Chapter 131

Chapter 131 I'm Scared to Be Alone

Liora changed her clothes excitedly but felt uncertain about going out after washing up and heading downstairs.

She frowned at Tyler and asked, "Tyler, will we get into trouble if Mommy notices?"

Tyler glanced at her while putting on his shoes. "Do you want to find out if he is our father?"

"Yes!" Liora replied immediately. Then, she hesitated and added, "However, Mommy told us that Daddy has turned into soil." novelbin

Tyler stood up after tying his shoes. "If you're scared to go, you can stay home and cover for me."

"No! I'm scared to be alone!" Liora quickly put on her shoes and held onto Tyler's top.

Tyler gently caressed Liora's head. "Don't worry. Mommy will probably punish me first."

Liora nodded, and they headed to Villa Rosa.

Twenty minutes later, the two children arrived at Villa Rosa. The security guard led them to Evan's villa, probably informed by Axel in advance.

Axel was already waiting outside. Liora rushed over to him with enthusiasm. "Tyler and I are here, Axel!”

Anxiously, Axel took two steps back from Liora’s excitement.

“Come in,” he said in a brief, dull tone.

Liora and Tyler entered the house with Axel. The nanny and maid were shocked when they saw the two children.

“The boy looks like Mr. Jordan!” the maid remarked to the nanny.

“They look really similar, except for the lips,” the nanny agreed.

“He looks just like Mr. Jordan’s illegitimate child...” the maid added.

Tyler smiled and looked up upon hearing their conversation. “It’s a pleasure to meet you.

The well-mannered Tyler won the hearts of the nanny and maid.

Tyler was graceful and obedient, while Liora was doll-like.

After the three children removed their shoes, the sound of a car’s engine could be heard outside the villa

Axel turned his head and noticed a white sports car parked outside, causing a drastic change in Confused by his unusual expression, they ran upstairs as instructed.

Unaware of which room belonged to Axel, they ended up entering the last room on the second floor. They only realized it was Axel’s room after closing the door.

Tyler noticed a laptop in the room and wondered, ‘Is Axel interested in computers too?’

He asked Liora for help, saying, “Lia, keep an eye on the situation outside and let me know if you hear footsteps.”

Excited to see the laptop, Liora asked, “Are you going to check Axel’s laptop?”

Tyler turned on the laptop and was shocked to find the same hacking software he used. This piqued his interest, and he told Liora, “I’m going to explore this. Keep watch!”

Liora nodded and said, “Sure!”

Meanwhile, Axel instructed the nanny and maid not to mention the visitors’ presence. Anxiously, he sat on the sofa, pretending to watch TV as Daniella entered the house.

Daniella glared at Axel and asked coldly, her disgust evident, “Is your father on a business trip?”

Axel nodded without looking at her. He felt his palms sweaty and his back tense, fearing Daniella/might go upstairs.

Soon, he heard the sound of Daniella heading upstairs.

Chapter 132

Chapter 132 Why Are You Following Me?

Axel turned to look at Daniella, then hurriedly jumped off the sofa and followed her.

Upon reaching the second floor, Daniella realized Axel was following her.

Glaring at Axel in disgust, she asked, “Why are you following me?”

Axel feared her reaction and clenched his fists tightly. “I’m going back to my room.

Daniella shouted, “If you want to go to your room, don’t walk around like a ghost!”

Her outburst startled the two children in the room.

Liora was taken aback. "There's a woman shouting outside. Is that Axel's Mommy? She sounds really fierce. Will she come in here?"

Tyler looked at the door and calmly ordered, "Lock the door."

"It's going to make a sound," Liora said fearfully, her face scrunching up.

"It won't," Tyler replied while typing on the keyboard. "It's a silent lock. Just lock it."

He needed a few more minutes to crack Axel's software password to verify if they shared the same hobby. He was willing to take the risk rather than let his effort go to waste.

Liora swiftly pressed the lock and patted her chest in relief upon hearing no noise from it.

Daniella felt something was amiss as Axel had always avoided being in the same place as her.

Yet, he followed her today. She stared at him. "Are you hiding something from me?"

"No," Axel answered.

Daniella sneered. "Really? You just want to go back to your room, right? Then go!"

Axel stood there anxiously, unsure if Tyler and Liora were in his room. Daniella would punish him for lying if she saw them when he opened the door

After a moment of hesitation, he chose to walk to his room.

Axel pushed down the door handle of his room to discover that it was locked.

They were there!

Noticing that Axel was not moving, Daniella immediately grabbed his shoulder and pulled him to her. She shouted in a high-pitched voice, "What the heck are you doing, Axel? Will it kill you to open a door?"

Axel's body trembled from hearing Daniella's angry shout. He lowered his head in a panic and Daniella was infuriated even more by his silence and gave him a loud slap.

+15 BONUS

"Why must you provoke me?" Daniella pinched Axel's face tightly. "I'm just here to grab something, yet you insist on being an eyesore! Alright then. Let's see how I'm going to deal with you today, you piece of shit!"

Daniella grabbed Axel by his collar and pulled him into her room ferociously.

Tyler and Liora soon heard a scolding voice accompanied by the sounds of someone being beaten.

Tyler was stunned while Liora burst into tears.

She ran into Tyler's arms and clutched his shirt tightly. She lowered her childish voice and said, "I'm scared, Tyler! Axel's Mommy is hitting Axel. I want to go home, Tyler!"

Tyler did not expect Daniella to speak such harsh words or hit Axel.

Tyler looked at the cracked password in a daze and saw the name 'Angst' on the username section.

He came to understand that Axel was the person who had paid him 1,000,000 dollars to search for his biological mother!

Chapter 133

Chapter 133 Help Him, Tyler

Tyler believed the woman outside was the scumbag's fiancée and not Axel's biological mother.

His expression turned solemn, and he said softly, “Sure, I’ll help him! But we can’t go out now.

Axel might get hurt even more.”

Aware they couldn’t take on an adult physically, they needed to find another way to assist Axel.

Tyler pulled out his tablet, logged into an app, and sent an email to Evan with a fake ID.

As Evan got into a car outside Angelbay Airport, his phone vibrated, and he received an anonymous email.

Puzzled, he opened it to find a simple message: [Evan Jordan! Your son is being beaten up by his mother!]

Stunned by the message, Evan replied: [Who are you?]

Tyler: [Don’t worry about who I am. Go back to Villa Rose to check if you don’t believe me!]

Tyler was shocked by how Evan was concerned about his identity.

‘The scumbag’s mindset is different,’ Tyler thought.

Even if Evan was proven to be their biological father, Tyler wouldn’t accept him—a man incapable of understanding the gravity of the situation.

After receiving the reply, Evan’s expression turned somber, and he called Villa Rosa to uncover the truth. The nanny answered the call in a shaky voice, “M—Mr. Jordan!”

Alerted by the nanny’s tone, Evan suppressed his anger and asked, “Is Daniella at Villa Rose now?”

“Y—Yes, sir!”

Evan hung up and looked toward Reuben. "Head back to Villa Rosa as fast as possible!"

Reuben said, "Yes, sir!"

It was 9:30 am, and Lily had searched the entire villa but couldn't find the two children.

Panicked, she rushed to the security room to check the surveillance footage and called Caroline.

As soon as Caroline got into her car, she received Lily's call. "What's going on, Ms. Smith?"

"Carol! The children are missing!"

+15 BONUS

Caroline froze. "What happened?"

Lily briefly explained the situation, and Caroline suddenly remembered her dream from the previous night. A shiver ran down her spine, making her tremble. "Ms. Smith, recheck the surveillance footage. I'm coming back right away!"

After ending the call, Liora turned to Kenny. "Kenny, head back to the city quickly!"

Seeing Caroline so agitated for the first time, Kenny asked, "What happened?"

"The children are missing!" Liora's eyes welled up with tears, and her face turned pale. "Hurry!

Let's get back to the city!"

Realizing the gravity of the situation, Kenny immediately turned the car around and rushed back to the city.

Reuben returned to Villa Rosa as quickly as possible, with Evan following closely behind. They headed to the second floor and found Axel coming out of Daniella's room, visibly shaken and terrified.

Evan's heart ached as he swiftly walked to Axel and embraced him. "Axel," he said, his face filled with concern.

Axel's mental walls collapsed when he saw his father, and he burst into tears after holding back for so long. Despite his quiet and mature demeanor, Axel was just a five-year-old child.

Evan held Axel tightly in pity and then turned to look fiercely at the panic-stricken Daniella.

Chapter 135 We Should Go

Caroline felt utterly ashamed.

Being occupied with work for the past five years, she hadn't paid much attention to her children.

As a result, she didn't even know they had social network accounts.

Rubbing her nose, Caroline asked, "Kenny, are you friends with Ty?"

"Yes," Kenny replied, pulling out his phone and showing Tyler's chat history before handing it to Caroline.

Caroline sent a message: [Where are you, Ty? Reply 'Mommy' if you see this!]

After sending the message, Caroline grabbed her car keys.

She looked at Lily, who seemed guilty and anxious, and said reassuringly, "I'm going to the police station, Ms. Smith. Don't worry."

Lily's eyes were red with tears. "It's my fault for not watching the two children, Carol."

"It's not your fault, Ms. Smith," Caroline said. "The children have minds of their own. I'll just check on their location."

Turning to Kenny, she added, "Stay with Ms. Smith, Kenny."

Kenny replied, "You go. I'll be here."

At Villa Rosa.

Four people were standing in Axel's room.

Evan and the two children exchanged glances before he asked Axel, "Did you invite them over?"

Axel nodded silently, pursing his lips.

As Evan observed Tyler, he couldn't shake the feeling that Tyler might be his son.

He had asked Paige about it in the past, and she had told him that Caroline was pregnant with his triplets.

But there was a problem. If Carolyn or Caroline were their mother, where was the third child? Why hadn't he seen them yet?

Evan scrutinized Tyler, realizing that getting information from him wouldn't be easy.

Turning to Liora, Evan asked gently, "Who is your mother?"

Fear filled Liora's eyes as she shook her head and replied, "I don't know."
novelbin

Evan's expression turned solemn. "You don't even know who your mother is?"

+15 BONUS

This angered Liora a bit. 'Why is he asking about Mommy? We're here to play with Axel!'

Despite her irritation, she was scared of Evan's serious demeanor, so she puffed up her cheeks and said, "We don't tell strangers our mommy's name!"

Evan lowered himself to her level and spoke firmly. "I won't let you go home unless you tell me. If you do, I'll give you a ride home and cotton candy."

Liora retorted disdainfully, "My brother can get me boxes of chocolate. Your cotton candy is worthless."

Tyler had been worried that Liora might reveal the truth out of fear. He found her remark amusing and realized that he had spoiled her.

Evan's mouth twitched. 'She can't even be bribed with food?' he thought.

Meanwhile, Tyler stood up and politely asked, "Sir, may I use your restroom?"

'Sir? Do I look that old?' Evan wondered.

Evan coldly replied, "Go ahead."

Tyler left the room, his gaze fixed on the other two rooms. He had a purpose today and wanted to seize an opportunity.

Tyler's eyes lit up as he opened the door to the first room, which was gloomy and dark. He believed it belonged to the scumbag.

He stepped into the bathroom and discreetly took Evan's toothbrush, putting it into his bag.

After finishing, he returned to Axel's room and called out to Liora, who was still bickering with

Evan, "We should go, Liora."

Chapter 136 Do You Miss Me

Liora leaped off the sofa, preparing to run to Tyler.

However, Evan quickly grabbed her arm and said firmly, "I'll give you a ride."

Tyler politely declined, taking Liora's hand, and said, "It's okay, sir. We can go home by ourselves."

Evan stared at him coldly, insisting, "It's not safe."

"We'll be just fine," Tyler calmly reassured. "Please don't worry, sir."

Evan narrowed his eyes and retorted, "Since you're so capable, I won't give you a ride."

Tyler and Liora said goodbye to Axel and left. He silently watched them go.

At the police station.

Caroline was still checking traffic surveillance footage when she saw the children getting out of the cab at Villa Rosa. She was terrified, wondering why they had gone to such a dangerous place.

Caroline hesitated but eventually decided to pick up the children herself, believing Evan wasn't home at that time.

As she was about to get into her car, she received a call from an unknown number.

Caroline quickly answered, and to her surprise, it was Tyler on the line.

"Hello?"

"Mommy, it's me, Tyler."

Caroline was stunned. "Tyler, where are you now? Whose phone are you using?"

"It's the ride-sharing service's driver's phone."

"Tyler! You should have told me or Ms. Smith when you went outside. We were so worried about you!"

Caroline reacted impulsively.

"I know. That is why I borrowed the phone to call you." Tyler spoke in a calm yet graceful tone.

Caroline was at a loss for words. She was well aware of Tyler's independent personality, as he skillfully managed to make it seem like he was in the right even when he was at fault.

"Where are you? Are you on your way home?" she asked.

+15 BONUS

"Yes, Mommy. We'll be home soon. See you there."

Tyler hung up and passed the phone to the driver. "Thank you, sir."

“Both of you are five years old, right?” the driver asked.

Tyler said smilingly, “Yes, sir.”

“That’s really bold of you-” The driver suddenly remembered something halfway through his speech. “Didn’t you get the ride using your phone? Why did you borrow my phone?”

Liora immediately answered, “Sir, my brother has a phone that my mother doesn’t know of! He uses it for work!”

Tyler did not manage to stop Liora in time.

Liora would expose him sooner or later!

Tyler told Liora after seeing Caroline’s car at the villa, “Lia, don’t tell her the reason we went to Villa Rosa today.”

Liora nodded. “I know. My lips are sealed!”

Tyler knew that Liora was the worst at keeping secrets in the family!

Caroline, Lily, and Kenny were waiting on the sofa.

Liora clutched the hem of Tyler’s shirt anxiously, but she forgot her fear of being penalized after seeing Kenny.

“Uncle Kenny!” Liora threw herself into Kenny’s arms and cuddled.

“Lia!” Kenny picked up Liora in excitement. “Tell me, did you miss me?”

novelbin
“So so much!” Liora giggled.

Caroline was rendered speechless by their affectionate reunion. ‘How am I supposed to discipline my children now!?’

Chapter 137

Chapter 137 Why Would She Hit Us?

Caroline found herself unable to do anything to Liora, so she shifted her gaze to Tyler, who was taking off his backpack.

With a stern expression, Caroline called out, “Come here, Ty.”

Tyler stood before Caroline and spoke up before she could say anything. “I’m sorry for taking Lia out on a playdate, Mommy. It’s my fault for not notifying you earlier. But you wouldn’t stop Lia and me from making friends, right?”

Tyler’s handsome face exuded grace, but his dark eyes betrayed a hint of cunning.

Caroline couldn’t argue when Tyler had already admitted his mistake.

Should she really prevent her children from playing with the child at Villa Rosa? After all, the child did nothing wrong!

Her children might even question her resistance.

In frustration, Caroline replied, “I won’t make a fuss since you acknowledged your mistake.

However, from now on, you have to inform an adult before leaving the house, Ty. You can write me a note about where you’re going and who you’re meeting. I’ll allow that.”

Tyler nodded. “Understood, Mommy.”

Lily sympathized with the children and tried to mediate. “Carol, it’s good that the children are home. Don’t nag them anymore. Ty and Lia must be hungry. Let me make you all some food, alright?”

“Yes!” Liora chimed in. “I’m starving!” She playfully pinched her belly.

Then, she turned to Caroline and continued. “Mommy, Axel’s Mommy is so fierce. She scolded and hit Axel, so Tyler complained to Axel’s Daddy! Then, Axel’s Daddy came home quickly and got rid of the bad woman!

“Also, Axel’s father was very stingy. He tried to get your name by offering me cotton candy! Does he think I can be deceived or something?”

Caroline was terrified upon learning that her children had encountered Daniella and Evan

In fact, the children had even witnessed the abuse, ‘Hold on” she thought.

Caroline snatched Liora from Kenny’s arms, inspecting her closely with a trembling voice “Lia, did she see you? Did she hurt or scold you?”

+15 BONUS

She then turned her attention to Tyler. “Ty, are you alright?”

“I’m fine, Mommy. She didn’t see us,” Tyler reassured.

Seeing his mother’s anxious expression made him feel uneasy.

Liora questioned in confusion, “Mommy, why would she hurt us if she doesn’t know us?”

Caroline’s movements froze, panic evident in her eyes. Nevertheless, she managed to compose herself and desperately tried to explain, “I’m just worried she might treat you the same way...”

Tyler immediately sensed his mother was not being truthful.

'Mommy is lying,' he thought. 'There seems to be some connection between Mommy and that woman.'

He wanted to know if Daniella had done something bad to Caroline, and he vowed not to let her get novelbin away with it. No one was allowed to harm his beloved mother.

Later that night.

After Caroline had showered the children and told them bedtime stories, Tyler got out of bed when he heard her switch off the lights.

Since Liora was already asleep, he sat before his laptop with care and sent a message to someone online.

[Go to the mailbox of No. 2 Bayview Villa at 1:00 p.m. tomorrow. Take two toothbrushes in there to do a DNA match. I want the result ASAP.]

Tyler pulled out his phone from the bottom compartment of his backpack and wired 2,800 dollars to the other party.

Caroline was typing away on her laptop in another room when she received an email from MK.

The email contained favorable offerings from the company, with an added sentence at the end stating: [You may make requests if you feel that this is not enough.]

Upon reading it, Caroline sneered.

She might have accepted an annual wage that amounted to a few million dollars in the past. All she needed to do was create a sample garment that would lead to millions in sales revenue.

'Trying to recruit me? Dream on!' she thought.

Her reply was concise: [Not up for discussion.]

Reuben received her response promptly and quickly replied: [May I inquire if there is something you're not satisfied with?]

Caroline was unable to sleep, so she replied: [I'm not satisfied with your company's owner, Jordan.

I have a grudge against Jordan!]

Evan soon learned about Caroline's bold reply and stared solemnly at the email.

'This person is quite audacious!' he thought.

Despite this, he acknowledged her talent and capability. The more challenging it was to recruit someone, the more he felt the urge to do it to fulfill his competitive spirit.

He decided to reply to the email personally.

[MK will do the extensive marketing for your clothing line, and the brand will be under your name.

You will be given an additional 3% of the earned profits.]

Caroline sneered as she read the email. It would be easy to establish her brand just by using G's title.

Why would she need MK's marketing?

Even though G's brand would not be as popular as it was abroad, she would be able to develop the

She wanted to make a name for herself. Otherwise, how would she seek revenge against Daniella?

Caroline replied: [Not up for discussion.]

She turned off her laptop, washed up, and went to bed soon afterward.

Evan had trouble sleeping after being infuriated by her arrogance.

On Monday, Caroline got up early to send the children to school after spending the weekend with them.

Caroline did not want Lily to send and pick up the children. After all, Lily and Evan knew each other. novelbin

However, Caroline did not know that Tyler knew everything she was hiding.

Liora pouted and contemptuously said, "Are you sure that the man is really our daddy, Tyler?"

She did not want a father who was engaged to another woman and had a child. She was convinced that her mother left with them after learning about her scumbag father's affair.

Tyler held the DNA match report in his hand—the result was well within their expectations.

The fact he looked so similar to his scumbag father and his mother's emotional reaction toward Evan had proved to be fishy.

However, he did not wish to reunite with his father yet because Evan was too foolish not to realize their existence.

Also, Evan had actually regarded Caroline as the mistress.

Tyler hated and despised him for doing that.

He suddenly smirked when he figured out a way to deal with Evan!

Evan sneezed on his way to drop Axel off at school.

Axel looked at his father and said softly, "You should take medicine for the cold." Evan caressed his son's head. "I'm fine."

Chapter 139

Chapter 139 Hacked

Axel fell silent and averted his gaze.

Evan found the atmosphere in the car oddly oppressive and quiet. Although he didn't spend much time with Axel due to his busy schedule, he could sense that something was off after Axel met the two children yesterday.

Axel appeared distant, speaking and smiling sparingly, and even his voice sounded deep and dreary.

Evan used to think Axel's personality resembled his own in the past, but now he realized that Axel's introversion might result from Daniella's abuse.

Evan's expression turned serious as he realized that Axel might need professional help from a psychologist.

If his son was indeed facing psychological issues, he would make sure Daniella faced the consequences of her malicious actions.

Just then, Evan's phone rang, interrupting his thoughts.

The person on the line immediately said, "Mr. Jordan! Someone hacked into our company's network!"

Furrowing his eyebrows, Evan replied coldly, "Take prompt action to repair the damage instead of calling me!"

The programmer seemed hesitant as he spoke, "Mr. Jordan... I... I'm going to send you the details on WhatsApp."

A photo arrived on Evan's phone. His expression turned grave as he saw the message displayed on hundreds of office computers.

[Is this all you've got, MK? I cracked your network key so easily. Come and exchange your company's confidentiality with money.]

A doodled smiley face and a QR code accompanied the message.

'How dare someone challenge me so fearlessly?' Evan thought.

Soon, the programmer sent a video clip.

Evan played the video clip of a sentence popping up on the computer as soon as the programmer typed a code.

[Do you think you can crack my code?]

+15 BONUS

Evan was livid.

He picked up his phone and snarled, "I hired a bunch of top-notch hackers at a high price, this all you can do? Leave if you still can't solve the issue in 12 hours!"

Axel cowered subconsciously when he heard Evan's shout.

Daniella had deeply scarred him.

Axel's action caught Evan's attention, so he turned to look at Axel subconsciously.

He appeared visibly guilty and softened his voice. "I'm sorry for losing my temper in your presence, Axel."

Axel shook his head cautiously.

but is

Evan noticed his son looking at his phone and suddenly remembered that Axel was not interested in anything other than coding.

"Axel. can you track this hacker's IP address?" Evan asked.

Axel looked down and said softly, "I'll try..."

He pulled out his laptop, logged into MK's network, and typed codes. In less than 20 minutes, he cracked the hacker's code and strengthened the firewall. Then, he traced the hacker's IP address.

'Bayview Villa?' Axel was stunned.

He remembered Tyler mentioning that they lived at Bayview Villa.

'Did Tyler do this?' he wondered.

Evan would never let them off if he learned about this.

Axel darted a look at Evan, who was reading an agreement. He changed the IP address to Daniella's current address in just a few minutes.

Then, he tugged at Evan's shirt.

Axel looked at Evan anxiously. "It's done."

Evan put down the agreement and was shocked to see the recovered network and IP address.

The top-notch hackers employed by the company were clueless, yet his son solved the issue within a short period.

Chapter 140 Siblings

Evan felt a mix of pride and guilt. He had neglected Axel for too long, only now realizing the boy's rare genius.

Suppressing his emotions, Evan checked the GPS location on the computer.

'International Residence? Did Daniella commission someone for this?' he wondered.

Filled with hostility, he clenched his fists. 'Did I not give her enough money or something? Why is she using such a lowly method to hack into the company's system so she can ask for more money?'

Seeing his father's unpleasant expression, Axel felt relieved as they reached the kindergarten five minutes later.

After walking into the class, Axel stared at Tyler nonchalantly and said, "You shouldn't have done that."

Tyler smiled, pretending not to understand. "What are you talking about?"

"You hacked into my father's company network," Axel replied coldly.

Tyler remained calm and asked, "Are you admitting you're skilled in hacking, too?"

Vigilantly, Axel inquired, "What are you implying?"

Tyler's smile didn't fade. "Angst, you're my wealthy patron, but I can choose to hack into your father's company network."

Axel panicked and warned, "My father will be furious-"

Tyler interrupted him and retorted, "Am I supposed to do nothing while he bullies my mommy?"

His smile vanished.

Axel was stunned. "Did my daddy bully your mommy?"

"Yes, he caused my mother to suffer grievances, so she had no choice but to leave the city with my sister and me," Tyler said angrily.

Axel kept quiet. His mind was working swiftly as he stared at Tyler.

A moment later, he said, "You're my father's child, too."

Tyler answered bluntly, "Yes."

Tyler suddenly frowned and wondered if Caroline was Axel's mother since the bad woman was not.

Based on the information he had gathered, the only woman with Evan was Daniella, other than his

The two children exchanged one glance in unison.

Tyler said, "I'm going to add another term!"

"I can promise not to tell Daddy about you." Axel went straight to the point by saying, "However, you can't stop me from reuniting with my mommy.

Tyler was rather surprised that Axel could read his mind. They were real siblings indeed.

“Sure, it’s a deal!”

In the afternoon, Caroline and Kenny returned to the company. They were exhausted after visiting several clothing factories, but none had caught their attention.

Kenny took a few sips of water before suggesting, “We know the clothing production process very well. Why don’t we establish a factory ourselves, G?”

“We can set up the factory, but we need someone to monitor its operations, Kenny. Both of us are needed here at the company. Which one of your subordinates would you trust to manage the factory?” Caroline asked.

Kenny’s team was skilled in design, garment fitting, and cutting, but they lacked expertise in managing the clothing factory production line.

Caroline felt troubled because the clothing factory was of utmost importance, and she couldn’t entrust it to a stranger.

Kenny observed Caroline and seemed slightly displeased. “G, you seem to have forgotten how I started in this industry.”

Caroline was taken aback, recalling Kenny had begun at the bottom of a clothing factory and had become a fashion designer through self-learning.

Filled with joy, Caroline sat upright. “Are you willing to take over the management of the factory?”

Kenny set down his mug and replied, “I would do anything for you!”
