

Talented 1431

Chapter 1431

Now, at the foot of the mountain, there are about a dozen of the Emperor Wei's secret guards.

If it were in normal times, with Sethaden's skills, these dozen secret guards would not be enough to be feared.

But now, he was badly wounded, and he was accompanied by a young girl who had saved his life, and they had no half chance of survival under this vicious dark guard.

Rachel was somewhat heartless, but she was still quite resourceful, and she could see at a glance that these secret guards were coming from a bad place.

She lowered her voice and spoke to Sethaden, "Sethaden, these people wouldn't be here to find you, would they?"

"Yes."

In a critical situation, Sethaden had no intention of lying to Rachel, "If you leave now, it's still not too late."

Hearing Sethaden's words, Rachel couldn't help but feel angry, in his eyes, she was such a person who was afraid of death?

He was her man, and she would not do such a gutless thing as leave her man to run for her life!

Rachel gave Sethaden a furious glare, puffing out her two cheeks in sulking anger, she was so angry she didn't even want to care about him anymore.

To this reaction of the girl, Sethaden actually didn't quite understand it, he was intelligent since his childhood and was praised by many people as a genius, but to the girl's mind, he really couldn't see through it.

He couldn't figure out why she was suddenly angry when he told her to hurry up and run for her life alone, obviously for her own good.

Is it possible that he did not express himself clearly enough?

With this in mind, Sethaden spoke again to Rachel, "These people won't let me go, if you stay here, you will only get dragged into trouble, why don't you leave quickly and save your life?"

"Shut up!"

Rachel's almond eyes were rounded, she was already pretty, and her puffed up look was unspeakably vivid and lovely.

"In your eyes, I am a person who doesn't even care about my man? Sethaden, you are now my person, and as long as I still have a breath, there is no way I will leave you behind!"

Rachel was touched by this look of righteousness, and when she thought of this man who treated her like a thin-skinned man, she was so angry that her eyes turned red.

Sethaden was stunned, not expecting that Rachel would say something like that.

Sethaden inexplicably felt that these words could not be said to be ironic.

It was so ironic that it softened his always cold and hard heart.

Looking at Rachel's eyes, which were physically red because of her anger, Sethaden suddenly felt that it was not bad to be her person.

But Sethaden still had his senses, even if he had some desire to be this girl's man, at times like this, he didn't want to drag her life down with him.

He was about to say something else to get her out of the way, but she slung him hard on her back.

She was a good deal shorter than he was, and because she was particularly thin and had narrow shoulders, she looked like a tiny person, and carrying him, a tall man, looked like a great strain.

He almost crushed her to the ground when she carried him on her back, and he was uncomfortable with it.

But the girl was very stubborn, and she carried him, lifting her feet hard and carrying him step by step through the rough, long road.

Rachel noticed something and her eyes suddenly lit up.

"Sethaden, look! There's a cave up ahead, we'll hide inside the cave, maybe they won't find us that easily!"

Probably because she saw hope, Rachel's steps were much lighter. Sethaden did not have the heart to tell her that Emperor Wei's secret guards were the best at searching, they could see this cave, and when Emperor Wei's minions came up, they would definitely be able to see this cave as well.

Rachel walked too slowly with Sethaden on her back, and by the time they hid in the cave, the secret guards had also searched the cave.

Rachel stared nervously at the entrance of the cave, which she had camouflaged with weeds, fearing that the group of secret guards might discover them.

Soon, she heard the voice of the guard, "Look! There's a cave here! Boss, do you think Sethaden could be hiding here?!"

"We didn't find Sethaden's body in Feng Ming Valley, he must still be on this mountain now! Go in and search! I don't believe he can't fly since he's seriously injured!"

As she listened to the voices outside, Rachel's face changed dramatically and she paced back and forth anxiously, knowing that as soon as the secret guards came in, both she and Sethaden would be completely finished.

Rachel did not want to die.

However, as a righteous girl, she would not be greedy for life in a crisis, otherwise, she would have just left him behind and left.

These people were not good people, she was just worried that if Sethaden fell into their hands, he would have no good consequences.

There are times when people are really quite strange. Many people, whom you have known for most of your life, cannot make a ripple in your heart, but some people, whom you have known for just a moment, you are willing to guard with your life.

Rachel thought that she might have really lost her mind, but since she had already lost her mind, she might as well, in the end, lose it.

“Sethaden, they’re about to come in!”

Rachel looked inside the cave, and inside this cave, there was something else, it was actually a curtain of small waterfalls.

Rachel could not swim and jumping into the waterfall, she felt sure she would have to drown, but she felt that even if she drowned, it was still much better than letting Sethaden fall into the hands of these secret guards.

“Forget it, let’s be drowners together!”

Rachel quickly picked Sethaden up on her back and headed for the small waterfall in front of her.

She was prepared to be swept away and drowned by the water, but the waterfall, surprisingly, was only a thin layer, like a curtain of water, and she easily carried Sethaden through that curtain of water, which divided the cave into two completely different worlds.

Where they were a moment ago, there was a mess, behind the curtain of water, there were birdsong and flowers, as if it were a paradise.

Rachel had never seen such a spectacle before! Her big eyes were so rounded that they were about to glare out.

Sethaden’s expression did not fluctuate much, but his eyes held a slight look of awe.

Rachel carefully laid Sethaden flat on the grass, “Sethaden, take a rest first, I’ll go see if there are any herbs here to stop bleeding and reduce inflammation. I am not good at medicine, but I know the medicines to stop bleeding and reduce inflammation.”

With that, Rachel wanted to go to the front to take a look, so that she could find some herbs to heal Sethaden.

She had just lifted her feet when she heard the sound of voices over the water curtain.

“The whole mountain has been searched almost everywhere, Sethaden couldn’t have disappeared into thin air! He must be inside this cave! Search it! Even if you have to dig into the ground, find him!”

Chapter 1432

Rachel’s footsteps lurched, and her heart beat wildly.

Digging through the ground to find them

If this group of people really found them, with her kung fu, she couldn't even protect herself, and Sethaden was so badly injured, they both would only die a horrible death!

Rachel was in no mood to look for herbs now, as she was staring nervously at the curtain of water not far in front of her, fearing that the group of secret guards would pass through the curtain and clutch the knife in their hands, slashing at her and Sethaden.

The curtain of water is not very thick, but, through this curtain, they cannot see the other side of the curtain in any way.

Rachel didn't want to sit around and wait for death, she ran to Sethaden with small steps and lowered her voice and spoke, "Sethaden, let's go over there and hide in the flowers."

Here, it is a sea of flowers that stretches endlessly, except that the beautiful flowers and plants don't even grow high enough to hide in, and really don't have much of a sheltering effect.

The sea of flowers and plants that Rachel pointed to were born slightly higher up, but if the group of secret guards did come looking for them, they would be able to see them hiding inside the sea of flowers at a glance.

"You don't have to mind me!" Sethaden knew how bad their situation was now, "Go ahead and hide! When they come over, they'll see me first! After they find me, they won't give you a hard time!"

Rachel was so angry that she glared at Sethaden with red eyes.

See how exasperated this person is.

She had just said that she would not leave him behind even if she still had a breath, but he still took her to be one of those people who were afraid of death.

"Sethaden, you don't want to die! I'm your saviour, you haven't given your life to me yet, don't you dare try to renege on your debt!"

As Rachel said that, she dragged Sethaden hard, but some of the flower branches had thorns on them, and she was afraid that those thorns might hurt him, so she still braced herself to carry him on her back again.

One step at a time, walking through this sea of flowers, the breeze is blowing and she didn't know whose heart is in turmoil.

"Boss, we've searched all over the caves, there's no sign of Sethaden's whereabouts!"

"Keep searching!"

"Boss, there's a waterfall up ahead, Sethaden wouldn't be hiding inside it, would he?"

The people were so loud that Rachel could barely hear some of them, and when she heard them mention the waterfall, her heart couldn't help but tighten up. She knew that if they really wanted to check this side, she would be a living target with Sethaden on her back like this.

She quickly tucked Sethaden into the flowers and used the branches to hide him while she tiptoed in the direction of the water curtain.

He was her man, and she had to keep him safe and sound. Perhaps, if she lured the group elsewhere, he would be safe.

Sethaden has always had a delicate mind, he naturally understood Rachel's thoughts, he just dared not think, the two of them only met each other in passing, how this girl was already foolish enough to want to follow him regardless.

He wanted to say to Rachel to get out of the way and leave him alone.

However, he didn't know where it would lead, but if she ran far enough away, she would be safe.

In the end, Sethaden did not say this, because, from the girl's brimming watery eyes, he read her stubbornness, and it was useless for him to say it.

By saying these things, he would not drive her away, he would only break her heart.

So, bury it in mind.

Sethaden's eyes were complex as he stared at Rachel, who was almost pressed up against the curtain of water, and his heart, which had always leapt slowly and steadily, was, at this moment, beating wildly.

Once upon a time, Sethaden never believed in this world, there is the so-called love at first sight.

But after meeting Rachel, he believed it.

In this world, there is love at first sight.

If, this time, he can survive, in this life, he will not fail this girl.

"Boss, should we go inside the waterfall and look for him?"

"There's no way Sethaden could have jumped inside the waterfall! He's injured, if he really hid in the water for so long, he would have died already!"

"Boss is right, Sethaden definitely won't be stupid enough to jump inside the waterfall! Boss, then what do we do next?"

"Go outside the cave! I don't believe that he, a dying man, can really climb down this mountain!"

Hearing that those people had left the cave, Rachel finally breathed a long sigh of relief.

She ran in small steps to Sethaden's side, her face with a bright cheerfulness.

"Sethaden, they're gone, we're safe now!"

"Yeah."

"Sethaden, don't look down on my medical skills! Once, rabbit was bitten by a wolf and was badly injured, I healed it myself!"

Sethaden, "....." He's not a rabbit.

"Wow! Peacock flower!" Rachel suddenly spoke excitedly, "Sethaden, I'll be able to cure you soon!"

Sethaden's expression moved slightly, he really didn't expect that this place, there would be the legendary Peacock flower.

There is a beautiful legend about this Peacock flower.

Legend has it that the Peacock Fairy secretly descended to earth and fell in love with a mortal man.

A man is an invincible general who once blundered into an enemy trap and was pierced by a million arrows, leaving the imperial doctor helpless.

It was the Peacock Fairy who broke off the tail that carried all her immortal power and fed it to the General, who regained his life, but the spirit of the Peacock Fairy, however, dissipated in the world.

The General woke up and went mad looking for the Peacock Fairy. He searched the heavens and the earth but could not find her.

Just a patch of Peacock flowers found in the place where they first met.

And this Peacock flower, which can heal all diseases, has the power to bring the dead back to life.

Rachel had seen the Peacock flower in the remains of a medical book in the imperial palace. She had always thought that the Peacock flower only existed in legends, but she never thought she would be lucky enough to see it.

Rachel excitedly picked a Peacock flower and brought it right into Sethaden's mouth, "Sethaden, eat it!"

Seeing that Sethaden's lips were pursed and he had no intention of opening his mouth, Rachel couldn't help but be annoyed, "Sethaden, why aren't you eating? You don't think I want to harm you, do you? You're stupid, aren't you? You are my person! If I get you killed, I'll have to suffer a lot!"

Sethaden didn't open his mouth just now, not really because he was afraid that Rachel would harm him, but simply because he was curious. He had only seen the legendary Peacock flower in ancient books before, and now that he had seen it in real life, of course he had to take a good look at it.

Not wanting to give the young girl the wrong idea, he opened his mouth in a hurry and took a large crocus flower into his mouth.

When Rachel saw him eat the Peacock flower, she smiled so much that the dimples at the corners of her lips seemed to overflow with honey, "That's right! I only love my man how could I possibly harm my man!"

Sethaden's heart jumped, inexplicably, somewhat he enjoyed this feeling of being pampered.

After taking it, Sethaden's wound no longer oozed blood and did not hurt as much as before.

When Rachel saw that his injuries had improved, her heart was overwhelmed with joy, except that, she had never imagined that late at night, he suddenly developed a high fever.

Chapter 1433

Sethaden's feverish appearance was truly frightening, his face was white, his forehead was faintly dark, and his lips were as white as a layer of cold frost.

On his forehead, cold sweat had been oozing out non-stop.

His forehead was frighteningly hot, but his body was as cold as a popsicle.

Rachel's daytime story about how she had cured a bunny's injury was really a bit of a brag.

She did save a bunny when she was a child, but the more she treated the bunny, the worse it became, and she was so desperate that she cried, but her grandmother, who had watched her grow up, couldn't stand it anymore and helped the bunny get a royal doctor.

The royal doctor saved the bunny's life.

As far as Rachel's bad medical skills were concerned, she had never seen such a situation before!

When she saw Sethaden winced and collapsed unconscious in the flowers, she was so anxious that tears were falling down from her eyes.

She gently patted his face, "Sethaden, wake up! Don't scare me! You're not really going to die of illness, are you?"

"I'm so close to bringing you back to life, if you die, won't I lose my effort?"

Rachel wiped tears from her eye as she patted him hard several more times, but he still kept his eyes tightly closed and did not move.

"Cold"

Rachel was torn between plucking a few more Peacock flowers and stuffing them into Sethaden's mouth when she heard a voice so soft that it was almost negligible.

"Cold?"

Rachel froze, although it was now June, the small breeze blowing in the night on this mountain did make it cool.

She was afraid that he would be uncomfortable with the wind and hurriedly took off her own coat and covered him with it.

"Sethaden, do you feel better?"

"Cold"

Sethaden's eyes were closing tighter and tighter, and the cold chills on his body were hitting harder and harder, and even, some of them seemed to be twitching.

Rachel touched his body, which was, indeed, getting colder and colder as well.

But there was no dry firewood or torches here, and she didn't know how to make a fire, so she really didn't know how to keep him warm.

"Sethaden, hang in there! You have to give me some time to think of solution!"

Rachel stoke her chin, her face full of tangles, "What exactly should I do to keep you from freezing to death? How about I give you a hug and warm you up?"

“No, no, no!” Rachel immediately denied her idea again, “In case you are still a virgin, if I hug you, won’t I be taking advantage of you?”

“Actually, it seems like I’ve already hugged you. Besides, you’re mine, so it shouldn’t be too much for me to give you a hug, right?”

Rachel was torn for a long time, but in the end, she chose to lie on top of Sethaden and hugged him hard.

However, holding him like this didn’t seem to have much effect, as he continued to shiver and his body was so cold that it seemed to be covered in a layer of ice.

Rachel had heard that the Peacock flower was indeed a good medicine for wounds, but it would also produce some side effects to a greater or lesser extent, and if the side effects were not overcome, the person would still not survive.

She was afraid that Sethaden wouldn’t last the night and would really die. She gritted her teeth and after opening Sethaden’s clothes, she also opened her own clothes quite heroically and then, hugged him tightly.

“Sethaden, don’t think I’m taking advantage of you on purpose!”

Suppressing the blush in her heart, Rachel spoke with a blushing face, “I’m definitely not taking advantage of you! I’m only doing this to save you.”

“If you really think I’ve gone too far in doing this, taking advantage of you and ruining your innocence, I will be responsible for you!”

“I won’t deny it! Sethaden, I will really be responsible for you!”

After saying this, Rachel hugged him tighter, and she buried her face on his shoulder, looking as if she was warming him, but in fact, more so, hiding the shyness in her heart.

The fact is, even if she is big-hearted, she knows in her heart that it is not him, but her, a girl, who will suffer if she treats Sethaden like this.

If it was another man, no matter how good-looking he was, Rachel thought that if he was as sick as Sethaden, she would not be able to disregard the great defenses of men and women and warm him with her own body.

But for Sethaden

She just couldn’t watch him die.

It was true that she was somewhat attracted to him by his lustful looks, but more, she thought, because of those eyes of his.

There are stars in his eyes, but there is also pallor that sees through the world.

That kind of bleakness made her heart ache.

She wanted to soothe all the pallor in the young man's eyes, after which the ice and snow melted away and only the stars shone brightly for eternity.

Rachel's method of warming up Sethaden's body really worked, and soon, his body was no longer as cold as a block of ice.

Rachel touched Sethaden's forehead and felt that his fever didn't seem to be that bad anymore, a feeling of tiredness came over her and she also fell into a deep sleep.

The first light of the morning hit Rachel's side face, and she wrinkled her shapely brow before slowly opening her eyes.

She was still clothed wide open and clinging to Sethaden.

"Sethaden, how are you? Wake up!"

Rachel felt that his fever had gone down and she couldn't help but let out a long breath of relief.

She was just about to straighten her dress and get off him when she raised her face and noticed Sethaden's lips.

His lips are perfectly shaped and thin, but they don't feel thin, they just feel, with this curve, too good to be true.

Good to see and tempting.

Rachel swallowed hard, she was the prettiest girl in Pingliang, there was no shortage of young talents to pursue her, but no one really made her have half-hearted thoughts, but after she met Sethaden, she became a real lustful girl.

Always trying to take advantage of him.

Forget it, kiss him if you want to.

Always responsible for him anyway, no kiss for nothing.

Rachel leaned her face down and her lips went towards Sethaden's lips.

She actually wanted to kiss him in a slapdash manner, but after touching, she realised that, somehow, the two were, in fact, inseparable.

Rachel spat deeply at herself in her heart.

How can she take advantage of people like this!

People are still unconscious and she wants to eat their mouths out!

This is outrageous! It's outrageous!

Rachel felt that if she continued like this, she would be no different from the evil spirits in lust, and she hurriedly tried to leave his lips.

But it was inseparable.

And she realised that it was not she, it seemed, who was taking the initiative.

Chapter 1434

The person who took the most initiative was Sethaden.

Rachel's eyes were round with shock, he had actually woken up?

When Rachel raised her face, she met Sethaden's deep, dark eyes, her heart jumped. Was she taking advantage of someone and being caught red-handed?

Rachel was afraid that Sethaden would take her for a lustful beast, so she busily tried to explain.

"Sethaden, don't misunderstand! I definitely didn't intentionally take advantage of you."

"I"

Seeing that her lapel was still wide open, Rachel hurriedly straightened her clothes, she spoke with a flushing face, "Sethaden, you suddenly had a fever, you shouted that you were cold, I held you just to make you not so cold."

"I I said you were mine, and I certainly couldn't stand by and watch you freeze to death."

Sethaden licked the corner of his lips with intent, he stared with interest at the girl in front of him whose face was as blushing, "Oh? You took advantage of me last night, in order to save me?"

Rachel nodded her head, "Yes, I did it to save you! Look, after I saved you, your fever has gone!"

"So you stole a kiss from me to save me?"

Hearing that, Rachel's face instantly turned redder. She moved her lips, but she couldn't justifiably say something like kissing him to save him.

As if, stealing a kiss from someone can't really save their life.

It's really embarrassing.

"I"

I just thought you had really nice lips and I couldn't help it, so I kissed you.

This is too humiliating, Rachel can't say such things.

"I'll be responsible for you anyway!"

Rachel tried to suppress the shyness in her heart and spoke with boldness, "Sethaden, if I say I'm responsible for you, I'll treat you well in the future!"

Thinking of something, Rachel hastily pulled out the small bag she had hidden aside. She untied it to reveal a thick pile of notes.

"Sethaden, I'm rich! When we get to a safe place, I'll buy you a big house and hire you a few maids, I I can afford to raise you!"

Sethaden's eyes deepened, he knew that this girl had done this to him last night in order to save him.

On the rare occasion that he was moved to take responsibility for this girl, he was not averse to doing so.

It just didn't occur to him she had already taken the initiative to be responsible for him before he had even said the words to be responsible for her.

Well, this feeling of making someone else responsible for him seems to be not bad.

"I'm not easy to be raised." After a long silence, Sethaden's eyes were inexplicable as he spoke.

"You're a big eater, aren't you? It's okay, I really do have lots and lots of money! I'll make sure you're well fed and have a good life!"

Seeing that Sethaden did not say anything, but only stared at her thoughtfully, Rachel thought that he was still unhappy about the fact that she had taken advantage of him last night, she gently bit her lower lip and spoke somewhat brokenly, "Sethaden, last night, you actually did not suffer that much."

"In all my life, I've only ever kissed you."

Rachel's voice became lower and lower, and in the end, Sethaden could not even hear her voice directly.

She said something else, and he didn't notice, at this point, his mind was full of what she had just said.

She only ever kissed him.

He too, kissed only her.

"I'm at a disadvantage." Sethaden spoke.

"What?"

Rachel's face was full of tangles, she had already said that she had only kissed him, why did he still feel so disadvantaged?

"So, I have to kiss back."

Before Rachel could figure out what exactly Sethaden meant by this, she only felt a weight on her body and he was already pressing over.

The cool lips, still sweet with the sweetness of the peacock flower, fell heavily on her lips, as if, with one kiss, the earth would last forever.

When the people of Great Wei mention Sethaden, they would say, "A heavenly talent, a cold-blooded general!"

No one would have dared to think that the young general, who had frightened countless enemies and was most cold-blooded and ruthless, would also, shamelessly, take advantage of a young girl.

And, with relish.

Rachel was stunned by the kiss of Sethaden, but she was a fair person and she didn't want him to feel he was at a disadvantage all the time, after all, she was the one who took advantage of him in the first place, so she let him do it.

The kiss she had just given him was so short that she thought he would only kiss her for a few moments for about the same amount of time as she had just given him, but he did not stop.

Is it possible that he has to charge interest when he kisses back?

As if, when he owes a debt, he has to charge interest on it, and there doesn't seem to be anything wrong with him asking her to charge interest now.

Rachel was at a disadvantage, and even though she was short of oxygen from the kiss, she could only be good-natured and let him kiss her.

Later, she was more indescribably enchanted, as if she were riding on clouds, and her heart, almost, was floating.

She could never let him go for a lifetime.

Sethaden also wanted to never let go of Rachel for the rest of his life.

There are some people who, if they do not love, will never love one person in their lives.

But once they do, they would love the person forever.

At that time, Sethaden sincerely wanted to live a lifetime with this young girl, just later later, even though the love was deep, they could not be together as a lifetime.

Today, after taking another Peacock flower, the injuries on Sethaden's body are rapidly turning better.

Sethaden has been able to move freely, but, for now, he still does not dare to use his inner strength.

He was so badly injured this time that he had moved the root of the problem. Rachel hoped that he could take a few more days to recuperate inside the Valley of Flowers, but he was so worried about Kieran's situation that once he was able to stand and walk, he insisted on going down the mountain, despite her advice.

This time, the provisions sent from Jiangnan were destroyed on the way, and in Feng Ming Valley, they were ambushed by Emperor Wei's minions, and many more provisions were destroyed.

The 3,000 soldiers were on their way to the border, and he didn't know if the journey would be smooth.

If it goes well, these provisions may still be able to buy nearly half a month for Kieran's army, but if not, the 300,000 soldiers in the border city will really have to starve to death.

There is also the 100,000-strong army led by Xander that is besieging the Fitzgerald's army, the 30,000-strong personal army of Emperor Wei, and now, Emperor Wei's secret guards have also been deployed, so Kieran is in grave danger.

Sethaden's heart was burning with anxiety. He really wished to have wings and fly back to the barracks, but he did not have wings, instead he now had a sick and weak body.

When Sethaden arrived at the bottom of the mountain, Rachel bought him a green robe, and then booked a room at the largest inn in the city, so that he could freshen up and change his clothes.

Sethaden was born well as a child, dressed in military attire and with a heroic air.

In the green robe, he has lost some of the sharpness, but has more of a bookish atmosphere.

Watching him come out from behind the screen after dressing, Rachel couldn't help but think he was so good looking!

No, she has to hide him, otherwise, some young girl will definitely steal him from her!

Before Rachel could hide Sethaden, the official soldiers had surrounded this inn, and as the door of the room violently kicked open, a girl in a big red dress rushed in with a sword.

Chapter 1436

Sethaden knew that Ariella was not intentionally scaring him when she said those words.

The war on the front line is critical, the king is brutalizing the loyalists, the Fitzgerald army is now surrounded by enemies. Pingcheng is the closest city to the border city and has strong soldiers, if Pingcheng also helps the evil-doers, then stabbing the Fitzgerald army again, the 300,000 Fitzgerald army will sacrifice the border.

When Ariella saw that Sethaden was silent, she thought he was frightened by her words, so she continued, "Sethaden, I'm not threatening you, I just like you too much! Sethaden, marry me, okay?"

"If you have fulfilled my heart, I will also fulfill yours. I will help you save your father and the others together, so that the Fitzgerald army will survive!"

Hearing this from Ariella, Rachel could not help but feel nervous.

She was naughty as a child and often liked to sneak out of the palace and listen to many storytellers at the Listening House who told stories about the Great Wei Fitzgerald army.

She knew that the Great General of Hussar of the Great Wei was called Sethaden, but Sethaden was so legendary that she had never dared to associate the man she had saved with him, she thought that at most he would have the same name as the general, but now that she had heard Ariella talk about the Fitzgerald army in front of them, she realized that he and Sethaden did not have the same name, but were the same person.

No wonder he was so attractive to her. As it turned out, he was the young general she had admired for many years.

Rachel's heart was somewhat joyful, but more than that, she was still worried that he would try to win Ariella's heart because he cared about the safety of the Fitzgerald's army.

She had worshipped heroes since childhood, and the Fitzgerald army were all heroes. She hoped that the Fitzgerald army would become a legend for the ages and not be persecuted by a heartless emperor, but she also inexplicably did not want Sethaden to marry another girl just like that.

"Ariella, I can only love one person in my lifetime."

Rachel's heart beat wildly hearing that.

Was this one person he spoke of, was it her?

Ariella was instantly annoyed, "Sethaden, you've really been charmed by the fox! Fine, you're toasting for this fox, don't you regret it!"

Since Sethaden wouldn't take the soft option, Ariella was directly planning to play hardball with him, "Bring them back to me!"

Ariella took a step forward and only when she was almost on top of Sethaden did she stop slowly.

"Sethaden, there's nothing I can't get! Today, I want you, and you are destined to be my man!"

If it was in normal times, Ariella actually wouldn't dare to be so reckless as to have someone arrest Sethaden, but she could see that he was seriously injured, which is why she was so arrogant.

"Sethaden, I don't care who you've loved before, because, from now on, there can only be me in your heart and eyes!"

With that, Ariella raised her hand and instructed her men to arrest both Sethaden and Rachel.

Of course Rachel was unwilling to be captured, but Ariella had brought hundreds of well-trained soldiers with her this time, and with her little kung fu, she didn't even have a chance to resist before she was pinned to the ground.

"Stay away from her!"

Sethaden stepped forward, he raised his fist and knocked over the soldier who was holding Rachel, he then grabbed her hand and pulled her up from the ground.

He was badly injured internally and coughed up a large mouthful of blood instantly when he moved his fists and feet like that.

When Rachel saw that he had actually vomited blood, she was so anxious that she couldn't care less about the pain in her own body, she nervously grabbed his arm, "Sethaden, are you alright?"

"I'm fine."

Sethaden held Rachel's hand in his palm, his face with an obvious sickness, but being clutched by him like this, Rachel still felt that he was the most upright tree in her life.

"We will all be fine." Seemingly to reassure Rachel, Sethaden added this sentence.

Ariella's eyes are sinister and full of hostility, if they fall into her hands, they will definitely not have any good results, but for some reason, after hearing Sethaden's words, Rachel just can't help but believe that with him, they will be fine.

When he saw Ariella's minions pouncing on him again, trying to grab him and Rachel, Sethaden clutched Rachel's hand, and his long, straight legs stepped out.

"No need for you to do it, we'll go there ourselves."

It was clear that Sethaden and Rachel were at best prisoners, but inexplicably, he carried an aura of dominance, and Ariella's men involuntarily obeyed his orders, not daring to go any further.

Ariella really felt that her men were quite wimpy, but there was some inexplicable pride in her heart.

Sethaden, worthy of being the man she had been looking up to since she was a young girl, carries a submissive and kingly aura in his every move.

She likes him so much.

Soon after, Sethaden and Rachel were brought to her house.

Rachel was afraid that Ariella would use force on the sick Sethaden, and she wanted to guard him, but they would be forcibly separated as soon as they entered the house.

Of course Rachel was unwilling to part with Sethaden, but she was alone, and with dozens of generals suddenly rushing over, they had no power to resist.

Rachel was sent by Ariella's minions, to the compartment in the west courtyard. She wanted to go out to find Sethaden, but with dozens of soldiers guarding the door, it was difficult for her to escape.

"Let me out! I'm going to find Sethaden! I'm going to find him!"

Rachel was so anxious. On the way, Sethaden had vomited blood once more, Ariella was very skilled, if she wanted to take advantage of his danger, his current body would not be able to resist.

The thought that Ariella would also lie on top of Sethaden and kiss him, or even do something more intimate like she did this morning, made Rachel's heart sour and astringent, so uncomfortable that she could barely breathe.

"You just stay here!"

Seeing that Rachel was really making a lot of noise, the leader of this group of soldiers finally opened his mouth, "Today is a good day for our lady and General Sethaden, if you accidentally disturb them, that next year, today will be the anniversary of your death!"

"Good day? What good day?!"

"Wedding day, what good day do you think it is?!" The leader snorted, without the pride and righteousness of a soldier, but full of lewdness, "I'm only afraid that by now, General Sethaden has already fallen drunk in the tender land of our lady!"

Hearing the leader's words, Rachel became even more anxious, and with force in her hands, she tried to push away the soldiers who were in front of her, "I'm going to find him! I can't let Ariella get away with this!"

"Oh, you shouldn't have time to bother our lady and General Sethaden! Our lady has said that tonight is a good night for her, and she can't let you be lonely, so she has also found a good man for you, and soon, Mr. Chow will come over to spend the night with you!"

Chapter 1437

Mr. Chow?

What Mr. Chow?

Rachel's face was somber, although she had not met the what's-his-name Mr. Chow that these people were talking about, but he was in cahoots with Ariella, she knew that what's-his-name Mr. Chow would not be a good person.

Rachel soon met the legendary Mr. Chow.

This Mr. Chow, Ariella's cousin, fat and covered in perfume, so he looks like someone who has been with different women for years.

Rachel almost vomited when she looked at that Mr. Chow's oily sausage mouth.

She is not stupid, apart from being slightly slow in the feelings of men and women, in other respects she is intelligent.

Seeing this Mr. Chow, Rachel instantly understood that she was used by Ariella to please her cousin.

"Beauty"

Barney Chow only heard Ariella say that she had brought him back a woman, he actually did not have much expectation, after all, those beauties she used to please him before was really average, so he thought, this time what she brought him back was only a fair-looking woman, but to his surprise, it was such a great beauty.

Barney swallowed hard, Pingcheng has a lot of sand and wind, and the skin of Pingcheng women is mostly rough, so it is rare to see a beauty with tender skin in Pingcheng.

Rachel in front of him at this time had a pretty face and a nice body shape.

Barney stretched out his hand to Rachel's face, he felt that a touch of her tender face could make his body go soft.

"Get out of the way!"

Rachel looked at his hand that was getting closer and closer to her, her heart was so disgusted that she almost didn't hold it in and vomited all over his face.

People are so different from each other.

Being touched by Sethaden, Rachel liked it from the bottom of her heart, but Barney hadn't even touched her yet, and looking at his disgusting face already gave her goose bumps.

"Where do you want me to go, beauty?"

Barney did not feel the least bit upset about being disliked, he pulled out a smile that he thought was suave and looked obsessively at Rachel, "Beauty, I'll, right now, go into your arms!"

In her 18 years of life, this was the first time she had seen such a shameless man.

Barney seemed to think that the idea of going into Rachel's arms was really good, and he lifted his feet and, with his round body, walked towards her arms.

Rachel gritted her teeth, he if got into her arms, she'd be covered in fat! It was disgusting to think about!

Rachel shook off the goose bumps with great force, and with a nimble movement of her body, she let Barney pounce in the air.

Barney failed to take her into his arms, he picked up and lunged at her again. Rachel was so disgusted that she grabbed a stool off to the side and smashed it into him.

Barney was too fat and his body was a bit clumsy. He failed to dodge Rachel's attack and was hit squarely by the stool she threw, causing him to cry out in pain.

Barney has never been one to show mercy to women. Relying on his aunt's husband Marcel's power, he has caused a lot of mischief in Pingcheng, harming many virtuous girls and causing a lot of deaths. His family defends him, so he never changed but became more rampant.

He was used to being on the rampage in Pingcheng, he could not stand to be tossed around like this by girl!

Immediately, his fat-faced face turned gloomy.

He stared coldly at Rachel and spoke word by word, "How dare you hit me! Fine, since you don't obey, then don't blame me for not knowing how to show mercy!"

As he said that, a gun appeared in his hand like a magic trick, he raised the gun in his hand, the corners of his lips hooked, sinister and cold, "Serve me well today, or I will immediately make you a dead soul under my gun!"

Rachel's eyebrows jumped, she hadn't really thought that he would have a gun on him.

She was a poor fighter, and she had no counter-attacking power against such weapons.

When Barney saw that Rachel did not say anything and just stood quietly in place, he thought that she was frightened by the gun in his hand, he decided to let her go at the right time, "Beauty, don't be afraid, as long as you obey my words and make me comfortable, tonight, not only will I not take your life, I will also give you endless glory and wealth!"

With that, Barney began to undo the clothes on his own body.

Rachel found that there were some people that every time she looked at them more, her heart would be intoxicated, like Sethaden.

But there are those who, with each additional glance, she would turn her stomach, like the man in front of her.

She had, in fact, only just met Sethaden for a short time, but as soon as they separated, she already started to miss him.

It was inconvenient to undress with the gun, and Barney put it aside before continuing his own movements.

"Beauty, don't worry, I am here to love you!"

Love my ass!

Rachel was so disgusted that she wanted to roll her eyes, but she didn't try to play fast and loose with Barney anymore, instead she stared at the gun he had placed on the bed with dead eyes.

If she gets the gun, the domination will also fall into her hands.

"Sir, don't scare me, I'll serve you well tonight!"

Rachel suppressed the strong urge to vomit and then spoke, "Sir, when I see the gun you're holding, my body trembles, I'm afraid I won't be able to let you have fun later, so can you throw the gun farther away so as not to scare me?"

Rachel said such disgusting words for the first time in her life, but she found that it would have an unexpected effect. Barney was so charmed by her that he was sure she wouldn't dare to make a move on his turf, he simply threw the gun aside.

"Is that okay, Beauty?"

"Okay." Rachel moved in the direction of the gun while continuing to say disgusting words, "Sir, come, let me undress you!"

Rachel grabbed a piece of gauze and wrapped it around Barney's eye.

Barney laughed so hard that his fat body trembled, he really didn't expect that this beauty was a person who knew how to be affectionate.

He closed his eyes gleefully and waited to have some fun with this beauty for a bit of eroticism.

After wrapping Barney's eyes around her, Rachel didn't dare to delay in the slightest, as she nimbly stepped forward, she grabbed the gun that he had thrown on the ground.

"Come on, Beauty! Come into my arms!"

Seeing Barney smiling with an obscene smile, stretching his hands all over the room, Rachel could no longer suppress the disgust in her heart, she violently raised the gun in her hand and threatened him, "Don't move! Otherwise, I'll shoot you now!"

Chapter 1439

Noticing Sethaden's movement, the three generals were startled.

They all have quite an affinity with the Fitzgerald family, but none of them have ever met Sethaden.

They had only heard of the young and famous Great General of Hussar from the mouths of others.

Legend has it that General Sethaden is cold-blooded and ruthless, not close to women and claimed to be allergic to them.

The people of Great Wei are open-minded, and the Emperor's favourite young princess, who deliberately fell into his arms at the palace's Mid-Autumn Banquet, did not expect him to turn his stomach at once.

Everyone said that the reason the General of Hussar was such a misogynist was because he liked men.

Kieran and Freya have two sons and a daughter.

Sethaden and Jayla are twin, along with Alistair, the young general who is two years younger than them.

Jayla had a relationship with Leo, the youngest chief minister since the founding of the Great Wei State, who was the first scholar at the age of 13.

The three generals did not know how Jayla and Leo met, but they had heard that earlier this year, Leo had proposed to the Fitzgerald family for marriage, who, to their surprise, was flatly rejected by Jayla.

When Jayla rebuffed Leo's marriage, she also dragged the girl from the Birkin family with her.

She said that in her life, she only wanted to spend it with Sophia.

As for Alistair, the third child of Kieran and Freya

He ran to the Birkin family every day, and was so close to Brian. Since child, Alistair liked to be Brian.

The Fitzgerald family is the pride and sorrow of Great Wei.

After all, the story the Fitzgerald family makes people feel sad when they think about it.

There are only three children in this generation of the Fitzgerald family, and each one of them is gay!

General Lowe and General Lee, who had been worried that there would be no heir to their benefactor's family, both of them chatted about this matter during the week, and said that the only thing they could do was to sigh.

After all, they could not stop what was happening!

They were now quite relieved to see that Sethaden had finally stopped turning his stomach to the girl.

They both glanced at each other, intent on getting rid of Barney, an obtrusive and stupid thing, so as not to disturb the only son of the benefactor who was not a gay.

As soon as General Lowe grabbed Barney by the shoulders, he dragged him towards the outside of the room.

Barney trembled, "General Lowe, spare my life! You are one of my uncle's men, if you do this to me, my uncle won't spare you!"

Hearing Barney's voice, Rachel hurriedly burst out of Sethaden's embrace with a flushing face.

When General Lowe saw that Barney had disturbed Sethaden, he really wanted to shoot him.

Marcel is nothing!

The reason they were willing to stay under Marcel for so many years was simply because of the official position they held.

They had been taught from their childhood to be loyal and patriotic, and their position, as deputy generals of Pingcheng, naturally required them to do their part.

Even when Marcel was brutal to the people, they never disobeyed him and only did their best to protect the people's well-being.

So, even though their years of operation had given them real power in Pingcheng, they had never been half-hearted against the State of Great Wei, but the emperor was unscrupulous and foreign enemies were at hand, and instead of driving out the Huns, they wanted to kill the loyalists!

The emperor only wants to kill the Fitzgerald army, but has he ever thought that if Wei were really without the Fitzgerald army, how many more days of peace would Wei have?

The horsemen of the Huns could trample through the great mountains of Great Wei at any moment!

When the time comes, corpses will be strewn across the land, people will be displaced, homes will not be homes, and the country will be on a path of no return.

Loyalty and patriotism are not foolish loyalties, and when the country is in distress, they absolutely cannot stand by and watch the heartless emperor, while the two countries are at war, decapitate the pillars of the nation first!

They all knew that by going to support Kieran this time, in the eyes of the emperor, their actions would be tantamount to conspiracy to rebel.

But to protect this great country, to guard their home, so what to rebel!

Even if they are branded as traitors by the Emperor of Wei, they can still stand up to the conscience, and to all the people of this world!

Seeing that General Lowe had not the slightest intention of letting go of him, Barney trembled more and more, and the anger on his face, however, became more and more arrogant.

"Let go of me now!" Barney glared viciously at General Lowe, "Believe it or not, I'll go to my uncle right now and ask him to remove you from your position and then ask him to hand you over to me for disposal, I promise, I'll torture you so much!"

"Then we must also see if Marcel has the ability to do so!" General Lowe didn't take Barney's threat into account in the slightest, as he increased the force in his hand, intending to throw him out directly.

General Lee felt that Barney was an eyesore and kicked him out of the window, "What's the point of talking nonsense to this fool! It's important to let General Sethaden to have heir to the family!"

Rachel, "....."

She had only kissed Sethaden, how did it rise to such a high level as having heir to the family?

Rachel could not understand General Lee's brain, and she could only watch as they respectfully closed the door to the room and quietly retreated.

Without Barney's ghostly cries, the room was suddenly a lot quieter, but Rachel and Sethaden did nothing. Barney was incontinent and the smell in the room was too strong, they did not have the courage to stay on.

Although the three generals had promised to help and they had placed Marcel and the others under house arrest, it was not a matter of time before they could reorganise their troops and rush to the border city.

The three generals also knew that the situation in the border was critical and they promised to reorganise their troops overnight and set off to support the Fitzgerald army in the border early tomorrow morning.

With the promise of the three generals, the dark clouds hovering over Sethaden's heart were finally clearing.

Sethaden took Rachel to the guest room in the east courtyard of the house. With the three generals, he could rest tonight, after all, he was wounded and he didn't want to drag everyone down on the road.

"Sethaden, you haven't praised me yet! Am I very brave tonight?"

Rachel hugged Sethaden's arm, her big eyes were crystal clear, she looked like she was begging for praise, "He wanted to take advantage of me, but he didn't even touch a single finger of mine, instead he was scared by me and became incontinent, just thinking about it makes me feel so powerful myself."

"Sethaden, tell me, am I good?"

"Well, you're very good." Distinct hoarseness coloured Sethaden's voice, as if he was trying desperately to suppress something.

Rachel heard the difference in his voice, she looked at him worriedly and spoke, "Sethaden, what's wrong with you? Why do you sound so strange? Is there something wrong with you again?"

"You go in the next room!"

Sethaden's voice was getting mute, and the temperature of his body was getting hotter and hotter. After he quietly contacted the three generals, he turned passive into active and made Ariella and her father prisoners, but he really didn't expect that Ariella had drugged him!

Chapter 1440

Go to the next room?

There are two beds in this room, although there is defense between men and women, but since Rachel has already treated Sethaden as her person, the two of them share the same room and different beds, she thinks it is actually nothing.

Besides, now that he was wounded, it was convenient for her to live over here and take care of him, although she really wasn't much of a caregiver.

Seeing an abnormal redness on Sethaden's handsome face, Rachel thought that his injury had worsened again, and she was so anxious that her eyes turned red, "Sethaden, your wound is hurting again, isn't it? Don't worry, I'll go and get you a doctor now."

"No need!"

Sethaden pulled Rachel, and after touching her hands, the heat in his body burned harder and harder.

He shook off her hand in a hurry and pushed her towards the outside of the room, "Get out!"

He looked really bad at the moment, and Rachel really couldn't figure out why he didn't want to see a doctor.

She stared at him for a long moment with red eyes, and then it dawned on her when she met his slightly trembling hands, his increasingly red face.

He must have some hidden disease in his body, but given a matter of manly dignity, he would not like the doctor to see it!

Yes, that must be it!

With this thought, Rachel's heart ached even more.

He was her man, and he looked so handsome and beautiful, how could he have a bloody hidden disease!

However, no matter what unspeakable hidden disease he had, since she had decided that he was hers, she would never abandon him in her life.

Rachel ignored Sethaden's objections as she re-embraced his hand and spoke sincerely and honestly, "Sethaden, I'm not going to get a doctor for you, I know you want to save your reputation and don't want the doctor to see that you have a hidden disease."

"But I don't mind, I really don't, let me stay and take care of you, okay? You're my person, how could I not care about you! As I told you, I'll be responsible for you!"

Seemingly feeling that her words were not sincere enough, after a slight pause, Rachel hurriedly spoke again, "I know you've been hurt badly this time, but don't worry, even if you're too hurt to even be a man, I'll still support you!"

Sethaden was just afraid that he could not suppress the medicine would hurt her and ruin her innocence, only then did he drive her to the next room. How come somehow it rose to the point that he could not be a man anymore?

What is this girl thinking?

Seeing that Sethaden did not say anything, only that his ears were so red that they glowed brightly, Rachel knew that what she had just said was right.

She tilted her head gently, racking her brain for ways to comfort him.

Forget it, give a hug first.

Rachel stepped forward and gently embraced him, her head gently pressed against his heart, "Sethaden, believe me, I really won't abandon you."

"Have you ever heard the story of the eldest princess of the Southern Kingdom and her husband?"

"It's okay if you haven't heard of it, I can tell you about it."

"This princess is beautiful and is at an age when she is ready for marriage."

“Despite the opposition of her father and mother, she insisted on having the young eunuch as her husband. All the people despised the marriage between the Southern Imperial Princess and the young eunuch, and everyone thought that it wouldn’t take long for the Southern Imperial Princess to divorce him, but then, it’s been more than ten years since her wedding, and now she is still in love with her husband.”

“Sethaden, we can do it too.”

Sethaden, “.....” He was just drugged by Ariella, what does it have to do with eunuch?!

Sethaden was not stupid, he soon figured out that this girl was using the story of the Southern Imperial Princess to comfort him!

The girl probably really thought he was wounded as a eunuch!

If only he was really a eunuch, he wouldn’t have been unable to control himself and wanted to hold her under his body tonight.

However, he is not a eunuch, but a fierce tiger.

“Sethaden, you have to believe me, you are mine, I will only love you, I will never resent you.”

“Don’t touch me!”

When Sethaden saw Rachel trying to hug him again, he hurriedly shook off her hand and dodged to the side. Looking at her delicate face, he could not control himself, and if he was touched by her again, he could not restrain the tiger living in his body.

Being shaken off by Sethaden, Rachel was not angry.

She was only more and more sure of what she had in mind.

Look, he’s got such low self-esteem, he must have hurt. He’s such a proud man, so badly hurt that he can’t even be a man anymore, how sad and desperate he must be!

Rachel was so heartbroken.

She wanted to hug him even more.

“Sethaden, I’m going to touch you!”

She stubbornly pressed herself into his arms and kept rubbing her face against his heart, “Sethaden, I know you’re having a hard time, but in life, there are no hurdles you can’t overcome, I’m here with you!”

“Sethaden, this Peacock flower can only be taken once a day, the effect of healing wounds is limited, I will give you some wound medicine.”

Rachel saw that there was sore medicine in the room, so she hastily took a bottle and walked over with a light smile, “Sethaden, take off your clothes! I can’t put medicine on you with your clothes on!”

Sethaden had now changed into clean clothes to cover the wounds on his body, but she could not forget the miserable state he was in when she first saw him, covered in blood.

She hadn't even treated his wounds properly yet, she thought, and tonight, carefully medicated every wound on his body.

When she had warmed him up in that valley behind the water curtain earlier, she had undressed him but hadn't bothered to look at his private part, and now it seemed that he must have been badly hurt there too. It wasn't good to be secretive about it when it came to healing, and she thought she should give him medicine there.

When she thought of medicating him there, Rachel's face couldn't help but flush. She hadn't seen that part of a man yet, but he was her man, what was his was hers, he was hurt, she always had to take care of his.

Seeing that Sethaden was still sitting upright, Rachel was afraid of delaying his injury and could not help but feel anxious.

"Sethaden, you'd better take it off! How can I medicate you if you don't take it off!"

Rachel knew that Sethaden's lack of action must be because he was too thin-skinned.

Rachel was actually shy, but, she could be as thick-skinned as she wanted to be as soon as she gritted her teeth.

She put the medicine on a side table and reached out to pull his belt, "Forget it, I'd better help you!"

"Let go!"

Sethaden pressed Rachel's hand to keep her from moving, but she just took it as him being shy and inferior and not willing to let her see his injury there, but of course she would not give in so easily.

She slapped his hand away, her face getting more and more flushing, but she still forced herself to put on a dashing and wanton look, "Sethaden, stop it! I said I'd be responsible for you since I kissed you! Even if your... your dick is cut off, I will still marry you!"