Chapter 291

Chapter 291 Here to Take Advantage

When Paige entered the house, she heard the voices of two strangers.
novelbin

“Mom, those two mean kids won’t let me play with anything.” Gigi complained “What won’t they share with you?” Jade asked.

“The laptop and the tablet! Tyler won’t let me touch them! He said I’m not worthy.” Gigi cried.

Jade exploded. “This is ridiculous! Come on, I’ll handle it!”

They left the living room and ran into Paige.

Paige was surprised. She wondered, What is that little girl talking about? Did she say Tyler won’t let her use his laptop? No one can touch Ty’s laptop, yet she’s trying to get her mother to take it by force?

The woman who doesn’t seem kind called that ridiculous? Who’s the ridiculous one in someone else’s house, huh?!”

Paige was already angry, and it only intensified when she realized that Tyler was about to be bullied.

She walked further into the house and said, “Stay there”

Jade looked at Paige with confusion. She examined Paige and asked, “Who are

“I was about to ask you the same question! I overheard you talking about taking Ty’s laptop. Why would you do that?” Paige approached them.

Jade realized that Paige was there to cause trouble.

“An outsider should not interfere in my family’s affairs!” Jade’s words were accompanied by spit.

Paige laughed and said, “Outsider, huh? You were nowhere to be seen when Caroline and I used to play together!”

Jade was furious. “Who are you to criticize me?”

Paige retorted, “Who are you to shout in Carol’s house, then?”

“Say that to me again, bitch.” Jade spat on Paige.

Paige’s lips twitched, and she shrieked when she felt the stickiness and stink on her face. “Y–You rural shrew!”

“How dare you call me names! I’m going to slap you, you bitch!” Jade shrieked and clawed at Paige’s head.

Paige grabbed Jade’s hair and said, “Rural shrew! You shrew!”

The commotion echoed throughout the house.

Caroline stepped out of her room and discovered Paige and Jade locked in a heated fight in the living room. Without hesitation, she went downstairs to intervene and defuse the situation.

Tyler and Liora followed closely but remained frozen upstairs, taken aback by the fight.

With considerable effort, Caroline managed to separate the two.

Paige was no match for Jade as she was an experienced farmer. Nonetheless, Jade had a few scratch marks on her face.

Paige leered at Jade, who was crying on the floor, and asked Caroline, "Where did this madwoman come from?"

Caroline led Paige to the restroom to clean the filth on her face and explained, "She's a part of my adoptive father's family. They're here to take advantage of me."

Paige's eyes widened in shock. Take advantage of you? Why did you put up with them? Get rid of them!"

Caroline said, "It's not beneficial for me to fight back by force. I have a way to deal with this. Don't get angry over this."

"I'm fine! I just feel indignant for you and the children!" Paige said.

"I'll adapt and manage. In addition, I won't let myself be wronged."

"Alright, just be careful of the shrew."

"I know."

Evan quickly learned about the situation and observed Alex, who was upset and drinking. He asked, "You're really close to Paige, so why are you still here after she just had a fight?"

Alex was surprised. "Fight? Who did she fight with?"

Evan explained nonchalantly, "With Caroline's troublesome relatives."

Alex said, "Huh? Do you mean those we encountered at the restaurant?"

Evan smiled. "You have been very close with her recently. Aren't you going to help her out?"

Alex was displeased. "Why aren't you doing that?"

'Why should I do it when Evan has a longer relationship with Caroline than me and Paige? Moreover, I was almost incapacitated by Paige's kick this evening,' Alex complained inwardly.

Evan sipped his drink. "I'm the most influential CEO of Southeast Rheaasia, after all. I can't get involved in a women's fight."

"You're aware that you're the most influential CEO now, but do you remember those five years of heavy drinking while searching for Caroline?" Alex mocked inwardly.

Alex said, "If you can't get involved, do you think I can get involved?"

Evan glanced at Alex. "You are a women's advocate and know how to manipulate them."

"Are you complimenting me?" Alex was furious.

A moment later, he heaved a sigh. "Alright, what would you like me to do? Tell me!"

Evan said, "Appeal to their emotions with understanding and convince them with reason. You may get physically involved if you have no other choice. I'll be your backer."novelbin

Alex was astounded. "Are you asking me to fight with women? How could you, Evan?"

Evan put down his glass slowly. "Your father-"

Before Evan could finish his sentence, Alex stood up abruptly. "I'm going now!"

Alex rushed to Bayview Villa just in time to meet Paige when she walked out of the house.

Caroline was surprised to see Alex and asked Paige, "Did he know you're here?"

Paige was dumbfounded. "I didn't tell him! What brought him here?"

Alex got out of the car in a rush after noticing them.

Caroline asked in confusion, "What brought you here at this time, Mr. Pierce?"

Alex frowned when he saw the injury on Paige's face. He began to say, "I heard that you were-

But he quickly cut himself off. He couldn't reveal that he was aware of the fight. If he did, Caroline might discover that Evan had been secretly keeping an eye on her.

He also had to avoid any mention of himself. Otherwise, they might think he was a pervert who watched over his best friend's woman

It dawned on him that Evan had trapped him once more.

After a brief pause, he came up with an excuse. "I came here to see Paige!"

"Why would you want to see me in the middle of the night? Go to your mother instead," Paige quipped.

Alex diverted the topic of conversation after noticing that Paige believed his excuse. "What's with your face?"

“Scratched by a bitch!”

Paige was furious that she did not win the fight earlier.

Speaking of which, how would Alex know that she was at Caroline’s place?

Paige glared at Alex. “Did you plant a bug on me?”

Alex was rendered speechless.

“I went to the bar you often go to, but you weren’t there. So, I decided to give this place a shot,”

Alex fibbed.

Paige said, “You’re smart, but get out of here and stop bothering me!”

Alex asked, “Aren’t you even touched at all?”

Paige said, “Why would I be touched? Should I be touched that you used me?”

“Paige, you can’t keep punishing me for a mistake that I made, right?”

Paige grunted. “I will do it for eternity!”

Caroline was puzzled as they quarreled at her door. “Alright, stop quarreling. Go home first, Paige.

Paige nodded. “Call me if you need anything! I refuse to believe that I can’t deal with that shrew!”

Paige left Bayview Villa, and Alex followed suit, tailing her car until she reached her apartment.

Ignoring him, Paige parked her car and stepped into the elevator.

The moment Paige pressed the floor button, Alex managed to squeeze himself inside.

Paige's eyes widened in disbelief. 'Are you crazy, Pug- Hmm!'

Without hesitation, Alex grasped the back of Paige's head, leaned in, and kissed her passionately.

Paige struggled to break free, but Alex held her hands firmly against his chest.

After a moment, he pulled away, his breathing heavy. "I love you, Paige!"

Paige was taken aback. "What?"

"I said, I love you!" Alex declared earnestly.

For a moment, Paige was stunned, and then she burst into laughter. "You said it!"

She playfully tugged at Alex's tie and kissed him deeply.

Their passionate kiss continued until the elevator suddenly opened.

An elderly man standing outside dropped his garbage bag in astonishment at the sight before him.

Startled by the noise, Paige and Alex abruptly released each other when they noticed the old man.

The old man chuckled. "Go on Go on..."

On Wednesday, at MK.

Reuben updated Evan, "Mr. Jordan, Kenny is staying in the villa owned by Ms. Alisa Kudrov from

Evan frowned and said, "Alisa?"

Reuben said, "She is known as the Textile Tycoon of Ylesir and is currently monopolizing the entire Euroasian fabric market.”

Evan narrowed his eyes. “Have neither of them left the villa these days?”

Reuben nodded. “Yes, the service staff went grocery shopping. We followed them and discovered they bought adult items.”

Evan pondered briefly. I’ll pick him up this afternoon and drop him at Caroline’s ”

At TYC

Caroline and Naomi were getting ready to go to the factory when Caroline received a text from

Freya

Freya told Caroline that Jamie was looking for her. Caroline thought Jamie might be having another episode, so she quickly called Freya.

Anxiously, Caroline asked when Freya answered. "How is Jamie, Dr. Bailey?"

Freya replied, sounding helpless, "Jamie was making a scene, saying she wanted to see you and refusing to eat or take her medicine."

Caroline requested, "Please put Jamie on the phone so I can talk to her."

Freya handed the phone to Jamie, and the latter asked, "Carol' Where are you? I'm coming to find.

you."

Caroline explained, "Jamie, I'm on my way to the factory. It's really busy there, so I can't bring you along."

"No! I don't want to stay home. I want to go with you to the factory! I promise I'll behave and won be a bother," Jamie said, her voice filled with tears.

Caroline frowned. There were many machines in the factory, so she couldn't bring Jamie along for safety reasons

However, Jamie's reluctance posed a problem.

Caroline sighed and told Naomi, "Please let the department heads in the supply chain know to go

Naomi replied, "I can handle it on my own."

Caroline smiled. "You'll still need to visit the factory later this afternoon to ensure the

Caroline observed Naomi's reaction, but all she received was an indifferent nod

She turned her gaze away and gently patted Naomi's shoulder. "I appreciate your efforts. Once the company is in a better state, I'll ensure you receive a raise."

"Thank you, Ms. Shenton, Naomi replied.

Caroline hurried back to Bayview Villa and took Jamie outside for some fresh air. Treating Jamie to a meal outside was the key to getting her to take her medicine.

Seeing Jamie's improved spirits, Caroline reassured her, "I understand that staying home can be dull, Jamie. However, I need to work to earn money. I promise to take you out every weekend and go for walks with you at night when I'm free. Will that be acceptable?"

Jamie looked at Caroline with a touch of sadness "Carol, did I disrupt your work today?"

Caroline answered frankly, "Yes"

She didn't shy away from being honest with Jamie because she needed to resolve this situation. Otherwise, she would end up sacrificing her job productivity whenever Jamie was in a bad mood.

Caroline had always excelled at separating professional and personal matters.

Jamie lowered her head. "Carol, I..."

“Jamie, you don’t understand my current situation well enough, and it’s possible that I was overly stern earlier. However, I believe that you can do it because I need to make money to support all of you, right?”

Jamie pursed her lips. “So, you can’t take me out to play every day.”

Caroline said, “That’s right. I can only rest during the weekend.”

Jamie pondered for a long time before she nodded. “I understand. I won’t disturb you from working from now on.”

Caroline felt relieved. “Hmm, come with me to pick the children up from school later.”

Jamie’s eyes lit up. “Sure! Let’s pick up Ty and Lia!”

Caroline and Jamie drove to the kindergarten in the evening to pick up the kids. Many parents were already waiting at the entrance, so Caroline did not let Jamie out of the car.

Caroline stood to the side to avoid any conflict upon meeting Evan.

After Evan departed with Axel, she guided Tyler and Liora to the car.

Excitedly, the two children started chatting with Jamie when they saw her in the car.

“Why are you here to pick us up today?” Liora cuddled Jamie’s arm.

Jamie hugged Liora and said, “I missed you, so I came to see you, Lia.”

Liora giggled. “Why didn’t you help us watch those bad people?”

Jamie was confused. “Hmm, who are those people?”

Tyler reminded her, "Those who are living at our home."

Jamie nodded. "I shall watch them for you tomorrow then!"

"That's right, watch those bad people to prevent them from bringing other bad people into the house! Please watch our Legos, too!"

"Sure!"

After listening to their conversation, Caroline smiled and thought about how only Liora could get Jamie to stay home..

After arriving at Bayview Villa, Caroline noticed Evan's Maybach parked at the yard.

"Why is Evan here? she wondered in astonishment

Jamie had already exited the car before Caroline could gather her thoughts.

Evan was still inside the car. He instantly noticed Jamie's figure and frowned. He then stepped out of the vehicle.

swiftly

But before he could utter a word, Liora hopped out of the car and called, "Wait for me, Madam."

Caroline soon emerged from the car, perplexed. She frowned upon realizing Evan was seemingly lost in thought while gazing at Jamie.

Holding Tyler's hand, Caroline approached Evan and casually asked, "What brings you here?"

Caroline's voice startled Evan, bringing him back to reality. He gazed at her solemnly and asked,

Why is my mother at your house?"

Caroline was stunned. "Your mother?*

Caroline quickly glanced at Jamie as if recalling something. Evan's eyes resembled Jamie's when compared.

A sudden realization hit Caroline—she had been taking care of Evan's mother all along.

Evan controlled his anger and spoke coldly. "Are you going to give me an explanation, Caroline?"

Evan's rude attitude infuriated Caroline.

"You're asking me for an explanation, yet you couldn't even watch over your mother? Did you issue a Silver Alert? Have you let me know that you were looking for her?"

"I discovered her on the street! She had walked so extensively that her feet were bleeding! If your can't care for your own mother, why should I provide an explanation to you?"

Startled by Caroline's emotional comment, Jamie quickly glanced up. After a moment of thought, she realized that Evan bore a striking resemblance to her own child

Jamie reassured Caroline, "Don't be upset, Carol. This is my son."

Caroline was rendered speechless.

Evan relaxed upon hearing Caroline's explanation.

Caroline had guessed right. Evan hadn't shared his mother's photo or informed anyone of his search.

But how could Caroline have known unless she had seen the contents of his drawer?

Evan pursed his lips, averted his gaze, and coolly apologized, "Sorry!"

He then turned to Jamie, his tone firm. "Mom, you shouldn't have gone out alone."

Jamie looked at Evan disapprovingly, saying, "Even though you're my son, we aren't close. I went out to have some fun."

Evan realized that his mother's illness had relapsed. "I can take you out if you want, but come home with me now, okay?"

"No! I want to be with Carol!" Jamie declined harshly and even hugged Caroline. "Let's go inside, Carol. Ignore him! He's trying to split us up!"

Caroline remained silent and still, puzzled by Jamie's unusual behavior. She couldn't fathom what had triggered Jamie to act that way.

Was it because of the Jordans?

Furthermore, Caroline had never heard Evan mention his mother over the three years they had spent together. In fact, she had assumed that Evan's mother had passed away. So, where had Jamie been all that time?

Evan was overwhelmed with emotions. "Mom, she's very busy. Don't add to her burden."

Jamie glared at Evan. "I'm not adding to her burden! You're rich. Give your money to Carol so she won't be burdened anymore!"

Evan said, "Sure, I'll give her money, but you have to come with me."

Jamie snapped. "I already told you I don't want to go Why can't you understand?"

"Mom, you're supposed to come with me, not stay here!" Evan's voice grew deeper.

"Don't push me!" Jamie yelled, turned around, and dashed back to the villa.

Evan wanted to follow her, but Caroline blocked his way

"Don't you think you're putting Jamie in a difficult position? She is your mother so she is supposed to go home with you indeed. However, she is on the brink of a relapse now. You should give her time to adapt," she said. novelbin

Evan narrowed his eyes at the mention of the word 'relapse'. "How much do you know about my mother?"

"I don't know much. You don't have to worry about me knowing about Jamie's condition. You can set your mind at ease and let her stay here. I've commissioned a doctor to take care of her daily."

Evan's tired expression deepened, and he said, "Please, let me know right away if there's a problem. I'll arrange for someone to deliver my mother's medicine. Also, I could really use your help looking after Axel for two days while I'm away on a business trip."

"Axel is my kid. No need to ask for help. It's my duty," Caroline said, looking at Axel still in the car. She smiled and asked, "You coming out, dear?"

Axel picked up his backpack and exited the car. He approached Caroline and said, "I didn't want to interrupt your talk with Daddy, Mommy."

Caroline affectionately pinched Axel's cheek. "You don't need to be so cautious when you're with me. Relax and stay here. I've arranged for a doctor to look after Grandma every day."

Evan was taken aback by the sight of Axel's smile directed at Caroline. It felt unfamiliar as if he had never witnessed Axel smiling before.

While observing their interaction, a sudden thought struck Evan. 'Maybe Axel could change for the better if he stayed with Caroline.'

Liora was excited and puzzled, her brow furrowed. She couldn't make sense of the situation, so she tugged on Tyler's shirt and asked, 'Can you please explain this to me, Tyler?'

Tyler asked, "Explain what?"

With earnestness, Liora questioned. 'Madam is the scumbag Daddy's mother, yet Mommy refers to Madam as 'Jamie'. What do you think the scumbag Daddy should call Mommy?'

Tyler smirked and answered confidently, "It's simple. Mommy is scumbag Daddy's aunt!"

Liora was taken aback. "Wouldn't that make you scumbag Daddy's cousin then?"

The corner of Tyler's eye twitched. "Liora, it's important for you to study."

Gradually comprehending the situation, Liora groaned, "Ugh! You're so irritating!"

Evan exchanged numbers with Caroline, using Axel and Jamie as an excuse before he departed.

Caroline hesitated but had to stay in touch with Evan because Jamie was staying at her house.

The Shentons came downstairs after Axel entered the villa. Noticing the huge logos on Axel's shirt, they approached him immediately.

“Whoa! This is a very good-looking boy! Where have I seen him before?”

Jade’s eyes widened in astonishment ‘Goodness! This outfit could cover a house down payment! How on earth is he so wealthy?’

She rushed over to Axel. “Hey, come here, boy. I’d like to have a word with you!”

“What is it?” Axel appeared confused.

Liora intervened, “Axel, don’t speak to them! Let’s go to Mommy in the kitchen to get pudding!”

Axel gazed at the Shentons with a puzzled expression as they glared at Liora and Tyler. The siblings appeared visibly agitated.

‘What’s happening with my siblings?’ he wondered.

Jade sneered. “Hey, girl. Am I annoying you by talking to him or something?”

Liora stood tall, declaring, "He's my brother! Do you think you're bothering me?"

Gregory tried to play the peacemaker, asking. "My dear, why are you getting upset with the child?"

He reminded Jade, "Don't forget that Brandon will return soon with a load of roots. What if the child accidentally damages them?"

Jade nodded, saying, "Ah, you're right!"

Grabbing Gregory's arm, Jade led him toward the living room. She observed the three children heading into the kitchen and remarked, "That boy is wealthy!"

Gregory nodded. "That makes sense!"

Jade said, "Moreover, the child looks like a foolish, rich kid. We'll save money if we take him out.

and make him pay for our meals, right?"

Gregory's eyes lit up. "You're smart!"

"Of course! Let's take him out over the weekend!"

"Sure! You call the shots!"

"I'm home, Mom! Please come help me!" Jade and Gregory heard Brandon shout from outside after they had finished scheming.

Curious, they hurried outside and were amazed to see a sleek black car parked right in front of the door.

Brandon stuck out his head. "Mom, look at my newly purchased car!" novelbin Jade approached in shock. She wanted to touch it but did not have the courage to do so. 'How much does it cost?"

Brandon said, "A little over 100,000 dollars! It looks great, right?"

Gregory exclaimed, "Whoa! My son is capable of buying such an expensive car!"

Jade was excited as well. "Where did you get your money?"

Brandon pointed at his face and said, "Who dares to ask me for money?"

Brandon was so full of himself.

Meanwhile, Caroline was standing in the foyer, leaning against the door frame as she watched the Shentons in disgust.

They really have no regard for my money,' she thought.

In that instant, a truck drove through the gate and stopped in the yard. It was loaded to the top with muddy potatoes and sweet potatoes.

"Carry those inside my large house!" Brandon hollered to the truck driver.

Caroline frowned. 'Are they trying to move all these things into the villa?'

The three kids enjoying pudding were shocked by the scene.

Liora stamped her foot in anger. "This is despicable! Do they think that our house is a warehouse?"

Tyler looked at the scattered mud on the floor gloomily. They're shameless!"

Axel realized that his mother and siblings were not fond of these people.

Caroline walked back from the foyer with an unpleasant expression.

Liora looked at Caroline indignantly. "They've gone too far, Mommy!"

Caroline heaved a sigh, approached Liora, and knelt. "Just put up with it a little longer, my dear.

Trust me that I won't let you suffer longer."

Liora pouted. "The house is going to be filthy."

Caroline caressed Liora's head. "We can clean it up Come, we're eating out

At 6:30 p.m., Caroline arrived at the restaurant with Jamie and the triplets.

A man walked out of the restaurant just as they entered.

Axel was stunned when he glanced at the man. 'Casey is here too!"

Jamie stared at Casey, her face pale with fear, peeking out from behind Caroline Casey's gaze grew icy upon spotting Jamie.

"Let's go home! I want to go home!" Startled, Jamie turned and ran.

Caroline attempted to chase after Jamie but was met with Jamie's frantic resistance as she pushed away Caroline's hand.

Caroline didn't dwell on it too much. She was accustomed to Jamie relapsing whenever she encountered other men. novelbin

Not far away, in a parked car, Casey stared at Jamie with a cold, calculating look. He recognized the woman beside Jamie as Evan's former mistress.

With a sneer, Casey removed his glasses and leisurely cleaned the lenses. He hadn't anticipated that Caroline would still be alive.

A moment later, Casey put his glasses back on, and his phone began to ring. He glanced at the caller ID and saw it was Daniella, so he answered slowly.

Daniella's voice was gentle as she inquired, "Are you available tonight, Mr. Jordan? Can I treat you to a drink?"

Casey smirked. "Sure, send me the address. I'll be there"

At 7:30 p.m., Casey and Daniella met at a hotel's bar.

Casey greeted Daniella with a gracious smile. "My apologies for keeping you waiting."

Daniella looked up and responded with a sweet smile upon seeing Casey. “I just arrived myself.”

Casey took off his jacket and settled into his seat. “You seem to be in high spirits, Ms. Love. However, I must confess I’m not much of a drinker. I’m afraid I might spoil your mood.”

Daniella was pleasantly surprised, thinking, ‘Not being a good drinker is exactly what I had in mind!’

Tonight, she had two objectives. Firstly, she wanted to understand why Casey seemed displeased when Evan’s name came up earlier. Secondly, she aimed to advance their relationship.

She wouldn’t have rushed into this if Grayson hadn’t been pointing out her flaws so often lately.

Daniella said kindly, “Don’t worry, Mr. Jordan. It’s my oversight for not checking your preferences beforehand.”

Casey smiled, reached for the bottle on the table, and poured a glass for Daniella. “You’re a lady, so why should you care about a man’s thoughts, Ms. Love? I’ll be alright as long as you’re okay with

He handed the glass to Daniella and picked up his own. “Ms. Love, I feel fortunate to have met you.”

Daniella blushed. “Me too…”

After a few drinks, Casey began to struggle with the alcohol, but Daniella continued to pour for him.

With a sly grin, Danielle watched as Casey started dozing off in his chair. She got up and supported Casey by his arm. “You’ve had a bit too much to drink, Mr. Jordan. May I escort you to rest?”

Casey nodded weakly. “Sure...”

Daniella assisted Casey, and they stumbled out of the bar before taking the elevator to a hotel suite.

Upon entering the room, Casey suddenly stopped walking and spoke dazedly. “Do you know what kind of life is the most painful to live, Ms. Love?”

Daniella purposely changed the subject. “You’re quite intoxicated, Mr. Jordan. Let’s focus on getting you some rest, shall we?”

Casey pulled Daniella into his arms and burrowed his head in the crevice of Daniella’s neck.

He spoke solemnly. “Did you know my siblings and father sent me away from the country for 15 years? It was because of a mistake i committed unintentionally.”

Daniella’s eyes glistened. “Don’t be sad, Mr. Jordan I’ll keep you company, okay?”

Casey took a deep breath. “Evan’s mother clearly seduced me, yet I am the one receiving all the criticism!”

Daniella was shocked to learn that Evan’s mother had seduced Casey.

I’m a little confused, Mr. Jordan...”

Casey smiled self-deprecatingly and shared the story of his encounter with Evan’s mother.

Jamie was a commoner whose beauty created quite a stir in Angelbay.

Chapter 299 Come and Pick Me Up

Draco had grown fond of Jamie and made her his third wife.

But Evan's mother, still young, never cared for Draco. She despised him when Evan was a teenager. Thus, she had made significant efforts to seduce Casey, who had only been slightly younger than her

Casey, 29 and full of youthful vigor, had found it hard to resist the allure of such a beautiful woman

However, Casey had made a grave error by succumbing to Evan's mother's advances, engaging in multiple encounters with her.

Unable to keep it a secret any longer, Casey finally confessed the truth to Draco. novelbin

Draco had banished Casey from the country for a harsh 15 years in a fit of anger

Casey looked at Daniella in agony and asked, "Do you think I'm filthy too?"

Daniella was shocked but sympathized with him. She shook her head and said, "No. It was her fault, not yours.

Casey burrowed his head, sobbed, and said. "Thank you."

Daniella felt happy that Casey was willing to talk to her about the important issue, but she also felt disappointed by Casey's inaction. She believed that Casey needed someone to assist him.

"What if I can help him? Would that make him open up to me completely?' At the thought of that, Daniella's eyes turned malicious. If that is the case, I shall foster a deeper connection with Casey so he will accept me completely!'

At Bayview Villa, the triplets laid on the bed after Caroline helped them to wash up.

Tyler and Liora fell asleep quickly, yet Axel could not fall asleep. His concern about his grandmother's loss of control was growing

His grandmother was terrified after seeing Casey, and there was some unknown conflict between Casey and Evan

In addition, he wondered why his grandmother refused to be with his grandfather. Instead, Caroline found Jamie on the street. Jamie chose to stay there and refused to go home with Evan.

Axel turned restlessly and awakened Tyler, who had yet to enter deep sleep.

Tyler turned and asked Axel in the dark, "Having trouble sleeping, Axel?"

Axel pursed his lips. "I would like to tell you something, Ty."

The next day, Caroline was woken up by an early morning phone call. She was drowsy but quickly perked up when she saw Kenny's name on the screen.

Kenny sounded tired when he said, "G..."

Caroline's heart was racing. "Did something bad happen to you? Why do you sound like this?"

Kenny said, "Don't talk, G. Let me speak. I'm exhausted!"

"Go ahead!" Caroline said anxiously.

Kenny said, "My flight will touch down tomorrow afternoon. Come and pick me up. I have a big surprise for you!"

Caroline said, "Will you tell me where you disappeared for the past few days?"

A woman's voice suddenly sounded from Kenny's side.

Caroline was still confused when Kenny hung up

Caroline stared at her phone, puzzled. Kenny hadn't shared his arrival time for tomorrow.

Unable to sleep, Caroline descended the stairs.

Upon seeing the Shentons' mess in the living room, she massaged her throbbing head. As she moved toward the kitchen, a terrible smell hit her. Opening the kitchen door, she was shocked by what she found

The floor was covered in chicken waste, and one of the chickens had even hopped onto the counter, spreading waste all over the beige surface!

Caroline gripped the doorknob tightly to control herself. She wouldn't tolerate their careless behavior in her house if it weren't for the timing.

Once upstairs, Caroline exhaled deeply. It was time to put her plan into action.

Caroline woke the three children at 7:30 am.

Liora was so lethargic she could not even hold up her head. "I had a tummy ache last night. I can't get up" she said weakly,

"Me too, Mommy."

"Me too..."

Caroline said concerningly, "Is it bad? Would you like me to take you to the doctor?"

The triplets shook their heads in unison.

Tyler said, "Don't worry about us, Mommy. We'll feel much better after taking probiotics. Go to work. We'll be fine after resting at home for a day."

Caroline asked again, "Are you sure?"

"Yes, Mommy. We stay home by ourselves frequently, and there are so many bodyguards downstairs," Liora reassured.

Caroline said, "Alright then. Call me if you need anything. I'll order food delivery for you."

"Mommy, I can get Villa Rosa's nanny to send us food," said Axel

Caroline figured that the nanny's home-cooked food was still healthier than food delivery, so she nodded in agreement to Axel's suggestion.

Caroline left after the children went back to sleep.

Liora sat upright after ensuring that the coast was clear. "Is it bad that we lied?"

Tyler shrugged, got out of bed, and said, "It's too late to say that now."

Axel asked Tyler, "Did you find anything last night?"

Tyler sat in front of the laptop with a frown. "No. I only found Grandma's death certificate."

Axel was deep in thought upon hearing that. "Who did that then?"

Tyler heaved a sigh and shook his head.

Axel asked, "What is the situation with Casey then?"

Tyler typed on the keyboard, and Casey's information popped up.

Axel felt nervous when he saw Casey's photo because his eyes looked murderous, cold, and emotionless.

Tyler said in a deep voice, "Casey was sent abroad 15 years ago, about the same time when Grandma went missing. On the other hand, Casey dated many women, but I didn't look into them."

Axel kept quiet for a moment. "So, something must have happened between them."

"Yes. However, I can't find anything related to Grandma for the past 15 years, but I'm sure the Jordans will know something."

Axel said, "I'll try to ask around."

The triplets went downstairs at noon and saw Brandon holding a potato, analyzing it to a camera set up in the living room

Liora asked, "Is he selling potatoes on live streaming?"

"It's obvious that he's using our house to draw in followers," Tyler said contemptuously.

"Yikes, you're not at school, huh?"

All of a sudden, Jade walked out of the living room.
