

Stealing Your Heart Chapter 1061

Seeing that it was Zong Yanxi, Jiang Mohan stood up straight almost automatically.

Nan Cheng was really shocked. What's she doing here?

"You may go now." Although Jiang Mohan had not remembered everything in his past with Zong Yanxi, he did know what relationship he had with her. Seeing her at this moment was somewhat nervous.

The secretary had thought that she would get a scolding, so she was relieved and left quickly.

Jiang Mohan calmed down his emotions and asked, "You want to see me?"

Zong Yanxi's countenance was cold and hard just as the tone of her voice, "You can say so."

She went to Nan Cheng and gave him a cold stare. Then she looked at Jiang Mohan and said, "Jiang Mohan, no matter how much time has passed, you are still the same treacherous character, always stabbing others in the back!"

Jiang Mohan suddenly clenched his hands and stared at her, "What do you mean?"

"What do I mean? Do you pretend not to know?" Her eyes were very sharp. "Didn't you instruct Nancheng to trick Tawan? You used dirty tricks on the woman you look down on and sent her into Tawan's bedroom. Are you not afraid of retribution?"

"This has nothing to do with President Jiang. I did it on my own initiative." Nan Cheng spoke up for Jiang Mohan, explaining, "I wanted you to misunderstand Tawan so that President Jiang would have a chance with you. Please scold me if you are angry."

"Haha..." She laughed with sarcasm as she looked at Nan Cheng, "The slave takes after the master. You have been with Jiang Mohan for so long. What you have learnt are evil methods of trickery and you are as good as your teacher."

Her gaze changed and she took a step forward. She was much shorter than Nan Cheng but she was very angry. She grabbed his collar and he had to bend down.

"Nan Cheng, you have interfered in my life many times and I hope that was the last time. If you dare hurt those around me, I shall retaliate against you!" At that, she pushed Nan Cheng away, turned around and left.

She was gone without even sparing a glance at Jiang Mohan.

He sat on the spot, staring blankly at the slender figure that had left.

For a long time, he was lost in thought.

He could not remember what kind of relationship they had but looking at her now, her attitude was totally devoid of any hint of affection.

His heart ached with a dull pain.

What had happened between them?

"President Jiang, I only wanted to help you. If you want to reconcile with Ms. Zong, the man by her side, Tawan is definitely an obstacle. I never expected she would think that it was you who planned that. I'm sorry..."

Jiang Mohan lifted his hand to indicate that an explanation was unnecessary. "If someone has already formed a biased opinion about you, whatever you do is wrong."

He was now an onlooker and also involved in the matter, however, he was much sober than before.

So, he could see much clearer.

Zong Yanxi was in the elevator which had just reached the ground floor. With a 'ding,' the door opened and Li Xiaohui was about to go in for she had come to see Nan Cheng. Seeing

Zong Yanxi coming out of the elevator door, she paused and retraced her steps, "Why are you here?"

Is it true like what Nan Cheng has told me, does she still have feelings for Jiang Mohan?

Zong Yanxi looked at her from head to toe then walked away without a word.

She barely knew who she was.

Even if Nan Cheng had tricked her or for whatever reason, it was disgusting to know that this woman would go after a man to this extent.

Therefore, she had no liking for her.

Li Xiaohui felt displeased to be ignored by her.

She has parted with Jiang Mohan but here she is again. Obviously, she has ulterior motives.

Old flames are the most deplorable existence.

She called Nan Cheng's number and said, "I want to see you!"
