Brandon then turned and ran back to his room with his tail between his legs.

Caroline looked at Jamie and thanked her.

Jamie raised her fists. "Carol, don't worry. I'll keep an eye on them when you go to work tomorrow."

Caroline didn't feel like talking much. She just nodded and walked over to Liora. When she noticed Liora's puffy, red eyes, she embraced her with a heavy heart.

Freya reassured them, saying, "She's okay. Just some of her hair got pulled out."

Caroline was overcome by heart-wrenching pain, struggling to catch her breath. She stroked Liora's head tenderly and admitted, "Sweetheart, I couldn't protect you."

Liora buried her tearful face in Caroline's arms, clutching her clothes tightly. "Mommy... I don't want to see that mean man anymore. I want him to go away. I hate him."

Liora's sobs wracked her body.

Caroline held back her anger and consoled her, "Hmm, I promise. I'll make them leave in the next couple of days, okay?"

Liora sobbed and nodded silently, pondering, 'If my daddy weren't so awful, would he protect me and fight that bad man?”

These thoughts deepened her sorrow. She yearned for a father like her classmates had—one who could shield them.

The Shentons rushed to the third floor upon hearing that Brandon had been bullied. Jade seethed.

with anger when she spotted the red mark on his face.

“Did that nasty Caroline do this?” she exclaimed. “Unbelievable! Does she think we’re weak? Let’s see how I’ll deal with her!”.

Without waiting for Brandon to respond, Jade flung open the door and stormed out, leaving him.

Jade was stunned before she chuckled. “Oh, I realized I shouldn’t lower myself to that level.”

Brandon clicked his tongue, thinking. ‘She’s just a coward. What a fucking excuse!’

Gregory shook his head and explained, "You were so lousy. You ran away the minute you saw that mad woman."

"Didn't you do the same? Shut up!" Jade cursed.

"Are you guys scolding me?"

Suddenly, Jamie's gloomy voice echoed before she appeared before them in a long white dress.

Everyone abruptly turned to look at her and drew in a cold breath.

"Fuck! Why did you lure her here?"

Brandon whimpered in fear before hurriedly grabbing the blanket to cover himself.

"Why didn't you answer my question?" Jamie stepped forward in confusion, so the Shentons were so scared they leaped into bed.

"No I wasn't talking about you!" Jade shuddered in fear.

After that, she suddenly dragged Gregory to her front. "It was him! He was talking about you. Not me!"

Gregory widened his eyes in disbelief, wondering, "What the fuck? Did she push me out?"

He pushed her away swiftly, turned, and jumped to the bay window, saying, "It wasn't me! This bitch started it! Not me!"

The Shentons widened their eyes frightfully

In the next second, their screams filled the villa as they tried to outdo one another and ran out of Brandon's room.

At night, Kenny returned while yawning repeatedly. When he saw the vacant living room, he was stupefied.

Did G drive those people out?'

Soon, that thought was dispelled by Gigi, who ran downstairs.

As Gigi walked past him, she abruptly halted. She observed him scornfully and remarked, "Such a shameless man, living in someone else's home!"

Kenny was baffled since he was scolded out of the blue.

He went forward and grabbed her "Who were you talking about?"

"You!" Gigi answered. "Bah! Fucking foreigner! If it weren't for you, your room would be mine!"

Kenny laughed. "Yours, right? Fine!"

After that, he walked to the storeroom to get a wooden broom and started chasing Gigi.

Gigi was scared, so she immediately ran away. "If you hit me, I'll tell my mother!"

"Go ahead and scream! Let's see who will help you today."

After that, he grabbed her, held her upside down, and started swinging her around.

Her screams were piercing, but the people on the third floor could not hear her.

Even if the Shentons did, they did not dare to come out because Jamie was standing outside.

They sat down together to figure out their next move late at night.

Jade asked Brandon, "Did you get the money?"

Brandon shook his head and touched his face. "I was slapped. How could I get the money?"

Jade said, "I have a way to get some money!"

Gregory chimed in. "Is it about the watch and jewelry that we took?"

+15 BONUS

Brandon looked at them suspiciously. "What did you guys take? Why did you hide it from me?"

Gregory chuckled. "Your mother and I took away Caroline's watch and jewelry. We even hid them in a box."

"Fuck! This is stealing!" Brandon exclaimed softly.

"No!" Jade glared at him grumpily. "We took them openly because she owes it to us.

"Did you forget how her kid fooled us and took away our money?"

Brandon found it logical.

If Caroline forced them to give those up, they would tell the reporters and fall out with her.

They would all suffer miserably.

Jade added, "I wasn't talking about selling these but Caroline's study."

Brandon asked, "What's with her study?"

Gregory smacked his thigh and said, "Is it what you told me last night? The secret document."

Jade laughed. "Yeah, I asked the most beautiful woman in the village. She said that company documents can be sold at a great price.

"So, Brandon, you don't even have to have live streams. We'll have too much to spend by only selling a contract."

After dwelling on it, Brandon said, "No, this is illegal."

"No!" Jade sounded firm. "She won't know we're the ones who take it. I checked around and didn't see a surveillance system in the study."

Brandon was delighted. "Okay, that will do. When are we going to take it?"

"Tomorrow!" Jade stated. "We'll go and get it once Caroline leaves."

"Fine!"

The next day, Caroline drove the children to the kindergarten while the Shentons lay on the window to watch her leave. After that, they quickly went to the second floor.

Jade opened the door to the study and dragged Brandon inside with her. She then opened a drawer under Caroline's desk and took out a caramel folder, pointing at it. "This is it!"

Brandon accepted it and took out the document from within to check it out. Although he could not it quick. We should set off after breakfast," Brandon suggested.

The Shentons nodded one after another. They walked out of the study to go downstairs and cook breakfast.

They all squeezed into the kitchen to save time.

Unexpectedly, Jamie was staring at them as she slowly walked into the kitchen.

Gregory had just finished frying eggs. He wanted to serve the dish but bumped into someone.

when he turned around.

He was so scared that he nearly dropped the plate. As such, he looked up and wanted to see who the insensible person was

When he saw Jamie, he dropped the plate in fear.

The crisp sound of the plate falling on the floor subconsciously made Brandon and Jade turn around

They shuddered upon seeing Jamie and quickly retreated to a corner.

After Gregory snapped back to his senses, he screamed and ran out of the kitchen.

Jade and Brandon followed suit, running to the living room to avoid Jamie.

"She scared me! When did she come down? She made no sound!" Jade's voice was shaky.

Gregory was still trembling. “S—She was standing right before me. I was afraid she would cut my neck with a knife!”

While he was talking, he saw Jamie walk to the living room.

“My gosh!” Jade screamed before squeezing to the edge of the sofa quickly with the other two.

Jamie watched them gloomily and went over to sit beside them.

Trepidation crept into them as they widened their eyes. They soon drew in a cold breath and leaped out of the sofa.

After that, they staggered and ran toward the stairs.

They stood at the stairs and did not dare to come down.

Gregory wiped away his cold sweat. “She... She haunts us...”

Jade’s legs went limp as she collapsed on the stairs. “I’ve never been this scared”

Brandon was not very good himself either. He had a blank gaze as he leaned against the railing of the stairs. “No, I really can’t stay here anymore! I’ll go crazy one day from being scared”

Gregory nodded repeatedly with a pale face. “J—Jade, let’s go upstairs to take our things and leave.”

Jade swallowed. “You go. I’ll wait here for you. I can’t move.”

“Okay,” Gregory agreed and immediately went upstairs to take the bag with the folder and jewelry before running downstairs

He then supported Jade with Brandon.

Brandon advised Jade, “Mom, get hold of yourself. We’ll get rich after we sell these. And we can leave ”

Jade nodded. “Yeah, hurry up and sell them for money. I’m sure that bitchy Caroline must have. done it on purpose!”

Brandon said, “Right? She has a maniac at home to make us leave.”

Jade cursed, “This bitch’s kids will suffer a price for what she did!”

They supported one another as they left the villa. Just as Brandon was about to hail a cab, a police. car suddenly pulled up in front of them.

They stared in surprise as the police officers exited the vehicle and approached them solemnly. They then displayed their IDs.

“We’re the police! Ms. Shenton has reported that you stole her personal belongings!”

Gregory instinctively hid the bag behind his back. “No way! You’re accusing us falsely!”

“Falsely?”

Suddenly, Caroline’s voice echoed from behind them.

The Shentons quickly turned around and spotted Caroline. She was sneering as she walked toward them in high heels, accompanied by a few bodyguards.

Brandon was briefly stunned, but he quickly regained his composure. “You deceitful witch! How dare you trick us!”

That's theft.

"What's more, a company's confidential documents are extremely valuable. This amounts to corporate espionage, as you intended to sell them."

Jade pushed Brandon aside and confronted Caroline with anger. "Did you witness us taking it?"

"I didn't have to witness it," Caroline replied calmly "There's something called a surveillance system."

Jade's expression changed, but after a moment, she recalled there were no surveillance cameras in Caroline's study or cloakroom.

'She's probably trying to test me,' Jade thought.

"Surveillance system, huh?" Jade placed her hands on her hips. "Well then, show it to me! If you can't provide evidence, I'll make sure you pay for falsely accusing me!"

Caroline turned to the police and requested, "Please show them the surveillance footage I gave you

A police officer nodded and retrieved a tablet, displaying the footage for the Shentons.

Upon viewing the footage, the Shentons' expressions swiftly changed.

Jade blurted out, "That's impossible! She doesn't have a surveillance system in her room!"

"Mom!" Brandon suddenly yelled, "What are you saying?"

Jade was stunned, realizing she had exposed herself.

The police officer said solemnly, “Now that you’ve told the truth, do you still wish to deny it?”

The Shentons hung their heads in defeat, allowing the police officers to handcuff them and escort them to the police car.

Caroline sighed in relief as she watched them depart.

Fortunately, she had preemptively instructed her bodyguards to install a discreet security camera in her room, which captured the Shentons’ illegal actions.

She had done this because she knew valuable items would tempt them due to their greed.

In the afternoon, Caroline arranged for cleaners to tidy up her villa and purchased a new set of “Ms. Shenton, may I ask about your opinions toward your relatives?”

“Ms. Shenton, why do you insist on calling the police on them and sending them to the police station?”

“Ms. Shenton, how did you tolerate those people?”

There were endless questions.

Caroline frowned, thinking, ‘How did they learn about this affair?’

At that time, Naomi suddenly appeared beside Caroline. “Ms. Shenton, someone took videos of you. calling the police on your relatives and posted them on the Internet.”

Caroline was stunned. She decided to check the hot topics on the Internet.

[Did the CEO of TYC Fashion tolerate her vulgar relatives for spending her money extravagantly?

The result is satisfying!]

She clicked on it and saw the video of her confronting the Shentons before her house.

People even got the whole incident clearly.

[We can never tolerate such vulgar relatives! We’re in full support of her!]

[How cool! She’s great. She could handle these parasites calmly. I admire her very much!]

[We support her fashion company!]

[That’s nice! I did buy their clothes. The quality is impeccable, with great care to the details. But the clothes aren’t expensive at all!

There were endless comments.

Caroline put away her phone and ordered Naomi, “Let’s invite the reporters to the company and hold a press conference.”

Naomi nodded. “Okay, Ms. Shenton.”

After that, Naomi served the reporters while Caroline returned to her office first.

The head of the sales department, John Retzy, knocked on the door and came in the minute she suddenly recovered in an hour and surpassed our previous records. ”

Caroline looked at the tablet doubtfully.

When she saw the rapidly rising sales, she asked in bewilderment, 'What's going on?'

Chapter 325

Chapter 325 What Did You Do

John said excitedly, "Ms. Shenton, you should check out the hot topics properly. Someone interviewed our factory workers!"

"Interview?" Caroline was stunned and took out her phone to check.

The second hot topic became popular during the few minutes she walked into the company just now.

[Shocking! How does the CEO of TYC Fashion treat her employees?]

Caroline clicked on the video and watched it carefully. She found Caleb and all the factory workers raising their compensation contracts in front of the camera.

They told the reporters how Caroline aided them financially when they were hospitalized and lost their jobs.

There were endless good comments about the video. A lot of people encouraged others to buy clothes from TYC Fashion.

Hence, TYC Fashion's sales increased more than thrice in a brief time.

Caroline felt a surge of relief, thinking, 'Finally, everything is falling into place.'

The repairs on her original factory had begun, doubling her clothing production. Simultaneously, a local market for her products had emerged.

Caroline set aside her emotions and instructed John, “Our company is experiencing a rebirth. We novelbin must handle each customer with care, providing them with top-notch service.”

John nodded, “Okay, Ms. Shenton.”

After John left, Kenny barged in energetically. He had a leather shoe and a slipper on, and his hair was a mess. “G! Our company is soaring!” he screamed in excitement.

His weird attire amused Caroline. “Have you just woken up?”

Kenny replied, “Well, yeah! I came right after I got the call.”

She pointed at his feet. “Are you sure this won’t affect your image as the VP?”

Kenny looked down and cursed, “Fuck!”

He then scratched his head and sat down. “Forget it. I have something else to tell you.”

Caroline picked up a document. “Go on.”

“No!” Kenny interrupted. “Didn’t we make a nice comeback? I’m sure many people notice our company now. Don’t you want to get big orders and befriend more people?”

“That’s not the case,” Caroline confessed. “Many people from the upper class will come to this kind of thing.”

Her imprisonment remained concealed, known to only a few, yet her fame was widespread. It was better to steer clear of such gatherings. Otherwise, any misstep might cast her company in a negative light.

Kenny noticed her complex emotions and asked with concern, “Are you worried about your past?”

“Yes,” Caroline replied. “You should go by yourself.

Kenny’s smile vanished as he spoke seriously. “G, that won’t happen.”

“What do you mean?” Caroline asked, puzzled.

Kenny explained, I’m certain that everyone in Angelbay City is aware of your recent issues. If they intended to cause trouble, they would have done so already. But no one has mentioned it. This suggests they are uncertain about your true identity, especially since you now go by Carolyn

Caroline looked at him helplessly: “Why are you so insistent on me going?”

Kenny replied. “It’s because Alisa will also be there, and you still need to negotiate about the fabric. You can’t expect me to put my efforts to waste.”

“Put your efforts to waste?” Caroline was taken aback. “What did you do?”

Kenny shrugged nonchalantly. “Alisa isn’t easily persuaded, so I had a few conversations with her to gather information about the fabric. It’s also to make amends for the plagiarism issue my team- caused.”

Caroline felt like she had received a fatal blow. She then asked bitterly, “Your team didn’t cause our company any real loss. Why did you do that?”

She did not know what she should say to thank Kenny's earnest sacrifices to the company.

Although Kenny was a playboy, he was strict in choosing women to satisfy his needs

All the women he was with looked like his first love. Even if the other women were pretty, he would not be interested in them..

Alisa did not resemble his first love at all, and she was at such an age.

He might have struggled hard internally before leaving Angelbay City.

No wonder he lied to Caroline that his mother was going to get married before he went abroad.

Kenny snorted. "Well, I didn't force myself."

Caroline sighed. "Alright, I'll attend the exhibition with you."

Caroline picked up the children in the evening.

During the car ride, Liora appeared dejected. "Mommy, I don't want to go home."

Caroline felt very sorry for Liora when she saw the deep uneasiness on her face. 'If I could get rid of them sooner, Lia wouldn't have to be hurt."

Caroline touched Liora's tender face. "Lia, don't be scared. You'll know when we get home."

Liora blinked in doubt. "What is it, Mommy?"

Tyler did the same and touched Liora's head. "Mommy must have done something to make us.

happy."

Tyler was aware of the hot topics on the Internet, but Caroline did not expose them. She must have wanted to give Liora a surprise.

As such, he kept silent and hid it from Liora at the moment.

But Liora was puzzled, wondering, 'Did Mommy kill those bad guys? That's illegal, and the police.

Liora's eyes brightened as she looked up at Caroline. "Mommy, did they leave?"

Caroline smiled and nodded when she saw Liora's joy. "Yeah. I sent them to the police station."

"Oh, yeah!" Liora cheered "Mommy, you're wonderful and awesome! The bad guys are finally gone! Our home is warm and lovely again."

While cheering, Liora pulled Tyler over to sit on the carpet and keep on building the Lego roof.

Caroline sat on the sofa and enjoyed a brief, joyful family moment.

After that, she checked her phone calendar and looked at the date she marked in red next week.

It was Grayson's birthday next Monday, as well as the day Daniella would fall into an abyss.

Draco ate with Casey at the hospital.

After the meal, Drago sighed. "Oh, Casey."

Casey turned to Draco and answered respectfully, "Father."

Draco said, "You look fine today, so I would like to clarify my doubts. How did you bump into that bastard?" novelbin

Casey kept his head low. "Father, that was my fault. Evan just did the right thing."

Draco felt very sorry for Casey. "Oh, Casey, stop saying that. You did nothing wrong! You stayed abroad for so many years and made it up to him."

A sinister light flashed through Casey's eyes, but he smiled bitterly. "Father, stop blaming Evan. After all, he's my brother. This time, I made a mistake because I accidentally touched a woman he likes."

"A woman he likes?" Draco's face turned cold. "Is it Caroline?"

Casey pretended to be ignorant and looked up. "Caroline? Is that her name?"

"Father!" Casey sighed. "I don't think she's how you picture her to be. I bumped into her twice. She is a gentle and beautiful woman."

Draco frowned. "Casey, did you fall for her?"

"Father, I won't snatch the woman Evan likes," Casey answered indifferently but exposed disappointment in his eyes.

Feeling upset, Draco clenched the cup in his hand. "She's just a cheap and vulgar woman. Ill never allow her to be a part of the Jordan family. If you like her, you can fool her around But never dream of marrying her!"

Casey asked, "Father, what's her relationship with Evan?"

Draco snorted. "They aren't together, She's just a mistress he once had."

After that, he squinted and looked at Casey. "Casey, don't fall for such a woman."

"Father, I'm sorry, but I may let you down," Casey whispered.

Draco snarled, "There are so many women in the world! Why can't you forget about that vixen?"

"Father, I don't believe in love at first sight either, but this is the truth. I've fallen in love with her and want to pursue her."

"She has kids!"

"I can grow to love them, too."

Draco was astonished. What is so great about Caroline? Why have my two sons fallen in love with her?

Still, his heart softened when he saw Draco's stubborn and serious look. He felt he had treated Casey unfairly, so he could compromise if Casey did like her.

"Fine. You can do whatever you want. That woman is tough. You've got to work hard."

Casey bent over slightly. "Thank you, Father."

But coldness rose in his eyes when Draco was not looking.

As Caroline drove the children to the kindergarten, she got a call from Paige. She picked it up and heard Paige's excited voice. "Carol dear, you're famous!"

Caroline smiled and asked, "Aren't you a bit slow? Or did you forget about your friend after getting a boyfriend?"

"How annoying!" Paige scolded. "Am I that kind of person?"

"Oh, yes. You're going to attend the exhibition tonight, right? I heard that many renowned designers will attend it too!"

Caroline asked in answer, "Will you go, too?"

"Yeah! Paige answered excitedly. 'I always attend exhibitions. Do dress up nicely at night. Maybe you can even get a handsome man home."

Caroline refuted, "Be serious. Don't forget that I've got Scott."

"Well, I did forget about him," Paige said. "Why does he always go abroad? Is he having an affair?"

Caroline disagreed. "He isn't that kind of person."

Paige said, "Nobody knows for sure. Men will change. Have you guys been in touch with each other recently?"

Caroline was at a loss for words.

It had been a while since she last contacted him.

Paige continued because she received no response. "See? You can't even answer that. It's strange if you guys aren't keeping in touch."

Caroline said, "No, I just don't feel that way. I always feel that I've wronged him."

Besides, they were not a couple. Even if they were, she would not meddle in his freedom.

After all, she still wished he could one day be with a woman he loved and who loved him back.

She did not want him to stay with her as she could never fall in love with him.

Paige uttered, "Fine, I won't meddle in your affair with him. By the way, make yourself available tomorrow and the day after tomorrow."

She confessed guiltily. "I'm sorry that I nearly forgot about your birthday. How are you going to celebrate it this time around?"

Paige said, "You're so busy that you forget about me How are you going to make it up to me?"

Caroline pondered briefly. "Why don't we go to Starry Campsite? I'll call them and ask them to prepare the tent and barbecue for us."

"Sure!" Paige agreed to it. "We can discuss the details tonight."

"Okay."

After hanging, the two children smiled at Caroline.

Liora chuckled. "Mommy, can I tag along?"

Caroline smiled and answered. "Of course! I'm going to ask for leave for you and Ty. I'll take you out for fun."

She had been so busy these days that she ignored the children. Now that she could finally relax, she should take them out for some fun.

“Oh, yeah!” Liora excitedly pecked Caroline’s face.

“You like playing so much.” Tyler smiled and purposely complained about Liora.

Liora snorted. “Tyler, you’d better shut up.”

After driving them to the kindergarten, Caroline happened to see Axel getting out of the car.

She dwelled on it briefly before calling after him, “Axel.”

When Axel heard her, he immediately turned to Caroline with bright, excited eyes. “Mommy.”

Caroline bent over and said, “Axel, I want to take you out for some fun tomorrow. Do you want that?”

Axel pursed his lips gloomily and whispered, “I don’t know if Daddy will agree to it or not...”

Caroline smiled. “Leave it to me. I’ll take you to Starry Campsite.”

Axel’s eyes brightened up. “Really?”

She pondered and decided to first sound out his emotion with a smiling emoji. After all, she had said something unpleasant to him two days ago

Evan had just arrived at MK when he received Caroline’s text.

He was astounded. ‘Why did Caroline text me out of the blue?’

He immediately clicked on it. When he saw her smiling emoji, he frowned Reuben was also baffled as he stood before Evan. 'Why did Mr. Jordan show two kinds of expression in such a short time?'

"Mr. Jordan, did something happen?" he asked tentatively.

Evan put his phone down and asked with his head raised, "What does it mean if someone sends you a smiling emoji all of a sudden?"

Reuben was at a loss for words. That someone must be Ms. Shenton. Did she text him a smiling emoji?'

Reuben tried to make a guess. "The Internet claimed that this kind of smiling emoji is the death smile."

Evan's face stiffened. Is she still bothered by the fact that I hugged her?'

His face turned cold as he texted her back.

Evan: [What's wrong?]

Caroline assumed he was in a good mood since he replied to her text. Thus, she went straight to the point.

Caroline: [I would like to ask for leave for Axel tomorrow and the day after tomorrow. I want to take him out for some fun.]

Evan soon recalled Axel's smile. He would not stop it since Axel was happy to be with Caroline.

Evan: [Sure. But it's not the first time we did that. It's unnecessary if you're bothered by it.]

Caroline was stunned.

Caroline: [I don't know what you mean.]

Paige raised her chin smugly. "Of course-"

"Hey, I thought I was mistaken. Isn't this Mistress Shenton who has gone missing for five years?"

Paige was interrupted by some sarcastic voices.

The three of them looked over and saw two women scrutinizing Caroline in shock and disdain.

"Wanda, don't say that about her. Maybe she isn't her. She just looks like her."

"Piff! No one looks so alike. She thinks she can cover up her vulgar past just by changing her

“She isn’t vulgar now. She’s the limelight of the hot topics these two days.”

“Nobody knows if she has slept with any rich man. She had gone missing for five years, but now she established a company. How preposterous!”

Everyone looked up. Evan and Alex had approached them at some point.

The person who blocked that woman was Julian, Evan’s bodyguard.

That woman's expression changed instantly when she saw Evan, so she withdrew her hand and glared at Caroline "Mistress Shenton, you're lucky!"

Evan narrowed his eyes so Julian got the message. He grabbed that woman's hair and dragged her out.

The woman's scream made the surrounding guests turn around. But they soon averted their gazes when they saw Evan.

After all, no one dared to comment on what Evan did.

Caroline looked at Evan. "Thanks."

Evan's face turned cold. "Don't you always outspoke me? Why didn't you say anything just now?"

Caroline chuckled. "Well, there are different types of trash."

"Pfft!" Alex laughed aloud because he failed to hold himself back, thinking, 'Well, I'm afraid she's the only one who dares to refute Evan.'

As a result, Evan's face sank: He glanced at Kenny and snorted. "You always change your partner.

Caroline answered calmly, "He won't mind as long as it's not you."

Chapter 330 What Bad Luck

Evan sneered and changed the topic. "Why didn't he attend such an important occasion with you today?"

'This occasion isn't as important as our kids. Caroline deliberately emphasized the word "our".

Evan was enraged.

Seeing that, Alex immediately tried to persuade him. "Evan, the runway show is starting soon. Let's go and sit down. If not, there'll be too many people later"

Paige comforted Caroline after Evan was dragged away. "Carol, don't take it to heart."

Caroline looked away aloofly. I'm going to the washroom. You guys go ahead "

"Let me go with you."

Paige was worried about Caroline, so she gave Kenny a look before she left with her.

While they were walking toward the washroom, Paige questioned, "Carol, can I take Pug with me tomorrow?"

Caroline stopped in her tracks and looked at Paige seriously. "Is he your boyfriend now?"

"Yes." Paige touched her nose guiltily. "But don't worry. I'll make him hide everything from Evan. He won't know we'll go out together."

Caroline was set at ease, thinking, 'Evan and I are bound to be enemies. If not, why are we in this) state? Why do we always have a conflict every time we meet?'

They suddenly heard an impatient voice when they walked past the last booth.

Caroline saw a female worker pushing an old man in plain clothes and gray hair.

"How many times do I have to repeat myself? Don't use your filthy hands to touch these cloth materials. These exhibits are very expensive. Can you pay for them?"

The old man staggered because of the push. He tried hard to stand steadily and asked,

“They can touch it. Why can’t I?”

“How could you have the nerve to ask that?” The female worker mocked him. “They’re noble. But who the hell are you?”

She then pushed the old man again. “I’m warning you. Leave now. If not, I’m going to get the security guard to drive you out!”

Paige was enraged by what she witnessed. “Carol! Who does she think she is- Eh? Carol!”

Before Paige finished speaking, she saw Caroline walk toward the scene.

Caroline walked to the old man and helped him up. “Sir, are you alright?”

The old man looked at Caroline and said helplessly. “I’m fine. I’m an eyesore because I’m old now.”

Caroline smiled before looking at the arrogant worker. “Miss, you’re out of the line. He just wanted to see how comfy the materials are. He could touch them, right? You didn’t have to do this.”

The worker pursed her lips. “What did I do? Do you know how many booths he visited and the materials he touched?

“He didn’t talk but just stood there and touched them. If the materials are ruined, how else can we impress the other customers?”

Caroline sounded solemn. “All the booths in an exhibition should value their customers regardless of their identities. They should introduce all the materials and treat all their guests sincerely.

“You

on’t even have the most basic manner of an employee. You’re embarrassing your company and brand.”

The old man looked at Caroline with gratification because of her statement. “Miss, you don’t have to speak up for me.”

Caroline explained, “Sir, I would have done the same even if it weren’t you standing here today. I have a fashion company, too. So, I think all sellers should prioritize their customers no matter what.”

The female worker’s face turned red after the scolding, but she defiantly snapped, ‘If you think you’re so great, don’t just stand at my booth and inspect my items! I can’t serve you guys since you’re too noble! Go anywhere you want. What bad luck!’
