

Taking Alpha's Twins Away After Divorce

Adrian's POV

I had to spend the whole day in a meeting with Alpha Wade. There was a discussion that was held in the meeting room. We had signed the papers to se

Alpha Wade was happy with the project. People believed that I had gotten the deal. However, the reality was that Alpha Wade was the one who ended up getting the deal from me. I allowed him to take the opportunity to save his pack from any wars by proving my pack fighters to his p

"Thank you so much, Alpha Adrian. It's a great opportunity to work with you. I hope you will take care of my younger brother."

"Sure," I replied, glancing at Alpha Seth. He looked calm and calculative. Though he was older than me, he was younger than my experience.

When the meeting was over, Alpha Wade invited me to the success party.

"I don't want to attend the party," I told Alpha Wade directly.

I was not in the mood to attend any party. This project could be a dream for many packs but not for me. So, I did not have the excitement to celebrate the deal.

"Oh, I apologized for throwing a party without your approval. It's a little party among the CEOs of pack companies. I have already invited them, and they all accepted the invitation."

I paused my thoughts when I heard him say, 'All'.

"Is she also coming?" I muttered, which he heard clearly.

"She? Who?" Alpha Wade asked me.

Patric was sitting beside me, so he chuckled and let out. "He is talking about CEO Natalia."

Then Patric gave me a look, which I paid no attention to. Alpha Wade laughed after hearing him.

“Of course she is coming. Beta Eric informed me that Miss Natalia has accepted the invitation and will be there in time.”

I raised my brow in thought. ‘Is she not heartbroken? How can she come to the success party?’

“I can say one thing. If you hadn’t presented us with your deal after her, we would have almost given the deal to her pack company. She is quite brilliant, and she knows how to bargain. She has a bright future.” Alpha Wade praised her.

Alpha Seth nodded his head. “By the way, I couldn’t believe it when I heard Alpha Jason has a sister. I heard from others that she grabbed the position in

I turned my head toward Alpha Seth. His brows shot up when he noticed me gazing at him.

Alpha Wade spoke out to his brother. “Alpha Adrian admires her a lot, Seth. I think it’s more than admiration. So it will be better if you take your eyes away from her.”

Alpha Seth gave him a nod. “I didn’t know Alpha Adrian was chasing her. If I had known, I would have never looked at her.”

Patric cleared his throat. He got to his feet and patted my shoulder. “Alpha, we have something to discuss. Let’s go back to the hotel.”

I stood up from my seat and gave Alpha Wade a nod. I ignored Alpha Seth and left the pack company with Patric.

“Bro, you have just ignored this pack’s head Alpha,” Patric said, shaking his head.

“He doesn’t deserve my greeting.

“Why? Just because he was talking about Natalia Hansley?” Patric asked, rolling his eyes.

I glared at him. He did not stop and continued.

'Come on, Adrian. It has been so many weeks since you tested your DNA with her daughter and learned the result. You said that you hated her. Then wh

"I am not answerable to anyone," I muttered while looking away from him.

It was true that I had been observing her every step. The deal was. just a way for me to see her again. I did not know why, but I could. not throw her out

"You know she is the mother of children from another man. As a head Alpha, you can't accept another man's children."

I heard Patric's words from beside me. I clenched my jaw when I listened to his remarks.

"I have never thought about it," I replied to him.

"Oh, please. Stop lying to yourself, Adrian. You love that woman. Otherwise, no fool would follow his ex- wife, even if they were aware that she had a new boyfriend. So, having someone else's children was too far-"

With a scowl on my face, I turned to look at him. It interrupted him.

"Can you just shut the fuck up? How long will you keep reminding me about her children?"

"Why do you want to forget it? You should know what path you are taking. Don't tell me you are so in love that you are ready to accept her twins."

I growled at him. The driver got frightened by my sudden growl and pulled up the car in the middle of the road.

I opened the door and left the car. I shut the door loudly and grimaced at Patric through the window.

"Stop cooking up stories, Beta Patric. I don't love her. I have a deep hatred in my heart for that woman. The earlier you.

understand it, the earlier it will be better for you. Now go back to the hotel without me. Don't follow me."

I turned around and walked to the street. The car was still there without moving. Due to the fact that other vehicles were honking their horns, the driver was forced to restart the car.

I ignored the world around me. People kept looking at me when I was passing them. I was losing my mind.

Suddenly, a girl bumped into me. I looked at her and guessed that she was a college student.

“So sorry, Mister.” She apologized.

I gave her a nod and walked past her without giving her a second glance.

“He is so handsome! Why didn’t he turn to you to look at you again? You are the most beautiful girl in this pack.” I heard another girl say that to the girl I

Beauty did not matter to me. I was not a womanizer anyway. In fact, although Lynda was quite attractive, I never slept with her.

There was another reason behind it.

I could not just look at her the way I used to look at someone else.

At that time, my wolf spoke up to me.

“Just accept it. You fell for your mate.”

My phone began to vibrate within my pocket as soon as I walked into the hotel entrance. For the past few hours, I hadn’t paid any attention to it.

After a brief glance, I noted that Beta Eric was having a conversation with one of their managers in the lobby area. He did. not notice me at all. After getting into the elevator, I made my way to my room at the h

I was staying in the same hotel where the people from Blue Blood Pack were staying. They were not aware of it.

When I entered the room, my eyes were drawn to a man who was sitting on the couch and making a phone call.

The man rose up and turned his attention to me.

“Adrian, where were you?”

“Why are you in my room, Patric?” I asked, walking to the closet.

“Bro, are you even serious? This is not our pack. You are a head Alpha. What if someone attacks you? I was losing shit just because of you.”

I turned my head at him. “Your Alpha is able to fight off any assault that comes his way. Don’t freak out.

I retrieved a suit from the closet and strolled to the bathroom.

‘How can I not worry? My Alpha is not in his right state of mind. He is in lov-”

I glared at him to shut his mouth. He raised his hands to surrender himself.

I moved my gaze away from him and entered the bathroom. I heard him shouting from outside the bathroom.

“You are regretting your divorce.”

“Fuck off, Patric.”

After a while, the sound of the closing door reached my ears. While I was in the shower, I let out a sigh and closed my eyes.

During that time, I was in a conflict with both myself and my wolf. It was impossible for me to agree with anything that Patric was saying. It was not possible. I could not think like this.

Suddenly, Natalia’s face reflected in my mind, and I opened my eyes. As I lifted my head to feel the icy water fall over my face, I ran my fingers through m

I left my hotel room after wearing the suit and putting on my shoes. When I strolled past the door to Patric’s room, my thoughts were all over the place.

I left the hotel and entered my car. Due to the fact that I signed the deal with this pack, I need to come here rather frequently. Because of this, I decided one.

I gave my driver instructions to go to the location where the party was supposed to take place.

It would take half an hour to reach the venue. When I got out of my car, people in the area looked at me with curiosity.

Disregarding their gazes, I walked inside the hall.

The hall was decorated with orchid flowers. The chandelier was the floor hanging low so that its light illuminated the whole place.

I noticed the CEO of many pack companies came with their people. I could see many women who were not present at the conference yesterday.

I guessed that Alphas came here along with their wives or girlfriends.

Alpha Seth came to greet me, trying to apologize as if he felt that I was angry at him.

I did not argue with him. Why would I? I did not care who thought about that woman.

However, the next moment, my belief turned into a lie when my eyes fell on the woman who had just entered the hall.

Her stunning body hugged her maroon gown. It was a sleeveless and backless dress. There was no scar on her arms or any flaw in her beauty.

"Miss Natalia has come to the celebration! She is really an extraordinary lady," people started to talk about her.

"Mine," my wolf growled inside.

I looked away from Natalia, though my eyes did not want to leave her body.

I turned my attention back to Alpha Seth, who was looking at Natalia. I raised an eyebrow while looking at him. He realized my gaze and turned to me slo

“I was just looking. Don’t take it seriously.”

I averted my gaze from him. He was one of the Alphas with whom I made an alliance. I did not want to make him frightened of me.

I made my way to the bar and placed an order for a drink. My gaze was fixed on Natalia the entire time.

“Stop thinking about something that can’t happen, Alpha Adrian. She is not yours anymore.”

I heard a voice beside me. I turned to look at the person.

“Beta Eric,” I muttered and lifted my glass. “Enjoy your drink.”

I did not pay much attention. He was just a beta of another pack in front of me. I could bet that he was not even powerful like Patric. What was the point had not been my ex-wife, he and his Alpha would have come to approach me very politely with the intention of forming an alliance with me.

“Cheers,” he said, and then shifted his focus to Natalia, which, was something that I did not like when he did so.

“You all lied to me about her children. They are not yours,” I said, sipping my drink.

“Not yours either,” he replied mockingly.

My hold on the glass became more firm; nonetheless, I was able to maintain enough control over my pressure so that it did not -break.

I was quiet, as I had no words to reply to his remarks. He was right. They were not my children.

‘Alpha Adrian, this is not a warning but rather an alarm from my side. Stay away from Natalia. She doesn’t have anything to do with you anymore. She likes me, and I love her. We have a future ahead, which Jason has already fixed.”

I gave him a frown. “You are lying.”

He chuckled and shook his head in disagreement. “I am not. You can ask her.”

I scoffed at him. “Of course. It is clear that you have a desire to be with her. This woman is the sister of your head Alpha. That is the reason why you are

“I love her. I don’t care who the father of the children is. I raised them with my hands. At the time of their birth, I was with them. I will be their father and g my name.”

I felt a twitch in my heart. I did not like his words, or I could say I did not like how he wanted to be with that woman.

“If that’s the case, why is Alpha Jason not announcing anything about you both?” With the expectation that he was lying, I questioned him.

He shrugged his shoulders and replied calmly,

“She said to her brother that she wants to focus on her career right now. But I will take care of her in the future. She knows her brother’s thoughts. The w

I tightened my fists after hearing him. I wanted to kill this man right here.

‘How dare he think something like that?’

Just before I could raise my hand on him, someone grabbed my fist and said,

“Alpha, I was looking for you.”

“Not you again.” I glared at Patric as I said it.

Did he keep a watchful eye on me everywhere? How could he come to stop me in every situation?

“I am your beta. I know how to take care of my Alpha,” he said to me in a hushed tone, turning to Beta Eric.

“Hello, Beta Eric.”

They shook hands with each other like professional men. I kept glaring at Patric when he excused Eric.

“How dare you come between me and that deviant man?”

“Deviant man? Have you gone crazy? Thank me later for stopping you earlier. You almost killed him. Do you think he will stay alive if you claw him?”

I looked away from him and shifted my gaze to Eric, who walked to Natalia.

“How can she even choose someone like him?”

“Then who should she choose? You?”

I grimaced a

He laughed at my stern look.

“You are not afraid of me, are you?” I asked.

“I know you will never hurt the people close to you.”

“You are overconfident. Can’t you see how I broke someone’s confidence last night? You don’t want to be the second.”

For some reason, he appeared unconcerned, which irritated me. He did not respond to my warning in any way. Everyone was afraid of me except him. H

As the party began, I enjoyed my drinks in the bar. My eyes kept wandering around the hallway, and they eventually made their way to a specific person.

consistently ignored me as if I were her enemy.

I saw her talking to Alpha Wade. Unexpectedly, he caught my eye, looking at Natalia. He smiled and waved at me. I gave him a nod.

He said something to one of his men, who hurried to me.

“Alpha Adrian, Alpha Wade is asking if you could join him.”

I looked at Natalia, who was still with Alpha Wade. I stood up from the stool and walked to them while holding a glass of wine.

“Alpha Wade,” I greeted him. Then, my attention was drawn to the woman who was standing next to him.

She was absolutely stunning—an entrancing scenario of beauty.

“Let me introduce you to some powerful people. She is Natalia Hansely. She can be your mentor. It is remarkable how much she has accomplished in th age.”

Natalia smiled at her when Alpha Wade’s daughter, Tyra, shook her hands with her.

“And this is someone you know. You must have heard a lot about him. He is Alpha Adrian.”

Tyra turned to me and looked shocked.

“You!”

I could not understand her reaction. “May I know you?” I asked her.

“How can you forget me? We bumped into each other today, remember?”

I realized she was the girl I bumped into when I walked down the street today.

I glanced at Natalia, who was looking at me.

I smirked and said to Tyra, “Oh, yes. You are that beautiful girl.”

Tyra blushed after hearing me. Wasn’t it what her friend was telling her? She was young and the most beautiful girl in her pack.

But in my eyes, the woman who was standing behind her was more fascinating.

As I complimented another girl, I noticed that Natalia appeared uninterested, as if she did not care.

“She is my only daughter. But she always stays with his uncle.

Seth said he wanted her to be with him in the pack company.”

Tyra bowed to me all of a sudden and said it with a soft tone.

“I am new in this field. I heard you will help our pack from now on. I hope you will take care of me as well.”

My brows almost lifted in surprise. Did I praise her much more than was needed? To what end was she acting in such a manner?

Natalia turned to Alpha Wade and murmured, “Excuse me,” before moving over to the opposite side.

Why was she not bothered with my actions?

I strode to her and grabbed her wrist. She was startled by my sudden action.

“What are you doing?”

I did not reply to her, and I began to pull her along with me. I had no idea where I was heading, but I wanted to talk to her. The feeling of desperation that “Adrian, what’s wrong?” She asked with a low tone since she did not want to grab others’ attention while passing them.

I walked past a few blocks and brought her to a corner, which was a little far from the hall.

As I pressed her against a wall, I asked her,

“Why are you acting as if you don’t care?”

Natalia’s POV

I was baffled by Adrian’s question. I looked into his eyes and noticed rage. There was a turmoil of reaction that could be seen in his behavior.

“What do you mean?” I asked him.

He tried to move toward me, but I pushed my hand against his chest and prevented him from approaching me.

“Don’t come near me. I am feeling disgusted.”

His body froze as he let out a low growl. “Disgusted by what?”

“By you.”

I observed that his jaw was tightening, as if he was trying to keep his wrath under control.

“What do you want, Adrian? Why do you keep bothering me?”

Didn't we talk with each other on the phone last time? You said you hated me, and I accepted it. In fact, our feelings are mutual. Now let me go." I tried to

However, he did not like my words. He grabbed my hand and moved it away from his chest.

I used the other hand to make an attempt to shove him. Therefore, he grabbed that hand as well and pinned both of my hands over my head.

My eyes widened because of his actions. "What are you doing?"

He lowered himself to my level and gazed directly into my eyes. Why is that? Why is it that you hate me so much? Wasn't it just supposed to be me?"

I assumed my words hurt his ego. He wanted to be the man who would hate me. If I hated him back, that meant I had some rights, too. In his eyes, only he had every right to hurt me, hate me, or insult me. If, on the other hand, I were to make an effort to carry out any of these a

"A man like you is deserving of nothing but my hatred. If it hurts your ego, that also doesn't matter to me," I said coldly as I composed myself.

I did not show him what he wanted. He wanted to see the weak Natalia, who used to beg him for everything. I was not that woman anymore.

There was not a word coming from Adrian's mouth as he continued to stare at me. I had no idea why he brought me here or what was on his mind.

All of a sudden, I was taken aback by the rapid change in his black eyes, which became softer. It might be an illusion.

"I think we-

I was interrupted when he tilted his head and moved his mouth toward my neck.

When his nose came close to brushing against my neck, I parted my lips. I tried to break free of his grip on my hands.

He sniffed at my neck as he closed his eyes. I struggled to move away from him.

When I saw there was no way to break free, I lifted my leg in to kick in between his legs. But that cunning man was able to predict my next move.

It came as a complete surprise to me when he pressed his body against mine and raised his thigh between my legs, coming dangerously close to touching my core.

“Adrian! What the hell are you doing?” I yelled at him.

The area was silent, so my yell reverberated across the area. There was no one who could save me from this devil.

He moved his face from my neck to my face.

“You are a pervert!” I remarked to him while giving him a hostile look.

As his gaze wandered across my face, he sent a sneer in my direction.

“Since you hate me, let me give you some reason to hate me more.”

“What do you me..aahh!”

Once more, he moved his mouth to make contact with my neck. This time, he kissed my neck.

My body turned numb at the touch of his lips. I shook my head when I realized what he was doing. I tried to push him, but it only caused my breasts to sq

When he began sucking my skin, I bit the bridge of my bottom lip.

“Let me go, you bastard!”

As if my voice were not audible to him, he paid no attention to it.

I wanted my wolf to take over me and shove this man since my strength was not enough to fight against him.

However, my wolf refused me. She wanted her mate close to her.

EMS

She liked whatever he was doing.

“The moment you leave me, no one can save you from me. I will kill you,” I warned him and stopped struggling.

He paused and moved before kissing my neck for the last time.

After taking a step away from me, he removed his hands from mine.

When he finally let go of my hand, I immediately lifted it to slap him. Nevertheless, he grabbed my hand and twisted it behind my back before my palm was close to touching his cheek.

“Are you angry?” he asked, looking like a devil.

Taking a quick look at my neck, he lifted his hand and gently stroked my skin with his thumb at the same time. I let out a hiss as I experienced a slight pain.

“Perfect!” he muttered.

I frowned at him. “Have you lost your mind?”

“Hmm,” he murmured and returned his gaze to me.

“You can’t do this all the time just because you are the head Alpha of a big pack. Are the other women a plaything to you? Whenever you want, you can’t

He did not get mad. He stared at me for a while and replied,

“But you are not any other woman. You are my woman.”

I was stunned by his words. “W—What?”

He let go of my hand and looked away from me, as if he were not supposed to say that.

He cleared his throat and replied,

“I mean, you are my mate. So I have all the rights over you.”

I glared at him. “You crossed your line today. I will ruin you, Adrian Miller.”

“By how? Snatching projects?”

“Shut up. Don’t come near me again. I will tell your girlfriend about it.”

Hearing about Lynda, his expression changed as if he had almost forgotten about her.

I sneered at him. Immediately, he smirked at me, which caused me to purse my lips.

Who was the man in front of me? I had never seen him this way. He had never behaved like this.

“Last time, whoever uploaded our photos of the council party, I liked the idea. So I thought, “Why don’t we make another breaking news tonight?”

I narrowed my eyes. “What did you just say?”

He glanced at my neck and then winked at me.

“You also have my hickey now. Everyone will get new gossip tomorrow. Be ready for that.”

Adrian left, leaving me in shock. I touched my neck and rubbed my finger over the skin, which turned swollen.

I rushed to the door close to where I was standing. I opened the door and saw that it was a private room. I dashed over to the bathroom attached to it.

The moment my eyes fell on my neck in the mirror, I gasped and covered my mouth in shock.

Indeed, there was a hickey on my neck!

“Adrian Miller, you’re just a scoundrel,” I muttered while looking at the hickey.

“How will I conceal it? How? My bag is not with me. I can’t go outside like this.”

I pulled my hair in anger. I was getting so angry at him that I wanted to break the mirror in anger.

I took a deep breath and tried to calm myself. Even if I thought about a solution, I could not find it. I was wearing a sleeveless and backless dress. There

I placed my hands on the counter of the sink and cursed Adrian

Miller.

“Who knows what got over him? Why does he look so strange? Since yesterday, he has started to behave weirdly. How dare he touch me?”

After a while standing there, I heard someone knocking on the bathroom door.

“Boss, are you inside?”

“Damia!”

I immediately opened the door and saw her at the door.

“Thank God you are here. Eric sent you to me, didn’t he?”

“Boss, I wa-”

“It’s okay. Give me my purse.” I said, grabbing my bag from her hand.

I did that hurriedly so that she could not see the mark on my neck. However, it was too late.

“Boss, your neck!”

“I—I got hurt.”

“Boss, that looks like...” she paused as she glanced at me.

I closed the door in embarrassment.

‘Adrian Miller, I just hate you.’

I opened my purse and took out the concealer, which helped me hide the scar on my hand. I always take it with me, so even if the scar became visible b

With the help of the concealer, I was able to hide the hickey.

When I went out of the bathroom, Damia stood up from the bed.

“Boss, are you okay?”

“I am totally fine. Let’s go.”

Damia did not ask anything and followed me behind.

I prayed in my head that no one had noticed Adrian and me together going somewhere. It would create fake rumors like before. I did not want to ruin my brother's reputation.

When I came into the hall, I saw everyone was calm, and no one was talking about me or Adrian.

I let out a sigh of relief and walked to Eric. He turned to me and asked,

"Where were you?"

I frowned at him. Wasn't he the one who sent Damia after me?

I turned to Damia, who shook her head. I returned my attention to Eric and replied,

"I went to use the washroom."

"Do you want to have some drinks?"

"No, thanks. Can we leave right now?"

"Why?"

"I'm not feeling well."

Eric held my hand and asked,

"What happened to you?"

I glanced at my hand and remembered how Adrian had pinned. them a while ago.

I looked away from my hand, and my gaze fell on the man sitting on the bar. He lifted his glass to show me a winning look.

I glared at him, which did not go unnoticed by Eric and other people around me.

"I'm leaving," I said, turning around to leave.

"I'm coming with you." Eric followed me behind.

Damia also walked with me to the car. She hurriedly opened the door for me, and I got in the car. She sat beside me and glanced at Eric, who was in the passenger seat.

"Should we consult a doctor?" Erie asked, turning his head toward me.

I shook my head. I was fuming in anger. I had no idea why Adrian did that. I lifted my hand and touched my neck, then balled my fist.

He might have wanted others to see that mark so that he could ruin my reputation in front of others. But I was lucky enough that Damia came to the room

When we arrived at the hotel, I was the first one to get out of the car.

I looked at Eric. "Goodnight."

و

"Let me walk you to your room."

"It's okay. I can go by myself."

Eric did not stop me, as he saw I was not in the right mood.

When I was heading to my room, I heard Damia calling out.

"Boss."

I stopped walking and turned to her. She approached me and said,

"I wanted to tell you that, I..." she paused.

I was confused. "You what, Damia?"

She closed her eyes and took a deep breath. "It was not Beta Eric but Alpha Adrian who sent me to you in that room."

I was stunned by her utterance. "Adrian? Why did he send you?"

"He said you needed my help, so I went to you at that time."

Her words made me more confused. Didn't Adrian want to humiliate me in front of others? Wasn't it the only reason to do all of this? Then why did he se

I tried to ignore everything and went to bed to sleep. I wanted to calm down my boiling blood.

When I opened my eyes, it was early in the morning.

As I sat up on the bed, I noticed my phone begin to vibrate. I grabbed it to check.

My eyes widened when I saw the recent breaking news.

“There seems to be a developing relationship between Alpha Adrian and Sophia Hansely. They were spotted together at the party for the Storm Forest P

In a state of worry, I rubbed my forehead.

“Adrian Miller, I despise you so much,” I murmured in a frustrated tone.

In order to destroy my reputation, he planned this entire tactic.

How could he spread such cheap news in public? Did he not care about his sweetheart? Or did he think she would not get the news?

The thought occurred to me, and I couldn't help but smirk. I dialed a number.

“Hello?” a young woman spoke out.

“Where is your boss? Give her the phone.”

When the woman heard me, she was taken aback.

“Who are you?”

“She knows me.”

The woman handed her phone to her boss. It was then that I heard the voice of the person that I had been hoping to hear.

“Who's speaking?”

“Your shameless boyfriend's ex-wife,” I replied with a grin, as if she could see me.

Lynda was quiet for a brief moment. I assumed she could not understand how I got her maid's number.

That day, when she proved me wrong in front of Adrian and his parents, I inspected the number from which she sent me a message. It was his maid's number. She was not as clever as I thought. She did not tell her maid to change the number.

However, I did not tell Adrian about it either. I felt that both of them deserved each other.

"Why do you call me?" Lynda asked, breaking the silence.

"I think you haven't read the latest breaking news yet."

"What news?"

"The news about your boyfriend being busy pulling another woman with him."

"What nonsense! Why would he do that?"

My response was mocking, and I responded with a chuckle, saying, "He said he wanted to make news with me."

"Impossible! He can't do that. Adrian can never want anything from you. Not after the re..." she paused.

"Report? What report are you talking about, Lynda?" I asked, shaking my head. It seemed obvious to me what she was going to say.

"N-Nothing."

"Wait a minute. Are you perhaps talking about the DNA test that someone changed? Let me guess, was that you?"

"Natalia, I can't believe you have the audacity to accuse me of something like that. You have children with another man. Don't try to change the truth."

Her statements caused me to become furious. "And still, your boyfriend came to me last night. I think you can't satisfy him properly. That's why he wants

“Don’t you dar-”

I did not let her complete her statement and cut the call. As I thought about what I had said to her, I couldn’t help but scoff.

I did not have any intention to be with that man again. I only told those things to Lynda to terrify her.

There was no doubt that she would blackmail Adrian emotionally and keep him preoccupied with her. The only thing I could hope for was that after this, Adrian would never show up to me again.

After throwing the phone onto the bed, I walked to the bathroom to take a shower. It was not necessary for me to take any action regarding the news. I faith that Lynda would find a way to put it down anyway.

After taking a shower, I took out a beautiful white dress. I would visit around the pack today, so I had to get ready.

As I was applying my makeup, I did not take my eyes off of my neck for a while. The purple mark that was on my skin brought to mind that man.

I reached out to both Eric and Damia. It was Eric who instructed us to go and eat breakfast first. We went to the restaurant that was located within the ho “Where did he take you? Why didn’t you tell me about it last night?” Eric asked. He looked mad at me.

“I handled him. Don’t worry,” I said while eating.

“Jason said he would teach him a lesson this time.”

I paused and looked at him. “Did you inform Brother Jason about it?”

“No, he saw the news himself.”

In response, I averted my gaze and gave a slight nod.

‘I could not stop the conflict anymore. That man himself started it. I don’t care how my brother would deal with him at this point.’ I thought.

I did not talk to Eric about Adrian’s matter and continued to eat.

Eric told me that he sent all the managers back to the Blue Blood Pack early in the morning.

“Do you really want to tour around the pack?”

Eric asked me once again. I was aware of the reason he asked that. He believed that I was frustrated because of Adrian.

Damia lowered her head as I cast a glimpse in her direction. I patted her hand and replied to Eric.

“Yeah. I want to.”!

Damia looked at me and shook her head, indicating that I did not have to do that. To reassure her that everything was well, I tried to smile at her.

We were able to get a car thanks to Eric’s arrangements. As soon as we were inside the car, Eric received a phone call from Jason.

When he spoke to him, a surprised expression appeared on his face.

“I’m coming back. Don’t worry,” Eric said to Jason and hung up.

I stared at him with a stunned expression on my face. My heart was filled with concern for both my children and my parents. I was worrying about them.

Were they okay?

Eric turned his head toward me and said, “Something came up. I need to return to the Blue Blood Pack right now.”

“What happened? Is everything okay?”

“Everything is alright. We have a pack meeting tomorrow morning. Jason needs me. So I can’t accompany you on this trip.”

Everyone in the car was completely silent.

“I don’t want to leave you here alone, Natalia,” Eric spoke out.

“Eric, I am not a child.” I tried to assure him.

“There are so many Alphas here.”

“I heard everyone is leaving at noon. By the way, you should trust me. I can defend myself.”

“I trust you.”

After getting out of the car, he closed the door behind him. When he approached the window and murmured,

“Be careful. Come back to our pack soon.”

I responded with a nod of my head and said, “I will.”

When I looked over, I observed him going inside the hotel to check out and then calling a cab to take him directly to the airport.

“Boss, will you be okay here in this pack without any security? Please don’t take my words seriously. We can come here another time. Let’s go back with

I leaned against the seat and replied,

“Of course not. I will be fine. Moreover, Damia, you should not. take it upon yourself. I also want to get some fresh air.”

Damia bit her lip and nodded her head quietly.

I ordered the driver. “Start the car.”

The driver started the car, and drove off in the direction of the sight.

The whole day, we visited around the pack. There were a few tourist areas. But the entire road was located right next to the forest.

The—Museum of the Pack was the destination of our trip. It was there that I witnessed the history of this pack engraved on the stones.

The Storm Forest Pack was an ancient pack. They used to live in forests in their wolf form many years ago. Nevertheless, as a result of the time revoluti Damia muttered, “Wow,” as she took in the sight of something.

“Let’s go there, boss.” A beautiful book was placed over a golden stand.”

After walking there, we went to look at the book.

With great enthusiasm, Damia opened the book.

“Be careful,” I cautioned her as she flipped the first page in the book.

Putting an end to her rush, she flipped the pages of the book slowly.

I saw many stories of wolves. One page captured my attention.

“Wait a minute,” I said, stopping Damia.

She opened the page and started to read to see what grabbed my attention.

“The Alphas, who have black fur, are the most powerful wolves. There were two different kinds of black wolves that the members of this pack were scared

After turning her attention to me, Damia stated, “I have never witnessed black wolves. Boss, what color is the wolf that belongs to our Alpha?”

I replied, “Grey,” while staring at the book in front of me.

It reminded me of a pair of red eyes. I had never gotten the chance to see his wolf. So I was completely unaware of the appearance of his wolf.

I shoved the thought away and looked around the museum. I got to learn so many things.

Damia was very delighted and went shopping for her family after we left the museum. Throughout the entire day, she was filled with excitement. I was pleased

I also bought some clothes for my children. Damia was not aware of my twins. So she asked me a few times for whom I was purchasing clothes. I told her

I wanted to tell her about Noah and Aria. However, I could not tell her that their father was Adrian. I could not take a risk.

Damia and I made my way back to the hotel in the night, after we had finished our meal at a tourist restaurant, which was a fascinating one.

As the car was passing through the forest, I turned my head to the window to take a brief glance at the landscape that was moving really quickly.

My attention was drawn to the moon, which was shining brightly. I tilted my head to the side and closed my eyes so that I could feel the moonlight that was coming in through the open window of the car.

All of a sudden, the car stopped in the middle of the road.

We jerked up at the sudden halt.

“What happened?” I asked the driver.

“Miss, let me check.” The driver replied and got out of the car.

Damia turned to me and said, “Boss, I should go see.”

“No, sit here quietly. I am going to check.”

Damia was a young girl and an Omega. It was impossible for me to put her life in danger by allowing her to go outside. So I got out of the car and went t

When he looked at me, he said, “I called one of the mechanics. here. He is coming in a few minutes.”

I nodded to him and waited there for a moment. I peered over at the side of the forest.

The only light you could see was coming from the headlights of the car. On the other hand, the entire region was dark.

The forest was deep enough to prevent the moonlight from reaching the ground.

“There he is,” the driver stated, and I looked away from the trees.

I spotted a man riding a bike to our vehicle while carrying a box, which I assumed was a mechanism tool.

He started to repair our car when I paid him first to do it fast.

While he was making repairs, my attention drifted back to the woods once more. Something attracted my attention all of a sudden.

I observed something dark going at a very rapid pace. As I blinked my eyes in an attempt to view it more clearly, I noticed that it had already moved to th

I turned to the car, which was in the required position. Taking a quick peek at Damia, I leaned in closer to the window.

“I’m coming in a few minutes. Don’t come outside, okay?”

“Boss, I want to come with you.”

“No. The driver is Alpha Sheth’s known man. He is a trusted person. So here, we can only trust him. I will be back in a minute, so wait for me.”

She nodded at me in agreement. I turned around and walked toward the forest side.

I looked to my right and left before entering the woods, to look at what I had seen out of curiosity.

I strolled inside the forest and kept looking for it. However, after walking for five minutes, I was unable to catch a glimpse of it another time.

Inside my purse, my phone began to vibrate. By checking it, I saw that Damia had sent a message.

“Boss, where are you? The driver said we could leave now. The car is ready to drive,”

Due to the fact that Damia was waiting for me outside, I considered leaving the forest; nevertheless, as I turned back, I was absolutely surprised.

I forgot the way to return. I immediately searched for the map in my phone to return, but I saw that the network connection on my phone was becoming d “Shit! I lost my way,” I muttered to myself.

I had no idea where to go so that could return to my pack.

I started to walk ahead, not knowing if I was in the right direction or in the opposite direction.

Suddenly, I heard a growl coming from another side. My eyes widened, I did not get into trouble

But I could not help but feel compelled to move in the direction of the growl.

My body continued to move without my permission, despite the fact that I wanted to turn around and run.

My steps came to a standstill when I was confronted by a scent that caused my entire sanity to be challenged. My brows lifted in shock as I saw somethi

It was Adrian. I did not know that his wolf was black. He had red eyes and black fur, which I had read about in the book today.

I stared into his eyes for a while. The size of his wolf was so enormous that no one would have the courage to approach him if he were to reveal his shape to them.

He took a step toward me, which made me realize I had been looding at him for a long time.

I looked away from him and turned around.

“Let me shift. I want to meet my mate,” my wolf Nancy said to me. She only reacted to me whenever Adrian was close to me.

I responded to her by silencing her inside of me and saying, “No. He will no longer be our mate.”

As I started to walk, I heard a growl from behind.

I turned my head and saw the wolf coming to me. I realized that It was Adrian’s wolf, who wanted to come to me.

I froze on my feet when he almost reached me. I raised my hand to stop him.

“Don’t come close to me. I am not your mate. I mean, we will break the bond soon.”

It was my fault to say something like that. Because after I had finished saying that, he jumped over me, causing me to fall to the ground.

While I was in a state of shock, I attempted to get him away from me. On the other hand, he started licking my neck where Adrian had left his hickey yes

“Leave me.”

He did not listen to me. I was confused about whether it was Adrian or his wolf who was taking control.

“I just hate you, Adrian. Leave me,” I yelled at his wolf.

My voice echoed throughout the forest. He paused moving and turned his head to look at me.

I gulped at the look on the wolf’s face, which was enough to terrify anyone. I slowly lifted my hand and placed it on his head. He closed his eyes and moved his head to make him feel caressing.

I understood that it was Adrian’s wolf who liked me as his mate.

He moved away from me and sat down close to me.

I sat up and looked into his closed eyes. “You should not be fond of me. Our fates are different. But nice to meet you.”

It was not a battle between our wolves but between Adrian and me. We had wolves who could talk to us, feel our pain, and vice versa. But in the end, we

When I got to my feet, the wolf’s eyes opened, and I saw it turn cloudy.

I took a step back immediately; it was Adrian who was taking control right now.

Did he just let his wolf get caressed by me? Why didn’t he shut his wolf to stay away from me? Didn’t he know wolves were very sensitive about their mates?

“Don’t follow me,” I said, as I knew it was Adrian.

I proceeded to walk in a different direction after turning around. I had no idea where I was going, but I was under the impression that I did not want to be

After a while of walking non-stop, I began to feel exhausted. The forest was so big that if someone got lost here, it was hard to get them back.

Even if I tried, I was unable to send a message to Damia. I started to feel concerned about her.

“I should not have come here in the first place.” I muttered angrily.

At that time, I heard footsteps coming from behind me. I turned around and found Adrian. He was wearing black jeans with no shirt on top.

He might have shifted back and worn his clothes.

“Why are you here?” I asked him, looking away from his bare chest.

“The same question goes to you,” he replied, walking toward me.

I did not know what to say to him. I patted his wolf a while ago, and now I was feeling embarrassed about it.

I did not reply to him and began to walk ahead.

“You are lost, aren’t you?” he asked me.

“I have never seen a brutal man like you, Adrian Miller. You posted that fake news, didn’t you?” I asked without stopping.

“You haven’t answered me yet. But you are right. I did post it. Don’t you want to know why?”

I paused and turned to him. I gave him a cold look. “To humiliate

He shook his head as his eyes turned dark. “To let your brother know about my audacity.

My lips parted in shock. For what reason did he intend to demonstrate his audacity to my brother? What did my brother do to him? They had not even talked much the last time they met each other.

“I heard his words are like laws in your pack, which is a good thing, but he should know that not everything will go according to his plans.”

I had no idea what this crazy man was talking about.

“Fuck off!”

I turned around to change my way from that side. I did not want to go in the same direction with him.

“I know all the paths here,” he spoke out.

“Why? Are you doing a job as a forest guard?” I mocked him without looking at him.

“Think about it. You can’t go out of the forest, even if you want to. So taking my help won’t cause you harm.”

I turned to him. “Taking your help? Not at all, pervert. I haven’t forgotten what you did to me last night. You know what? Just stay away; otherwise, there will be no one to witness me killing you.”

As if my warning made him mad, he glared at me.

I rolled my eyes and began to stroll ahead. However, something brushed against my ankle.

“Aah!”

I lifted my leg to touch my ankle. I found a thorn pierced there. I yanked it out with a hiss in pain.

The moment I put my leg down on the ground to start walking again, my body lifted into the air.

“What the hell!”

Adrian wrapped his arms around my body as he started to walk with me in his arms.

“It looks like I have to help the mother just like I helped her daughter.”

I frowned at him. “Excuse me? Who are you to scold me like this? Who gave you the right over me?”

He looked down at me and asked,

“Will you shut your mouth or...” he paused.

“Or what? What will you do?”

He moved his gaze from my eyes to my lips, then continued, “Or I will shut them by my way.”

I averted my gaze from him. “Don’t make me hurt you, Adrian. I can be a slow position for you.”

“Oh really? How will it be?”

His tone was taunting me, provoking me to show him how I could hurt him.

It is impossible to find a way to make this man’s hatred go away from my heart. One by one, all the events in which he caused me an excessive amount of pain are refle time of my pregnancy made me remember who this man was.

How could I forget what he had done to me? The agony was still present within me, creating a void in my heart, causing it to lose a part for all time, and I got mad at myself for even talking to this man. I clenched my jaw and closed my eyes in anger.

My claws came out of my nails as I was furious and wanted to teach this man a lesson. How could he think of me as a weak person?

When I wrapped my hands around his neck, he thought I had given in.

He scoffed at me. "See? Now you realize that only I can help yo-"

He froze in the middle of his statement when something pierced his upper back, a little down from his neck.

I roughly scratched his upper back to make him feel the most pain.

He let out a low groan as he felt pain. He shut his eyes and endured it.

I chuckled at him. "I am not the woman you think of. I can be more frigid than you ever behaved to me."

He opened his eyes and looked at me. His eyes turned red, as though his wolf could also feel the pain.

"Who are you?" he asked while looking at me.

His sudden question baffled me. I immediately pulled out my claws from his skin.

Did my claws go too deep to remove his memories?

"How can your claws come out so easily? A normal wolf can't do this."

I smirked at him. "Not everyone has the ability, you know. Having a giant wolf doesn't mean having all the ability inside."

There was a smile in his eyes, which I noticed clearly.

Suddenly, I felt itching in my arm, which made my body jerk in his arms.

"Having a giant wolf and having all the ability inside, that's what Alpha Adrian is," he said proudly while smirking at me.

I slowly lowered my head to look down, and I saw him brushing his claws on my arm.

'How could this man have every power to win over anyone? Is he the moon goddess's favorite child or something?' I thought.

I looked away from him and tried to get down, but he tightened his grip around me.

"Trust me. I know the path. I will help you return to your secretary," he said, letting out a calm tone as though he were telling me the truth. His claws also

I knew if I argued with him, he would not listen to me. So I kept quiet and let him help me return to my car.

After a while, I heard a voice coming from somewhere. "Boss, where are you?"

"That's Damia's voice!" I spoke out.

"Relax. We are going there," Adrian assured me.

The fact that he knew where my car was parked was a surprise to me. Wasn't he inside the forest? Then how did he know about it?

My eyes widened as I thought of something that sprang to me.

I hit his chest with my fist and asked, "Did you do it on purpose?"

"What?" he asked, ignoring the hit on his chest.

"How do you know where I want to go? You did it on purpose. You were close to the street and tried to trap me."

"And you got trapped!" He winked at me.

"Put me down right now, you scoundrel."

I yelled at him, but he ignored me and continued toward the light that was coming from the street.

When we arrived at the road, I found Damia standing near a tree. I could hear her shouting out for me, and she was almost about to go into the woods to look for me.

A look of relief flashed across her face as soon as she became aware of our presence. On the other hand, she was taken aback when she discovered that I was being held by Adrian.

"Put me down," I muttered angrily in a hushed tone.

Adrian did not pay attention to what I had to say and instead approached the car where the driver was waiting outside.

When the driver noticed us, he immediately opened the back door for me.

Adrian helped me sit on the seat and closed the door. He turned to Damia, who followed him behind the car

Damia's cheeks flushed red as she looked away from Adrian's naked chest

"Take care of your boss, Her leg is wounded."

Just saying that to Damia, he walked toward the forest again.

"Boss, his back is bleeding!" Dania whispered to me through the window

"We should not care," I replied to her.

A few seconds, his silhouette faded away into the darkness.

I stared in his direction with a blank face. I did not know why he helped me tonight. He could have left me there to die.

I felt a hand on my legs. I lowered my head and saw Damia hold my legs as she opened the door to check my wound.

During the time that she was looking at the blood stain on my ankle, she was lost in thought.

“Boss?”

I looked at Damia and smiled at her. “Get in the car. Let’s go back to the hotel.”

She nodded at me and got in the car. After sitting next to me, she held my hand softly and said, “Boss, I was scared. I thought I could never get you back.”

I chuckled at her words. “Silly girl, it’s just a forest; did you think it would eat me alive?”

She shook her head. “No, but you were lost as a child. Your family got you back after so many years; if something had happened to you again, then...”

I patted her hand. “I am totally fine. Don’t worry.”

The driver started the car, and we returned to the hotel.

When we were walking to the entrance hall, I saw Beta Patric there.

He approached me with a little smile on his face. “Hello, Natalia.

I gave him a nod with a confused look. “Why are you here, Beta -Patric?”

He was taken aback by my question. “We are staying here just like you.”

I sneered at myself, thinking that was how Adrian could get my room number, and sent that bouquet into my room.

Damia looked at us with a perplexed look, so I then introduced her to Beta Patric.

“Boss, how do you know Alpha Adrian’s beta?” She whispered to me when we excused Beta Patric and headed to our rooms.

“I met him...” I paused. She was my personal secretary, so she knew I had never talked to him in any pack meeting.

“I talked to him at the parties. He is a gentle man. Not like his Alpha,” I said while thinking about Adrian.

I was curious about his motive for reaching out to me so many times.

“Boss, would you mind if I ask you a question?”

“What?”

“W–Was the news right?” she inquired about the news that Adrian had posted this morning.

Observing her gaze, I could see that she was curious and wanted to know the truth. It came to my attention that she had noticed my neck last night, and that she had also observed Adrian and I coming out together from the woods today. She might have misconceptions about it.

“That news is fake. I have nothing to do with that man.”

Damia grinned at me after hearing me.

“Why are you so happy?” I asked her.

“Boss, I was sure that you and Beta Eric were...

you know what I

I frowned at her words. “I have nothing to do with Eric as well. He is just my friend.”

She parted her lips in shock. I sighed as I felt that almost everyone in my pack thought that Eric and I were lovers.

After returning to my hotel room, I collapsed on the bed there. I had no energy left to go and change my clothes or freshen up.

“You know he can’t heal that wound.”

While I was wondering about how Adrian might react when he discovered that the wound had not healed, I couldn’t help but laugh.

“I will claw his heart next time,” I said with all of the anger in my heart.

“What if he was trying to-”

“Nancy, what if one day you will have to choose between me and him? Will you choose him over me?”

“How can it be possible? We are the same. We can’t be apart from. each other. Just like he and his wolf, you saw it tonight.”

I was silent, thinking about returning tomorrow to my pack. I had no idea when my eyes closed, and I fell asleep.

When I opened my eyes, it was already morning.

I freshened up and changed into a long dress to hide my ankle. I called Damia and told her to book tickets to return to the Blue Blood Pack.

After organizing the clothes in my luggage that I had used for the last two days, I walked out of the hotel room.

Damia also came out of her room, and we made our way to the reception together.

As we were checking out of the hotel, a boy handed me a bouquet of red roses.

I did not need to think about who sent it. I saw a card on it and read it.

Chapter 111

The moment I stepped into my pack, I felt the breeze blowing in my face, which instantly lifted my spirits and made me feel a bit better.

What a relief it was to be back home. At the airport, I noticed that my driver was waiting for me there. I walked to my car along with Damia as my driver held my and Damia's luggage.

I reached the pack house late in the evening after dropping Damia off at home.

The moment I entered the pack house, I was greeted by the sight of my twins running in my direction.

I knelt down and warmed myself by pulling me into my embrace.

'Mommy."

"My babies."

When I looked over, I saw Jason and Eric smiling at us. I pulled away from the hug and walked to my brother. I hugged him and asked,

*Brother, is everything okay?"

"Yes, my lil baby. Why did you think something was wrong?"

I looked at him and said, "You called Eric here, so I thought..."

'Everything is alright. I think he is not your assistant, but the beta of this pack. Sometimes, his Alpha can need him, too." He said that mockingly.

"Brother," I said, hitting his arm lightly, and everyone chuckled.

"Mommy, we missed you," Noah said to me.

"Mommy, this is for you," Aria said as she handed me a piece of paper.

I saw a sketch of a woman who was waving at two children while grabbing luggage.

Aria was good at painting. In other words, she enjoyed expressing her emotions through the sketches.

In addition to giving her cheek a kiss, I embraced both of them once more. "Mommy missed you both, too. Let's go to your room. Mommy has brought so many things to her babies."

I held their hands and glanced at Jason and Eric. Jason gave me a nod to permit me to spend my time with my babies.

A maid came with my luggage, which was in my car's trunk. I thanked her, and she bowed to me before leaving.

I gave my babies the clothes that I bought for them. They looked glad. They were so happy that they began to jump up and down on the bed. As I observed their contentment, I was unable to control my chuckle as I shook my head.

The maids came to me when it was time for dinner and informed me that Jason was calling me in the dining room. They said that he was waiting for me there.

I was in my bedroom since I had come to my room to take a shower after having a conversation with my children a little while ago.

I went to the dining room. Jason and Eric were sitting on their chairs.

"Where are Aria and Noah?"

"They had their dinner," Eric replied.

"Oh, that's good."

I pulled a chair, which was close to my brother, and sat down on it.

We started eating while glancing at each other.

'Brother, do you want to say something?'

"You should first finish your meal. There are a lot of topics that I must talk about."

I gulped as I lost my appetite immediately. I knew what he meant. I could be sure that he would inquire about the latest news.

My biggest concern was that he would become angry with me. He did not even bother to phone me to inquire about anything, which was not a good sign from him.

When I noticed that he was looking at my plate, which was still halfway full, I made myself eat.

Immediately after we finished our meal, we headed to the living room to settle down and start our conversation. "Brother."

"Where did he take you that night?" Jason asked me directly.

I looked away from him and thought, 'How can I tell my brother where Adrian took me and what he did to me?'

"I'm asking you something, Natalia."

"Brother, he wanted to talk t."

"You said the same thing after the council party."

I lowered my head when I saw that he looked furious. "Brother, he just wanted to post that news to humiliate me, I guess."

He nodded his head. "He always tries to humiliate you, right?"

I gave him nods to agree with him. His eyes turned dark.

"This time, I will teach him what actual humiliation is."

I frowned in confusion and looked at him. "What will you do to him, brother?"

"You should not care about it, Natalia," Eric spoke out.

"But I can't let two packs fight against each other for news," I retorted.

Jason stared at me for a while, which made me feel nervous.

"Will you care if I fight against him one day?"

I shook my head. "Brother, why are you saying it? I will never want that."

"Who do you care for? Him or me?"

"Of course, you, brother."

"Then what are you scared of? Don't you have faith in your brother? Can't he win against him?"

I was terrified to hear him. Would he win against Adrian?

There was no doubt that my brother was a very powerful fighter when it came to war. But what I had seen in the forest was something I could not ignore. Adrian's wolf was very powerful.

"I believe you can win any war against anyone. But I don't want any clashes right now. Please, brother. Don't call a war against the Crystal Blood Pack."

He sighed and got to his feet. He walked to me and patted my head.

I lifted my head to look at him.

"I love you, brother. I love mom and dad. A war means the risk of losing family members. I don't want to lose any of you."

He placed his thumb under my eyes and brushed my tears. It dawned on me that the mere thought of a war had caused me to shed tears.

I had never seen a war in my life, nor did I have any desire to witness one.

"I'm not calling for any war against anyone. But what he is doing to you is not something I will endure easily. He dared to touch my sister after my last warning. I will attack his arrogance and smash it very soon."

one of the board members' birthdays, so I had no choice but to concur with them.

Everyone cheered as they took a seat close to me at a table when we arrived at the club. Damia was seated next to me in the chair.

All of them asked me what drink I would prefer. I asked for soft drinks. I did not want to drink.

I saw their faces turn awkward. They agreed, and they ordered soft drinks for themselves as well.

“It’s okay. You can have drinks.”

“No, no. We can’t drink when our CEO is not drinking. It will be in a disrespectful manner.”

I felt that they could not drink just because of me, so I sighed and ordered a drink for myself.

They looked shocked when they heard me ordering a drink.

“Miss Natalia, are you sure?” One man asked.

“Yeah.”

Damia turned her head toward me. “Boss, you never drink.”

“Don’t worry about it. I am only going to take a small sip. On someone’s birthday night, I don’t want to be the one to destroy it.

She gave me a friendly smile. “Boss, you are so amiable.”

One waiter came to serve drinks at our tables. All the soft drinks turned into wine. We all clapped for the man, who was celebrating his birthday today, and he raised his glass to celebrate.

I sipped on my glass. At first, I felt that my throat was burning.

But after a few gulps, the alcohol gradually eased the discomfort in my throat.

“Isn’t that Doctor Max Harrison?” Someone spoke out from the next table.

In the direction that the others were staring, I turned my head to look that way.

Indeed, it was Max Harrison!

“What is he doing in our pack?” one of my men asked another.

“I heard he came here with the head Alpha of the Blood Moon Pack,” another man replied.

I looked at the man. “Mr. Hendrix, what did you just say?” I asked him.

“He came here with the Alpha of his pack. The period of the alliance with them came to an end.”

I frowned when I heard him. How come I did not know about it, and my directors knew about it?

I realized that I had never asked Jason anything about that pack. It could be the reason for my awareness.

“Boss, once Beta Eric said that you admire Doctor Max a lot. Do you want to talk to him?” Damian whispered to me.

I shook my head and replied, “I see. He informed you about me many things.”

Damia scratched her head as she chuckled awkwardly, “Actually, I was the one who persuaded him to tell me some details about you. I am your persona about you, along with your likes and dislikes.”

I smiled at her. “He is right. I admire that man. It’s because of his profession and abilities. But it’s okay; we should not disturb him.” I replied to her, glancing

I saw him talking with a young lady while drinking. He looked serious, as if he were scolding her or something.

Did he make a fling here, and when she wanted to reveal something, he was scolding her?

So many things came to mind, and I shook my head. It was all because of the influence of alcohol.

Doctor Max was a very gentleman. He had no scandals. In fact, I talked to him at the council party. He was very humble.

Unexpectedly, he caught my gaze, which made me feel embarrassed. I immediately moved my head away from his direction and turned my head to focus on my table.

In an effort to calm myself down after being caught, I swallowed the entire glass of drink. He might have felt uncomfortable with his gaze a while ago.

The board members cheered for me when they noticed I was drinking. A man served another glass of wine.

Damia wanted to push it, but I grabbed the glass and said,

“I can drink another glass.”

I chugged down the whole drink, which shocked them. They almost clapped because of my actions. I did not know what had gotten over me. I drank ano

“Miss Natalia Hansley?”

A voice interrupted me.

Everyone turned their heads and noticed the man standing next to my chair.

I raised my head and looked at him.

“Doctor Max?” I said while blinking my eyes to clear my sight.

After a few blinks, his face became visible to me.

“Hi,” he said, extending his hand toward me.

I placed my hand over his, and he held it softly.

“Hello,” I mumbled.

He chuckled when he realized that I was slightly drunk.

“What a coincidence! We met again.”

Doctor Max! Take a seat with us, please.” Damia uttered it with a courteous smile on her face.

“And you are?”

“Hello, I’m Damia, Miss Natalia’s personal secretary.”

“Oh, nice to meet you,” Doctor Max said, looking at the other four men who stared at him.

“You came with...” he muttered while looking at me after a brief pause.

“They are the board of directors of our company,” Damia explained to him.

One by one, those men shook hands with Max.

“Please, sit with us.”

They pulled a chair for him next to me. Max sat on the chair and apologized, “I’m sorry if I interrupted you all.

“I disagree, Doctor Max. It’s a stroke of good fortune that we get meet you. It’s my birthday, by the way,” Mr. Hendrix said.

Being a bachelor, he was about to tie the knot with his girlfriend in the near future.

“Happy Birthday.”

“Thank you so much.”

“I don’t have anything with me right now to give you.”

“That doesn’t matter. Your presence is a great present for me”

Max chuckled and gave him a nod. “But it will be due to me. I can assure you that if someday you need me, I will come for your

Mr. Hendrix’s eyes widened. He broke into a bright grin..

“I have got the best present in my life. There is no chance that I will pass away soon in the near future if I suffer from one disease, and Doctor Max treats me.”

Everyone cracked up because of his statements.

Meanwhile, Max turned his gaze toward me. I was watching him talk with my men so politely.

“So? How is your investigation going?” He asked me.

Everyone turned to me as they mumbled in inquiry.

“Investigation?”

Because I wanted to distract others from this topic, I cleared my throat. Max picked up my signal and turned his gaze to the other people.

“There was something about business, you know.”

Later, they all discussed the health issues that their family was experiencing with Max. He told them that he was nothing more than a healer who only ha

I was going to stand up when Dania stood up and said, “Boss, I think Doctor Max wanted to talk to you about something about some investigation. We two can talk, and I’m also leaving.”

I glanced at Max, who was sitting comfortably next to me. I was also interested in having a conversation with him about a variety of topics.

“Okay,” I said as I gave Damia permission to leave, and then I turned my focus to Max Harrison.

“As you know, I am the CEO of my pack company right now. So, had to stop all the investigations in the medical field.”

It was a shock to Max. “But you were a really intelligent student. What makes you abandon your dream and begin something completely out of the blue?”

“Doctor Max, actua-”

“You can call me Max.”

I was stunned. There were some rules in the royal family. We could not use the first name of a person if we did not have a close relationship with them.

“Max,” I murmured as he told me to call his name.

“I see.”

Max ordered a drink for himself. “You want some?” he asked me.

“Sure.”

A waiter came with the tray and placed our drinks.

Despite the fact that I started to feel lightheaded, I continued to sip the drink.

“I want to go home,” I mumbled, getting on my feet.

“I’m dropping you,” he said as he stood up and wrapped his arm around my shoulder.

I gave him a slight shake of my head. “No, my driver is waiting for me outside.”

“Then let me at least help you reach your car.”

I thought for a moment. Then I gave him a nod.

He assisted me in going outside. He helped me sit in the back seat of my car and told my driver to drive me home safely.

“By the way, why are you here?” I asked, peeking out my head from the window.

He lowered his head, and I moved back inside.

“Our alliances are over,” he said.

“But why was it only for a few months? I thought it would be for many years.”

He chuckled as if he found my tone cute. “It’s all about business,

"Natalia, you don't have to worry about it. You can use my cure anytime."

I parted my lips to tell him something, but before that, the driver started the car and turned his head toward us.

"I'm leaving your pack tomorrow after meeting your brother," Max stated to me while standing tall and keeping his posture straight.

I stared at him with blurry eyes as I waved at him. The car started to move and headed in the direction of the pack house.

During the whole ride, I closed my eyes because I felt drunk.

Upon the car coming to a stop, I stepped out of the car with my legs wobbling. In an effort to assist me, the guards rushed towards me.

They mind linked Jason about me. In a few seconds, Jason hurried over from outside.

He looked at me with his eyebrows raised and exclaimed, "You are drunk!"

I smiled at him sheepishly. "I'm sorry. I met Max, so I drank with him a little."

"Max? Who is Max?"

"How can you forget him, brother? The biggest healer of the-"

"Doctor Max Harrison?" Eric cut me off as he came out of the pack house.

"Hmm," I hummed while nodding my head.

"Eric, help her get inside. I'm going to call Doctor Max."

I shook my hands after hearing him. "No, brother. Don't scold him. He is a gentleman."

Eric lifted me in his arms and carried me to my room. I was utterly exhausted. As he laid me down on my bed, he complained, "You never drink with me. How come you do that with him?"

I laughed at his words as if they had gone over my head.

"He is my mentor. I was only drinking for once."

Eric shook his head while looking at me, then sighed.

I felt my eyes closing as the darkness slowly enveloped me. But before I could get unconscious, I heard Eric's low tone.

"I forgot to tell you. Adrian is coming to our pack tomorrow to discuss the alliance."

I lifted my pillow up and placed it on my face to give my face relief from the sunlight.

However, I could not sleep any longer because someone came and knocked on my door to wake me up.

"Young Miss."

I heard one of my maids' voices. I whizzed by just hearing her voice. It felt like a noise in my head.

"Leave. I will wake up later," I mumbled under the pillow.

"Young Miss, Alpha is calling you. You need to wake up."

I did not move for a while. I was on the verge of returning to the dreamland, but someone knocked on the door and prevented me from doing so.

I threw the pillow and sat up in anger.

Immediately after I let out a yell, I felt a pain in my throat. I found my head hurting like hell.

“Come in.” I tried to say it out loud so that the maid could hear me from outside the door.

I rubbed my forehead while recalling last night. Suddenly, one person came to mind.

Even just thinking about him seeing me in a drunken state caused my jaw to drop.

“Oh, no! Doctor Max saw me drunk!”

I patted my cheeks. “What did he think about me?”

All of my effort that I put into introducing myself to him at the council party was wasted by what had just happened last night.

“Natalia, what did you do? If you don’t have the ability to handle the alcohol, you shouldn’t have drunk.” I scolded myself.

I checked the time and cursed myself. I was late for my office too. I never overslept before.

On the other hand, I noticed a message from Eric. He said he informed Damia that I was not going to the company today.

I felt terrible. Everyone was trying to make me a responsible woman, but here I was, behaving stupid.

I nodded at her. "Yeah, mommy is bad. She hurt your Uncle Jason.

I was stunned when the guards came out of other cars and opened the back door of a car that was in the middle of other cars.

I heard my brother mutter from beside me.

I frowned at Jason. What was going on in his head? He gave me a nod.

After letting out a sigh, I shifted my attention to Adrian, who was standing in front of us and gazing at me.

As he approached me, he stretched his hand toward me. “We met again, Miss Natalia,” he said to me.

It reminded me of the night of the party when he kissed my neck and left his mark, which I had to bear for four days until it was permanently removed. H

I gave him a ferocious smile while simultaneously glancing at his hand. “Yeah, welcome to our pack.”

I did not shake my hand. I did not want to. The last time I shook hands with this man, he held my hand for more than a minute.

I had no desire to take any risk in front of my brother. What if Jason went mad and killed him right there? My brother was a short-tempered person. He was overly possessive toward his only sister.

When Adrian realized that I had no interest in shaking hands with him, he gazed at his hand and slowly clenched it into a fist.

“Honestly, my sister doesn’t like it when strangers touch her,” Jason spoke out.

I understood his remarks toward Adrian. He taunted him about the party.

Adrian nodded his head calmly. It's a good thing," he added, shifting his focus to me before muttering under his breath. "She should not let anyone touch

Adrian sat on the opposite couch, and we took the seat that we had occupied earlier in the conversation.

"The pack meeting is tomorrow. You came here one day earlier. I didn't know Alpha Adrian had so much free time to visit other packs."

I gulped by the two men's deadly warnings in disguise of polite words.

Both Alphas started to talk about the scheme while I was feeling confused about how to react to anything.

It was a very serious situation for me. I did not know what to do at that moment.

All these years, talking about Adrian has been taboo for us.

But today, this man came into our home, sat down in front of us, and discussed the possibility of forming an alliance with us.

I wish that my mother and father were here. They might have handled the situation more skillfully than I did.

'Who knows what may offend my brother and attack this man? It will only break the law of years.' I thought.

I started to cough as my mind was messed up while I was trying to apprehend the situation.

“Do you want to drink water?” Eric asked with a soft tone.

After turning to look at him, I shook my head in response. “No. I’m okay.”

He leaned close to me a little and said, “If you don’t want to be here, you can go inside.”

“No, I can’t trust that man with my brother. By the way, why didn’t you tell me about his arrival?” I asked Eric.

He gave me a dumbstruck look. I frowned at him. “What?”

“Didn’t I inform you about it last night?”

“When?”

“The moment you lay on your bed.”

I was stunned. I did not know that he was a little loud while talking.

“You laid me on my bed? Hold on! Were you the one who carried me all the way to my room?”

“Of course. Who else would do that for you?” Eric said, shrugging his shoulders.

“Thanks. You did a good job.” I chuckled awkwardly in embarrassment.

He shook his head. “There’s no way I can take your apology. You have to drink with me, then we will talk about it.”

It looked like he held grudges. I recalled his words last night. He asked me why I never drank with him like I did with Max.

Eric and I shared a good bond, and he was my close friend. So I gave it a thought and said,

“If my brother permits me, I can drink with you tomorrow. Happy?”

He was about to nod, but his eyes fell on others. I turned my head. and realized everyone was staring at us.

Weren’t we whispering? Did we talk so loudly that everyone was able to hear us?

I saw that Adrian's face was not calm anymore. His eyes darkened. I looked away from him and shifted my gaze to Jason.

"You two can talk about your lovey-dovey things privately. We have a guest here. How can my beta and sister, who is also my company's CEO, be so unprofessional?"

Though his words sounded angry, there was a smile hidden in his eyes.

But when did we start talking about things that are lovey-dovey?

Did he say that because Adrian was there?

"So, where were we, Alpha Adrian?" Jason asked after clearing his throat.

"I heard about your hospitality," Adrian replied, looking around the pack house, then asking,

"What about giving me an opportunity to experience it by allowing me to stay here for a day?"

I almost hit my forehead. How could my brother possibly refuse him at this point? Did I have to tolerate this man for the whole day?

But then I heard Jason's sharp words.

"I can't allow you to stay here. Only selective Alphas can get the chance to stay in the pack house of the Blue Blood Pack, and you are not one of them."

Adrian’s behavior left me bewildered and confused. For a moment, I fixed my gaze on him in order to read his eyes.

It was impossible for me to read them in any way. Even though they were cold, he maintained a steady tone. How could he possibly conceal his anger?

It was not like I wanted him to argue with my brother. But what did he want? Why did he even need our alliance? Weren’t we rival packs?

His eyes caught my gaze, and he replied to my brother without looking at me.

“I have my own reasons to come here.”

I did not break eye contact as I showed the hostility in my heart for him through my eyes.

“What do you mean?” my brother inquired with a cold tone as he noticed him looking at me.

“Nothing. I heard you are planning a marriage for your sister,” he asked, turning his eyes on Jason.

Eric looked at Adrian, who raised his brow with a smirk on his lips.

“Eric was right. But I don't think you need to know about it since it has nothing to do with you,” Jason responded, which caused me to tilt my head to look

“So you mean you decided to marry her off without her consent?” Adrian asked, sounding furious.

“Wait for me outside.”

The other men looked stunned by his cold voice. Beta Patric glanced at me and then nodded his head toward Adrian. “Okay, Alpha.”

I assumed that the way Adrian spoke to him in front of an outsider like me had hurt him.

With Beta Patric, the other three officials walked out of the pack house.

“Why did you talk to him like that? He is your beta, not your slave,” I scolded Adrian.

I took a step back away from him as he suddenly moved closer to

1. me.

“Cancel the marriage.”

“What?”

“I said, cancel it and reject that man,” he muttered while glaring at me as if he would eat me alive.

I was about to say no to him, but before I could reply, I heard a soft voice coming from behind.

“Uncle! You are here!”

I turned around and saw Aria standing a little distance away. With her, Noah was there too.

Noah looked at Adrian with a pair of angry eyes and pointed his tiny finger in the direction of Adrian.

“Mommy, why is he here?”

Adrian's POV

As I held my gaze fixed on the young child, I noticed that his eyes were filled with animosity toward me.

It was supposed to be me who looked at him like that. He was someone else's blood. A fruit of a one-night stand. What makes this little boy have so much strength to give me this look?

I shifted my gaze to Natalia. Did she tell her son something about me? Did she brainwash the child's mind?

However, my assumption turned wrong when she rushed to her son and scolded him.

"Noah, don't talk like that. He is our guest."

"Mommy, I don't like this man."

I glared at Noah. I scoffed when I saw his mother hiding him behind her. But he peeked his head to look at me.

"Uncle."

I felt a swarm of little fingers wrapping themselves around my finger. I lowered my head and saw Aria.

I was hesitant to look at her. I was completely mistaken when I believed that she was my blood.

I recalled how I spent that day with this child while thinking that she was my own daughter.

"Aria, go back to your room with Noah," Natalia said to her.

I looked away from Aria. I wanted to hold the child in my arms again, but the report reflected my mind, and I snatched my finger away from her.

She was shocked by my actions. She looked at me with teary eyes.

"Uncle, what happened to you? Are you mad at me?"

I tightened my fists when I saw tears in her eyes.

'Fuck! I made her cry!' I cursed in my head and bent down to hold her up.

"What are you doing?" Natalia asked me.

"Can't you see?" I said to her with a cold look.

I came here for an alliance, but I did not expect to learn that she was also eager to marry Beta Eric. If I had known that, I would have never come here.

I focused on Aria, who lowered her head, avoiding my eyes.

From behind his mother's back, Noah blurted out, "Aria, come here. Stay away from him."

I glared at him, but he did not seem to care. Who gave him the audacity to look into my eyes without any dread? Even his mother was frightened of me a

"I'm sorry. Are you okay?" I asked Aria.

Natalia appeared to be taken aback by my soft tone. Why did I always see fear in her eyes? What was she afraid of?

"Uncle, you scolded me," Aria uttered.

"No way. Aria, get down," Natalia said, walking to me. Noah came along with her.

She wanted to take Aria away from me, but I moved a little to the side to prevent her from doing so.

"Mommy, I want to eat ice cream," Aria said with a smile.

"I will buy ice cream for you. Get down. Didn't I warn you not to touch any stranger?"

It boiled my blood. Why was she talking like I had some bad intentions toward her daughter? She was just a child, and I somehow adored her.

"No, Mommy."

“ARIA.”

Natalia shouted at Aria, which caused her to flinch. It jerked her body in fear. She then began to cry. It showed that she was not used to it.

“How can you shout at her like that?” I asked Natalia with a furious look.

Natalia grabbed Aria’s arms and pulled her away from me.

“Keep your distance from my children,” Natalia warned me, and then she left the living room.

I remained expressionless as I looked back at her until she left the room.

I felt very humiliated when her brother said he would not let me stay in his pack house. But the way she snatched her daughter away from me made me feel more insulted.

Did I look like a child thief to her?

“Stay away from my mommy.”

I heard the angry voice of a child. Upon looking down, I noticed that Noah was still there.

I rolled my eyes at him. “What’s your problem, huh? Why do you behave like this?”

“Because you deserve it. You are a bad man.”

I grimaced at him. He was just like his mother. In fact, their words were the same.

“And this bad man can do many bad things too. Have you forgotten about it?”

His eyes widened after hearing me.

The look of fear on his face made me chuckle. He might be scared of me now.

“Don’t hurt my mommy.”

I was completely taken aback. Rather than being afraid of himself, he was afraid of his mother being hurt.

Something occurred to me, and I replied by saying,

“Your mommy is going to marry Eric. Do you know that?”

“Really?” he asked with a bright smile.

I narrowed my eyes. Why was he so happy? I wanted to provoke him to break the relationship, but he looked pleased with it. I did not like this at all.

Just thinking about that woman with someone else was driving my mind insane.

“He is not a good man.

“You are lying. Uncle Eric is a good person. I want him to be my dad.”

“How dare you call just anyone your dad?” I scolded him, as I did not like it when he referred to Eric as his dad.

Even though he was not looking at me, he rolled his eyes. I gave him a frown. “Did you just roll your eyes?”

As he turned to face me, he gave me a slight nod. “Yes, I did.”

I scoffed at him. I did not mind his behavior. After all, he was my best friend.

That woman was right. It was inappropriate for me to speak to him in front of other people in a very cold manner.

“Patric, search for the wolf. I want to know who he is, his pack’s name, and everything.”

“See? This is why I scolded you at that time. You deserved it.” I told him.

He sneered at me. “I never imagined that Alpha Adrian would one day be so deeply in love that he would be willing to accept the children of another man in order to get back his ex–wife.”

There was nothing I could say. Whatever he said was right.

I desired to have Natalia by my side again. In fact, I came here just for her.

With a smirk on my face, I looked in Natalia's direction once again and replied to Patric, "I want them to believe it too."

"But what about Lynda?" he asked.

I averted my gaze away from Natalia. I was also worried about Lynda. I thought about it for a long time in these few weeks and came to a conclusion.

She was a kind and gentle woman who wished to win my love. I was unable to give her the happiness that she deserved because I did not love her, and

I heard a voice passing behind me, heading in the direction of the stairs.

"Alpha Leo, how are you?" Natalia asked.

She did not talk to me so politely. Why was she so cold with me and soft with everyone else?

"Because you treated her badly when she was with you," my wolf said inside me.

I ignored his remarks and stared at the woman, who exchanged glances with everyone with nods.

Everyone was looking at her with admiring eyes. I was stunned when I saw that Patric also went to shake his hand with her.

When I looked to my right and left, I saw everyone had already left toward the meeting hall. I was the only one who was staring at the woman.

“We don’t mean any mess. Adrian wants the alliance because he wishes to help,” Patric said to her,

Natalia’s brow raised as she asked Patric, “Help? We don’t need any help.”

I scoffed when I saw how arrogant she had become. Why did she never show me this side when she was my wife?

She used to be a weak woman who cried in every situation.

Such a crybaby she was!

I believed her sudden arrogance came to her because of her royal family.

When someone gets something big overnight, they become overconfident like that.

“Natalia, can I ask a favor?” Patric asked her.

I scowled at him. What favor did he want from her? He was my beta. He did not need anything.

“Yes?” Natalia asked, glancing behind him at me.

I averted my gaze, put my hands into my pockets, and started to walk toward the meeting hall.

“Tell your brother to put your past aside and then think about the alliance,” Patric muttered to her.

It halted my steps, and I turned my head toward them to see what Natalia would reply.

She shook her head and responded calmly.

Patric followed me in silence. I did not say anything to him. He should not have gone to her to talk.

As I stepped inside the meeting hall, I noticed everyone had turned silent.

I looked around the hall. There was a large wooden table arranged in the middle of the hall. There were a few couches here and there. I could see count “How could I forget? It’s a pack of wizards,” I murmured under my breath.

The Blue Blood Pack was a huge pack that included quite a few wizards along with werewolves. They had a history with them. It was for this reason that frequently seek assistance from wizards in order to overcome the difficulties they were facing.

Just thinking about this habit made me frown. Didn’t that demonstrate how powerless they were in the face of their challenging circumstances?

Though they believed in unity and helped each other, I had never gone to any witch or wizard to ask for assistance at any time, not even when my father threatening illness.

“Alpha Adrian.” I heard Alpha Jason’s voice, which made me turn my head away from the books.

I found him sitting on the head chair of the table. His beta Eric was sitting in a seat close to him.

I walked to the table, ignoring him. I noticed all of my officials. had already taken their seats. They reached there before me and Patric.

I sat down beside them and returned my attention to Alpha Jason.

“I thought Alpha Adrian was punctual, and that was the reason he came to my pack one day earlier, but how come you came late to the meeting?”

I could see others were worried about me getting angry. But I was not here for any argument, so I replied politely, “Apologies for that, Alpha Jason. Something interesting caught my attention a while ago, so I was busy looking at it.”

Everyone was shocked. They understood what I was talking about.

Alpha Jason chuckled and replied, "Of course. I have many interesting things in my pack. That is why Alpha Adrian left all of his work and came here for an alliance."

I gave him a nod, showing that I was not in a mood for conflict.

As the meeting started, one by one, everyone presented their proposals. There were seven Alphas present in the hall, and they approached Alpha Jason about this deal

Alphas looked horrified when they heard Patric talking about the help in war.

"Will Alpha Adrian himself come to save this pack?" an Alpha spoke out.

"If it needs me, I will come," I said as I turned to that Alpha.

There was clear evidence in all the Alpha's eyes that they were lost. The fact that even if I did not propose this, I was still the one who should get the deal facilities as mine? I developed my pack enough to help any other pack.

Everyone turned their heads to Alpha Jason, who was looking at

Natalia's POV

When Beta Patric talked to me about the alliance, I was stunned. What were the possibilities for them to approach our pack? Why were they so eager about it?

In my opinion, Adrian should have left yesterday when my brother treated Adrian with disdain and did not permit him to remain in the pack house.

I thought he would have left, but why was he still here? What was his motive?

That was why I waited for a while before heading to the meeting hall after they had already gone there.

The guards could not stop me from going to that area since I was their head Alpha's sister.

However, I did not enter the hall but rather simply stood outside.

I overheard the conversations.

When I listened to Patric's explanations, I could not deny to myself that I was impressed. I had never heard of this type of proposal before.

On the other hand, when an alpha inquired about the war, Adrian responded by saying that he would personally come to offer

I was shocked. Was he even real?

My eyes landed on Adrian, who appeared to be confused.

“How can you even think my pack will need you? I am enough to protect my pack. Will a man such as yourself, who was defeated by my sister and lost projects to her, support me in a war? You must be kidding.”

My eyes widened. My brother should not have said that in front of others.

It was clearly disrespectful!

“What are you doing, brother?” I mumbled to myself while looking at him.

All the officials of Adrian got to their feet. Patric growled at Jason, which made everyone astonished.

Eric could not take it and growled at him back. “How dare you growl at my Alpha?” Eric asked while glaring at Patric.

“Tell your Alpha to control his tongue. Has he forgotten who he is talking with?” Patric asked angrily.

with my brother.

However, he was calm. He raised his hand to stop the argument between the two betas.

“Sit down, everyone. Let Alpha Jason talk,” Adrian said, looking at Jason.

Though his officials did not want to sit there for a single minute, they had to sit down since it was their Alpha’s order, and they were bound to follow it.

“It’s true that Alpha Jason is powerful. Maybe he doesn’t need my help. It’s okay. We should not argue about it. It might have hurt his ego.”

Adrian’s voice was approachable. He seemed to be controlling himself.

“What do you want to hear from me, Alpha Adrian?” Jason asked, getting to his feet.

Standing tall, he looked careless about Adrian's reputation. He looked around the table, and his eyes drew to Alpha Leo.

"This alliance goes to the Moon Stone Pack. Congratulations, Alpha Leo." Jason announced.

His announcement shook everyone. This time, Adrian could not stop himself as he stood up and said,

"I object."

"It's not a court that you can object to. It's my pack meeting, and I am the one who will decide who deserves the deal," Jason retorted.

"You can't give the deal to just anyone without giving a reason.

"I don't like your deal."

"Why do you need this alliance?"

"I just want it. I desire this alliance, and you can change the clauses and add a few new ones if you want."

I did not know what I wanted, but I did not want any fights here.

I continued to try, but when I heard Adrian’s angry voice, I became completely frozen.

“Ex-wife,” I heard Eric remind him.

I turned to the hall once again and glanced at them. Adrian glared at Eric, who rolled his eyes in reaction.

Adrian turned his head in Jason’s direction and gave him a stern warning, saying,

“Fuck your alliance. You will get back what you did today.”
