Invitations

Harry and Draco ran back to their room all the way in the back of the Dungeons, changing into comfortable clothes. Severus had sent Draco outside his door, delivering him a new 12 inch wand, almost a perfect replica of his old one. It was the same length, same blackwood with the .999 silver grip handle. They decided to meet Seamus and Ron before lunch.

Draco locked the door as they finished changing. "I feel so much better now that I have a wand. Against the locked his shoes back into his side of the closet, tossing socks into the hamper. "Full so is without one."

Harry picked up the new wand from the dresser, inspecting it. "This is much more beautiful than I remember. It's higher grade silver with the Slytherin logo engraved in it."

Draco sighed happily. "Cooper personalized it for me so that if it ever got taken again, the user couldn't use it without it being a dead giveaway that it was stolen." He walked over, hugging Harry from behind.

Harry put the wand down, pushing his head against Draco's. "It's so good to have everything back to normal." He turned around, kissing his lips.

Draco deepened the kiss.

Knock...knock knock!

Harry pulled apart with a fix... walking over to the door.

Seamus and Ron stood outside with smiling faces, greeting them as he let them inside.

"I'd never get over how nice this room is! The perfect room to have a party!" Seamus grinned, flopping inside the yard bed.

"Harry are you going to host a party? This room is perfect!" Ron came over to Harry, pushing him over to the closet.

Harry opened it with a chuckle. "You we just have to write invitations."

Seamus and Ron came over to peek inside. "Wimsy Wanky look at all these silk shirts and expensive pants!" Ron smiled such luxury.

"Only in your wildest dreams Weasley" Draco teased with a smug face. "Seamus did you bring the list?"

Harry turned to them both. "What list?"

Seamus pulled out a box that was closed with a red ribbon, opening it to reveal fancy envelopes with the hogwarts logo.

"Draco, this is perfect. Nothing is too over the top. This looks expensive...I am pleasantly surprised!" He took one out as he sat down on the couch, noticing how heavy the parchment felt. "Where did you get this?"

"Dragon Alley where the owl. I've been saving them for a special occasion" Seamus plopped down next to Draco. "Your first party seemed like a good time."

Harry sat on the other side of Seamus, "Those look so fancy! Thank you Seamus." He kissed his cheek.

Seamus blushed with a giggle. "Aweee don't waste your kisses on me."

Ron sat on the arm of the couch next to Seamus. "Which one of us has good handwriting?" He asked, pulling Seamus closer.

Harry raised a brow at the protective gesture Ron had given him now. "Not me, none looks like a table."

"Oh I'll do it." Draco took the list. "I can write calligraphy and fancy script." He scooted half on Harry's lap, opening the compartments.

"Uncle Draco's quill set." Harry raised his wand, pitching the quill box in his hand. "What color Draco?" He asked as he opened it.

"The green and black one, I'll ally is one since the parchment has a cream color." Draco took the ink bottles as Harry handed them over, picking up the big dark green quill.

Ron leaned over, brushing his body against Seamus. "Who are we inviting?"

Seamus leaned into Ron absently. "His Zambini or Parkinson! Those 2 have been rotting fish stalkers and trouble."

Draco and Harry shrugged.

"Neville and Ginny of course, and Luna, Padma, and Pavarti right?" Harry suggested. "What about Dean and Seth?"

Draco gave Harry a surprised look. "You like Theodore? I'm shocked you even mentioned another Slytherin." He bumped his shoulder with a chuckle. He started writing down a list.

Harry knew Theodore didn't like him, but he knew he was the best threatening of Draco's old crew. "Let's give him a chance."

"Mr Hyperman, I don't want to hear one bit of grief, especially no mention of teachers." Ron said slowly, remembering all the trouble they got into in the year.

"To secret party!!!!" Seamus already made plans for alcohol in his head.

"If we get caught...that would be bad." Harry looked at his boyfriend. "What do you think Draco?" He raised his hand on Draco's knee.

Draco stopped mid sentence on the parchment, thinking of the ramifications. "Well, my parents and spells are pretty solid...to fully much and it would all of it up to make both this and Harry's trial a bathroom."

Seamus and Ron gave each other a very excited glance. "We can pull it off!" Ron said excitedly, pushing Seamus's hair out of his eyes. Ron's hand, looking determined. Ron blushed, squeezing his hand back.

Harry and Draco smiled at the obvious relationship forming between Seamus and Ron. Seeing a reflection of the way he used to be with Draco. "I have one rule...nobody leaves the end of the Dungeons until the end off the party."

"That's a good idea, we don't need any indication of activity." Harry agreed. "What time should the night start?"

Draco finished most of the invites. "Midnight, but you both can stay the night, just Gryndylow the couch into a bed." He slipped the parchment in each individual envelope, grinning at the glow of the ink.

"Don't forget Norminee! She'd kill us all if we're her out!" Ron pointed to a piece of parchment on the ice table.

Harry got a chill just thinking of how much utility would happen if he didn't invite her, picking up an envelope. "Definitely not, she's banshee in disguise!" He laughed.

"What about Justin and Terry?!?" Seamus asked.

Harry shook his head. "He will send it, but remember they're early bird times, so did the twins so we shall see who comes."

"Makes me so happy that Gryde isn't here anymore, good ugly bitch..." Draco glared down at his quill.

Harry rubbed Draco's back. "It's alright, we're all glad about that too."

Seamus stole a piece of parchment, writing down a list of activities. "Have you can have the hot tub, but what about music?"

Draco eyed both the parchment, reading it over. "Seamus...this is all actual and drinking games..." he looked over at Ron with a flushed face.

"Well...Parkinson broke our trust with Ventsmear, but if we use a friendly trash spell with everyone's permission, these activities will be okay right?"

Harry took the list. "Seamus you pervert." He laughed, shaking down the list. "You want to do truth or dare again? And what the hell does this 6-7 minutes in heaven???"

"Someone chooses two people and they go in the closet...and do sly, together." Seamus laughed, already plotting naughty things. "And the drinking games we all know already."

"Let's do it! I'm sure things will be better now that everyone will be agreeing to the spells and games." Draco nodded with a grin, finishing the last of the invites.

Harry rescinded the letters, organizing them in a green ribbon. "Draco call your owl would you please?" He got up, opening the window with a spell.

Draco E. let his freshly new wand in the air, doing a quick wordless spell. A few minutes later his huge eagle owl came swooping in. "Take this to our friends! Have it delivered by the end of tomorrow." He dropped a large owl into his pouch, feeding it a treat.

The owl took a very fast, leaving a few of its feathers behind on the bed.

"Oh what time did you write down to come over?" Harry asked.

"Ugm I'm fabulous, right? Meanwhile we can get through the week of classes, we have some tests and quizzes coming up so I want to get that done first." Draco knew it'd be good to get back to school as well, but the other reason was he wanted time to stalk the Daily Prophet to watch for muggleborns and half blood news.

Seamus pulled Ron into his lap, wrapping his arms around his waist. "As you mine if we choose tonight? Neville is sick and missing louder than we both can deal with." Ron nodded, blushing at the hold he had on him.

Draco nodded, closing the window. "You guys can crash at any time, just please use a silencing charm when you...you know."

Ron laughed nervously, almost forgetting that Harry and Draco knew he was intimate with Seamus. "Will do, it won't be necessary."

"That's what you think!" Seamus kissed Ron's cheek devilishly, grabbing his ass in his lap.

"You know, if I didn't know any better, I'd say you 3 were already dating." Harry teased, spelling the fireplace.

Ron nervously nudged out of Seamus's lap, sitting on the rug infront of the fire. "Definitely not!"

Seamus felt hurt. "Ron that's a bit of harsh reaction isn't it?"

Ron shook his head. "We're not dating mate, we just have fun and enjoy our time together...right?"

Seamus nodded slowly, looking down into his empty lap. "If that's what you want..." he looked to Harry and Draco.

Draco shook his head, glaring at Ron. He pulled Seamus closer to him, patting him on the back. "Honestly."

Ron whipped his head around. "Stop calling me that!" He glared.

"Apologize to Seamus, that wasn't a nice thing to say." Draco said sternly.

"Oh like you've been innocent in how you treat people! You called Hermione a mudblood for years!" Ron stood up.

Harry stood up infront of Draco. "Now you are way out of line right now Ron. You don't talk to Draco that way!"

Ron cackled his hole, stomping towards the door mumbling something incoherently. "Fine!" He growled, leaving with a slam of the door.

Draco shook his head. "Poor Weasle Boom Can't come to terms with his sexuality." He got up, walking over to turn down the bed.

"Draco you think that's why he acted like that?" Harry asked.

"I don't see how that could be true, we've been out for over a year now, and he's even shown interest on his own." Seamus sighed. "He even told me he didn't want our hook ups to end."

"Well it doesn't make much sense to me either...especially since you both have been so attached. And then when Harry kissed you it was like he pulled you over him...all signs went to a relationship..." Draco noted how the back of his neck, nervously rocketing his fingers through his hair while his hand to figure it out.

Seamus looked down at his feet. "I guess I'm not what he wants...was it really just a hook up and nothing else???"

Harry pulled Seamus by the hands, standing him up. "Stop with us tonight, we will cheer you up and have breakfast in the morning. I'm sure there's an explanation for this."

"You sure it's okay to stay here?" Seamus asked, looking very tired and scared.

Draco wrapped his arm around Seamus's shoulders. "Hormonal, of course you can stay." He hugged him.

Harry came on the other side, joining the hug. "Let's get to bed, it's been a long night."

Seamus broke a the hug, walking over to the couch. "Guess I won't have to transform the couch it's big enough."

"Well just a second, it's only you so why don't you come sleep with Harry and I?" Draco suggested. "It's warm and comfy...the couch just looks lonely and sad :("

Seamus raised his brows. "Really? Both both of you?" He smirked slightly at the thought. "Is it big enough?" He walked over, opening the curtains.

"It's big for sleeping." Harry smiled, sifting through his dresser. "Here, this is yours tonight." He handed him a brand new red and gold colored pajama set. "I bought this before this year, you can have it."

Seamus took the pajamas, looking at how fancy they were. "I can't accept this." He ran his hand over the so nice, seeing the hogwarts logo embroidered on the chest.

"You can, and you will!" Draco insisted. "We have Slytherin versions of that so you can have it."

"It's it on! The bathroom is just next door, take a shower if you want." Harry took out the pajamas for Draco and himself, tossing Seamus the his.

Draco stripped, putting on the fancy dark green and silver silk pajamas. "You know, I think this is the first time we've actually worn these."

Harry laughed, stripping down to his boxers over the embroidered Slytherin crest. "Hmmm, that's an uncomfortable! Looks like we found new favorite pajamas!"

Draco smiled at Harry, pulling his body against his own. "It would be cool to have fun to take a the silk from your body." He roughly kissed and nibbled Harry's neck, holding his hands out at his sides.

Harry moaned as Gin caressed his, roughly grabbing at Draco's sides. "He shouldn't do this now, what if Seamus sees?" He whined.

Draco swallowed Harry's comment, spreading his lips open with his tongue. "He talking, just kiss me!" He groaned, their bodies surging against each other.

Harry's hands became more desperate, slipping under Draco's silk pajama top. He squeezed his chest, pulling him against his chest.

Draco grabbed both sides of Harry's ass, E. Hg him up to sit on his lap. "You're so short, I love picking you around...moving you where I want you." He whispered body against the skin he kissed, pulling open a few buttons on his chest.

Harry licked his head back on the closet door, kissing at Draco's tooth scrapped his chest. He roughly held on to the back of Draco's neck, moaning lovely. "You're driving me crazy!" He groaned, no long his cock against the stomach.

Draco soothed the marks he made, kissing back up to crash their lips together again.

Seamus came in silently, trying not to drag his feet. If I don't sleep I'm going to die! He thought to himself as he locked the door. He turned around to stop in his tracks, he blushed immediately as he watched from the corner. Holy shit should I interrupt them?

Harry wrapped his hands around Draco's back, pulling him closer as he deepened the kiss.

Draco started grinding his fully hard length against Harry's groin, squeezing his ass in his hands lightly. The silk was pulled down slightly, giving Draco an easier grip.

Seamus hid behind the corner, crossing his legs. He was getting hard watching this... okay that's probably enough... it's keep watching I might, do just his hand wimpy of his boner, nothing slightly. Not like Seamus!!! walked around the corner. "Hearing her you naughty Blonde!"

Draco dropped Harry accidentally, gasping as Seamus stood a few feet away. "Seamus!" He picked Harry's in the floor with an apologetic kiss to his cheek.

"Sorry mate, but I didn't want to let it go too far eh?" Seamus blushed with a guilty smirk on his face.

Harry laughed nervously. "Sorry Seamus get a bit carried away..."

Seamus walked up, placing a hand on Harry's shoulder. "We're hobbies against orations, so no worries." He winked at Draco as he looked over to him.

Draco shouted dark red, feeling overwhelmed at being watched. "Bedtime for three!" He blurted out, buttoning up Harry's pajamas.

Seamus walked over to the bed, running his fingers over the silk sheets. "Mmm...fancy."

Draco climbed in first, pulling the sheets and duvet down. "I had to get a duvet on the bed earlier. We temperature control and in this clothes it super warm."

Harry climbed in next, claiming the other side. "Common Seamus! We're all bloody tired." He said with a yawn, lying down under the covers.

Seamus's eyes widened as he pushed the curtains open. "You want me...in the middle? Between you both?" He looked back at Draco.

Draco furrowed his brow. "Honestly Seamus have you never had a sleep over?"

"No, no it's not that! I slept with Ron one night in 1st year!...sandwich..." Seamus said awkwardly, making a squish motion with his hands.

"Oh for Gyndo's sakes." Harry muttered, leaning over Draco to pull Seamus to his arms.

Seamus carefully moved over Draco, getting in the middle. He struggled to get under the covers, afraid to let skin touch. "There are the rules!" He said quietly, leaning his head back onto the pillow.

"Yes! Plenty of room! Se, warm, comfortable, everything you'd want." Draco properly laid out, turning on his side to look at Seamus and Harry.

Harry spelled the curtains closed.

Seamus was surrounded by darkness, turning his head both ways with a gulp. "Grey..." he was very glad nobody could see, his neck and face were burning.

Harry leaned on his side, inching closer to Seamus. "Goodnight Draco...night Seamus."

"Goodnight Harry." Draco whispered, petting gently on Seamus's shoulder. "Night Seamus."

Seamus looked down at himself, realizing he was fully hard. Not now dammit! Go down! He fought with himself. "Goodnight Harry...Draco." he whispered back, burying himself to close his eyes.

Continue reading next part ⟶