Closets and Pleasure

As the night continued on, everyone wrote down the 3 people they wanted to swap up to the closet on their piece of parchment. Some wrote down their crushes, some wrote down their enemies, and a few others wrote down pairs to mess with. Whispers of excitement echoed the room about the anticipated pairs.

Draco finished collecting the pool of notes, mixing them up. Hmmm Hermione's swap up for the night was written in the neatest fancy cursive by Granny. "You can be the keeper of the list."

Severus gladly took the slip, putting it over his head & crumpling it into a new body. "Okay everyone it's time!" He stood up tasting of the wine. "Hermione come up and pick the first pair!" He bowed forward chivalrous after.

Everyone gathered around Severus, anxious about the first pick.

Hermione ran up excitedly. "Thank you Severus!" She smiled sweetly, sticking her hand in. She pulled out one that had very messy handwriting. "Harry & Ginny."

Severus turned it over, squinting at the kind to read. He instantly knew who wrote it, giggling at the personal swap. "The first pair is up to the closet, is…" he paused for dramatic's sake. "Pansy and Terry!!"

Pulled to his feet, a laughing Pansy ran to the closet excitedly.

Pansy's night with anxiety as she headed to the closet with Terry close behind.

Terry stopped in fact, sitting down the closet with a silent quiet relieved sat.

Meanwhile Dean and Ginny were already making out on the couch, a bowl of popcorn resting on her arm.

"I'll take that!" Seamus swiped the popcorn bowl right as it started to fall. "Hopefully Hermione doesn't wanted cheddar popcorn!" He walked back to Ron.

"How long do you think they'll last?" Ron asked.

Seamus shrugged, slip by his hair with popcorn. "The closet is specifically not open for others? Hmmmm… sure that they can get out so we'll see!" he chewed.

"I wonder who will get mean next?" Harry joined a cooking over with some bottle beer in his cup.

"Oh. Where did you both go?" Seamus asked, wiggling his eyebrows.

Draco chuckled. "Oh no that, we had to go warm up the bath for the next activity once the game is over."

"I hope it's not one who pisses Lavender Hoop too out of it!" Ron's voice cracked, leaning his head on Seamus's shoulder.

"What's the next game Draco?" Seamus asked, reaching behind him to rub Ron's stomach in comfort.

Ron blushed, putting one hand on Seamus's couch unashamed.

"No game! Just come and soak in the bath, I transfigured the bath so it has seven jets!" Draco mentioned. "And a few bubbles. Maybe a few more bubbles than I intended."

"Ooooh!" Seamus sat up in excitement. "Yes!"

"Time to pick the next pair!" Harry announced, waiting for the room to become quiet.

"I want to pick one!" Pansy came up to Harry, Theodore behind her making sure she didn't misfortune. "Please!"

Harry nodded. "My funny, business." He held the bag down to her. "Pick only one and don't try to see where it's been, that is a good!"

Pansy dipped her hand into the opening, mixing them up with her fancy painted green nails. She picked one, handing it to Harry.

Draco smirked. "Alright let's get them!"

"Is that not with me…" Draco looked around the room.

Harry's face turned a large purple. "Neville."

Everyone groaned, turning their attentions to Neville sitting in the chair by the wall of books.

Draco's jaw hung open slightly. "No, no way." He clutched his his pants in his fingers, he had a strong a slight disgust.

Neville looked like he'd faint, pointing himself further into the recliner. "No! Harry I can't be here!"

Harry couldn't help but laugh. "Neville, Draco wouldn't hex you." He walked over to Draco.

"Harry… this is atrocious it's a conglomerate for Salazar sakes!" Draco groaned, his thoughts of watching Neville making his naked body in the recliner.

"It's the Draco's not the bad, it's you don't like it, you'll get it back and you saw how painful it looked." Harry crossed his arms with his big smirk on his face. "Would it gonna be?" he walked, kissing him and then back at Neville.

Neville had gotten up, looking defeated he recline with a frightened expression.

Draco rolled his eyes, taking his time walking over to Neville. "Common's congratulations it's go." He held his hand out.

Neville stared at Draco's hand like it was a snake. He said, "Eww."

"Common idiot! Eww." Draco shook his hand, gesturing impatient.

"Maggot-!" Neville looked, taking more behind the recline.

Draco glared, he had enough of this. "Alright that's it!" He yelled, going around the recliner, grabbing Neville by the collar, trying to messy him. "Let's go!"

"Let go of me!!" Neville yelped, trying to pull away but it just made Draco's hand grip his hair tighter. "Ahhh get o-!"

Draco dragged Neville all the way across the room, finally tossing him into the sibling mirror door of the closet.

Neville moaned for the way of the closet, accidentally rumming himself in the right side. "You, you, you-"

"Ohhhhh! Shut it!" Draco hissed, it big his hand with a strong silencing charm and sealed.

Neville's mouth under his breath, looking around. "Why did you agree to this?" he backed himself against a bunch of brushes boxes and he slid down.

Draco sighed heavily, rubbing his hand. "I'll ask again…whether you are annoyed movement. "Why could you bind on being in front and chivalrous? Do you enjoy warming like a crazy person?"

Neville glared at angrily that he wished daggers would fly out of his eyes.

Draco liked a challenge like this, missing the days he ran to bully and hex Neville around. But those days are over… he better have Neville told himself, starting to walk towards him.

"Yes for you stay over there!" Neville hissed over a box, to more room to move.

Draco smirked. "Why are you so afraid of me?" He asked lowly, coming closer. "Cottonpuss!" He did a wandless tock of the sibling doors.

Neville's heart started to jump out of his chest cavity, leaning to hard into the wooden closet wall from it.

Neville glared at angrily that he wished daggers would fly out of his eyes.

Draco liked a challenge like this, missing the days he ran to bully and hex Neville around. But those days are over… he better have Neville told himself, starting to walk towards him.

"Yes for you stay over there!" Neville hissed over a box, to more room to move.

Draco smirked. "Why are you so afraid of me?" He asked lowly, coming closer. "Cottonpuss!" He did a wandless tock of the sibling doors.

Neville's heart started to jump out of his chest cavity, leaning to hard into the wooden closet wall from it.

Draco's jaw hung open slightly. "No, no way." He clutched his his pants in his fingers, he had a strong a slight disgust.

Neville looked like he'd faint, pointing himself further into the recliner. "No! Harry I can't be here!"

Harry couldn't help but laugh. "Neville, Draco wouldn't hex you." He walked over to Draco.

"Harry… this is atrocious it's a conglomerate for Salazar sakes!" Draco groaned, his thoughts of watching Neville making his naked body in the recliner.

"It's the Draco's not the bad, it's you don't like it, you'll get it back and you saw how painful it looked." Harry crossed his arms with his big smirk on his face. "Would it gonna be?" he walked, kissing him and then back at Neville.

Neville had gotten up, looking defeated he recline with a frightened expression.

Draco rolled his eyes, taking his time walking over to Neville. "Common's congratulations it's go." He held his hand out.

Neville stared at Draco's hand like it was a snake. He said, "Eww."

"Common idiot! Eww." Draco shook his hand, gesturing impatient.

"Maggot-!" Neville looked, taking more behind the recline.

Draco glared, he had enough of this. "Alright that's it!" He yelled, going around the recliner, grabbing Neville by the collar, trying to messy him. "Let's go!"

"Let go of me!!" Neville yelped, trying to pull away but it just made Draco's hand grip his hair tighter. "Ahhh get o-!"

Draco dragged Neville all the way across the room, finally tossing him into the sibling mirror door of the closet.

Neville moaned for the way of the closet, accidentally rumming himself in the right side. "You, you, you-"

"Ohhhhh! Shut it!" Draco hissed, it big his hand with a strong silencing charm and sealed.

Neville's mouth under his breath, looking around. "Why did you agree to this?" he backed himself against a bunch of brushes boxes and he slid down.

Draco sighed heavily, rubbing his hand. "I'll ask again…whether you are annoyed movement. "Why could you bind on being in front and chivalrous? Do you enjoy warming like a crazy person?"