

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1120

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1120

Although Sheldon might not be very well-versed in the medical field, he knew of the dangers of such a virus. If the virus was used on human beings, it could be easily utilized to commit evil doings. When that happened, there would be a global revolt.

As Melissa had never seen him so angry, she was so shocked that she took a few steps back. Before she could say a word, he gave her an order. "Destroy the virus."

Taking a deep breath, she answered, "There's no use."

"What did you say?"

"The virus strain has already been handed over to the client. It cannot be destroyed."

After he heard that, his eyes turned colder than before as if there was a snowstorm in them. His icy cold stare was making Melissa flustered. As she was anxious, she quickly explained, "Mr. Fuller, I will not conduct any experiments on viruses anymore."

"Madness. This is madness!" Sheldon directly pointed at Melissa and yelled in rage, "You're mad!"

"I'm not mad." She then said coldly, "I have no choice. I can't let the Rocher Family's reputation go to ruins in my hands! After completing this order, nobody else will dare say such."

Needless to say, he knew what she was referring to. He knew that she was not content after losing to Janet in the International Medical Competition for Novice. That was what pushed her into accepting the billion-dollar order, disregarding the consequences. It was to prove herself. However, she used the wrong method to do so.

"I cannot keep this matter to myself." His lips trembled as he suppressed the fury in his heart.

"No, Mr. Fuller. You have to keep it a secret. The virus has already been delivered and we cannot get it back. If you were to reveal this to the public, it would lead to a revolt in the medical field—worse, it could cause a global revolt."

Global revolt! Nobody would want an outcome as such. His lips continued to tremble. It seemed that he wanted to say something, yet he couldn't find the words.

Seeing that he seemed a little shaken, she continued to persuade him. "I secretly kept a portion of the antidote for the virus. It will be fine."

Sheldon kept his eyes shut for a while as he sank into deep thoughts. After a while, he said, "Promise me that you will never conduct any more experiments on viruses. Otherwise, I will not let it slide despite your collaboration with Fuller Corporation."

As soon as Melissa heard that, her tight grip on her office wear finally loosened as she answered, "Alright."

...

Back in Sandfort City, in the Lowry Residence.

Looking at the man lying in bed, Old Madam Lowry chuckled. Pursing her lips, Janet looked up before asking, "Grandma, what are you laughing about?"

Pointing behind her, Old Madam Lowry said meaningfully, "This young man really does love you." Although she knew that Mason loved Janet, she didn't expect that he'd get the tattoo on her behalf.

Hearing that, Janet simply raised a brow without saying anything.

At this moment, a cell phone that was placed on the bedside table rang. Seeing that, Old Madam Lowry left the room.

"Hello." A cold voice of a woman could be heard.

From the other end of the line came a familiar man's voice. "I did some investigation and found out that it wasn't the Davidsons who took Emily away."

"If it wasn't him, then who did it?" Janet raised her brows.

After a brief pause, the man continued, "I took a look at the CCTV footage of the White Clouds Mansion Hotel and saw a few men in black. Those men left Sandfort with Emily in a private plane."

In those words, Janet was particularly concerned about the mention of a private plane. It didn't occur to her that Emily was so popular. At once, it piqued her interest. With a smirk, she asked, "Where to?"

Lee said, "They went to Yobril."

Yobril? Emily was brought to Yobril? To be able to transport Emily from Sandfort to Yobril, the person must be someone with a powerful background. The first person who came to Janet's mind was Hazel Fuller of Yobril. After all, Hazel had a close relationship with Emily. Of course, that was before the World Piano Competition.

However, if it wasn't Hazel, then it must be someone else. Nonetheless, why would the person save Emily?