A Rose 231

Yvette's actions stunned everyone in the next moment.

She calmly rose and picked up a surgical needle. With swift and precise movements, she executed each stitch perfectly.

The crowd was astonished as they watched on, falling silent as they focused completely on Yvette's suturing.

In the final second of the allotted time, Yvette finished the stitching. The stitched-up cat looked as if it had never been mutilated to begin with.

The crowd's eyes widened in disbelief as they watched this scene unfold. They couldn't believe someone other than the legendary Miracle Healer could complete such perfect suturing in so little time.

If it weren't for Yvette's young age, they would've thought she was the Miracle Healer.

Even the judges couldn't help but exclaim, "Yvette Murray's suturing is exemplary!"

"Indeed, I'm giving her a perfect score!"

"Me too!"

Liam's look of admiration toward Yvette intensified as he smiled. She was even more impressive than he had imagined!

Despite all of this, Yvette remained indifferent. If Matt hadn't insisted and signed her up without her consent, she wouldn't have participated in a competition meant for medical students.

However, she did gain something from joining the competition—finding promising talent.

"Liam Jablon's suturing is quite good, but it's still far from Yvette's. I give him 80 marks."

If the judges hadn't witnessed Yvette's perfect suturing, they would've given Liam 90 marks.

*Nora Spade..." The judges approached Nora as their expressions grew solemn.

Nora was already drowning in jealousy over Yvette's perfect score. She looked at the judges with anticipation while waiting for them to give her a score.

Although her suturing skills weren't as good as Yvette's, she was the fastest. Even if she couldn't get a perfect score, her score shouldn't be too far behind!

"60 marks, barely passing," a judge said impassively.

"What?" Nora exclaimed in disbelief. "Why? This isn't fair! As the one who finished the suture fastest, why did I only get 60 marks?"

The judges' expressions grew even colder. "You focused solely on speed without considering the quality of your suturing. Look at how crooked and sloppy your work is. You showed no respect for life."

"Besides, you weren't even the fastest, Yvette was!"

The judges' words rendered Nora speechless. She could only lower her head in frustration.

"Congratulations to Jubilife University for winning this year's medical competition!"

As the emcee announced this, the students of Jubilife University erupted in cheers. After all, Vista University had been winning for the past few years. Jubilife University students could finally hold their heads high this year.

317

"That was so close! Jubilife University almost lost because of Nora!"

"Exactly! If it weren't for Yvette's perfect score, Nora's 60 marks would've dragged us down to a miserable defeat!"

"Didn't she say Yvette would drag us down just now? How ironic!"

Nora's malicious gaze intensified upon hearing these remarks. She wouldn't give Yvette the chance to stay smug for long.

She swore that Yvette would soon be utterly disgraced

A Rose 232

"Yvie, thanks to you, I saved my private stash and even won a bet against Patrick. I'll treat you to a meal with the winnings, alright?" Matt was overjoyed while fawning over Yvette.

“You’re Yvette Murray, right?” The chancellor of Vista University, Patrick Hunt, approached enthusiastically. He pushed Matt aside and smiled warmly at Yvette.

“Are you interested in joining Vista University? We’ll double the benefits you enjoy at Jubilife University! Yvette, how about you consider it?”

He had to find a way to recruit such a medical genius to Vista University!

Matt clenched his fists and rudely pushed Patrick away. “Patrick, how dare you poach my student right in front of me? How disrespectful!”

Having worked tirelessly to recruit this genius, Matt couldn’t just let Patrick steal her away.

“Yvie, don’t be swayed by him! That old man is very crafty. If you join Vista University, I’ll cry!”

Matt couldn’t care about his dignity anymore. His biggest concern was to keep Yvette at Jubilife University.

“My goodness, the chancellor of Vista University and Mr. Rusell are fighting over Yvette. Who was the one who used to spread rumors that Yvette got into Jubilife University through connections?”

“Nonsense! Yvette has been hiding her talents all along. She’s amazing!”

As Nora watched this scene, she grew even more jealous. She suddenly stood up and shouted, “Yvette doesn’t deserve the trophy at all. She won by cheating!”

This statement caused an instant uproar. “What? Yvette cheated?”

“That’s right, I accuse her of cheating!” Nora looked at Yvette with a sense of vindictive satisfaction. “She only won the competition by using underhanded methods!”

The crowd wasn’t convinced and started to whisper among themselves.

“How could that be? Yvette doesn’t seem like someone who would cheat!”

“Yeah. Yvette couldn’t have cheated, right?”

“I can testify to that, too!” Tiffany stood up as well. “Nora is right. Yvette won by cheating!”

Tiffany resented Yvette for humiliating her. Thus, she readily agreed when Nora approached her about cooperating to take Yvette down.

“Did you hear that? Even the supervising lecturer of the Jubilife University team says Yvette cheated. Stop defending her!” The students of Vista University chimed in.

“Exactly! No wonder the Jubilife University team won this year. It was all due to cheating!”

“The Jubilife University team is such a disgrace! Not only is it regressing yearly, but its students even resorted to cheating!”

In the face of such humiliation, the students of Jubilife University were furious. However, they didn’t know how to respond to the jeers, so they could only endure it silently.

Upon hearing these remarks, Tiffany glanced at Yvette triumphantly before scoffing. This was the price Yvette had to pay for offending her!

Meeting Tiffany’s smug gaze, Yvette smirked and said casually, “Where’s the evidence that I cheated?”

“She’s right! How can you make baseless accusations without evidence?” Liam interferred as he frowned.” If you claim she cheated, show us the proof.”

After two rounds of the competition, Liam was certain that Yvette’s skills surpassed his. He didn’t believe she would cheat.

With her abilities, she wouldn’t even need to cheat.

A Rose 233

Nora never expected Liam to defend Yvette. She nearly fainted from the resulting anger.

She believed Yvette must’ve used her seductive looks to charm Liam into speaking up for her!

“Liam, don’t be fooled by Yvette. Nora tried to influence Liam. But before she could finish her sentence, Liam interrupted her coldly.

“Cut the crap. Since you claim Yvette cheated, provide the evidence.”

In the face of Liam’s blunt interruption, Nora felt utterly humiliated. Her hatred for Yvette intensified.

“Of course I have evidence! I overheard Yvette asking someone to send her the answers via email!”

“Just have the judges check Yvette’s email. I’m sure you’ll find the evidence of her cheating!”

Nora had hired a hacker to plant the answers from the first round of the medical competition into Yvette’s inbox. With that, it would be impossible for Yvette to clear her name.

“Fine, let’s check it now!” Matt was stern and clearly angry. “If it turns out Yvette is innocent, you must all apologize to her!”

He was confident that Yvette would never cheat. With her skills, she wouldn’t need to cheat anyway.

“Of course!” Nora readily agreed while feeling immensely smug.

Yasmin, who was watching this scene from the audience, also smiled sinisterly. She enjoyed the unfolding drama. Soon, she would see Yvette be utterly discredited!

The university quickly logged into Yvette’s email. Their expressions grew even more serious by the second.

“Her email does contain the competition answers!”

This revelation made the Vista University students even more outraged.

“So she did win by cheating! I knew it! There’s no way she could beat Liam!”

“Exactly, winning through such disgraceful means is meaningless. How shameless!”

“How could Jubilife University protect such a dishonorable student!”

Upon hearing these accusations, the Jubilife University students lowered their heads. Despite their reluctance to believe it, the evidence was undeniable. They were deeply disappointed ‘in Yvette.

Nora’s smugness grew even more upon seeing this. However, she feigned concern as she spoke, “Yvette, I understand you wanted to win, but cheating is unacceptable! You’ve brought shame to Jubilife University. Such a victory is so dishonorable that I had to speak the truth after much consideration!”

“Bravo! Well said!”

Nora's words—sparked thunderous applause from the Vista University students. They began to discuss among themselves.

"They're from the same university, yet she's so sensible and upright. On the contrary, Yvette is so shameless that she cheated!"

"Exactly, Yvette's character is so terrible that she has tarnished Jubilife University's reputation!"

Hearing the insults aimed at Yvette made Nora feel incredibly satisfied. She spoke, "Yvette, the evidence is undeniable. Just admit it!"

Before Yvette could respond, Liam spoke up. "It's too hasty to accuse Yvette of cheating based on this alone."

"Liam, why are you still defending her?"

Nora wanted to scream in anger. Her jealousy was spilling over.

A Rose 234

Liam had always been aloof and borderline unapproachable. Thus, Nora couldn't accept the fact that he kept defending Yvette.

"Liam, I don't understand why you keep defending Yvette. Regardless of your connection with her, shouldn't let personal feelings get in the way of serious matters!"

you

The students of Vista University were displeased with Liam's actions as well. Nora's provocative words only agitated them even more:

"The evidence has proven that Yvette cheated!"

"Exactly! Liam, don't forget which university you're from. Stop defending Yvette!"

Liam's frown deepened. "You don't understand. With Yvette's skills, she wouldn't need to—" Before he could finish his words, Yvette interrupted him.

Indifference filled her gaze as she spoke nonchalantly. There's no point in arguing with fools. Actions speak louder than words."

Liam was taken aback by her words, as he didn't expect her to say such a thing at this point in time. However, it also caused him to admire her even more.

Indeed, she was different from the other ladies.

“Get me a computer,” Yvette demanded in an indifferent yet imposing manner.

“Yvette, the evidence is irrefutable. Stop trying to play tricks and just admit it-”

Before Nora could finish her smug remarks, Matt cut her off sternly. “Get a computer for Yvie... Yvette!?”

Seeing Matt’s trust in Yvette, Nora’s expression turned grim. She could at least tolerate Liam’s trust in Yvette but couldn’t understand why Matt would believe in her too.

However, she soon sneered. She had paid a high price to acquire the skills of a renowned hacker who wouldn’t leave any traces. Even with a computer, Yvette wouldn’t be able to prove her innocence.

The label of a cheater would be stuck to her for good!

Yvette remained expressionless as she typed swiftly on the keyboard. In less than five minutes, she finished and spoke calmly, “I’m done.”

Nora immediately scoffed and mocked her. “Yvette, what are you pretending to do? Do you think you can prove your innocence by randomly clicking on the computer? How ridiculous-”

Before she could even finish, the playing of an audio recording interrupted her.

“I need you to hack into Yvette’s email and plant these answers to create the illusion that she cheated. Make sure no traces are left behind!”

“No problem, just leave it to me. I won’t take your money for nothing.”

Upon recognizing her own voice from the recording, Nora’s expression changed drastically. She panicked and shouted in disbelief, ‘How is that possible? Stop it

How did Yvette get the recording of her phone conversation with the hacker?

“What? It turns out Nora framed Yvette!”

The sudden turn of events made the Jubilife University students go from disappointment to joy.

‘Yvette didn’t cheat: We won the medical competition fair and square this year!’

“I knew Yvette wouldn’t cheat. She’s too skilled for that

“Wow, Yvette is even skilled in computer science. The music and esports departments were already fighting over her, and now the Computer Science Department will want her too!”

“Exactly! Not only is Yvette an expert in piano and esports, but she also excels in computer science! What can’t she do?”

The Jubilife University students gazed at Yvette with even more admiration, save for Yasmin, who sat nearby looking visibly upset.

“You slandered your coursemate and have no integrity! A student like you is not wanted in our university!” Matt declared sternly, “I’m officially notifying you that you’re expelled from Jubilife University,”

“No, please... Mr. Rusell, I’m sorry. Please don’t expel me...”

Nora was terrified now. She begged Matt with a sorrowful cry, yet he didn’t even spare her a second glance

Then, he turned to Tiffany and added coldly, “As an educator, you have no ethics for helping to frame a student! You’re also fired!”

If it weren’t for Yvette’s proven capabilities, she would’ve been falsely accused by these two unscrupulous people. Matt would never let Yvette suffer injustice!

“Mr. Rusell, please don’t fire me... It was a thoughtless mistake! Tiffany pleaded. If she were fired from Jubilife University, no other institution would hire her in the future.

Matt ignored their pleas. “Security, escort them out!”

“Yes, Mr. Rusell.”

Yvette had won the championship trophy, while the fate of Nora and Tiffany left her unfazed. In her view, they deserved their fate and were not worthy of any sympathy.

“Nancy, this is for you.”

Nancy accepted the golden trophy and smiled brilliantly. “Yvie, I knew you were the best! You promised you’d win the trophy for me, and you actually did!”

Seeing how happy Nancy was, Yvette smiled, “If you like it, I’ll win another one for you next time.”

Only Yvette could talk about winning trophies as if it were a walk in the park.

Nancy smiled helplessly but genuinely believed in Yvette's words and abilities.

After checking the time, Yvette estimated that Wilson would have already arrived at Jubilife University. So she said, "Nancy, I have to go now."

"Alright! See you tomorrow, Yvie!"

Yvette didn't linger and strode off. As soon as she reached the campus gate, however, Liam's voice rang out from behind.

Yvette!"

Yvette stopped in her tracks and turned to look at him nonchalantly. "What's up?"

For some reason, Liam would feel inexplicably nervous every time he met her gaze. It was a feeling he had never experienced with anyone else.

"Your suturing skills are impressive. Could you give me some pointers sometime?"

Liam's words made—Yvette soften her gaze slightly. Despite his excellent medical skills, he remained humble, diligent, and eager to learn. He was a promising talent indeed.

Yvette smiled faintly and responded, "Sure."

In the face of her smile, Liam's heart skipped a few beats. He was mesmerized by it.

Meanwhile, a black Maybach was parked not far away

As Wilson witnessed this scene, he narrowed his eyes and exuded a dangerous vibe.

Yvette was aloof and rarely smiled. But at this moment, she was smiling so happily at a stranger. The temperature inside the car plummeted and became chillingly cold.

A Rose 236

Samuel, who was in the driver's seat, felt like he was sitting on pins and needles. As cold sweat broke out on his forehead, he wished he could disappear on the spot.

It was terrible timing that Wilson happened to witness this scene.

While the temperature inside the car had already dropped to a terrifying level, the sound of chatter came from nearby.

"Isn't that Liam and Yvette? They look so good together!"

"Yeah, this is my first time seeing Liam getting so close to someone!"

“Besides, Liam firmly defended Yvette when she got slandered just now. Considering his faith in her, he must have special feelings for her!”

“Both of them are the most attractive people on their campuses, so of course they would make a perfect match. I’m definitely rooting for them!”

“A perfect match? Wilson found the sight increasingly irritating. His expression grew colder as he scoffed. “They should get their eyes checked.”

المنزلة

Samuel remained silent. Although he could sense Wilson’s intense jealousy, he agreed that Yvette and Liam seemed like a perfect match.

However, Samuel dared not put his thoughts into words. Instead, he wiped off his sweat and chose to butter Wilson up. “Exactly! If we’re talking about a perfect match, it’s you and Ms. Yvette!”

Samuel’s words managed to ease the atmosphere albeit slightly. He finally breathed a sigh of relief.

After setting an appointment, Yvette and Liam walked toward the campus gate. Just as Yvette reached the gate, her wrist was tightly grasped.

After seeing who it was, she didn’t shake off his hand and submissively let him hold it.

Matt, who was chasing after her, clenched his fists upon seeing this scene.

Matt complained inwardly, “Hmph, that man must be Yvie’s boyfriend! At his age, he’s still preying on the young. What a shameless old pervert!”

He let out a snort, ever ready to go forward and make a fuss. But when he looked closely, he was almost scared to the point of collapsing!

The man beside Yvette turned out to be Wilson Quinn.

No wonder Gabriel refused to tell him who Yvette’s boyfriend was. It turned out to be a deliberate trap for Matt!

Matt patted his chest in fear. He was relieved that his sharp eyes had saved him from big trouble. He instantly resolved to find Gabriel and settle the score.

While cursing under his breath, Matt quickly turned to leave. His movements were so fast, as if a beast was chasing after him. After all,,Wilson was not one to be trifled with.

Yvette was unaware of all this and let Wilson lead her into the car.

“Who was the person you were with just now? Why were you staring at him?” Wilson’s captivating eyes fixated on her. His demeanor was sexy and alluring, resembling a seasoned charmer.

He added, “Who’s more attractive, me or him?”

Yvette answered without hesitation, “You.”

Wilson smiled sensually and delightfully. His deep, magnetic voice was gentle and affectionate as he said, “Well, look at me more often and not at anyone else...”

A Rose 237

“Yasmin, please help me!” Nora looked disheveled with red and swollen eyes.

She added, “I can’t get expelled from Jubilife University, or my life will be over! Besides, it was you who told me to frame Yvette for cheating. You have to help me...”

“Don’t worry, Nora. I’ll help you.” Yasmin’s gaze was filled with disgust.

However, she spoke gently, “We’re best friends. I can’t just watch you get expelled from Jubilife University. Rest assured, I’ll go to Mr. Russell and plead on your behalf. He’ll reconsider expelling you for the sake of the Murray family’s influence!”

After hearing this, Nora cried with joy. “That’s great! Yasmin, I knew you wouldn’t abandon me!”

Inwardly, Yasmin thought that Nora was a mere fool. Yet, she continued with her gentle facade. “Of course, I won’t abandon you, Nora! When I get home, I have my uncle and aunty invest in your family. For now, go home, rest, and wait for my good news!”

“Alright, thank you so much!” Nora looked at Yasmin with gratitude. “From now on, you’ll be my family’s benefactor. I’ll do whatever you ask!”

Yasmin smiled kindly at her and replied, “We’re best friends, no need to be so polite. Now, go back and get some rest!”

After seeing Nora off, Yasmin’s gentle expression disappeared instantly.

She scoffed grimly, spitting, “What an absolute fool!”

Nora no longer had any value and had instead become a risk. If she revealed that Yasmin had told her to frame Yvette, it would be disastrous for Yasmin.

Therefore, Yasmin had to get rid of her.

Yasmin made a phone call and coldly ordered, "I need you to deal with someone. Yes, the heiress of the bankrupted Spade family. Make sure no traces lead back to me..."

After handling this, Yasmin logged into the dark web. Seeing that her order hadn't been accepted, her expression darkened. She wondered why the Dark Organization hadn't accepted her order yet.

She gritted her teeth and reluctantly added another five million dollars to the bounty. She assumed the Dark Organization would surely accept her order now.

"Yvie..."

As soon as Yvette entered the living room of Murray Manor, Sean and Ashton greeted her. But before they could approach Yvette, Yara pushed them aside.

"Get out of the way, you rascals!"

Then, she went up to Yvette with a smile and held her hand with affection. "Yvie, are you tired? Studying all day must've been exhausting. Sit down and have some fruit!"

Irwin, Sean, and Ashton stood to the side while witnessing this scene with envy. They had never experienced such treatment, so they envied Yvette.

"Yvie, I heard you won first place at the medical competition today. I'm so proud of you! You're truly amazing!"

A Rose 238

"Yes, indeed!" Irwin chimed in. He was eager to make an impression on his precious daughter. "Yvie, what reward would you like? How about a building?"

Yvette smiled helplessly. Irwin was as extravagant as always, offering her a building as a reward.

"Dad, you're so materialistic! It's always a mall or a building—Yvie wanted none of those things!"

"Exactly! Dad, you put no thought into gifts for Yvie! You're so half-hearted!"

Getting criticized by his two sons, Irwin was confused "I'm half-hearted? How about I buy all the vacant buildings downtown and give them to Yvie?"

Besides money, he didn't have much else to offer. These were the only gifts he could think of.

Yvette smiled happily and was actually fond of the “half–hearted gifts from Irwin.

“Mom, I assume you’ve almost finished your previous medicine prescription. Here’s a new batch I’ve developed. Remember to take it on time.” Yvette handed a newly formulated Revival Potion to Yara.

“My precious daughter is so thoughtful!” Yara felt a warm glow in her heart. Yvette’s care made her feel overjoyed.

Yvie, ever since I started taking the medicine you prescribed, I feel so much better! Now I can go out and socialize with other ladies. It’s so fun!”

Previously, Yara had to recuperate at home due to health reasons. As a result, she didn’t have many friends. With Irwin busy with work and their sons preoccupied, she poured all her maternal love into

Yvette.

It wasn’t until Jacob took over the family business later on that Irwin finally had free time. He spent all his time on Yara, finally giving her much–needed companionship.

Yvette said, “Mom, if you continue with two more courses of treatment, your chronic illness will be completely cured.”

“Alright, I’ll definitely take it on time!”

Yara had consulted many doctors over the years, yet none could cure her. But now, Yvette had the answers she desperately needed. Her precious daughter was truly amazing!

Feeling neglected, Yasmin watched the warm scene in jealousy from the side.

Ever since the plagiarism incident, she felt that Yara and Irwin treated her differently.

Even Sean and Ashton only paid attention to Yvette now. They had long forgotten about Yasmin.

If this continued, Yasmin would have no place left in this household.

Yasmin’s eyes gleamed with deeper malice. She clenched the medicine bottle in her hand and snuck into the kitchen.

Yasmin had stolen some of Yara’s Revival Potion earlier. She discovered that combining it with Centella would have adverse effects. If Yara had a reaction to Yvette’s prescribed medicine, Yvette would surely be kicked out of the household.

Yasmin was aware Yara would drink milk every night to help her sleep. Yasmin's hands trembled as she poured the medicine into the milk. She hadn't wanted to resort to this, but they had forced her into doing.

50. 50.

If they hadn't paid so much attention to Yvette and ignored her, she wouldn't have been driven to this.

With this thought in mind, Yasmin's face twisted with rage. Malice deepened in her gaze as she poured the medicine into the milk without hesitation.

She believed that she shouldn't be blamed

It was Yvetts's fault for returning!

The moment Yvette entered the classroom the next day, her classmates greeted her warmly.

"Yvie, you're here! Sit down, we've cleaned your seat until it's spotless!"

Yvette raised her eyebrow in confusion at the nickname they used for her.

"Yvie, when you joined the Medicine Department, we believed some bad rumors and misunderstood you. We weren't nice to you, and we're sorry about that..."

All 36 classmates stood before her and apologized sincerely.

"From now on, we'll follow your lead and obey only you!"

"Moreover, we would like you to be our class representative!"

"That's right! You're the best fit to be our class representative!"

With Nora expelled from Jubilife University, their class was left without a class representative. When their advisor asked them to elect a new one, they unanimously agreed that Yvette was the best choice.

"I don't want to be the class representative." Yvette rejected them without hesitation as she didn't want to bear the responsibility.

They had expected her reluctance, so they quickly persuaded her. “Yvie, don’t rush to say no. If you agree to be the class representative, we’ll handle the duties. You just need to direct us!”

“Yeah, please agree to be our class representative, Yvie!”

“Fine,” Yvie responded reluctantly. She was tired of their persistence. After all, she only had to direct them without needing to do any actual work.

“That’s great! Yvie has finally agreed!” The classmates were overjoyed.

“Class has started. What are you all so excited about? As Charlie walked in, everyone hurriedly returned, to their seats.

While listening to Charlie’s dull lecture, Yvette felt sleepy and dozed off at her desk.

“Yvie fell asleep. Turn down the air conditioner so she doesn’t catch a cold!”

“And drape a jacket over her so she doesn’t feel chilly!”

Charlie watched the scene with a mix of exasperation and amusement. In the end, he lowered his volume- to avoid waking Yvette.

Ever since yesterday’s competition, Yvette had become the treasure of the entire university. To prevent her from being poached by Vista University, Matt urged all lecturers to treat her with utmost respect. Besides, Yvette’s medical techniques far surpassed Charlie’s, so he couldn’t blame her for sleeping in his class, It was his lack of skill that failed to keep her interested.

Charlie silently motivated himself. He was determined to improve his skills to capture Yvette’s attention in his lectures one day.

Yvette slept through the entire class. When she woke up, she noticed a jacket covering her and the quietness of the classroom, which made her feel somewhat touched.

“Yvie, you’re awake!”

Her classmates finally spoke when they saw her stirring

“Yvie, Liam came to find you earlier. Since you were asleep, we didn’t wake you up. He’s waiting outside. the classroom.”

“Okay, got it,” Yvette replied with a nod.

As soon as she exited the classroom, she saw Liam waiting outside.

“Let’s go,” Yvette said nonchalantly. Yesterday, they had arranged to practice his suturing techniques.

“Okay.” Liam obediently followed her to the laboratory. He fixed his gaze on her and was mesmerized the whole way there.

A Rose 240

“Wow, Liam is visiting Yvette at our campus again. Do they really have something going on?”

“I think they do! They make a perfect match, so it makes sense if there’s something between them.” “Yeah, I bet they’ll be together soon!”

As gossip spread, rumors about Liam and Yvette dating circulated throughout Jubilife University. Elsewhere, Yvette said flatly. “Til only demonstrate once.” She held the surgical needle between her slender fingers. Back when her mentor had first taught her, she had learned it after just one demonstration.

“Okay.” Liam nodded solemnly. As he focused intently on her movements, his gaze inadvertently lingered on her.

While Yvette was focusing, her delicate face glowed under the lights, making her look irresistibly beautiful. Liam was absolutely mesmerized.

“Why are you staring at me?” Upon noticing his distraction, Yvette frowned unhappily. “Does my face display any knowledge?”

“I’m sorry.” Liam’s ears flushed. “I won’t get distracted again.”

Yvette’s tone was casual as she said, “You have talent, Just learn well.”

Once Liam was almost done learning, she could hand him over to her mentor. This way, her mentor wouldn’t be so intent on making Yvette his successor. She was proud of her own cleverness!

Liam felt encouraged and said earnestly, “I won’t let you down!”

Fully understanding her excellence, he was determined to improve and keep up with her.

“Alright,” Yvette responded indifferently. “That’s it for today. Practice more on your own.”

“Got it.”

Liam and Yvette walked out of the laboratory together. Outside, a black Maybach was parked.

When Wilson saw Liam walking beside Yvette, his expression darkened. However, he still smiled gently as soon as he was in front of Yvette.

“I’m here to pick you up.”

Upon recognizing Wilson, Liam was shocked. He hadn’t expected to see such a gentle side from someone so greatly feared by everyone in Jubilife City.

Wilson ignored Liam completely and assertively took Yvette’s hand. Their fingers were even intertwined possessively.

Yvette allowed Wilson to hold her hand. Then, she turned to Liam and said, “I’m leaving now. We’ll meet at the lab at the same time tomorrow.”

“Okay!” Liam nodded eagerly with a hint of joy in his eyes.

Upon learning that Yvette would meet Liam again, Wilson’s gaze turned grim. He exuded an intimidating chill.

Noticing his jealousy, Yvette smiled and gently reassured him. “I’m just teaching him dissection and suturing techniques. Don’t be jealous.”

Wilson’s stern gaze softened at her soothing words. His deep and magnetic voice turned tender.

“Alright. Whatever you say, Yvie.”

Seeing their natural intimacy, Liam looked down in disappointment. But as he was about to head back to his own campus, Sean and Ashton blocked his way.

“We heard you want to pursue our younger sister?” “Don’t even think about it. Stay away from her!”
