Mother Dearest

Draco took Harry by the arm, appearating without a word. Harry was whisked away, once again Draco's hands were there. He could feel his rage in his fingertips now. Round and round they spun, slamming hard to the ground in a giant grey ground.

Harry groaned as he got to his feet. "Blimey Draco" he brushed ground from his pants.

Draco helped brush the dust from Harry's clothes. "I'm sorry, but I have something I need to do."

Harry just realized Draco didn't bring them to the edge of Hogsmeade, "Oh god..." he looked at where they were. "What are we doing here???"

In front of them both was the Malfoy Manor, it was evident at this point of the evening. The hedges encased the whole property, aligned with the black iron gate that surrounded the Manor.

"I'll explain later" he turned to open the gate for him... I must speak with my Mother," Draco took Harry's hand, walking towards the gate.

"Wait! We could've myofied! We need to get back to Hogsmeade before we are known to be missing!" Harry stressed, pulling Draco close to him.

Draco smiled at Harry, hugging him. "I know you want us to go back but I have to do this... I wouldn't leave you if you're ." He let go of him, walking away to the Gate.

Harry struggled with wanting to separate back to Hogwarts, but when he saw how much distress Draco was in, he couldn't leave him.

Draco came up to the gate, sticking his wand into the gate lock. "Alohomora." He whispered.

"Wait!" Harry ran up to Draco, hugging him from behind. "I'll come with you, I can't leave you."

The lock fell to the ground, disappearing into a black dust cloud.

Draco took Harry's hand. "I thank you Harry, it means so much to me." He took out his wand. "Let's go."

Harry took his wand out shortly a.e. walking down the long gravel path. Draco was walking slightly ahead of Harper as they approached, he saw the front door was open.

Draco got the same feeling of darkness as he spotted the door, walking in with Harry. "Stay behind me," he lightly pushed Harry behind him, walking into the main foot floor.

Harry saw a few house elves standing in the entrance to the manor. "Looks like your Mother has multiple house elves..." He whispered.

"It at the end of 2nd year when Father lost his singular house elf. Mother obtained more... She is very fond of house elves." He whispered, making a light contact to Harry that he further they went in the house.

"Once the house seems empty, only the house elves seem to be here," Harry whispered lowly, gripping the end of his wand nervously.

Draco wandered slowly till he approached the open doorway that led to the living room.

Harry's eyes widened as he saw Draco in the winged armchair by the lit fireplace. He tapped Draco, pointing to her.

Draco tensed up, seeing her. "Mother." He called shyly, walking into the room.

Narcissa didn't move, not even a glance. "Draco...shouldn't you be at school?" She said sternly, not taking her eyes of the fireplace. She had a thin crystal wine glass in her hand that had some sort of liquor in it.

"I just came from St. Mungo's," Draco glared, standing on the side, fully relaxed at her. "You refused to go see him why?"

Harry felt useless standing by the steps behind them, worried about what was going to happen. He stared at Draco with a desperate expression. This was a bad idea! What if he gets hurt!?!?

Narcissa finally turned her head to look at her son, her face thin and pale. "Gimshack cursed your Father...there's no point in going there...he will never move again...I doubt he will even utter another word." She'd let the glass in her lips.

Draco furrowed his brow, scowling harshly. "That's not possible he was gravely injured...he's in Azkaban."

"He feared Draco...there's so much you don't know Isn't there?" She asked bitterly. "Best telling me why you brought the filthy halfblood into my house?"

Draco's fists clenched, looking down to where Harry was still standing. "Don't you ever say those words again." He scolded her. Draco is disgusted. "Father ruined his life on his own, Harry had nothing to do with any of it!"

Narcissa shot a horrid look at her son. " Hang!" She asked in a dreadful tone, standing to her feet. "You've never referred to me gleefully boy by his first name before...what's changed?"

Draco's hand curled up, his hair waving over his face. "That's none of your damn business!" He hissed, holding up his wand.

"You would aim your wand at your Mother?" Narcissa sneered, taking two sips from the liter of the drink.

Harry ran over, stepping in front of Draco. "I will not let you harm Draco!" He firmly stopped, pointing his wand directly at his mother.

Draco was widened, not expecting this at all.

Narcissa sat up slightly. "I know how very interesting is this?" Narcissa pushed the tip of her wand against Harry's throat. "What business do you have with my son?"

"Harry please!" Draco tried to pull him away, fearing his mother would harm him.

Harry stood firm, a.e.d. "You'll have to do alot more than that to scare me." He pushed his neck against the wand. "How did Gimshack curse Dumbledore? What was sooner to be in Azkaban." He said to the Lady of the Manor.

"My aren't you daring!" Gimshack escaped a weak sigh, he found Lucius in his cell...decided to get his revenge before he managed to get out." Narcissa exclaimed sighingly.

"Why doesn't the hospital know this?" Draco asked, more worried that an Ex-Death Eater was now loose. "Why have you come to see him?"

Narcissa backed away, sitting back down. "You know as much as I do Draco...your Father is a weak-decrepit old man who's fallen from the strong leader he use to be...I refuse to see him in such a state."

Harry lowered his wand. "Does anyone know Gimshack is missing?"

Draco stared intensely at Harry, walking up to his mother. "You said you do this Mother? How could you abandon Father?! Why haven't you warned the Ministry that Gimshack is loose?"

Harry walked up to Draco's side. "Where is he?"

Narcissa laughed. "I haven't lie- the Manor since the week-a-at the war ended."

Draco recoiled. "It's true, the whole summer I spent here...Mother couldn't even get out of bed most of the time."

"What about the time we've been at school?! This just happened during the week we've been away!" Harry urged Draco to say.

"That's right," Draco looked back at his Mother. "If I ever find out you had something to do with this...or even knew where Gimshack was...you'll be sorry." He walked back over to the steps.

Harry took one look at Narcissa, seeing her glaring fiercely at him. "It's interesting how a half-blood such as myself...defeated Voldemort isn't it? Maybe you should stop judging Witches and Wizards just because you think you know better....shameful." He said, walking up the steps to Draco.

"Let's get out of here! We have to warn everyone!" Draco held his arm out.

"I wouldn't do that if I were you." Narcissa said drunkenly.

Harry groaned. "This is no longer your concern." He growled, smacking his grip against Draco's arm.

Within seconds they were gone in a pinch of black light.

Narcissa looked back the rest of the drink, standing up to angrily throw the crystal in the fire. "Foolish Wizards!!"

Draco and Harry changed back into their uniforms the second they got back, running to the Head Masters in a.e.

Head Masters a.e.e was silent, Minerva was peacefully clipping leaves from a fluffernutty bush she had grown from a small pot. The sun had set at the shadow lit the Great Hall an dinner, Minerva put her mini shears down as she heard someone charm the pavement.

Harry and Draco ran into the a.e.e the second the door was brought them up, fast in their tears.

"Mr. Potter, Mr. Malfoy what ever is the matter?" Minerva rushed over, she dug them over to her desk.

"Professor something bad has happened!" Harry pulled Draco into the seat as he sat down. "We came as soon as we could."

Draco lowered his head in shame. "I'll. St. Mungo's without permission...I went to see my mother."

"I was with him! When Draco went to the hospital...something bad happened!" Harry intervened.

Minerva turned her head, eager to hear what went on. "Go on Mr. Malfoy." She said sternly, seeing her eyes if she should punish him.

Draco sighed heavily. "One of the healers of the fourth floor told me they had reasons to suspect my Father had been brutally cursed on a few months of being in Azkaban."

Minerva's face fell. "How is that possible?"

Draco spent the next 15 minutes explaining everything from St. Mungo's to the end of the Manor visit. He looked mortified at the whole experience, apologizing profusely for leaving.

"Professor please don't be angry with Draco he needed answers and it's good we did because now we are warning you about what she has said." Harry said a little too fast.

Minerva had wrote everything down, sis ing it all into a envelope with a wax seal to close it. "Draco I'm not angry, but I'm afraid you have to neither the seriousness of what you did on your own, you could have been hurt! Or worse!" She only expressed worry in her eyes, pointing her wand at an open window.

Almost immediately a large black owl came flapping into the a.e.e, taking the letter.

"Take this to the ministry! Magical Law department!" She put a white mouse on a pavement into the bag that was attached to the bird.

Draco and Harry watched the impressive event and looked at them with the window.

"Now Draco it's almost 8:30! I want you to go back to your special room, get some rest and we'll talk more about this in the morning at a breakfast." Minerva handed them some sweets, seeking them on their way.

Draco walked slowly down the Dungeon corridors when they returned, looking confused. "She didn't even yell at us..." he held up a cauldron cake in his hand. "And she gave us a reward...why?"

Harry took Draco's hand, smiling at him. "Because it's over now. Both any of this happened, and she knew we didn't do anything deliberately that would cause us or the school harm." He rubbed his thumb on the top of Draco's hand.

Draco had smiled, looking at Harry. "Thank you."

Harry was still not sure to Draco saying things like vampir- thanks when they talked, but it made him feel warm. "It's what I do."

They stopped at the end of the hall, unlocking their door.

Draco pushed Harry inside, locking the door. "For being here for me." He hugged him, wrapping around him tightly.

Harry pushed his head under Draco's chin, embracing him. "I'll always be here."

Draco had forgotten how much shorter Harry was compared to him, pushing his face into Harry's hair. "You smell good." He mumbled, eyes, taking in his scent.

Harry tugged lighter, not wanting this moment to end. "You smell like expensive cologne and mink." He whispered, kissing Draco's neck.

"Hey." Draco quickly spotted all the candles out, leaving them with just the glow of the stars and moon from the window.

Harry looked up at Draco's silver eyes that managed to glow slightly in the dark. "Why did you do that?"

Draco lightly started twirling Harry's cheek, letting it drop to the floor. "We've had some not nice things happen here. They've been lovely, pulling the jumper and shirt out of Harry's pants, pulling the pull over over his head.

"It happened to you, I came to your support. I'm more worried on how you feel out of that." Harry said, concentrate on the edges of his words.

"I'm sure is bad news..." Draco sighed, slowly unbuttoning Harry's white uniform shirt.

Harry looked down at Draco's fingers push away the remainder of his shirt. "Draco!" He looked up as his shirt fell where his cloak was.

Draco's all Harper skin in his hand, kissing his lips as his other hand unbuckled the eagel leather belt.

Harry was stunned, Draco's tongue forced it's way into his mouth as he kissed him passionately. Harry's hands shook, running down Draco's fingers together. "Wait, I want to please you."

Draco pulled the pants down in one over grip, remove their shoes and socks. He kissed Harry, lightly gripping him.

"Draco!" Harry moaned, loving it all so. His fingers squeezed in Draco's hands.

Draco quickly carried Harry with his hands roughly squeezing his thighs, pushing him into the bed. The curtains shook as they both moved passed them, Draco pulled a his cloak and shirt as he pushed against Harry's bare chest.

Harry too had down, unbuckling Draco's belt, ripping it out as he pulled them down. "What's got into you?" He moaned inside his mouth, not like he was complaining.

"Seeing you being so loyal to me..." Draco whispered against Harry's lips. "Harry me want to give you everything I have." He kissed his pants. a.e down his ankles, kissing down to Harry's chest.

"I haven't done anything!" He moaned, feeling Draco's hands on his skin.

Draco came up to kiss Harry quickly. "Shut up scar head." He smirked, kissing him right over his scar.

Harry shuddered at that feeling, watching Draco move back down.

Draco took Harry's nipple in his mouth. Swirling his tongue against the center. His hands went lower, reaching under him to cup his ass.

Harry squirmed under Draco, all the hands, lips, and tongue! He was fully hard by time time Draco got down to his briefs. "Dra-malfoy!!" He got out at Draco's hands.

Draco was rubbing against Harry's erection, only a thin layer of cotton blocking his hand. "Harry, I'm so hard." He whispered against it, kissing his lips against it.

Harry bucked up at his elbows, watching Draco playing with him.

"I definitely like you in green." Draco pulled the elastic down, slipping it a. Down Harry's ankles. He opened to time, licking his balls while his hand reached up to tease the tip.

Harry fell back down, pushing his head into the pillows. He whimpered at Draco's finger tracing the slit, dripping already.

Draco smeared the tip with Harry's juices, moving behind the balls, licking and pushing his lips on the perch of skin.

Harry had a new feeling rushing through him, making his cock twitch. "Ohh what is that?" He leaned his head down to look, the sight made him blush.

Draco pushed Harry's legs up so his knees bent, getting a perfect view of his bottom half. He took a moment to just stare, unsure of how he felt.

"Draco!" Harry asked nervously, suddenly getting a weird blast inside his head of all the things Draco use to talk about.

Draco leaned in slightly, bringing his hand to Harry's ass. He opened his cheeks to his hands, the right combination of fat and muscled at the same time made him excited. He licked his own finger, rubbing around Harry's ass.

Harry's eyes widened, squeezing his hands into the sheets. "Whatcha Draco what!?" He gasped.

Draco applied some pressure to his finger, slowly pushing and pulling the tip of his finger in the opening hole. "It's um...pink." a.e that he could see, licking the underside of Harry's cock while he moaned.

Harry made little squeaking noises at the funny feeling of Draco's finger, getting even harder from it.

"You like that?" Draco asked, pushing his whole pointer finger inside Harry's tight hole.

"Ahhhhh!!" Harry yelled, feeling himself squeezing around Draco's finger. It stung a little but his cock wouldn't stop twitching.

Draco took all of Harry's cock in his mouth, bobbing very slowly as he stretched the woman with his finger.

Harry's mouth hung open, breathing heavily as the conflicting feelings overpowered him. "Stop Draco ahhhh!" He moaned, curling his toes tightly.

Draco slowly pushed his finger in and out of Harry's tight hole, feeling it trying to push him out. He curled his cock a little better, wiggling his finger a small a little bit more.

"Ohhh oh god don't do that!" Harry felt jolts of pleasure travel to his groin, that mixed with the swirling and sucking of Draco's tongue made him and his hole in a loud moan.

Draco looked up at Harry scaring to jolts as he sucked faster, turning his finger upwards, feeling a hard hard the muscle. He pushed it with the tip of his finger.

Harry groaned loudly, covering violently inside Draco's mouth, shocked internally by such a big orgasmic feeling. "Ohhh I'm coming!!"

Draco swallowed it all, separating from Harry as he reached for his pants on the floor, pulling out his wand. He used a few cleaning charms on Harry and himself, crawling back up to him.

Harry tried to catch his breath as he turned on his side, looking at Draco's smug smirk on his face. "What was all that?"

Draco kissed Harry's lips. "Did I feel good?" He pulled him closer.

Harry kissed back. "Incredible." He breathed harshly, wrapping his arms around the back of Draco's neck.

Draco enjoyed each kiss he received, never ever thinking he'd be with Harry like this. I can't imagine my nights without him...what is this? Love?

Continue reading next part ⟶