Chapter 111

Although Yasmin was seething with hatred, she cried miserably. "I'm sorry, Yvie. I don't know why I did such a thing. I'm truly sorry. I promise I'll never do it again!"

Yvette held the emerald pendant and continuously wiped it with a tissue. She didn't hide her disdain.

Yasmin was infuriated at how Yvette was humiliating her. She gritted her teeth and suppressed her inner rage. But she made herself look even more pitiful.

Yvette's eyes glinted with coldness. "If you ever dare to enter my

After saying that, she turned to the household staff and ordered, "Clean my room again. It's filthy."

With that, Yvette headed upstairs without bothering to look at Yasmin.

Yara and Irwin chased after Yvette and carefully comforted her.

"Yvie, don't be angry. Yasmin has made a mistake, but we'll educate her properly. This won't happen again!"

"Yes, Yvie, we promise this won't ever happen again..."

As Yasmin watched the scene, jealousy consumed her. She dug her sharp nails into her palm. Even after Yvette humiliated her, they still went to coax Yvette and abandoned her.

Yasmin was filled with rage. She was determined to sign with Starlight Entertainment tomorrow. She wanted to humiliate Yvette and let her have a taste of her own medicine.

The next day, Yvette skipped her morning classes to go to the hospital. Martha's condition had improved significantly. She had woken up from her coma.

At this moment, she refused to take her medicine. The nurses were at a loss.

“Take it away.. Who prescribed this, anyway? It’s too bitter for me to take. If I find out who prescribed this awful medicine, I’ll teach her a good lesson ”

“I did.”

Yvette opened the door and entered the room. She frowned at Martha’s refusal to take her medicine.

“So, it was you who prescribed this awful medicine...

Martha was ready to complain. But she was stunned when she saw Yvette’s delicate and smooth face. Only then did she react and look at Yvette in surprise.

“It was you who saved me again? You’re my lucky star! This medicine is actually excellent. It’s not bitter at all!”

Seeing Martha’s quick change of expression, Yvette smiled helplessly.

Even Wilson, outside the hospital room, couldn’t help but smile lazily. However, his gaze turned sharp in the next instant.

He wondered why Yasmin would have the emerald pendant if Yvette were the one who saved Martha.

“Oh, seeing you makes me feel completely better! My whole body feels great!” Martha held Yvette’s hand tightly as she spoke with affection and joy.

Yvette could sense Martha’s genuine fondness toward her, just like Kayla did. Her facial expression softened, and she spoke gently. “Mrs. Quinn Senior-”

“Just call me Grandma!” Martha interrupted. She had long been eagerly waiting for Yvette to become her granddaughter-in-law.

“Okay.” Yvette replied tenderly, “Grandma, please take your medicine.”

“Alright!”

Martha’s resistance toward the medicine changed. She took the medicine from the nurse and started drinking it. She was as compliant as she

Chapter 112

Outside the hospital room, Samuel was dumbfounded. Even Wilson couldn't get Martha to be so compliant in taking her medicine. However, Yvette managed to do it just like that!

Wilson's smile deepened. He looked at Yvette with gentleness and affection. To him, Yvette was amazing.

Although Martha's face scrunched up from the bitterness, she said, "It's not bitter at all. Yvie, your medicine is excellent. I could have several big bowls of it!"

"Alright, brew a few more bowls of medicine for Grandma," Wilson ordered Samuel while striding into the hospital room.

Samuel held back his laughter and responded, "Got it, Mr. Quinn!"

Such a dutiful grandson!

Martha immediately glared at Wilson. If she didn't have to maintain a good image in front of her future granddaughter-in-law, she would've whacked her "dutiful grandson" with her cane.

"Yvie, let's ignore them and continue chatting!"

Upon seeing this, Samuel almost couldn't hold back his laughter.

Martha's affection for Yvette and her disdain for Wilson was a stark contrast!

Yvette took out the emerald pendant. "Grandma, I didn't get to return this to you last time. I brought it today."

Martha immediately pushed the emerald pendant back into Yvette's hand. "Yvie, this was meant to be a gift from me. Just keep it!"

Yvette protested, "Grandma, it's too precious. I can't accept it."

This emerald pendant was clearly a valuable item.

Upon seeing Yvette's firm stance, Martha had no choice but to seek support from Wilson.

Wilson gazed gently at Yvette with his captivating eyes. Then, he coaxed her with his deep and magnetic voice.

“This is a token of affection from Grandma. You should accept it, or it’ll break her heart.”

Martha instantly nodded and covered her chest. “He’s right. If you don’t accept it, it’ll break my heart_”

Watching Martha’s exaggerated performance, a hint of helplessness flashed across Wilson’s eyes. Then, he looked at Yvette. “Just accept it.”

Upon witnessing the scene, Samuel silently marveled at Wilson’s shameless persuasion in making Yvette accept the emerald pendant.

The emerald pendant was the Quinn family’s heirloom. It was for the future matriarch of the family. The naive Yvette had fallen right into their trap!

Once Yvette agreed to accept the emerald pendant, Wilson’s smile became brighter. He looked even more charming.

Seeing Wilson’s smug expression, Martha cast a disdainful glance at him. Then, she turned to Yvette with a benevolent smile.

Martha contemplated how likable her future granddaughter-in-law was. She couldn’t wait for Wilson to marry Yvette. Unfortunately, Yvette was still too young, so they needed to wait a few more years.

Unaware of Martha’s thoughts, Yvette meticulously examined Martha’s body.

Chapter 113

Martha had a long chat with Yvette. It wasn’t until she grew too tired that she reluctantly went to rest.

“Are you hungry? Let’s have a meal?”

Yvette shook her head and rejected. “No, I have things to do later,”

She needed to go to Starlight Entertainment.

“Alright.” There was a hint of disappointment in Wilson’s magnetic voice. But then, he gave her a charming smile. “Grandma only listens to you now. Can you visit her more often?”

Samuel silently clicked his tongue as he thought Wilson was ready to trick Yvette again. He was just using Martha as an excuse to see Yvette.

Due to Yvette’s fondness for Martha, she agreed without hesitation. “Sure, I’ll visit Grandma after class whenever I can.”

Wilson’s mesmerizing eyes sparkled with delight. He looked both restrained and . “I’ll pick you up after class from now on.”

“Okay.” Yvette nodded and said, “I need to go now. Take good care of Grandma,”

Even after watching Yvette leave, Wilson’s alluring smile remained.

Wilson’s expression darkened instantly. Amid his handsome and charming appearance, he exuded chillness. “Answer it.”

Although Samuel had been by Wilson’s side for many years, he still got intimidated by Wilson’s frightening demeanor. He felt pity for Yasmin as he answered the call.

“Mr. Quinn..”

As soon as the call connected, Yasmin’s sweet voice rang out.

Yasmin had pondered for a long night before mustering her courage to make this call. She wanted to claim her third favor while they still believed she was the one who saved Martha.

Otherwise, she might never get another chance after this.

Upon hearing her voice, Wilson’s voice grew colder. “Speak.”

Yasmin was thrilled to hear Wilson’s voice. She spoke even more coyly. “Mr. Quinn, I’d like to claim my third favor on a dinner with you tonight!”

The chill in Wilson's captivating eyes intensified. He replied coldly, "Fine."

Once Yasmin got the response, her initial trepidation turned into joy. She couldn't believe Wilson would agree.

If she got the chance to meet him, she was confident she could change his impression of her and gradually make him like her.

She could already envision herself as the future Mrs. Quinn. She pictured all the socialites in Jubilee City envying her.

20

"Do you remember what I said about the consequences of deceiving me?"

Wilson's frosty tone shattered Yasmin's delusion. Her face turned pale as her eyes showed a flicker of guilt.

She wondered, "Why did he suddenly say that? Could he have discovered I wasn't the one who saved Mrs. Quinn Senior?" However, she quickly dismissed such a thought, believing it was impossible.

Yasmin believed Wilson wouldn't have agreed to have dinner with her if he had found out she wasn't the one who saved Martha.

"I certainly remember, Mr. Quinn. I would never deceive you

Wilson couldn't be bothered to listen and hung up the call. His demeanor radiated an icy chill. His eyes were devoid of emotions.

"Deal with her. Just don't kill her."

Given these reasons, he had to show some r

Samuel responded respectfully, "Yes, Mr. Quinn."

At Starlight Entertainment.

"Aunt Yara, there's still some time before the audition starts. You can rest in the lounge while I make you some tea!"

Due to last night's incident, Yasmin tried hard to regain her image with Yara. Despite her dutiful act, she still felt that something had changed. Yara no longer treated Yasmin with the same affection. It caused Yasmin to resent Yvette even more.

"Yvette, why are you here?"

As soon as Yasmin stepped out of the lounge, she saw Yvette entering. Despite her casual outfit, Yvette's delicate and smooth face was stunning

It made Yasmin, who was dressed meticulously, look plain in comparison.

A sense of threat immediately surged within her. Although she hated to admit it, Yvette was indeed good-looking. Otherwise, Dominic wouldn't have been so eager to cast Yvette in his movie.

If Yvette's appearance caught the attention of Starlight Entertainment's higher-ups, Yasmin might lose her chance.

"None of your business!"

Yvette ignored her and tried to walk past. However, Yasmin quickly stepped in the way and gazed at her maliciously.

"So, you are really here to compete with me for a contract with Starlight Entertainment!"

After all, Yvette was heading toward the audition area.

"No wonder you dared to bet with me at school! You've long planned to compete with me for an opportunity in Starlight Entertainment! How could you be so shameless?"

Not only did Starlight Entertainment have strict selection criteria, but they also only offered ten contract spots. "But don't even think that you stand a chance against me! I've been selected internally, so you can't beat me!" "Oh, really?" Yvette narrowed her eyes. She said coldly, "Then would you like to try? Yvette remained expressionless and looked at her coldly. "If your mouth is still filthy, I don't mind giving you another slap

"Hey, what's happening over there?"

The commotion over here soon caused the crowd to gather around. Yasmin deliberately showed her swollen cheek and cried pitifully. "Wie, how could you do this to me? The audition is about to start! How am I supposed to audition with a swollen face?"

"Wie, how could you do this to me? The audition is about to start! How am I supposed to audition with a swollen face?"

Yvette clicked her tongue as she knew Yasmin was about to start another pitiful act.

"Yvie, I can endure your bullying at home. But why can't you show me some respect in public? What am I supposed to do about my swollen face

TIOW?"

Yasmin's pitiful cry managed to draw sympathy from the onlookers. They started to criticize Yvette.

"How can she be so vicious? She injured her sister's face right before the audition! She obviously doesn't want her to attend it!"

"Exactly! The audition slots at Starlight Entertainment are hard to get. How can she audition with a face like that!"

“She’s so cruel! What kind of elder sister treats her younger sister this way!”

With everyone siding with her, Yasmin subtly smirked and felt triumphant.

Yvette dared to hit her. Yasmin wanted to blow up the situation and get Yvette kicked out of Starlight Entertainment.

Yvette lost patience with Yasmin’s drama and said coldly, “Get out of my way. Shoo.”

“Yvie, how could you humiliate me after slapping me...” Yasmin covered her face and cried even more miserably, “What did I do to make you hate me so much?”

At that moment, Richard Scott, the manager of Starlight Entertainment, noticed the commotion and rushed over. Upon seeing Yasmin crying so miserably, his expression changed instantly.

Yasmin was Ashton’s cousin, and Ashton had specifically asked them to look after her.

As the top celebrity in the entertainment industry, Ashton was highly valued by the company. Naturally, Richard had to comply with his request.

However, Yasmin was being bullied now. If Ashton found out, it would be a big issue. Moreover, Yasmin was the heiress of the Murray family. The family would pursue the matter of her being wronged at Starlight Entertainment.

As soon as this thought crossed his mind, Richard hurried forward and scolded Yvette, “How dare you cause trouble in Starlight Entertainment!”

Richard’s presence boosted Yasmin’s confidence.

She looked at Yvette smugly but spoke meekly, “Mr. Scott, it’s okay. I don’t want to make a big deal out of this. I’ll just use some ice to reduce the swelling on my face. Please don’t blame her!”

As soon as Yasmin finished speaking, everyone applauded her kindness.

“Her face is so swollen from the slap, yet she’s still pleading for her! She’s so kind!”

“Exactly, she’s so kind!”

Upon hearing the crowd’s praises, Yasmin felt even more triumphant.

But as soon as he turned to look at “Ms. Yastnin, don’t worry. I’ll seek justice for you” Richard spoke to Yasmin in a gentle and flattering tone. But as Yvette, his expression became fierce and menacing.

“Don’t think you can act wilfully just because you’re good-looking! At Starlight Entertainment, we value character more than just a good appearance. Someone with a poor character like you will never be accepted here!”

Yvette stared coldly at Richard. He felt a chill down his spine, making him inexplicably fearful.

But he soon suppressed this strange fear and straightened up with managerial authority. He pointed at Yvette and berated her.

“You’d better get out of Starlight Entertainment immediately! Otherwise, I’ll get the security to throw you out!”

Yvette retorted calmly, but her tone carried a hint of arrogance. “I’m not the one who should be leaving,”

Upon hearing this, Richard scoffed. “You’re not the one who should be leaving? Are you saying it’s me?”

“Yes.” Yvette nodded and added, “You’re the one who should leave.”

Before Richard could finish mocking Yvette, a stern voice interrupted. “I’m officially notifying you that you’re fired from Starlight Entertainment. Leave immediately!”

“Huh... Mr. Anderson, why are you here?” Richard looked at the approaching person in disbelief. “Why are you firing me?”

Hank Anderson was the vice president of Starlight Entertainment. Aside from the mysterious president, Hank had full control of the company.

Hank telling Richard to leave indicated that Richard could no longer work at Starlight Entertainment.

Without bothering to look at Richard, Hank walked toward Yvette. There was a hint of excitement in his expression.

“Mr. Anderson, this bitch is the troublemaker here! You should kick her out instead! Why are you firing me?”

The more arrogant Richard had been just now, the more pathetic he was at this moment.

“You’ve offended someone you shouldn’t have!” Hank impatiently kicked him aside. Then, he walked up to Yvette ingratiatingly, “I’m here to escort you!”

Yvette replied indifferently, “You’re five minutes late.”

“I’m sorry. Those higher-ups were dragging out the meeting, which caused me to be late!”

Everyone was shocked to witness this scene. The usually high and mighty vice president of Starlight Entertainment was acting so humble toward Yvette!

From the way Hank spoke to her, could she be the mysterious president of Starlight Entertainment?

However, she seemed to be around the age of 18 or 19. How could someone so young be the founder of Starlight Entertainment?

Yasmin refused to believe this fact until Hank respectfully spoke to Yvette again.

“I’ve fired Mr. Scott for disrespecting you and will have him removed from the company immediately. Are you satisfied with this decision?” “And her?” Yvette pointed at Yasmin and said coldly, “From now on, neither she nor any dog is allowed into Starlight Entertainment.”

Hank accepted the order. “Understood!”

Yasmin and Richard were the only ones looking utterly defeated.

Yvette turned out to be the mysterious president of Starlight Entertainment.

“Why are you still standing around? Kick them out of the company instantly. Make sure to put up a sign to forbid entry for Yasmin Murray and dogs!” Hank instructed the security guards.

Watching the security guards swiftly put up a sign barring her and dogs, Yasmin felt utterly humiliated. The malice in her gaze was overflowing. She couldn’t believe Yvette would dare to humiliate her in this way!

Chapter 117

Yara heard the commotion and came out of the lounge. Upon seeing this scene, she widened her eyes in astonishment.

No wonder Yvette had turned them down when they wanted to buy her an entertainment company to manage. It turned out she was the mysterious president of the top talent agency in the country.

Their precious daughter was absolutely outstanding!

“Yvie!”

Yara rushed over and embraced Yvette with joy. She couldn’t contain her happiness.

“I can’t believe my precious daughter is so incredible! At such a young age, you’re the founder of the top entertainment company in the country! You must’ve inherited my business acumen. From now on, you can manage our companies entirely!”

After hearing this, a hint of helplessness flashed across Yvette’s eyes. This was exactly why she didn’t want to reveal her real identity.

However, Yasmin was so jealous that she almost ground her teeth to dust. If all the Mur rays! companies had gone to Yvette, she would have nothing left!

She believed they were too biased. Ever since Yvette returned, they only had eyes for her!

“No thanks, I’m not interested in managing companies,” Yvette rejected nonchalantly. She just wanted to relax and make money without much effort.

When the crowd heard this, they were dumbfounded. They couldn’t believe someone would turn down a billion-dollar inheritance.

Yasmin became even more jealous. She had always dreamed of running their family's business, yet Yvette refused it just like that!

Only Hank looked unsurprised. If they hadn't been so lazy and had been more diligent, the family head of the Quinn family might not have been the world's wealthiest person.

Although Yara felt it was a pity, she respected Yvette's decision. "It's okay if you're not interested in managing companies. Just let me know your interests, and I'll support you in anything you do!"

Seeing Yvette and Yara's warm moment, Yasmin grew even more jealous. She purposely revealed her swollen face and said cooly, "Aunt Yara..."

Only then did Yara notice Yasmin and exclaim, "My goodness, what happened to your face?"

Yasmin glanced at Yvette timidly with teary eyes. She acted like she had been bullied but dared not speak out. "Aunt Yara, my face is fine..."

"How is it fine?" Having raised Yasmin, Yara couldn't help but show some concern.

concern. "Your face is so swollen. Quickly put on some ointment to reduce the swelling!"

Yasmin felt that Yara's concerned expression was pretentious. She had already hinted that Yvette caused the swell on her face, but Yara turned a blind eye to it. She thought that Yara was favoring Yvette.

Despite seething with hatred, Yasmin didn't reveal her emotions. She could still earn some concern from Yara by acting pitifully. But if she continued to make a scene, she would get nothing.

She was eager to meet Wilson and make him fall for her. By then, she would make Yvette pay for humiliating her and teach her a lesson!

Her top priority now was to make Wilson fall madly in love with her.

Yasmin casually made an excuse to send Yara away before she quickly headed out.

The thought of meeting Wilson soon excited her. She had to dress up beautifully and leave a stunning impression on him

If she could become the future Mrs. Quinn, she wouldn't care about signing with Starlight Entertainment.

With this in mind, she regained her triumphant expression and strode out.

Suddenly, a car sped toward her. She screamed in terror, but the car didn't stop.

When the car nearly hit her, it stopped abruptly. Yasmin was scared out of her wits as she collapsed to the ground.

Several burly men in black suits approached Yasmin, causing her to scream in terror.

What are you trying to do? Stay away from me!"

The men in black suits just grabbed her roughly, shoved her into the car, and blindfolded her. No matter how much she struggled and screamed, it was useless.

When the blindfold was removed, she smelled blood. As soon as she opened her eyes, she shrieked in fright again.

Yasmin gasped for air and was overwhelmed with fear. She coughed as she begged. "Please let me family found out you hurt me, they wouldn't let you off..."

Upon hearing this, Yasmin trembled even more violently. She pleaded in terror, "Why did you capture me? I'm begging you to release me..."

In the face of her miserable fear, the group of men in Black suits remained expressionless. They spoke coldly.

“This is just the beginning. Behold to experience even more torture.”

Wilson had instructed them to do whatever they wanted to Yasmin as long as they didn't kill her.

In the evening, Yvette made a video call, which was answered immediately.

When she was about to discuss business, she saw the man on the screen wearing only a bathrobe. His damp hair indicated he had just come out of the shower.

The untied bathrobe revealed his perfect and well-defined abs.

Yvette involuntarily fixated her gaze, finding herself quite enjoying the view.

“Do you like what you see?” Wilson's deep voice was magnetic and playful. It made Yvette's ears tingled. “Do you need me to take off my bathrobe so you can have a better look?”

This womanizer was at it again!

Yvette's ears flushed uncontrollably. She acted proud as she turned away. “How inappropriate!”

“Yeah, I'll only behave inappropriately toward you.”

Wilson's enticing smile deepened. It became more captivating as he teased her.

“So, do you want me to take off my clothes so you can have a better look?”

Yasmin limped out of her room. Upon seeing Yara and Irwin showering Yvette with affection, her expression darkened.

She almost got tormented to death yesterday. The thought of the dreadful punishments she endured made her tremble

She wished she could kill those people. But unfortunately, they had dirt on her. She dared not make a fuss and just swallowed her anger.

Considering the Murray family’s reputation in Jubilife City, no one would dare to trifle with them. Thus, Yasmin assumed Yvette must’ve commissioned those people from yesterday.

She resented Yvette for ruining her chance to have dinner with Wilson last night.

Yasmin gritted her teeth in anger and swore to make Yvette suffer in the future. Now, she had to think about how to approach Wilson again.

After Yvette finished her breakfast, Yara and Irwin spoke with hesitation.

“Yvie, we wanted to tell you this later, but we can’t delay it now!”

They had just received news that Martha had fallen ill and was admitted to the hospital. Given the engagement between the two families, Yvette should visit Martha in the hospital

Therefore, Yara and Irwin had to reveal this matter to Yvette in advance. They carefully observed Yvette’s expression as they spoke, “Yvie, you have a fiancé.....”

“Okay,” Wette replied casually. She had already known about this matter, so she wasn’t surprised. After all, she didn’t want any fiancé

She would break off this engagement as soon as possible.

Seeing Yvette’s calm reaction, Yara and Irwin heaved a sigh of relief. They continued, “Yvie, this engagement was arranged by the elders. Your fiancé is excellent in every way, except he’s a bit older than you..”

Irwin's anger grew as he spoke. He felt as if his precious daughter was being taken away.

"Yara, let's find a way to break off the engagement with the Quinn family! I can't bear to let Yvie go

At the mention of the Quinn family, Yvette narrowed her eyes. She wondered if her fiancée could be him.

Yara's upcoming remark continued Yvette's suspicion entirely

"It's easy for you to say. How can we break off an engagement arranged by the elders without offending the Quinn family? Besides, Wilson is an outstanding, young man. He's an ideal choice for a son-in-law."

"It's just that he's a lot older than Yvie," Yara silently added in her mind.

Yvette hadn't expected that her fiancée would turn out to be him. She rubbed her temples in frustration

If Yvette hadn't returned, the engagement with Wilson would've fallen to Yasmin. Yasmin could've been Wilson's fiancée!

Yasmin was overwhelmed with jealousy. Her gaze became increasingly malicious.

She would never let Yvette become the future Mrs. Quinn!

As soon as Yvette left the house, she received a call from Jake.

“Boss, I’ve found out what you asked me to investigate last time. It turns out the Murray family has arranged an engagement with the Quinn family!”

At this point, Jake couldn’t help but think of the 50–billion–dollar compensation from the Quinn family. He asked hesitantly, “Boss, do we still need to pay the Quinn family to break off the engagement?”

The ability to compensate 50 billion dollars in one go showed that the Quinn family was n’t short of money. It would cost a fortune to break off the engagement.

Yvette pursed her red lips. “No need

“What?” Jake was shocked on the other end of the phone. “So, does the engagement with the Quinn family stay?”

Yvette replied, “For now, it stays.”

“What do you mean, Boss? Have you taken a fancy to Wilson? Although he is decent-looking and quite wealthy, you can’t just let him blind you...”

While listening to Jake’s agitated voice, Yvette calmly interrupted, “Don’t overthink it. Alright, I have to go to school now. Talk to you later.” On the other end of the line, Jake stared at the disconnected call and fell into deep thought. For some reason, he felt like Yvette would be snatched away.

When Yvette was about to put away her phone, she received a text message from Het

Hank

“Ashton is throwing a tantrum again and refuses to continue shooting the commercial. The penalty fee is five million dollars. Should we pay the penalty fee or force him to continue the shooting?”

“If it were any other talent, Hank would’ve undoubtedly chosen the second option. However, Ashton was the top celebrity in the entertainment industry and Starlight Entertainment’s biggest cash cow.

Hank

was worried pushing too hard might upset Ashton and cause him to jump ship. Thus, he sought advice from Yvette.

“Make him continue the shooting, ” Yvette texted back nonchalantly.

In her eyes, no matter how famous a celebrity was, they couldn't interfere with her company's profit.

Hank replied promptly, “Understood.”

At the filming set, Ashton was utterly enraged “All capitalists are slave drivers! You all are heartless!”

He added, “I don't care! I'm going back to Jubilee City to see my younger sister now! None of you can stop me!”

Back then, his family had opposed his entry into the entertainment industry. They even used the Murray family's influence to make things difficult for him to force him to quit. Otherwise, he wouldn't have signed an indenture with Starlight Entertainment.

Thought of the heartless president of Starlight Entertainment made Ashton grit his teeth even harder.

It was bad enough that the company had been making him work like a mule. But when he was eager to see his sister now, they piled him with even more work.

He was mad at the president for being so heartless. If it weren't for that, he would've gone home to see his sister long ago!

Sear had been texting him daily to brag about their sweet and obedient younger sister. It had driven Ashton insanely jealous. If Ashton ever found out the identity of his employer, he swore to teach his heartless employer a good lesson!
