

Talented 1421

Chapter 1421

He was really afraid that even if he rushed back, he still wouldn't be able to find Kiki, leaving her to suffer and torment at Flynn's hands, just like in her previous life.

Luckily, for once, he came back just in time and he was able to hug her.

"Kiki, my Kiki"

Christ leaned down his face, and his lips were deeply imprinted on Kiki's lips, tossing and turning repeatedly, unable to get enough kisses.

It was as if, only by kissing her so hard, could he feel her warmth and he could feel the violent beating of his heart.

Kiki, "....." how could this shameless man kiss her!

He didn't even look around, there were so many people standing around!

Originally, behind Christ, only Dave and a bodyguard stood. Now that both Penny and Dylan were taken care of, and Kiki was safe, the bodyguards, who were hidden in the shadows, all came out.

Kiki has always been thin-skinned, so when she was kissed by him in public like this, her face was so flushing.

She didn't want to be infected by a shameless contraption that was also shameless, but she missed him like crazy, and she was madly afraid that she would lose him.

Hearing Penny and the others say that he was dead, her heart, for one, would barely beat.

Holding her, he was joyful, and likewise, nestling in his arms, she was happy.

Looking at the thick gauze wrapped around his head, Kiki's heart was warm and soft. Forget it, life is short, how many times can you be shameless! Indulge him, be shameless together with him!

With this in mind, Kiki no longer resisted, she stood on tiptoe and took the initiative to wrap her arms around Christ's neck.

Although Penny and Dylan had already fallen off the cliff, it was still necessary to ascertain whether they were dead or alive before Christ could rest assured.

The men of Christ found Dylan's body at the bottom of the cliff, but Penny, however, was nowhere to be found.

Below this cliff, there is a stream, and it is very likely that Penny fell down into this stream.

Christ's men, who had tracked Penny's whereabouts for a long time, heard of something on the seventh day in a village downstream of this stream.

Yesterday, a body that was about to soak away washed up on the shore, and the village was terrified at the sight of such a gruesome corpse.

They were about to call the police when someone came over to identify the body, led by the man who claimed to be the body's older brother.

Dave truthfully reported everything he had investigated to Christ. The village was relatively closed, and those left behind in the village were mostly old people, hardly anyone could use a smartphone, and there were no photos taken of the person who identified the body, but he knew that the person should be Flynn.

Falling from such a high cliff, Penny, indeed, was in a foul mood.

Penny and Dylan are no longer there, but Flynn's presence is like a time bomb, he could, at any moment, deal them a fatal blow and cause them irreparable pain.

Christ has destroyed many of Flynn's forces, However, Flynn is really too cunning. In his last life, he was already cunning enough, and in his rebirth, he is even more cunning, throwing out smoke bombs, but they are unable to find out his exact whereabouts.

He also sent someone to check the villa where Flynn had imprisoned Kiki, but there, long ago, the building was empty and he could not find a single clue.

However, he had sent extra men to guard Kiki, and he would stay by her side whenever he had time, and Flynn was not so easily able to lay his hands on Kiki again.

Even if Flynn wanted to take crazy revenge, in this life, he would definitely not let him hurt Kiki with impunity again.

Kiki's body was covered in superficial wounds, and she had applied the ointment specially configured for her by Freya, and the wounds on her body recovered quickly.

On the contrary, Christ, who was badly injured in the car accident this time, and was running up and down the road for her, fell ill after returning from the edge of the cliff.

Fortunately, he had a relatively good health base, and with Freya's wonderful hands, after nearly half a month of recuperation at the villa, he was in no serious condition.

During this period of time, Kiki had been worrying about Christ's health, fearing that he would be left with any after-effects from the car accident this time, and had actually forgotten about a very serious matter.

She was pregnant with twins and hadn't told him about it yet.

Today, it is Christ's 30th birthday, and Kiki intends to help him celebrate it, and the best surprise she can give him is the twins in her belly.

Early this morning, Kiki had told Christ that tonight, she would give him a super surprise.

He had been having visions of what a superb surprise Kiki would give him.

Because he was in a particularly good mood, he kept his lips in an upward curve all day, charming the young girls in the company.

It's just that everyone knows that he is already married and still loves Kiki to death, so everyone just admires his gorgeous face and doesn't really do anything out of the ordinary.

Dave was speechless when he saw Christ's appearance. His boss used to keep a straight face all day long, as if others owed him hundreds of millions of dollars, but after he got together with Kiki, he looked like he was in love every day, as if he was afraid that others would not know that he had found a wife.

After reporting on the few matters at hand, Dave was just about to leave his office, but Christ called out to him.

"Boss, what else do you want?"

Christ didn't speak immediately, his fingertips, with one click or another, tapped on the desk, and his look made Dave inexplicably nervous.

He was just about to try and ask if he had done something wrong to upset him, but he saw a smile that could almost be called amiable on his own boss' face.

"Dave, have you ever received a gift?"

"A gift?"

Dave's heart was excited and his back was instantly straightened, why would his boss suddenly ask him this question? Could it be that his boss wanted to give him a gift?

Dave was inexplicably moved in his heart, and he was about to open his mouth to thank him for his kindness, but he heard his boss' voice again with a distinct smile, "Has your wife ever given you a gift?"

Dave's excited heart was instantly lost.

It turned out that he had been delusional, his boss wasn't even trying to give him a present, and yes, for a straight man like the boss, how could he possibly give him a present!

As the most relied upon senior special assistant of Christ, Dave's annual salary is ten million, in fact, it is not that important whether the boss gives him a gift or not, but, poking a knife into his heart, his boss is really going too far.

He's single, he doesn't have a wife!

Dave spoke to Christ, "Boss, I'm not married yet."

"Yes, I almost forgot about that." After a pause, Christ then spoke, "Has your girlfriend ever given you a gift?"

Chapter 1422

Dave continued to spoke, "Boss, I've never been in love"

Dave looked pitifully at Christ, a single man with a bitter heart, a single man who especially wanted to be warmed and a hug.

His boss had been in such a good and warm mood lately, he thought that, seeing his pitiful look, his boss might be kind enough to warm him up properly, but, the smile on the boss' face became even more wanton.

"Well, forget it if you don't. Kiki said I'd get a big surprise tonight and I'd get a present."

Dave's heart, which hadn't been calmed down, was stabbed hard again. Showing love in front of a single man is so inhumane!

No wonder he is smiling like he's been eating honey today, it's because his wife has promised him something sweet!

Shame on you, you may have used some shameless means to ask for a gift from your wife!

But he, a single man, is still so envious!

"Boss, congratulations then." Dave was bitter in his heart, but he still gritted his teeth and spoke to Christ.

"Well, you can go down now."

After showing happiness to Dave, Christ felt that there was no more use for his senior special assistant, and he waved his hand at him, signalling that he could get lost.

Poor Dave, a single man, had to mellowly get out of the president's office.

Just showing his happiness with Dave, Christ felt it wasn't enough, he grabbed the phone on his desk and dialed Kieran's number.

"Kieran, it's my birthday."

Kieran understood, Christ had come to him to ask for a gift.

He was just about to ask Bradley to send the birthday present he had already prepared for him long ago to Christ's villa, but he heard his voice again with obvious bragging, "Kiki said that tonight, he will give me a big surprise, Kieran, what kind of present do you think I will receive? I heard you haven't received a present in ages!"

Kieran was so angry that he hung up the phone.

Indeed, the last time a girl always pestered him, he was really not interested in that girl, but still pissed off Freya, and she ignored him on his birthday.

No, he had to go and ask for gifts too.

After showing off, it was not yet time to leave work, so Christ finished the work at hand early and headed for his villa.

Thinking of the big surprise Kiki has in store for him, he can't wait a bit.

The aroma of the meal, just as he entered the living room, was overwhelming.

Kiki had an apron tied around her body and she was walking out of the kitchen with a plate of dishes, obviously, this table of good food was cooked by her personally.

Accustomed to him cooking for Kiki, he couldn't help but feel distressed to see her cooking.

He quickly stepped forward and took the plate of food she was carrying and put it on the table, then gently clutched her hand, "Kiki, didn't I say that I would cook from now on?"

"It's your birthday and I want to make you some of your favourite meals."

Thinking of something, Kiki hurriedly went back to the kitchen. Christ thought that she had cooked something else, but what she brought out was a delicate cake.

"I also made a cake, my first time making one and I don't know if it's any good."

When it comes to the cake she made, Kiki couldn't help but be embarrassed, she had gone to the cake shop for half a day to learn, but her hand was injured again. Even though Freya had given her acupuncture every day, she was still inflexible, she had made the cake several times, but always failed to make it to her satisfaction.

The flowers on the top, barely okay to look at, are crooked and unrefined when she looks closely.

Even though the flower was crooked, he still felt that flowers should grow like this, and that a crooked flower was the most beautiful flower in the world.

Christ carefully took the cake from Kiki's hand, this was a cake she had made for him with her own hands!

He couldn't wait to frame this cake and tell the whole world that his woman had made it for him with her own hands!

It really is a godsend!

The more Christ thought about it, the more joyful it became in his heart. He gently placed the cake on the table, no need to taste it, the cake his woman made for him, even if it was made out of dung, it was the most delicious cake in the world!

Desperate to show off his happiness to his friends, Christ took out his mobile phone, took a serious picture and just posted it to his friends.

"My wife made the birthday cake for me with her own hands."

Kiki also noticed him taking pictures to send to his friends, her face couldn't help but blush, thinking this cake is so ugly, it's really embarrassing!

Forget it, it's his birthday, he's happy, as long as he's happy, she would allow him to do what he wants to do!

Christ's WeChat are only a few of his closest friends, and his parents.

Soon, he received comments from almost all his friends.

Frank: Well, that's good.

Evie: Did my precious daughter-in-law make this? My Kiki is fantastic! This is not a cake! This is simply art!

Kieran: Cake is nothing, Freya makes it for me every day.

Fabian: I'm getting fat and creamy eating Cindy's cakes every day.

Stephen: I want to have a bite, Christ, can you reward me the single man with a bite?

Diego: I want it too.

Quinn: How ugly!

Kiki really didn't mean to look at Christ's phone, but as soon as she turned her face, she just happened to see Quinn's comment.

It's ugly

Kiki silently glanced at the cake on the dining table that was treated as a treasure by Christ, and to be honest, she also genuinely felt ugly.

So, she also prepared other birthday gifts for Christ.

"Christ, happy birthday to you!" Kiki took out an exquisitely wrapped cardboard box from behind her like a trick, "A birthday present."

"A birthday present?!"

Christ's eyes were full of unconcealed surprise, "Kiki, besides the cake, you have a gift for me?"

"Yeah."

Christ reverently took the cardboard box from Kiki's hand and carefully typed it in, seeing the men's underwear inside, the corners of his lips raised.

Such an intimate gift, he just loves it!

Seeing Christ smiling so happily, the corners of Kiki's lips could not help but raise too.

The gift she prepared for Christ was suggested by Freya, who said she had given such a gift to Kieran before and he liked it very much.

After talking to Freya, Kiki also thought that it would be a good gift to give to Christ. After she bought it, she even chose a beautiful wrapping paper and carefully wrapped it for him.

She hoped he would like the gift she had given him.

Chapter 1423

It was just that, when she thought of how Christ had just taken a picture of the cake and sent it to her friends, Kiki couldn't help but feel anxious. He wouldn't want to take a picture of this gift and send it to his friends too, right?

Then her face would really be unnecessary.

“Christ, you can’t post this to your friends!” Fearing that he would really post it again, Kiki hastily spoke with a blushing face.

Christ knew what she was worried about and he pulled her into his arms, “Kiki, how can I let anyone see such an intimate gift from you! I can only be happy secretly!”

Hearing that he wouldn’t post his friends, Kiki couldn’t help but breathe a sigh of relief.

She was about to break out of his arms, but he held her tighter, his lips pressed to her ear, teasingly, “Kiki, what made you think of giving me such a gift?”

His voice was lower, “Kiki, is it because I haven’t touched you lately and you miss me so much?”

What kind of words are being spoken!

Whatever it is, it only goes to the impure side!

And, who gave him the nerve to say he hadn’t touched her recently?

It’s true that she was injured a while ago, and he was still injured, so they didn’t make it to the last step, but he didn’t miss out on any of the advantages he should have taken!

“Kiki, since you miss me so much, tonight, naturally, I can’t let you down!”

This is getting more and more shameless!

Suddenly, Kiki’s eyes wryly moved, this shameless man only bullied her, tonight, she must get back at him!

She wants him to be irritated for he could not touch her!

Christ was in a hurry to do shameless things to Kiki, and he carried her back to her room.

After taking a shower, Christ was already impatient, he took Kiki into his arms, “Kiki, we can’t waste the good time.”

And with that, his lips, with eagerness and heavy love, fell.

Kiki waited to deliberately tease him, so she did not stop him, and, while she was mostly passive on a regular basis, she was, this evening, taking a rare initiative.

Even though Kiki was lying motionless on the bed, she still seduced Christ into a frenzy, and when she took the initiative, Christ felt like he was going crazy.

He was about to get on top of her and go crazy all night, but Kiki wrapped her arms around his neck and gently stopped him, “Christ, I have something I want to say to you.”

At this time, Christ was not willing to stop!

Besides, he felt that even talking didn’t stop him from doing impure things!

“Kiki, you can go ahead.”

Seeing this look on Christ's face, Kiki couldn't help but feel amused as she hugged his neck tighter and her lips gently pressed to his ear.

"Christ, I'm pregnant, with twins."

"Kiki, what did you say?"

Christ was stunned, and he looked at Kiki incredulously, unable to react for a long time.

It was as if a century had passed before Christ regained his voice, and because he was so excited, there was a distinct tremor in his voice, "Kiki, did I just hallucinate? Why did I just hear you say that you were pregnant with twins?"

Seeing this look on Christ's face, Kiki could not help but give a smile.

After seeing his smart, determined look, it was a bit cute to see him looking dumb.

"Christ, you heard me right, I'm pregnant with twins."

After a pause, Kiki then spoke, "I knew about it half a month ago, it was all this time, I kept forgetting to tell you."

Kiki was really pregnant! And twins!

So, he really wasn't hallucinating!

Christ could not help but laugh, he was actually going to be a father!

"Kiki, I'm going to be a father! I'm going to be a father!"

He was afraid that he would hurt the babies in her belly if he exerted too much force, so he involuntarily reduced the force.

Meeting the unconcealed laughter in Christ's eyes, Kiki couldn't help but lightly scold, "Silly!"

The smile on Christ's face grew wider and wider. He also felt that it was really quite silly to grin like that, but he just couldn't suppress the joy in his heart.

There is a strong, lost and found feeling.

Once, he and Kiki lost two children, but he did not expect that this time, Kiki would conceive two children for him at once, and he would have to work harder to give the three of them a happier life and a better life.

He was not able to be completely shameless with Kiki, and it was indeed very hard for him to hold it in. However, when he thought of the two children in Kiki's belly, he felt that even if he had to hold it in bit harder, it was worth it.

He was also secretly glad that he had just put the brakes on, otherwise, he would have hurt her. She was so weak that she would surely have hurt their children.

Christ gently stroked Kiki's belly, and when he thought of two kids following him and Kiki in the future, sweetly calling him and Kiki mummy and daddy, he couldn't suppress the joy in his heart.

“Kiki, we’re having kids and I’m so happy.”

She knew that he was looking forward to the kids in her belly because he truly loved her.

But as a pregnant woman, Kiki is, right now, just trying to be unreasonable.

She pouted slightly and she stared at Christ rather aggressively, “Christ, so, what you said before was all a lie. You said you didn’t care if you had children, you only wanted me, humph, now it seems that you only want me to give you children, you just treat me as a tool to give birth to children!”

Christ was stunned, after he reacted, he hugged Kiki and gently coaxed, “Kiki, you misunderstood me, how could I possibly treat you as just a tool to have children!”

“Kiki, I am extra fond of the children you have for me because I truly love you, Kiki, everything I care about is because of you.”

Kiki, “.....” Well, this shameless man is too good at sweet talk, she can’t even make a scene.

Her heart was warm, and Kiki’s face was flushing and warm, attractive.

The knot in Christ’s throat rolled violently, he was trying to be shameless again.

Chapter 1424

But, thinking of the two children inside Kiki’s belly, he could only force down all his shameless thoughts, lest he bring down the innocent kids.

“Kiki, what do you think is a good name for our future children?”

Kiki was speechless at Christ’s excitement, she didn’t even know the sex of the babies in her belly yet, how could she name it?

Christ was really too excited now, he didn’t feel Kiki’s dislike for him at all, he spoke to himself, “If it’s a girl, call her Sophia.”

“Sophia Well, it’s quite catchy.”

The more he read the name, the better it sounded, “Kiki, our daughter, in the future, will be called Sophia Birkin.”

Kiki, “.....” she didn’t want to hurt Christ’s heart, but why, she felt that the name Sophia Birkin was so unpleasant?

The more Christ thought about it, the more excited he was, “If you have a baby boy in your belly, call him just call him Brian Well, that name is really nice too.”

Kiki really felt that the name Brian was, oddly, unpleasant.

However, seeing that he was just excited, she didn’t say this out loud.

“Kiki, we’d better have a daughter and a son, the daughter will be called Sophia and the son will be called Brian, the daughter will look like you and the son will look like me, we’ll be a family of four and never be separated.”

Kiki didn't say anything, she couldn't help but wonder what she would look like when she had two kids.

Would they be as cute as Jaden and Jayla?

The more she thought about it, the warmer and softer her heart became, and when she looked at Christ in front of her, she felt that he was not so silly anymore.

Gently nestling in his arms, she pressed her head close to his heart, "Yes, Christ, from now on, we will never be apart again."

Now that Kiki was pregnant, he did not dare to go too far with her, but he could still take advantage of her.

Christ was in the middle of taking advantage of Kiki, but he suddenly thought of something very serious.

In her previous life, Kiki and Quinn were also pregnant with twins after they got together.

Once reborn, many things, invariably, have changed, but certain trajectories, however, remain unchanged.

the two children she carried in her last life, the girl of which, her whereabouts were unknown, were they destined, in this life, to lose their daughter after all?

Christ's heart fluttered violently, and the thought that their daughter, a newborn, tiny bundle, would be unaccounted for, her fate uncertain, gripped his heart to the point where he could barely breathe.

He pressed hard on his heart, and the sensation of intense pain continued unabated.

Seeing the difference in his appearance, Kiki could not help but worry, "Christ, what's wrong with you? Are you not feeling well?"

Christ didn't want Kiki to worry, he gently pressed his face against hers, "Kiki, I'm fine, I'm just too excited and my heart is beating a bit hard."

Kiki gave Christ a helpless look, "You're acting like you haven't seen a child in several lifetimes!"

Christ did not speak, but only hugged the beloved girl in his arms tightly.

It was not so much that he had not even seen a child in several lifetimes, but in his last life, he was not able to keep his child.

This time, he had a good chance to be a father again, so of course he had to protect his wife and children.

In his last life, Kiki would fall into Flynn's hands when she was in labour, in fact, it was really Quinn's negligence, in this life, he would guard her every step of the way, he would never give Flynn any chance to hurt her again!

Flynn has had more and more of his forces destroyed in his hands, and if he speeds things up, he still might be able to out Kiki before she produces!

In his previous life, Kiki had experienced too much pain and suffering, and since God had given him the chance to start over, he would do his best to protect her.

In this life, even if he does not want his life, he still wants to protect their children, no longer let her taste the pain of separation from her children.

Previously, Christ had treated Kiki as if she were a jewel in his eyes, and after he found out she was pregnant, he even treated her well.

He made sure to do everything about her himself.

Kiki's previous drama had already been finished. Christ was quite supportive of her work, but for the sake of safety, he decided not to let her go out to shoot the drama first.

Kiki is also planning to stop filming for the time being.

Her body, compared to the norm, is much weaker and while she certainly enjoys filming, she is more worried about accidentally hurting the kids in her belly.

She knew in her heart that Flynn was now staring at her like a viper in some unknown corner, and she could not risk the kids in her belly.

After a selection process, Christ has selected nearly twenty first-class bodyguards for Kiki.

No matter where she went, there was a wave of bodyguards following her. Kiki really felt quite speechless, but she knew psychologically that Flynn was too dangerous and too scary, and this was not a fuss by Christ, even though she sometimes felt a bit awkward, she did not refute his good intentions.

Except for some occasions when he had to be present, Christ was almost always by Kiki's side. He spent most of his time in his office at his villa, and when he had free time, he would walk Kiki around and chat about family matters.

When two people have been together for a long time, in fact, there is no longer much novelty, but when two people who love each other deeply are together, even the simplest gossip, or even just talking about the weather today, they will feel warm from the bottom of their hearts.

Stephen was in the group that they had created every day, mocking Christ for being Kiki's butt-kisser, clinging to her like a cowhide, as if he had never seen a woman in his life.

He did not feel ashamed to be stuck to Kiki all day long, but he felt that it was a different kind of sweetness.

What does it feel like to love someone deeply?

Look at her and he feels like you have the world at his fingertips.

How can he be ashamed when he can have the world to himself every day!

Stephen was in various water groups every day, and after Kieran and Freya got together, he was in the group, and no longer shy of words.

Fabian and Diego in the group are even more various nonsense, only Quinn, who used to be quite active, becomes more and more silent in the group.

It was not until that day that Stephen laughed at Christ, saying that he was a wife-spoiler and that he would only listen to his woman, and Quinn inexplicably said in the group, only he knew his feeling.

Chapter 1425

Stephen stroked his head in confusion, he was very confused as to what Quinn meant by sending this sentence.

The more he looked at it, the more he felt that Quinn's words were profound, as if he had broken through the world and wanted to disappear into the void.

Christ also noticed this message sent by Quinn, but he understood what he meant by this.

Quinn, he was envious of Christ.

He had no more women by his side, and no matter who gave him a date, he had no intention of falling in love or getting married.

He knew that Quinn could not forget Kiki, and that his love for her was unbeknownst to him.

If it wasn't for him, Quinn might have been with Kiki, just like in his previous life, but he loved Kiki too much, and it was so hard to hold her hand that he couldn't let go of it easily.

In his last life, he made Quinn and Kiki whole, in this life, Quinn might really be single.

There was only one Kiki in the world, and she could only belong to one person for the rest of her life.

Christ was afraid that in his next life, he would be destined to be alone again, and would never be able to embrace Kiki again, so in this life, he treated her extraordinarily well, and hated that he could not give her his heart.

Kiki didn't have much of a reaction to the pregnancy or anything, just a few days of vomiting when she was about two-months pregnant.

Later, it was thoughts of food.

When Christ saw that Kiki had a good appetite, he was naturally very happy in his heart.

No matter how tricky she wanted to eat, he would find a way to get it for her.

There was a time when Kiki was particularly fond of eating wild vegetables, shepherd's purse, bitter greens, mountain greens

At that time, it was winter and there were no fresh wild bitter vegetables left in Arkpool City, but Kiki wanted to eat bitter vegetables with sweet sauce, so Christ was trying to find a way to dig up some fresh bitter vegetables for her, but the doorbell suddenly rang.

Quinn.

It was snowing today, the wind was howling from the north, and he wore a heavy down jacket, but when he walked out into the courtyard, he was still freezing.

In his hand, he carried a large transparent plastic bag.

Inside, it was all fresh, bitter vegetables, and Christ wonder where he got them from on a day like this.

“Christ, I dug up a lot of bitter vegetables and thought I wouldn’t be able to eat them alone, so I’m bringing you some.”

It was clear in Christ’s mind that Quinn had sent so many bitter vegetables, not for him to eat, but to satisfy Kiki’s fussy appetite.

In a trance, Christ couldn’t help but recall another incident from his past life.

In her previous life, when Kiki was pregnant with the twins, her tastes were also particularly fussy. Once, she particularly wanted to eat a snack sold in her hometown, which was also sold in Arkpool City, only that the taste of her hometown could not be made.

Quinn had just returned from a business trip abroad, he had not slept for two days in a row in order to come back earlier to see Kiki. He had been sleeplessly dealing with the matters at hand, after he came back, he heard that Kiki wanted to eat that kind of snack, he was afraid that if he sent his staff to buy it, something would go wrong, so he rushed to her hometown overnight just to buy a few boxes of the snack she wanted.

Quinn’s deep love for Kiki in this life is no less than in his previous life, but unfortunately, he is one step too late.

Quinn was initially unhappy about Christ and Kiki being together, but when he saw that Christ was really good to her and that he truly loved her, he didn’t bother to stubbornly fight for her.

Rather, in the spirit of a friend’s wife, he was quietly nice to her.

It was like what Christ did to Kiki later in his previous life.

When Kiki heard the doorbell ring just now, she thought it was Freya coming over, she put on a coat and headed outside her room.

“Unexpectedly, standing inside the courtyard was Quinn who was carrying a large bag of bitter vegetables.

Noticing the bag of bitter vegetables he was carrying, Kiki couldn’t help but feel embarrassed.

After she was pregnant, her mouth was really notorious for craving, sometimes when she wanted to eat something delicious, Christ would ask Kieran or Fabian for advice in the group, now, even Quinn knew she loved bitter vegetables, it was really weird and humiliating.

Quinn also saw Kiki, who was now almost eight months pregnant, and she had eaten a lot more after her pregnancy, but she hadn’t seen any meat growth at all.

Because she was extraordinarily thin on her body, her high, bulging stomach was extraordinarily large.

Looking at Kiki’s bulging stomach, Quinn, a man who bleeds without shedding tears, could not restrain himself from slightly reddening his eyes.

How wonderful it would have been if Kiki had been with him and could have borne him children!

But she was his best friend's wife, and in this life, he was destined not to go near her.

Even though it was impossible to get her in his life, Quinn knew in his heart that he could never accept another woman in his life, and that he was destined to be alone only in the end of his days.

He hopes there will be another life.

If there was a next life, he would not treat Kiki that badly again, and he would not, either, let her be tortured in prison for five years.

He would have met her before Christ did, and he would have protected her under his wing, not allowing her to endure so many separations and dislocations.

In another life.

Quinn was not a person who believed in fate, but he always felt that in his next life, he would be able to be with her.

So he was willing, in exchange for a lifetime of loneliness, to have a chance to be with her in his next life.

Although Kiki had stopped blaming him in her heart for the times Quinn had tormented her before, she was still squirmy when facing him.

However, the visitor was a guest and it was such a cold day that she couldn't keep leaving him standing in the courtyard.

"Quinn, it's cold outside, go inside."

She called out his name.

Quinn's eyes reddened even more. No one had dared to think that the ever arrogant and unrestrained Quinn would become so joyful just by being called by a woman's name like that.

"No."

Quinn spoke indifferently, he forcibly suppressed his emotion in the bottom of his heart. He no longer looked at Kiki, but forced himself to turn his face to look at Christ, afraid that if he looked at her one more time, he would go completely crazy, disregard any friend's wife, and ignore any sense of propriety and shame, and forcefully hoist her into his arms.

"Christ, Kiki should be giving birth soon, right? Let me know when the baby is born and I'll give them some lucky money."

After saying this, Quinn quickly put the large bag of bitter vegetables into Christ's hands and turned to leave.

"Quinn, the road is slippery, drive slowly."

Quinn did not turn around again.

After carrying Kiki back to the living room, Christ leaned down his face and kissed her deeply with her mouth slightly open.

Kiki was so breathless from his kisses that her face turned flushing.

“Kiki, don’t leave me! Don’t ever leave me!”

“Christ, what are you doing again! How could I possibly leave you! I and the children will be by your side for the rest of our lives!”

Chapter 1426

He also knew that he had re-lived his life and re-written his and Kiki’s destiny, that in this life she truly loved him and that she would never leave him, but when he thought of Quinn’s deep love for her, he still couldn’t restrain himself from being troubled.

His eyes gazed deeply at the woman in his arms. In fact, he wanted to say that what he wanted was not just for her in this life, but in the next life, in all lifetimes, he wanted to grow old with her.

However, he didn’t say this, after all.

If, in his next life, he is blind and treats her badly, he would rather Quinn grow old with her.

In life, in fact, there is really no need to think so much.

It is living in the moment that counts.

As long as he was good to her with all his heart, in another life, or the next, there would always be a lifetime when she could notice how good he was.

Thinking of this, Christ’s heart instantly became quite frank.

Time flew by, and in the blink of an eye, it was almost Kiki’s due date, but the baby in her belly was not even in the pelvis yet, so the doctor suggested that Christ should take more walks with her.

During that time, every afternoon after dinner, Christ would accompany Kiki for a walk outside the villa.

The villa area is an elegant setting with fresh air and is particularly suitable for walking.

Two people, interlocking fingers, quietly listened to each other’s heartbeats, every minute, every second, the silent world is poured with lingering deep love.

Recently Kiki has been losing more and more things, just now she sat on a side is chair for a while, and when she got up, she left her mobile phone on it.

Christ told her to stand by the roadside and wait while he went to get her phone.

Christ had just walked to the chair over there when a black unmarked car ruthlessly rushed towards Kiki’s body.

The moment he leaned down to get his phone, there was some inexplicable uneasiness in Christ’s heart, and he subconsciously turned his face to look in Kiki’s direction, and when he saw that scene, his face instantly changed.

“Kiki!”

Christ couldn’t be bothered to grab the phone, he turned around violently and rushed in Kiki’s direction.

It was just that he was a bit far away from Kiki, and even if he used the speed of a 100-metre sprint, he would not be able to rush over and push her away.

Kiki also realised the danger, but her body was now too bulky, and with her stomach suddenly hurting a bit, she was unable to dodge the oncoming car.

Just when Kiki thought that she was destined to be run over by this car, a dark shadow suddenly rushed out from a small wooded area to the side and violently pushed her aside.

He, in turn, was rammed hard by the black car, and then, like a bird with a broken wing, crashed heavily to the ground.

The person who lunged at him was Flynn.

And driving, as it were, was Penny, disfigured after falling off a cliff.

Penny had never expected such a sudden turn of events. Seeing that Christ had already come over, she couldn't care less about Flynn's death, she turned the car around violently and rushed towards the outside of the district.

Penny was really unlucky, she had just rushed out of the neighborhood not long after, a heavy truck happened to come out of the corner of a side road.

The driver of the heavy truck was obviously fatigued and he did not notice Penny who was travelling against the traffic. The heavy truck hit Penny's car hard and he subconsciously tried to slam on the brakes, but the heavy truck continued to drive forward because of inertia and ran directly over her small car.

Penny, in the car, had stopped her heart completely before she had time to scream.

Seeing Flynn, who had fallen in a pool of blood, Kiki was truly shocked. She couldn't have imagined that the person who had pushed her away, regardless of life, could be him.

Flynn had hurt her before and she had a very bad impression of him, but she was not a person who could not distinguish between right and wrong, and this time, after all, he had saved her life, and now that he was down in a pool of blood, she could not possibly care about his death.

"Flynn"

Kiki steadied herself, she walked up to Flynn holding her stomach which was already starting to hurt, and spoke worriedly, "Flynn, how are you? Hang in there, I'll have Christ take you to the hospital now."

"It's not working."

Flynn opened his mouth and he spurted out a large mouthful of blood.

He knew that he would not survive the day, but he was not at all sorry.

In his two short lifetimes, he has experienced, in a way that others would not dare to think of in their lifetimes, strange encounters.

Rebirth, and, an incredible dream.

Yes, some time ago, Flynn had a dream in which, as if, he went to the middle of a prison without seeing the sun, and in the prison, there was Kiki.

Kiki is being bullied and tortured, and he wants to stop it, but he is in the dream, and yet he seems to be a complete outsider, unable to stop her suffering, no matter what.

Later, he dreamed again that Kiki was tortured by Dylan, that, at Dylan's hands, her child died horribly and she bled.

In his previous life, when Penny and Dylan died at the hands of Christ, he hated Kiki, but after having that dream, he suddenly felt that the deaths of Penny and Dylan in his previous life were not tragic enough.

Five years, more than 1,800 days and nights of torture, Kiki would suffer so much, so much, all because of their Wallace family!

What nerve did he have, with all his talk and yelling about coming to her for some kind of revenge!

Kiki has never wronged the Wallace family, not Penny and Dylan, it is their Wallace family that has wronged her Kiki!

Suddenly, he didn't want to take revenge on anything anymore. He covered up the news that Penny had fallen off the cliff and was still alive, just for that little bit of kinship, and he warned Penny not to think about making a move on Kiki again.

He didn't expect Penny to be heartless and still have her heart set on killing her.

Luckily, he had been quietly hiding over here lately, trying to sneak one more look at her before he could, in time, rush over and push her away.

Christ also rushed over and when he saw Flynn, who was dying, his eyes were full of disbelief.

"Christ, Flynn is badly hurt, call the hospital!"

Hearing Kiki's voice, Christ hurriedly took out his mobile phone and started calling the doctor.

Thinking about what Flynn did to Kiki in his last life, Christ hated that he could not cut him to pieces, but in this life, he had saved Kiki after all, and he would not stand by and watch him die.

"There's no need to call."

Flynn spoke with some difficulty, "Kiki, I I want to say a few words to you."

"Kiki, I'm sorry, I'm sorry for you in my last life, and in this life, I'm still sorry for you."

Kiki has not experienced rebirth, for Flynn suddenly said what the previous life, she could not help but be confused, Flynn did not care whether she understood or not, he continued to speak on his own, "Kiki, in fact, in the previous life, I have fallen in love with you."

"It's like I'm splitting into two people, on one side, hating you with a passion, and on the other, loving you to the point of madness."

Chapter 1427

“But I eventually realized that all the hate I had for you was wrong and inexplicable.”

“After all you’ve suffered, even if you’ve hurt Penny and Dylan, what’s wrong with you! They, all of them, are to blame.”

“Unfortunately, in my last life, until I died, I didn’t think it through, but fortunately, in this life, I’ve thought it through and I’m happy to die for you.”

“Kiki, I love you.”

“Whether you find it disgusting or dismissive, I still want to say to you that I I love you

“Madly in love with you.”

Flynn raised his blood-soaked right hand at Kiki. In fact, he especially wanted her to hug him, but he was afraid that the blood on his body would stain her white clothes, and in the end, he did not say this.

“Kiki, if there is a next life

“If in the next life, let me meet you earlier, I will never, ever hurt hurt you

After saying this, Flynn’s right hand, which had been raised, slid down heavily and he fell to the ground, motionless.

“Flynn! Flynn!”

Kiki called out to him several times, but he still didn’t respond in the slightest, so Christ reached out his hand and probed his nose.

Regarding the words Flynn had just said, Kiki did not fully understand what he meant, but Christ did. He had never thought that in his previous life, Flynn had already loved Kiki so much.

Unfortunately, Flynn was even more stupid than he was in his previous life, not knowing how to love someone properly and only hurting with reckless abandon.

“Kiki, he’s gone.”

Christ hugged Kiki tightly, and his mood, regarding Flynn’s death, was not too up and down, because, all along, he wanted Flynn dead.

But when he really saw that Flynn had gone out of his way for Kiki, he was still shocked in his heart.

Even though the two of them were bitter enemies, he would still take care of his affairs so that he could leave with dignity.

“Is he really dead?”

After all, Kiki’s heart is soft. Seeing Flynn die for her, her eyes are still unable to restrain the redness, there are crystal clear tears flowing out.

Christ hugged Kiki harder, he could not let her shed tears, but he thought that if Flynn could see her shed tears for him, he would feel that it would be worth it even if he died.

After Christ called Dave, he quickly brought someone over to take care of Flynn’s afterlife.

After taking care of all this, Christ was about to take Kiki to the hospital for a check-up to see if she had alarmed her fetus or something, but a sharp pain struck Kiki's body, and she bent down in pain.

"Christ, my stomach suddenly hurts, I... I might be in labor"

"Kiki, let's go to the hospital! We're going to the hospital!"

Christ had long been prepared for Kiki to give birth at any time, but when it came to it, he was still a bit frazzled.

Finally she was taken to the hospital and he nervously stood guard outside the delivery room. He wanted to accompany her into the delivery room, but she wouldn't let him.

Christ was so anxious that his head was covered in cold sweat. As soon as he heard a maternal cry of pain coming out, he felt that it must be his Kiki who was in pain, a torment that made him so painful that he could not bear the two children for her.

Luckily, Kiki did not stay inside the delivery room for too long, and the doctor wheeled her out after an hour or so.

Kiki gave birth to a baby girl and a baby boy.

The first to be born was a daughter, their Sophia, and the second, their Brian.

Upon hearing the news of Kiki's birth, Freya and Kieran also rushed over with Jaden, Jayla and Alistair.

Alistair, with his long white fur, was silent and out of place in the world.

But he arched his eyebrows instantly at the sight of Sophia, who was carried out by the nurse.

He didn't even bother to ask the doctor if they were male or female. He nervously rushed to Kiki's side and carefully held her hand, his face full of love and affection.

Freya took the little girl carried out by the nurse and the more she looked at Sophia, the more she felt like her.

Thinking of the baby marriage she had jokingly arranged for Alistair and Sophia with Kiki earlier, she walked up to Alistair with Sophia in her arms, "Alistair, look, this is Sophia. When you grow up, are you really willing to marry Sophia?"

Alistair was so reticent that he was almost mute. Sometimes he wouldn't speak a word for months, and if he did, he would only pop out a few short words.

But this time, he looked at the baby girl in Freya's arms, and the expression on his face was, as never before, warm.

"Mummy, when I grow up, I'll definitely marry Sophia."

Seemingly feeling that he had not expressed himself clearly enough, after a short pause, Alistair added, with immense seriousness, "I will be very, very good to Sophia."

Hearing Alistair's words, several adults, even Kiki, who had just left the delivery room, were amused by him.

They all believe that Alistair will be very, very good to Sophia when he grows up.

There is a tradition of grabbing test on the occasion of a baby's first birthday in Arkpool City.

When Sophia and Brian were one year old, Christ and Kiki held a lively ceremony for them.

In front of Sophia and Brian, there were quite a few goodies laid out, and Brian was more active as he climbed over and grabbed the item first.

Little Brian's big eyes were as bright as black grapes. He looked around and then, stretching out his two short arms, he couldn't bear to take all the things on the floor into his arms.

Kiki and Freya patiently spoke to him, "Brian, you can only choose one thing."

Little Brian looked like money-grubber, afraid that the things in his arms would be snatched away. He was still walking unsteadily, and with his two short legs, he stumbled and ran under the table to hide them, so that the adults would not snatch the treasures in his arms.

The adults were very speechless and fortunately things were prepared in twos and everyone rearranged their things so that little Sophia could grab the items.

Little Sophia seemed to be in a great dilemma as she looked at so many things in front of her, and after racking her brain for a while, she finally stretched out her fleshy little hand.

However, in the end, she didn't even bother to grab any of the things laid out in front of her, but crawled nimbly to Alistair's feet and grabbed his trouser leg with all her might.

Little Sophia smiled with a sunny face, as if she had done something great.

The adults looked at each other and well, it was no small feat to catch her future husband.

Alistair was surprised. He lowered his head and looked at little Sophia who kept giggling at him. The loneliness in his eyes was lit up by the bright smile on her face, and he stretched out his hand and clutched her fleshy little hand hard.

Some promises, without having to say the words, are already a lifetime of commitment to death.

Chapter 1428

Many people say that Jaden, who later changed his name to Sethaden Fitzgerald, was a young man who had seen through the world, a once-in-a-century talent.

All people think that Sethaden is naturally perceptive and calm, but only he knows in his own heart that this is not the case.

He was able to see through the world at a young age, not because he was much more perceptive than others, but simply because, he had lived a lifetime longer than others.

Yes, Sethaden has memories of his past life.

After a life of separation, war, betrayal and ultimately death at the hands of the only woman he had ever loved, it would have been difficult for him not to see the light of day.

When Sethaden was eighteen years old, he became very ill and was in a coma for almost a month.

Kieran and Freya stood by his side, their hearts racing. Neither of them knew that it was that month that he had travelled to another time and space, where he had lived out his previous life.

The light and shadows were misplaced, and the rich smell of blood stung Sethaden, who could not help but frown.

He should have been unconscious for a long time, and he could clearly feel that his lips were dehydrated to the point of being dry and cracked. He opened his eyes with some difficulty as the bright sunlight beat down on him, stinging his eyes.

The moment he opened his eyes, many, many images flashed rapidly through Sethaden's mind like waves of the sea churning.

He crossed over to his previous life, a time and place not recorded in history.

In this life, he was still called Sethaden, and his father, Kieran, had achieved great success in battle for the Great Wei State and was adored by countless people.

His mother, Freya, the long-lost and hard-to-find baby daughter of the British Duke Walter, is a miracle doctor who saves lives and helps the sick.

Kieran is the god of war in the hearts of the people who brings them stability, but he is also most easily scorned by the emperor for his high achievements.

The emperor of Great Wei, on the one hand, gave Kieran rewards, but on the other hand, he tried every possible way to take back the military power in his hands.

It is only that the army is loyal to Kieran and only recognises him as their master. Emperor Casey of the Great Wei, who has tried to buy off his generals many times, has failed to do so.

More than ten years ago, the Huns army was overwhelmed by the Huns, and the Huns's iron horsemen almost trampled through the rivers and mountains of Great Wei, displacing the people and causing great suffering.

On that occasion, the Huns were so badly abused by Kieran that they were greatly wounded, but after more than a decade of recuperation and recruitment, this time, they are coming back to avenge the shame of that year and make the rich Great Wei a possession of theirs.

When the Huns came to attack, the Emperor of Great Wei, Casey, naturally sent the Duke of Zhen Guo, Kieran, to lead a large army to meet the war.

If it were only an external enemy, it would not be so terrible. What is most terrible is that the soldiers at the front, who have thrown their heads and blood to meet the enemy, are cut off from the family and country at the back, who should have supported them with all their might.

The Emperor of the Great Wei, Casey, has made a good calculation this time. He wants to use the hand of Kieran to expel the Huns from the country for the peace of the Great Wei, but he also wants, by the hand of the Huns, to make the Fitzgerald army, which has frightened countless foreign enemies, become history once and for all.

Kieran was well aware of the emperor's scruples.

It was just that he was so dedicated to his country and his people that he could never have imagined that the emperor he had spent his life fighting for would want to take advantage of the opportunity to wipe out their entire Fitzgerald army when foreign enemies were pressing in.

The Emperor of Great Wei, first of all, cut off their food supplies.

If food was cut off, the 300,000-strong Fitzgerald army will be starved to death, even if they don't die in battle!

The emperor wanted the Fitzgerald army dead, but the people wanted them alive.

Hearing of the shortage of provisions for the Fitzgerald army, the people of Jiangnan took it upon themselves to collect provisions in the hope of contributing to their beloved generals.

The provisions from Jiangnan arrived and Kieran sent his eldest son, the Great General of Hussar, with soldiers to carry the provisions into the city.

Although he is only eighteen years old, he has already been able to take charge of his own business, and this kind of work is no easier for him than transporting provisions.

He was on his way into the city to escort provisions when he encountered soldiers and horses from the Great Wei.

No one would have dared to think that the 50,000-strong army that had arrived on a dusty journey would not come to support the Fitzgerald army, which was struggling to defend the city, but to destroy the food and provisions that the people had managed to collect and send the 5,000 soldiers that Sethaden had brought with him on their way.

Although the Fitzgerald army was brave and good at fighting, 5,000 soldiers could not gain the upper hand against 50,000 well-trained soldiers.

Moreover, the 50,000-strong army had already prepared an ambush in advance, just waiting for Sethaden's entire army to be destroyed.

Sethaden knew that this time he was in grave danger, so he divided the 5,000 soldiers he had brought with him into two ways: 3,000 soldiers to escort the provisions back to the city, and 2,000 soldiers, together with him, to fight to the death against these 50,000 soldiers.

Escorting the provisions back to the city might not be a smooth journey, but they had a chance of survival, but the two thousand soldiers left behind had only a chance of death.

All the Fitzgerald troops are loyal to the Fitzgerald family and no one is willing to live on, they all want to stay and meet the enemy with Sethaden to the death.

It was Sethaden who drew his sword and forced himself to die before the 3,000 soldiers, who were protecting the provisions, returned to the city, while he and the 2,000 soldiers who stayed behind, held off this 50,000 strong army with their flesh and blood.

The 50,000-strong army had come on Casey's orders, and their aim was to destroy the provisions, kill Sethaden and break Kieran's most powerful arm.

However, they never expected that Sethaden, with these two thousand soldiers under him, would stop their 50,000-strong army in its tracks, preventing them from moving on and destroying the provisions.

The Fitzgerald's were already known for their bravery, and on this day they were as brave as the bravest beasts in the world, as they took their swords in hand and, one at a time, killed the soldiers in front of them who should have been with them.

Initially, Sethaden was able to barely hold off this 50,000-strong army with these 2,000 soldiers.

But in the end, they were outnumbered. Faced with this 50,000-strong army attacking them on all sides, the Fitzgerald army led by Sethaden, soon fell into a disadvantageous position.

More and more of the Fitzgerald army were hanging on, the sharp tips of their swords, piercing their bodies.

Countless Fitzgerald's soldiers, with bloody holes pierced in their bodies and bleeding from the corners of their mouths, still stood stubbornly straight, gripping their weapons in their hands and swinging them at their enemies, one by one.

Blood stretches beyond

The turquoise blue sky all seemed to be dyed blood red.

But the Fitzgerald army have a motto that the Fitzgerald army cannot fall until they have cut down the last enemy.

So even though some of the soldiers had broken arms, or even, seriously injured legs, their backs were still proudly straight.

Like the unyielding bamboo, they are unbreakable by wind and rain, fearless when the sky and the earth break apart.

Chapter 1429

That day the Phoenix Valley became a hell on earth, in which countless people wailed and countless others fell in blood.

But the two thousand Fitzgerald army, battered and bruised, did not even raise a frown.

Fifty thousand soldiers against two thousand was absolute crushing, it was more like a massacre, one of their own against one of their own.

No one would have dared to think that the 50,000 soldiers who should have had an absolute advantage, except for the very few who fled in disarray, were almost completely killed by the two thousand Fitzgerald's.

Killing the last soldier sent by the emperor, the last of the Fitzgerald family soldiers, Sethaden, also fell on top of the mountain of corpses with wounds all over his body.

None of the 2,000 soldiers under his command survived.

Sethaden's eyes, too, were scarlet when he thought of the hot blood that spurted from his soldiers on the ground.

Before the cunning rabbit died, the emperor, there was no longer room for the Fitzgerald army.

It is the greatest sadness of a country where the soldiers are fighting bravely in front of the enemy, but the emperor is suspicious and pressed hard.

"You're finally awake!"

Sethaden was lost in his own thoughts when a soft, sweet voice came into his ears.

Subconsciously, he turned his face in the direction of the voice and met a pair of watery almond eyes.

The corners of her eyes, slightly upturned, are dark and shiny, with two slightly curved eyebrows, as if she were a distant mountain with diaphanous hair, and at the corners of her lips, there are two small swirls, and when she smiles, it is sweet and beautiful, as if, the whole world is lit up.

For a long, long time afterwards, Sethaden asked himself countless times why he had fallen so uncontrollably in love with Rachel.

Every time he gave him an answer, it wasn't because she had saved him.

He thought that he would fall in love with her, perhaps, just because the bright light in her eyes lit up his heart and dispelled the boundless fog of blood that had congealed in his heart.

"What's your name?" When Rachel saw that Sethaden had not spoken after opening his eyes, she thought that he had been dropped silly, and she could not help but feel worried in her heart.

She was the eldest princess of Pingliang and she had stolen away from Pingliang this time to escape from her marriage.

Her father, the emperor, wants to marry her to the prince of the Great Wei, Harrison.

Her father said that as she was born a royal princess, she should take on the responsibility of guarding the country's people, and that it was her mission to marry the prince.

But Rachel never felt that she was born for this political marriage, and besides, his father was all moral and noble, serving the country and the people, and he let her marry the Prince of Great Wei just so that she could secretly get the army deployment map of Great Wei!

When he gets a map of Great Wei's marching forces, it is certain that the father cannot be for the sake of a centuries-long friendship between the two countries, but he wants to attack Great Wei.

If you really want to defend your country's people, you should not start a war.

Rachel is not stupid, she will not take her lifelong happiness to satisfy her father's selfish desires and wreak havoc on the people of Pingliang.

In her life, if she were to marry someone, she would only marry someone she could fancy.

She did not need him to be rich and powerful, as long as he was in her eyes.

So, Rachel quietly exchanged all the most valuable items she had for money and, with her bag on her back, she ran away from her parents.

It was just that she never expected to see corpses everywhere when she passed by Feng Ming Valley. She was so timid that she pulled her legs out in fear and ran away, only she never expected that she would not take more than a few steps before a large, bloody hand, grabbed her ankle.

Rachel was stunned, she thought she had seen a ghost in daylight, but to her surprise, the man who grabbed her ankle was still breathing.

Only with his body badly wounded and covered in blood, his bloody appearance really looked like a ghost.

She knew about the art of medicine and knew that this man needed to be treated quickly, otherwise he would die.

She was too soft-hearted to see him die, but she didn't have the courage to save him in this mountain of blood either.

She gritted her teeth and simply carried him on her back, intending to go down the hill and heal him.

He was so heavy and she was so weak that she couldn't carry him down the hill, halfway up it, and she was dying of exhaustion.

On the way, she accidentally dropped him several times, and on a few occasions she even hit his head. Seeing his eyes open, his eyes unfocused and silent, she was really worried that she had dropped him silly.

"Hey, what's your name anyway?"

Seeing that he still didn't say anything, Rachel couldn't help but speak up, "You didn't really get dumbed, did you? I'm telling you, I saved your life, even if you were dumbed down by me, we're still even, you can't blame me!"

"Sethaden." Sethaden withdrew his eyes from Rachel and spoke indifferently.

"So you're not stupid!"

Rachel smiled with arched eyebrows, "That's great, you're not stupid so I don't have to take responsibility for you!"

"Sethaden, where is your home? Can you inform your family so they can come and look after you? I'm so busy, I don't have time to be pestered by you all the time!"

Rachel looked at Sethaden, who looked like a bloody man, and couldn't help but frown, saving him was an accident.

She is really busy, running away from the marriage, in case she is caught back by the people sent by her father, she will have to marry that pig-headed prince of the Great Wei Kingdom, and continuing to carry him around will definitely have to affect her plan to escape from the marriage, she has to get rid of this big burden quickly.

Sethaden did not answer Rachel's words, but moved his dry lips, "Water."

Water?

Is he asking for a drink of water?

Rachel gave him a disgusted look, it was good enough that she had saved him, and she was still assigned to get him water, she had never served anyone water in her eighteen years of life!

Although she was very reluctant, Rachel was after all soft-hearted. Seeing that he was so badly hurt, she resigned herself to taking the water jug and going to the side of the stream to fetch water for him to drink.

Rachel was so kind-hearted that after she had fetched him water, she soaked a handkerchief in the process and wiped his blood-stained face.

Rachel had never been to a military camp, but she had heard many stories about the generals and soldiers, and the stories said that the men in those camps were dark and rough, one after the other.

But this man was so handsome!

Hey, in all her years of life, it was the first time she had seen such a good looking man!

His eyes, in particular, look as cold as a thousand years of unbroken ice at first glance, but when she looks closely, she feels that his eyes are particularly deep and can suck one's soul in.

Looking a few more times, she can still see that there are stars in his eyes.

Rachel suddenly felt that it was no big deal to serve such a good-looking person a drink of water.

And it should be fun to run away from the marriage even with such a good-looking liability.

There are many beautiful men in Pingliang, and Rachel had always felt that a good-looking skin was boring and not attractive, but at this moment, she was inexplicably attracted to this good-looking skin in front of her.

He was so attractive that she wanted to drool.

It turned out that she had never known that she was actually a horny one.

Rachel suddenly changed her mind about chasing away the burden, she smiled like fox and spoke, "Sethaden, I'm your benefactor! I saved your life, shouldn't you repay me?"

Chapter 1430

Sethaden took a sip of water from the water bottle that Rachel fed him. His lips were so dry that he was obviously thirsty, but his movements, instead of showing urgency, carried a kind of reserved elegance.

After he downed a few sips of water, his throat soothed considerably before he lazily raised his eyes at Rachel, "How do you want me to repay you?"

When she met Sethaden's eyes, which were black, Rachel couldn't help but swallow again.

Her heart felt like it was sick and she had missed a beat for some reason.

She tilted her head in a feigned tangle, "How can you repay me just like that?"

"I don't have any money, I don't have any power, and I can barely look good with this face. Or else, why don't you give your body in return? I've seen a lot of folding plays where the hero saves the beauty, and in the end, by and large, they all give their bodies to each other, so let's give our bodies to each other oo."

The more Rachel said, the more she felt that she had a very good idea.

She had taken a fancy to his good looks, and naturally she could not bear to leave him exposed in the wilderness, but carrying him down the mountain and finding him a doctor was really too much of a disadvantage for her, and she could only balance her heart if he gave himself to her.

No money, no power

The light of Sethaden's eyes became more and more profound, he had just crossed over, but magically, it was as if he, whether in body or soul, had completely fused with the Sethaden of this time and space.

When he was ten years old, he was already in military attire, following his father Kieran into battle and killing more than a hundred of his enemies' heads.

Marry a man who is a member of the Fitzgerald family.

He was also shown affection many times by daring ladies in Wei, but he was probably born numb to the feelings of women, and he didn't even look at those famous ladies who were affectionate towards him.

He was a young man who had read military books and his only ambition in life was to protect his country. He had never thought about the love with a woman.

After saying this, Sethaden was frozen in shock.

Wasn't it too hasty of him to just agree to give his life to a young girl?

"You've really promised to give you to me?!" Rachel's face with obvious joy, "You can't go back on it later!"

Sethaden was trying to backtrack!

Looking at the bright joy on the girl's face, all the words he wanted to repent were swallowed back into his stomach.

He didn't know if it was because the sun was too warm today or the scenery on the mountain was too beautiful, but he suddenly felt that it didn't seem too bad to give him to this girl.

"I won't." After a long, long time, Sethaden spoke incomparably solemnly, as if, making a lifetime promise.

If he doesn't love someone, then he doesn't love them, but if he does, then he will never let go of them.

Rachel's medical skills are really uncomplimentary. The wounds she treated for Sethaden might as well not have been treated at all.

Noticing that the wound in his heart had started to ooze blood out again, Rachel's eyes were so anxious that they turned red.

After all, it was the man who had given his life to her, and she couldn't just let him die.

Originally, Rachel could not carry Sethaden anymore, but probably because she had gotten a big advantage from him by giving her body to him, it would add a lot of motivation to her, so she actually forced herself to carry him again.

Sethaden was used to being stiff and indestructible, he wasn't really used to being carried on the back of girl like this.

But now, he was so wounded that he could not move at all. If he did not let Rachel carry him, he would really die on this mountain.

Thinking of the boundless blood, of the soldiers who fell beside him, Sethaden's eyes flushed red.

He cannot die.

If he had died, the two thousand soldiers who died so tragically would have really died in vain.

He had to, alive, walk up to Emperor Casey of Wei and ask him a question as to why the blood of the Fitzgerald army was spilled on the battlefield, guarding the peace of Great Wei with flesh and blood, while he, as the Emperor of Great Wei, had to hold a butcher's knife in his hand and wield it at his own generals!

He had to, for his 2,000 brothers who had died so tragically, for their blood that had dyed the sunset red, get justice!

He had to get better quickly. The last man he killed was the general of the 50,000 soldiers, and he learned from him that the 50,000 were not the only ones sent by the Wei emperor to slaughter the Fitzgerald's army.

Accompanying them were 100,000 troops brought by Xander, the Emperor's confidant, as well as, 30,000 of the Emperor's own troops.

The 100,000-strong army led by Xander intended to deal another fatal blow to Fitzgerald army when Kieran and the Huns were both defeated.

The Emperor of Wei's 30,000 personal soldiers were responsible for sneak attacks and extermination.

They are hidden in the shadows, destroying the Fitzgerald family's forces little by little. If Kieran still manages to leave the battlefield alive, these 30,000 personal soldiers will, like ghosts, surround his cronies and wipe them out completely.

Sethaden smiled to himself, his father Kieran, a lifelong warrior, loyal to the Great Wei State, in the end he became a thief and a bandit in the Emperor's heart to get rid of!

How ridiculous! How ironic!

He had to get well quickly and tell his father about the Wei emperor's plot. He must not let these 300,000 Fitzgerald army, these 300,000 iron-blooded men, die at the hands of the emperor to whom he owed his loyalty, even if he could not rest in peace!

"Sethaden, hang in there! I'm a woman of my word, you've promised me your future love, you'll be my man from now on, I'll save you for sure!"

Rachel never heard Sethaden's voice, so she couldn't help but feel worried in her heart, afraid that he would not be able to hold on, and once he closed his eyes, he would never wake up again.

"Sethaden, can you say something to me?"

He spoke to her so that she could know that he was awake and she could feel more secure.

Before Sethaden could say anything, Rachel accidentally stepped in the air and directly fell on the ground with him on her back.

Rachel fell hard this time, her face was raw from the fall, she couldn't care less about the pain on her own body, she quickly crawled to Sethaden's side and carefully checked his wounds, "Sethaden, how are you? I'm sorry, I really didn't mean to do it just now, it's really"

Really he is too heavy.

"Sethaden, don't worry, I'll be more careful in the future, I won't fall on you again, don't blame me, okay?"

"I don't blame you." Sethaden spoke lightly.

How could he blame her? It was hard enough for her, girl who didn't have much strength to begin with, to carry him over such a long distance.

Seeing that Sethaden did not blame her, Rachel instantly arched her eyebrows with a smile.

But seeing more blood seeping out of him, she couldn't help but frown again.

His body had so many bloody wounds, how much pain he must be in! It made her heart ache to see it.

Rachel was about to grit her teeth again and carry Sethaden on her back as she continued down the mountain, but she saw that many men in black embroidered eagle costumes were rushing towards the mountain with swords.

Sethaden also noticed these people, and his face slightly changed.

Embroidered Eagle Clothing

Emperor Wei's secret guards, his most loyal and fierce minions!