before opening her mouth. "The first one is a thigh-split dress, the second one is an open waist dress, the third one is a backless dress, and the fourth one is even more ridiculous. The V-neck in front of the dress is almost reaching my belly button."

She playfully repeated what he had said before.

Overall, as long as the dress revealed a slight portion of her body, he wouldn't be pleased with it.

After exposing Mason's intentions, he coughed awkwardly before pretending to be open-minded. "This is our engagement party. You only get to experience it once in your lifetime, so I'll respect your choice."

"Really?"

"Yes." The more the man answered her, the more guilty he felt in his heart and it caused his voice to become quieter.

After simply flipping through the designs, Janet nodded her head with satisfaction when her eyes landed on the last dress. She pointed at the picture and said, "I want this one."

Sean went over to take a look and saw that it was an S-shaped dress. It has a sense of sexiness and playfulness all in one.

"Miss Jackson, you really have a good eye for dresses. The designer of this dress that you've chosen returned to the country after finishing her studies in Markovia. She is the famous national designer, Una Stevens. Have you heard of her? Many people wanted her designs, but she didn't agree to any of their requests."

But, would Young Master Mason agree to let her... wear this in front of everyone?

He looked at Mason hesitantly and asked, "Young Master Mason, what do you think?"

When the man saw the dress, he could feel his throat tightening while his face darkened. "As long as she likes it."

The moment his words came out, he could not take his words back.

Janet also didn't hold her punches back as she straight away chose the dress that would emphasize her body the most.

The thought of thousands of men constantly staring at her during the engagement party caused him to feel uneasy inside his heart.

However, since he had made his words clear, he couldn't break his promise. If I take my words back, Jan will definitely think that I'm petty.

After Sean left, Mason tentatively approached Janet.

Then, he carefully whispered next to her ear, "Jan, I think the cheongsam that you wore on my 26th birthday suits you quite well. Why don't you design one yourself?"

He was satisfied with how tightly wrapped her arms, chest and legs were under the cheongsam.

Janet crossed her legs and played with her phone before giving the man a quick glance. She mumbled, "Is that even a dress?"

That's more like a cotton cloth. At that time, I designed that outfit just to meet his needs, but since I will only have one engagement ceremony in my lifetime, I naturally want to choose my favorite dress. After all, I don't know when I can wear such a beautiful dress other than this occasion.

"Jan, I still think that it doesn't look good on you. I feel that there are other dresses that suit you more."

What the man was actually trying to say was that there were other dresses that revealed less skin than this one.

Of course, Janet understood his intention.

He is obviously jealous in his heart, but he still won't admit it.

However, she was surprised at how open-minded he was this time when he said, "Alright. As long as you are happy. I'll ask Sean to send the dress over as soon as possible."

While ignoring Mason, Janet gave a simple reply and continued playing with her phone.