

Talented 801

Chapter 801

When Joanna learns that Regina is pregnant, she forces Kieran to accompany her to her maternity check-up.

Kieran really doesn't have a special hobby of accompanying Regina to her maternity check-ups, but he just can't stand the way Joanna cries, so he can only tokenistically accompany her around the hospital.

Today Regina didn't really need to do any maternity check-ups, she just wanted to see Kieran, so she still asked him to accompany her to the hospital under the guise of a maternity check-up.

After a brief examination, Regina wanted to clean her name in front of Kieran.

She knew that in his mind she was a vicious and repulsive woman who only set people up.

It is true that she is not a good person, but every woman wants to be innocent in the eyes of the man she loves.

She and he would soon be married, they were together for life, so how could she let her impression in his mind stop at the vicious snake!

Impressions can all be reversed.

Fern is a great tool for her to clear her name.

She knew that Fern was staying at this hospital, she wanted to bring Kieran over to see Fern, and then she would act like a great person in front of Fern, her kindness would surely be seen by him.

Most importantly, the whole world now knows that Freya is a villain and forced Fern to commit suicide by jumping off a building.

The viciousness of Freya will make her image even more glorious and taller, and in contrast, Kieran will be impressed with her!

With this in mind, Regina brought Kieran and her assistant Pheobe along to the inpatient ward, intending to act as a caring woman and offer her condolences to Fern, and then unknowingly, have Fern expose Freya's evil deeds.

Because she had been going to such great lengths to try to improve her relationship with Kieran, she hadn't even bothered to check her phone after she entered the hospital, and had no idea that the situation had now been completely reversed online.

Seeing so many reporters surrounding Fern's family, the corners of Regina's lips lifted up in a decent smile, intending to put on a good show in front of the media, too.

Soon, she will be Kieran's wife in name only, and from now on, she will have to show her temperament in every move she makes.

Before she could reach Fern, she heard Douglas' shrill cry, "Miss Wells, help! They are deliberately setting me up! You must help me! Miss Wells, help me!"

Regina frowned slightly, although she didn't know what had gone wrong in the middle of this, her intuition told her that things seemed to be going differently than she expected.

Regina has always acted cautiously, and since she could sense that things had changed, she would not easily take risks with her image.

The best thing to do now is to pretend that she doesn't know Douglas and leave quickly with Kieran.

However, the reporters had noticed them and it was impractical for her to leave now.

She could only observe her surroundings in silence while walking in the direction of Douglas with a calm face.

"Miss Wells, you must save me! I'm doing all this for your Court, you can't let me go to jail!"

Douglas tried to grab Regina's hand so that his plea would look more sincere, but the policeman had a death grip on his shoulder and he couldn't hold on to Regina.

Listening to Douglas' words, Regina frowned more.

She was indeed the mastermind behind letting him frame Freya and Freddie, but she wouldn't even personally step in for such a dirty deed. She didn't expect this Douglas to be really capable of finding his way to her.

Although she doesn't want to pay any attention to Douglas, it's important to do a face-saving in front of the media.

She half-crouched down and gently asked Fern, "Fern, how are you doing? I've been wanting to come over to see you, sorry, I've been too busy lately and only now have I had time to come over to see you."

Regina tried to clutch Fern's hand to make herself appear a little more approachable, but Fern's rejection of her was particularly obvious, and she had already shrunk her hand behind her back before she even touched it.

Regina's face didn't look uncomfortable as she gently helped Fern fix her bangs, "Poor Fern, you've really suffered! Don't worry, Freddie and Freya bullied you so much, the law will definitely give you justice!"

"Miss Wells, hurry up and save me! Or else I'll be taken back to the police station! Miss Wells, I've helped you, you can't let me bear the consequences alone!"

Just now when Douglas said that he did all this for Court, the reporters had already noticed that this matter was unusual, and now after hearing this, it was even clearer to them instantly that the frame-up of Freddie and Freya seemed that Court, or rather the Court's boss, Regina, was the mastermind behind it.

Looking at Regina, who looked like a gentle and benign white lotus, the crowd at the scene sighed.

Regina's reputation, always good, was such that they really didn't want to believe she would do such an unorthodox thing, but there was a rivalry between Court and World.

This is especially true for the finals of the International Costume Design Competition, where Court and World, have to go through a battle.

And this time, with the Fern incident, public opinion has been directed towards Freddie and Freya as the worst offenders, yelling for Freddie to get out of the finals.

If Freddie is disqualified from the competition, who will benefit the most?

It's Court!

Everyone knows that Freddie is the biggest obstacle to Robin's title win, and without him, Robin can win without a fight!

It is possible that Court will try every possible way to destroy Freya and destroy Freddie.

"Mr. Knight, I'm sorry, I don't understand what you're talking about. If I remember correctly, between me and you, there is no intercourse." Regina straightened up, and she raised her chin, looking as if she wanted to draw a clear line with Douglas.

Regina is desperate to clear up her relationship with Douglas, but the reporters don't buy her words.

The reporter with graying hair looked righteously at Regina and questioned, "Miss Wells, I would like you to answer a few questions for me. Why did Douglas say that he helped you to harm people? Could it be that you really instructed him to frame Freya and Freddie?!"

As that old reporter spoke, other reporters also scrambled to ask, "Yes Miss Wells, Douglas said he did all this for your Court. Is this an unfair competition tactic adopted by you?!"

"Miss Wells, knowing that Douglas has a tendency to abuse children, you still let him push the children down the stairs to achieve his own unseemly purpose, doesn't your conscience hurt?"

Chapter 802

"I didn't!"

Regina shook her head blankly and innocently, and after Pheobe whispered a few words in her ear, she finally got the general picture of what was going on now.

Douglas is all over!

She had gone to great lengths to trap Freya, but in the end, she had done World a favour!

Without forcing Freddie out of the competition and completely destroying Freya and World, Regina was naturally not resigned.

But she is someone who has been through a lot, and this little thing is not enough to bring her down.

Suppressing all the anger in her heart, Regina calmed down as she looked at the reporter in front of her with unparalleled sincerity, "I really don't know what Douglas is talking about!"

"I will come over to see Fern today only because I sympathize with her and want to give her some warmth! I have not given money to Douglas, let alone conspired with him to hurt Freya and Freddie!"

“Yes, Court and World are in competition, and in the next finals of the International Fashion Design Competition, our designers will also have to fight against Freddie. But whether I lose or win, I will always be honest and open, I won’t do this kind of dirty things that are unseemly!”

“I hope everyone can trust me and not just believe Douglas’ one-sided words, I don’t do anything wrong, I have a clear conscience!”

Regina’s words were so righteous that many reporters were taken aback by her, plus she really maintained her image so well on a regular basis that almost most of them already believed that she was innocent.

“Miss Wells, it really wasn’t you who instructed Douglas?”

“If there was no deal between you and Douglas, how could he accuse you and how could he let you save him?”

Regina’s face did not change, “I swear to God, there is no deal between me and Douglas. As for him asking me to save him, I don’t know why. He made a mistake and should be punished, and I believe that comrade police will make the most just decision.”

Regina shrugged off all responsibility, but Douglas was not easy to be bullied.

Regina is the only driftwood he’s got hold of, and he knows he won’t escape this prison sentence if he doesn’t make the most of it, so he must hold on for dear life!

“Miss Wells, you can’t leave me alone! I worked for you and now I’m in trouble and you do nothing!”

“Douglas, why do you always accuse me? You made a mistake, so you should bear the consequences, this kind of mind of yours that always thinks of pulling others down is really dirty!” Regina slightly raised her chin with a sacrosanct look, “Douglas, I hope you can reflect on the mistakes you’ve made and atone for them properly, instead of thinking about how to go around accusing me!”

“I don’t think Miss Wells really looks like someone who would do such a thing! We’ve already misunderstood Freya and Freddie, if we misunderstand Miss Wells again, then we’re really blind!”

“Yes, without finding out the truth, we can’t misunderstand Miss Wells on the basis of Douglas’ one-sided words!”

“I also believe that Miss Wells is open and honest and would not do such unseemly things!”

.....

Listening to the chatter of the reporters around her, the corners of Regina’s lips could not be controlled to rise.

Coupled with the fact that the police had forcibly taken Douglas away, she knew that the crisis in her body had been lifted.

Regina’s hand placed gently over her belly, trying to direct attention to the baby in her belly, when suddenly a reporter couldn’t help but exclaim.

“Look, everyone, what is it!”

Hearing that young reporter's words, the reporters on the scene all quickly took out their own phones and clicked on the screenshots that were all over the internet.

Regina also realised that this was unusual and, pulling out her own phone, she tapped into her browser.

When she saw those screenshots popping up on the home page, Regina's face suddenly turned pale.

Transfer records!

Those screenshots, surprisingly, are all transfer records!

There, indeed, was no screenshot of her direct transfer to Douglas, who received the 500,000, which was transferred to him anonymously by Pheobe, but three days earlier, she had transferred 500,000 to Pheobe!

She thought that after such a turnaround, even if the police would look into it, they wouldn't find her out, but to her surprise, someone had exposed the records of her transfers to Pheobe as well!

Who on World would want to help Freya harm her like that?

Jaden, who had just exploded these screenshots, was innocent and pure. He had only hacked a few computers, hacked the browser and made everyone loop through these screenshots, had he done anything wrong?

Seeing this almost solid evidence, even if Regina was calm, her face went pale.

She moved her lips, and before she could think of a word to defend herself, several reporters had already shouted out in excitement.

"Miss Wells, please give us an explanation, you said there was no shady dealings between you and Douglas, why did these screenshots of the transfers explode on the internet?!"

"Yes, Miss Wells, we all want an explanation! What is this transfer of half a million all about? Is it really true that you hired Douglas to set up Freya and Freddie?"

"Bright and open? I'm sorry, Miss Wells, I really don't see the brightness and frankness in what you've done! Please explain clearly why you transferred this half a million to Pheobe?!"

"Miss Wells, we're all willing to trust you, but you can't betray our trust! Please these screenshots!"

.....

"I"

Regina's face was as white as paper, she knew that she had met a master. Pheobe was anonymous and all of them could be exposed by someone with her real name, plus the screenshots of her transfer to Pheobe, no matter what she said, it was all sophistry!

She lifted her face and looked for help at Kieran, who was standing aside. As she expected, there was no reflection of her in his eyes; he was completely unconcerned with everything about her.

Regina's heart throbs with pain, a man does not love a woman, which is really extraordinarily cruel, whether she is good or bad, for him, there is no meaning!

Kieran is unwilling to help her, so she can only find a way to save herself.

She's used to being on top, she can't let a little thing like that get her down!

"Miss Wells, please give us an explanation!"

"Miss Wells, we need an explanation!"

"Miss Wells, if it's really you who found someone to frame Freya and Freddie, we hope you'll apologise to them!"

"Apologize! Apologize to Freya!"

"Apologize!"

.....

The only voices left on the scene were the ones asking her to apologise, Regina bit her lip to death, she could apologise to everyone in the world, but not to Freya!

Wanting her to bow down to Freya, dream on!

But what the hell is she supposed to do to turn things around?!

Chapter 803

If it were anyone else, caught in such an embarrassing situation and being pressed by so many reporters, they might have really broken down.

But Regina's mental strength cannot be compared to that of ordinary people.

She too had a brief breakdown, but after taking a few hard breaths, she quickly calmed down.

Almost at the same time, she had also thought of the perfect response.

"I did transfer half a million to Pheobe." Regina spoke calmly and unmistakably.

The reporters were busy trying to hear the truth from Regina's mouth, and when she spoke, the scene was instantly silent.

In the large corridor, only the sound of Regina's voice could be heard.

"A few days ago, I transferred half a million to Pheobe, that screenshot is real, I really transferred money to her." Regina emphasized again about transferring money to Pheobe.

Hearing this from her, that old reporter couldn't help but ask, "Miss Wells, are you admitting that you ordered Douglas?!"

"I did transfer money to Pheobe, but I didn't ask her to hire Douglas."

The reporters at the scene didn't expect Regina to say that, so they asked, "Miss Wells, what do you mean by that? Are you trying to pass the buck?"

"Yeah, Pheobe obviously hired Douglas with that money, there's no way you didn't know that! It's too degrading for you to say such things now!"

“It’s time to reflect and admit when you’ve done something wrong, we all feel bad for you when you keep avoiding responsibility!”

.....

These reporters’ words are quite sharp, but Regina’s face is not half embarrassed, she raises her eyelids, revealing her elegance and reserve.

“I really didn’t know that Pheobe would have given the money to Douglas. I gave her this money so that she could give her mother medical treatment.”

“She told me that her mother was seriously ill but she was short of money on hand, she was my assistant, someone I trusted, I wanted to help her, so I transferred her half a million.”

Pheobe suddenly stared at her eyes, did not have thought that Regina would put all the blame on her.

Naturally she didn’t want to be blamed, but this seemed like the best way to deal with it.

The screenshots have already been exposed on the internet, and she can’t escape the charge of bribing Douglas, so instead, she will be a loyal servant for once and take all the blame for Regina.

That way, with Regina in her hands, she would not dare to treat her badly, and she could take advantage of the opportunity to ask for a sum of money, leave the country, and live her a free and easy life.

With this thought, Pheobe gritted her teeth and simply flung herself onto her knees.

“I’m sorry!”

Pheobe’s eyes were tinged with hazy tears, “Miss Wells, I’m sorry that I lied to you, I failed you!”

“In fact, my mother wasn’t sick at all, I only asked you to borrow money to bribe Douglas and get back at Freddie and Freya!”

“I’ve had a personal grudge against them, and seeing their development getting better and better, I was upset! I wanted to pull them down, so I used Douglas and tried to ruin their reputation!”

“I know that World is their entire heart and soul, and if it is destroyed, their future, too, will be completely destroyed by my hands! And this finals is so vital to World that I want to make sure they don’t even have a chance of making it to the finals!”

“Pheobe, how could you do such a thing?” Regina looked incredulous, her face filled with shock and disappointment, “Do you know that by doing this, you almost destroyed Freya and Freddie! It’s not right for you to do that!”

“I’m not wrong!” Pheobe put on an act of righteous indignation as she continued to ramble on, “Alisha was my best friend, but Freya destroyed her! Alisha was killed by Freya, why should she still be alive and well?!”

“I’m just going to ruin her and destroy Freddie who helped her time and time again! She should pay for what she’s done!”

“Pheobe, you” Regina looked as if she was frightened by this vicious and mad look of Pheobe, “How can you say such words! Alisha has done a lot of evil, and she will die because she is to blame.”

Pheobe and Alisha did not have much of a friendship and she did not feel anything at all when Regina bad-mouthed her.

But to put on a realistic show, she put on a look of utter rage.

She jerked up from the floor and slapped Regina hard in her face.

“Regina, I call you Miss Wells, you really think you’re noble, don’t you? Who gave you permission to talk about Alisha like that? Alisha is my best friend, anyone who dares to say a word about her is an enemy of me!”

With that, Pheobe raised her hand and made a gesture to hit Regina again.

The reporters at the side couldn’t stand to see it anymore and hurriedly went up to pull Pheobe to save her from hurting Regina again.

From the beginning to the end, Kieran stood coldly on the sidelines, watching the drama.

A layer of frost hung over the noble man’s body from top to bottom, as if Regina was nothing more than a clown, and no matter how much she pounced, she could not enter his eyes.

Originally, the reporters at the scene still thought it was possible that Regina had instructed Pheobe to transfer money to Douglas, but now after hearing the conversation between the two of them, especially after Pheobe gave her that slap, she instantly changed from a suspect to an innocent victim.

“Miss Wells is so pitiful, to have such an ungrateful woman by her side!”

“Yes, Miss Wells was kind enough to give her money to help her out of a difficult situation, but not only did she not get gratitude, she slapped Miss Wells instead! It’s true that people’s hearts are unpredictable!”

“Just now we even put all the fault on Miss Wells, we are sorry to Miss Wells!”

“Miss Wells, I’m sorry, we’ve just wronged you, I sincerely apologize to you!”

“Miss Wells, I’m sorry!”

.....

For a moment, the large corridor was filled with voices apologising to Regina.

Seeing that she had not only washed away her filth, but had also earned herself a good reputation, Regina’s mood soared with glee.

She gave Pheobe a look that reassured her, she had never been a petty person. Pheobe took all the blame for her this time, naturally she would not treat Pheobe badly!

Although her heart was so happy, Regina still put on a hard and sad face.

“Pheobe, I always thought that we were friends too.”

Speaking here, Regina's voice couldn't control choked up, "So, all along, it was me who made a fool of myself."

"My friends in the media, I'm sorry, although I'm not directly involved in this matter, it is not unconnected to me. If I hadn't transferred money to Pheobe, all this wouldn't have happened."

She gently stroked her belly, "I've been a little unwell lately and have been so busy nurturing my baby that I really didn't expect so much to happen in the outside world."

Chapter 804

The reporters were already full of guilt towards Regina, and now that they heard her pitiful voice, they felt even more kindly towards her.

See how generous Regina is!

It was obvious that they had misunderstood her and she humbly apologised to them!

She is worthy of the first lady recognized by high society!

While admiring Regina, the group also captured the gist of her words with precision.

Was she pregnant?

Didn't she already break up with Simon? Then whose child is that in her belly?

Nowadays, netizens prefer to pay attention to the gorgeous families than the celebrities, and with news as big as Regina's pregnancy, it's sure to earn a lot of traffic!

"Miss Wells, are you pregnant?!"

"Miss Wells, can we take the liberty of asking, who is the father?"

"Miss Wells, how long have you been pregnant?"

Hearing the voices of the reporters around her, Regina hastily covered her mouth, acting as if she had accidentally let her mouth slip earlier.

"I"

"Miss Wells, may I ask if you and Simon have really broken up?"

"Why do I get the feeling that you haven't really broken up with Simon? Is Simon coming over today to accompany you on maternity leave?"

Looking at Kieran, who was standing beside Regina in his suit, for a moment, the reporters' eyes were focused on him.

"Simon, may I ask if you ran into Miss Wells unintentionally today, or did you come over to accompany her on her maternity checkup?!"

"Simon, does Freya know you came to the hospital today?"

"Simon, may I ask if the child inside Miss Wells's stomach has anything to do with you?"

“You guys stop making things difficult for Simon.” Regina looked worried, “When the right time comes, we will announce something.”

“Announcing something? Announcing what?”

The reporters already smell the strong scent of gossip, how could they let go of such a big story!

“I

Regina actually wanted to tell the world that she was pregnant with Simon and that they would soon be married.

But, she knew that Kieran did not treat her well, and she was afraid that he would be angry if she made these announcements on her own, so she forced herself to put up an ambiguous posture.

Seeing Regina in such a difficult position, the reporters were even more sure of their suspicions.

“Miss Wells, what’s inside your belly is really Simon’s child?!”

“Then Simon and Freya

Before the young reporter could finish his words, a solemn, powerful voice rang through the air.

“Between Simon and Freya, there is nothing!”

The white-haired Joanna, supported by her maids and on crutches, took a step towards the front.

The media instantly went to uproar when they saw that it was Joanna, who had not appeared in public for a long time.

Joanna and her husband built their business from nothing, and she is no match for those big men in the shopping mall, and is also a popular figure in the city, so the reporters were understandably excited to be able to block Joanna’s real face.

Joanna, a legend admired by countless people.

Because she was so excited, and because Joanna’s aura was so powerful, for a moment, those eloquent reporters didn’t think of what questions to ask her.

Joanna’s eyes, harshly sweeping over the faces of the people in front of her, were still straight, despite her wrinkled face and lean body.

“I came over today because I wanted to share a few happy news with you.”

“What Regina is carrying inside her belly is the bloodline of our Fitzgerald family. On the first day of next month, it will be her and Simon’s wedding. When that time comes, I hope all my friends from the media will still be appreciative.”

“What?! Miss Wells is getting married to Simon?”

“Then Freya

“What Freya! Just now Joanna has clarified that there is nothing between Simon and Freya!”

“But didn’t Simon just propose to Freya not long ago? Between them, how can there be nothing going on?”

“Once maybe, but now it’s obvious that Freya has been dumped by Simon, Miss Wells is the final winner!”

“I do think that it’s Miss Wells that Simon has always liked, and it’s likely that he proposed to Freya just to stimulate Miss Wells. Now it’s good, he’s finally gotten his hands on a beauty!”

.....

This world, in fact, is sometimes just a little more forgiving of men. Kieran proposed to Freya in public, but then wanted to marry Regina, and by definition, this kind of behavior on his part is a bit like a scum.

But no one thinks he is a scum, everyone will only think that Regina is the ultimate winner and Freya is the loser in this game of love.

Everyone would only envy Regina for being able to marry Simon.

Kieran had already agreed to marry Regina, and when Joanna announced his marriage to Regina in a public place, he naturally did not care.

It didn’t matter, the person he married was not Freya anyway, and even if he married a sow, it was none of his business.

However, listening to the chatter of the reporters, his eyebrows frowned.

All people think that he, Simon, abandoned Freya and despised her, but only he knew in his own heart that he was the one who lost the most in this love affair.

He would rather have himself ridiculed by everyone, he wanted to get that heart of Freya’s.

Her heart, unfortunately, would never fall on him.

Proud as he was, he could only turn away and leave her out of his world, never to be seen again.

Freya has been following the developments online and the reversal of this matter has really put her in a pretty good mood.

Especially when she saw Regina being forced by so many media to apologize to her, her heart, more than ever, was happy.

However, Regina’s skill was quite a bit better than she had imagined, and in this situation, she was able to turn the tide.

She didn’t want to see Regina’s hypocritical and disgusting face and was about to exit the broadcast, but she heard Joanna’s words.

He and Regina are getting married.

On the first day of next month, less than a week away, he marry Regina.

Freya's eyes could not control the sourness, he said that he would give her a grand wedding, after all, he still gave all his warmth to other women.

She didn't want him to marry Regina, but what else could she do now that he was cruel enough to try to kill the child inside her belly?!

Hastily tossing her phone aside, Freya got up, intending to go outside the studio for some fresh air.

She had just stepped out of the studio and a man, dressed in a black tracksuit, slammed hard into her .

If she was knocked down the stairs, the baby in her belly would not be saved!

Chapter 805

Freya's skills were okay, but she could sense that this man was better.

It was a weekend and no one was coming to the studio at all, so even if she had managed to escape this, there was no way this man would let her go.

And what he was after was the baby in her belly!

Freya protected her belly, intended to use dexterity to dodge the man's attack, so she quickly bent down and dodged.

She had still wanted to drop the man, but he was too fast for her to grab him.

Freya knew she couldn't beat this man and she didn't dare to continue the fight. She observed her surroundings, shouted for help and planned to move away from the stairs.

The man had no intention of letting her go, and he kicked over, forcing Freya to take several steps back.

Freya gripped the handrail of the stairs, barely steadying herself.

Her ankle had been sprained frequently recently and such a drastic movement had accidentally twisted her ankle again.

Seeing Freya's disheveled state, the cold glint in the man's eyes intensified as he stepped forward quickly and with all his strength, he intended to drop her straight down the stairs.

The cameras on this floor had already been destroyed by him, even if Freya miscarried and was seriously injured, the police would only think that she had accidentally fallen down. Of course, his aim today was not only to have her miscarry, he also wanted to make her disappear completely.

She must not be able to get up after rolling down such high stairs, and he would grab her head and drop her hard, and she wouldn't see the sun tomorrow!

"Don't come any closer!"

Freya only stepped back, she wanted to find something to defend herself, but now she didn't even have her mobile phone with her, she couldn't find anything to attack this man.

With her bare hands, she had no energy to fight him with this little skill. Seeing that the man was getting closer and closer to her, she knew that she could not hide from him today.

Shoulders were gripped hard by him, she seemed to smell the scent of death.

She knew that all her struggles were in vain, but at a time when her life depended on it, she wanted to do everything she could to give herself a chance.

She was not afraid to die, but she could not let the child in her belly die with her.

Freya knew that the thing between the two legs was the weakest part of a man's body, so she took a deep breath and, using all her strength, she kicked him in the key part.

The man was so much better than she expected, he had already seen through her movements and not only did she fail to kick him, his hand suddenly pushed so hard that it almost crushed her shoulder.

Freya was gasping for breath from the pain, she gritted her teeth and continued to build up her strength, but, her body, already lifted by this man, could only roll down this high staircase if he pushed a little harder.

"Let go of me! I'll give you as much money as you want if you let go of me!"

The man was completely unmoved, and with a cold sweeping glance at her he pushed her violently towards the bottom of the stairs.

Freya was scared and wanted to grab something. She thought that this time, she was destined to fall head over heels. Surprisingly, the expected pain did not come, and the next moment, she found herself in a strong, firm embrace.

Jacob.

The man obviously didn't expect Jacob to come over, and his dark face was written with panic. He quickly turned around and tried to leave, but Jacob moved as swiftly as a cheetah, and before he could even take a step, he was already thrown hard to the ground.

The sound of bones snapping, abruptly ringing through the air, sounded extraordinarily creepy.

But listening to this voice, Freya's heart no longer had any semblance of panic, only an indescribable peace.

She knew that the baby inside her belly was safe.

"Mr. Wells"

The man's teeth chattered in pain, and before he could utter the words he begged for mercy, his body, soaring into the air, then, rolled heavily down the stairs.

The implacable and painful sound came from the bottom of the stairs, and Freya was nervous.

This man, who wanted her life and the life of the child inside her, no matter how tragic his end, was to blame.

Jacob called Abel and asked him to come over here to take care of the aftermath.

Neither of them bothered to ask the man who had actually sent him, but even if they hadn't, they both knew it by heart.

Regina.

The relationship between Freya and Jacob had already eased up quite a bit, and today, he had once again saved her life, so she was even more grateful to him.

She gently stroked her belly, "Jacob, thank you, if it wasn't for you, I'm afraid that today, my baby and I would have been dead."

After saying this, Freya turned around, and headed in the direction of the studio.

The injustice on Freddie has been cleared and he should be back from the police station today.

Their entry for the finals is still a little short of completion and they must race against time to beat Robin for good in the finals!

Freya's ankle hurt so badly that she thought, if she endured it, she would be able to walk back steadily.

However, she had only just taken one step and she almost fell to the ground.

Her shoulder, too, was in pain that made her take a breath.

She was really speechless about herself now. She had been in pretty good health before, but in the recent past, she had made herself weak.

Jacob noticed the difference in her ankle, he stepped forward and carried her on his back without a second thought, "You're hurt, I'll take you to the hospital!"

If it was in the past, Freya would have said, "I'm fine, don't bother."

But now, she is pregnant and she has to take care of her body.

She didn't speak again, but allowed Jacob to carry her to the lift.

Jacob took Freya to the hospital closest to the studio. She didn't expect that Regina and Kieran were also in this hospital.

When Jacob walked into the hospital lobby with her on his back, Kieran and Regina, along with Joanna, were being interviewed by reporters for interviews.

Kieran was his usual noble and cool self, keeping his silence of refusal no matter what questions the reporters asked.

Joanna had other business, and after a brief conversation with the reporter, she headed outside the hospital with the help of her maids.

Freya misses Kieran every day, but ever since he tried to kill the baby inside her belly, she doesn't want to see him anymore.

She gave Jacob a gentle pat, wanting him not to go in through the middle of the hall, but before she could say this, Kieran's eyes, cold as the howling north wind, fell on her and Jacob.

Chapter 807

To have a baby

Freya's body shook vigorously, the reporters nowadays have rich imagination.

However, since Jacob was willing to cooperate with, she might as well act to the end.

She can still hide from Regina's backstabbing, but if Kieran is determined to have the baby inside her die, she can't hide.

Why not let him decide once and for all that the child inside her was dead, and then she and the child inside her would be completely safe.

"I came to the hospital today because I wanted to tone up my body so I could prepare for a baby."

When Freya said this, she kept staring at Kieran, others might not understand the deep meaning within her words, but he knew she was pregnant, he would definitely be able to understand.

By this she was clearly saying to him, Simon, you don't have to force me to remove the baby anymore.

Naturally, I had already miscarried before I came to the hospital to tone my body and prepare for pregnancy.

However Kieran simply did not know about Freya's pregnancy, and he naturally could not understand the deeper meaning of her words.

Now, the only thing that echoes over and over in his mind is one phrase.

Freya wants to give birth to Jacob's baby!

Who had given her the nerve to give birth to Jacob's child!

His fists were clenched, and the veins on the back of his hands were almost ready to break through the flesh and jump out, and his eyes were terrifyingly scarlet, as if they were ferocious beasts capable of eating people alive at any moment.

Unfortunately, the reporters on the scene did not feel the dark waves in the hall at all, and a reporter who was not afraid to die even bravely raised the microphone to Kieran.

"Simon, although your proposal to Freya is just a play on the occasion to irritate Miss Wells, we all know that you are Mr. Fitzgerald's brother and you and Freya are considered to have a relationship."

"Now that Freya has finally come out of the trauma of losing Mr. Fitzgerald and found her soulmate, are you particularly happy for her? Do you have any words of blessing you would like to give to her and Mr. Wells?"

Happy?

Well, especially, especially happy! So happy that he wanted to break her legs!

Any words for her and Jacob?

Does his desire to break their legs and have them married in a wheelchair count as words of blessing?

Regina clearly caught the stormy look on Kieran's face, fearing that he would say something embarrassing her in front of the media, she hastily pulled out a smile, took the microphone and replied for him, "Of course Simon is especially happy for Freya and my brother, I'm especially happy for them too. I admire Freya, I'm secretly happy to have her as my sister-in-law!"

With an elegant smile, Regina continued, "Simon and I both especially want Freya to be happy, and I think my brother can give her the best happiness possible."

"There's something I originally wanted to say when they got married, but now that everyone wants to hear the blessings, I'll just say it in advance. Simon and I wish Freya and my brother a long and happy marriage. I've wanted to be an aunt for years, and I hope they can redouble their efforts to make my nephews and nieces."

The expressions of both Freya and Kieran were slightly dazed.

There was a time when they looked forward to the future together, to children, and they talked about having many, many children, so as to satisfy Jaden and Jayla's wish for a football team and a Barbie team.

Things have changed and their multiplicity can only become a meme.

A reporter suddenly thought of something, "Right, when Freya and Mr. Wells get married, won't Simon have to call her sister-in-law?"

That reporter couldn't help but want to make a joke to liven up the atmosphere, "Simon, have you ever called Freya's sister-in-law?"

Sister-in-law?

Kieran's handsome face was darker, and he couldn't help but remember the way Freya had asked him to call her sister-in-law.

Want him to call her sister-in-law? Don't even think about it in her next life!

These reporters don't care about national affairs, but want to get him to call Freya his sister-in-law?

He wanted to break the reporter's legs, then twist his neck and yell, "Who dares to make me call Freya sister-in-law, I will get him killed!"

But he didn't want to give Freya the impression that he still cared for her. He gave the reporter a sour sweep and then turned coldly to leave.

He was afraid that, if he continued to stay here, he would not be able to resist beating him.

He walked away so heartless that he forgot to go and pretend to be in love with Regina.

Regina, who was left in the same place, was dumbfounded!

She trotted along, grabbing Kieran's arm and continuing to maintain the illusion of affection.

The reporter didn't dare to get angry when he didn't get an answer from Kieran, so he continued to liven up the atmosphere, "Simon is shy! He must be embarrassed to call out Freya as sister-in-law, haha, I never thought I would see Simon shy in my lifetime, so lucky!"

"Simon is so cute when he's shy, I really want to see Simon shy every day!"

Kieran heard the reporter's voice, his face went cold.

He's shy?

Which one of his eyes could see that he was shy? He's obviously angry right now!

So angry that he wanted to gouge the eyes out of the reporter!

When Kieran and Regina left and Jacob stopped cooperating with the interview, the reporters could only scatter and leave.

But they were really, really happy today, digging up so much stuff at once!

They feel that this year is really a particularly harmonious and auspicious year. Quinn and Kiki have just had a grand wedding, followed by Simon and Regina, Mr. Wells and Freya, there's a lot of buzz in the city!

Freya's ankle is okay, it's just an old injury that hasn't completely healed, and it's only because it was accidentally twisted that it hurts so much.

She will be fine in the future as long as she doesn't twist again and doesn't do strenuous exercise.

She was grateful to Jacob for acting with her, but she also made it clear to him that it was impossible between them.

Jacob didn't argue with her, because he knew in his heart that he was now closing in on her, so he might as well sit back and reap the benefits.

As long as Kieran and Regina are married, sooner or later, she will fall into his arms.

In the evening, Freya worked overtime, and after checking over the entry costumes that Freddie had made in a hurry, she drove straight back home.

She saw someone standing in the doorway and hastily slammed on the brakes. As soon as she got out of the car, a figure lunged at her, pressing her heavily against the car and kissing her fiercely.

Chapter 808

Feeling the familiar scent that wrapped her body around her, without looking at his face, Freya knew that the one kissing her was the one she loved in her heart.

But she didn't understand, the two of them had come this far, he and Regina were about to get married, so why did he still kiss her?

"Freya!"

It was as if a century had passed before Kieran let go of her.

In the moonlight, his eyes were red.

"Simon"

Kieran's look made Freya panic from the bottom of her heart. Everything she did was to make him comfortable, and she really didn't know where she had accidentally provoked him again.

“Freya, you’re amazing!”

“Simon, you are amazing too.” Freya said truthfully.

He can even bear to kill his own child.

The more she thought about it, the sadder Freya became, the corners of her lips couldn’t help but hook up a pale smile, “Simon, what are you doing now? Playing another tangle with your ex-girlfriend before the wedding?”

“Simon, you were the one who let go first and you were the one who told me to get lost. I have aborted that child as you wished, so please let me go in future!”

“Freya, what did you say?!”

Kieran’s pupils suddenly tightened, what did she mean by aborting that child as he wished? Could it be that she was really pregnant?

“Simon, I have aborted our child, so, from now on, there is nothing between us!”

“I’ll get along well with Jacob, I’ll take care of my body, and yes, as I said at the hospital during the day today, I’ll be ready for pregnancy.!”

“Simon, Regina is pregnant with your child, I admit it was really quite hard for me, but now I am okay with it. I blessed you and Regina during the day, but you haven’t blessed me with a brand new life yet!”

Freya chattered on and on.

He didn’t even hear clearly what she said afterwards, and now, what echoed inside his head repeatedly was only one sentence.

She aborted their baby!

She did get pregnant and aborted their baby!

She brutally aborted their child in order to stay with Jacob!

Kieran was clutching his heart hard, this heartless woman hurt his feeling so much!

She really doesn’t care about him at all! It’s not enough that she treats him as a stand-in, she doesn’t even spare her own child!

How can she be so cruel!

“Freya!”

“Simon, you don’t believe what I’m saying, do you? You don’t have to doubt me, I have proof.”

With that, Freya retrieved the abortion slip she had forged from her bag, and with a self-deprecating smile, she smashed it hard into his face.

“This is my abortion record! I’ve already aborted that child, so there’s no need to bother you personally!”

After saying this, Freya did not want to pay any more attention to Kieran, she was afraid that if she stayed here for another half a minute, she would not be able to control her breakdown and go crazy.

She was afraid she would lose control and roared, "Simon, that's your own child, why are you so cruel as to put him to death!"

She was afraid and completely lost herself, defiantly prostrating herself at his feet and pleading with him, Simon, I really like you, don't marry Regina, come back to me, okay?

There was no way he could return to her. Regina was still pregnant with his child, and he only wanted to be with them, so all her efforts to retain him were really self-defeating.

Kieran did not speak immediately. The single abortion record sheet smashed into his face actually caused his magnificent body to stagger uncontrollably.

The piece of paper, floating down a little from his eyes, eventually, landed at his feet.

He bent down stiffly and picked up the paper that had fallen to the floor.

Because his fingertips were shaking so much, he grasped it hard before he could pick the piece of paper up.

Little by little, carefully, he rubbed the piece of paper that had announced the tragic death of his child.

He took measures when he was with her, and he really didn't think that she would get pregnant.

He said that even if she was pregnant, he wouldn't want that child to live.

He said with gritted teeth, in fact, he particularly wanted Freya to carry his child.

But, she did get pregnant and she brutally aborted that baby!

Even if he was just a stand-in, that child was hers, so how could she be so cruel!

"Simon, now you should believe that I have miscarried, right?"

Without waiting for Kieran to speak, Freya continued, "The child is gone, and I'm starting a brand new life, so let's not see each other anymore."

At the very least, don't see each other again until the child in her belly comes into the world, she doesn't want anything to happen to her child.

When he heard Freya's voice, Kieran's withdrawn wisdom came back.

Don't see each other again.

Yes, she didn't even care about her own child, but just to get rid of him once and for all and be in the arms of Jacob!

Did she, take this piece of paper and show it to Jacob to show him her loyalty, saying that she would only give him children!

When he thought of how she had been pleasing Jacob, Kieran's eyes almost curdled with hatred.

He squeezed her shoulders to death, hating that he could not crush them and make her understand that in this life, she would never be able to get rid of him.

But even though he hated her so much, he still could not hurt her.

He felt ridiculous to the extreme that she was so desperate that she could even abort their child and he was still worried that, in his madness, he would hurt her.

He is so pathetic!

“Freya!”

Kieran suddenly strangled Freya’s neck, and in his eyes, a monstrous wave surged, seemingly to devour her soul.

Chapter 809

When she met the bloodshot red in Kieran’s eyes, Freya’s heart couldn’t stop beating wildly.

She couldn’t understand why he was so angry when she had already shown him the abortion slip.

Could it be that even if she had pretended to abort the child, he would still be dissatisfied?

Was it only when she was dead that he could feel a little more comfortable?

When Kieran thought of his child’s tragic death at Freya’s hands, he wanted to break her neck.

But when he thought that she would be in pain, all his ruthlessness had nowhere to vent.

He let go of Freya’s neck and took several quick steps back so that he wouldn’t be so impulsive in case he might hurt her.

He looked at her, “Freya, in the future don’t appear in front of me again, I’m afraid I’ll kill you!”

Freya retreated in fear, and her heart turned colder.

It turned out that he had really wanted kill her.

The man she loved the most had tried to kill him!

But even if he wanted to kill her, she still couldn’t do without loving him.

She was even humble enough to want to hug him.

Afraid that if she came forward, he would push her away in disgust and hurt the child inside her belly, Freya did not have the courage to hug him after all.

She could only tug her lips stiffly, trying to put on an indifferent look, “Simon, don’t worry, I won’t appear in front of you again!”

After saying this, Freya dodged back to her car, slammed on the accelerator, and sprinted towards the villa.

The moment she withdrew her eyes from him, she still couldn’t control the redness in her eyes.

It turns out that the most bitter form of love is when the person you love the most becomes a stranger after all.

After Freya left, Kieran was unable to return to his senses for a long time. He was as bewitched as if he was clutching the piece of paper in his hand in a death grip.

He thought that he finally understood what it meant to have a million arrows through his heart.

He had fallen in love with the coldest and most heartless woman in the world, and he deserved all the pain!

People, when they are in pain, always like to drink to drown their sorrows. Kieran, no matter how good he is, he cannot escape this spell.

He drank a whole case of wine and it was almost dawn before he drifted off to sleep.

When he woke up, it was already sunrise. Seeing the mess on the ground, he could not help but laugh out loud bitterly.

That woman had her new love, while he drowns his sorrows in this unseen place, which is sad and ridiculous.

Not wanting to look too wretched, his body reeking of the sadness of being dumped, he took a shower and changed his clothes before walking out of the room.

Just as he reached the stairway, he saw Jaden and Jayla sitting on the sofa in the living room.

They had obviously been waiting here for a long time, and as soon as they saw him, both of them had an instant light in their eyes.

“Uncle Simon, I want to talk to you.”

Jaden had a serious face, just like him. Kieran couldn't help but think of the child inside Freya's belly again.

Their child, who would be as cute as the two little ones, was gone.

“What is it?” Kieran was full of pallor as he looked at Jaden with an expressionless face and said.

“Uncle Simon, you can't marry Regina!”

Jayla was also displeased, “Uncle Simon, I also watched the news and everyone said that on the first day of next month, you will be getting married to Regina. How can you get married to her? You promised me and my brother that you would take good care of Mummy! Uncle Simon, you're being irresponsible!”

“Jaden, Jayla, I've told you, your mommy and I have broken up.”

“Uncle Simon, why did you break up with Mummy? You said that you like Mummy a lot! If you like her, you have to be together, we kids understand that, why don't you adults understand that!” Jayla was so anxious that she stomped her feet, “Uncle Simon, you can't marry Regina anyway! If you marry her, I'll hate you for the rest of my life!”

“Uncle Simon, if you bully my mommy, I’ll hate you for the rest of my life too!” Jaden raised his face and said in a serious voice.

Kieran smiled to himself, he didn’t really know how to explain to the two little kids.

They felt that it was he who had bullied Freya, but in fact, it was he who was the real loser.

How could the one who lost his heart bully the woman who had played him for a fool!

That heartless woman!

Kieran had never been afraid of anyone’s threats, but he was afraid that he would be hated by these two little kids for the rest of his life.

After a few moments of silence, he decided to explain to them briefly.

“Jaden, Jayla, I broke up with your mommy because she doesn’t have me in her heart, and I can’t be a stand-in for your daddy no matter how much I like her.”

Hearing this from Kieran, Jayla could no longer hold back, “Uncle Simon, Mommy didn’t use you as a stand-in, you are our daddy!”

Only after saying this did Jayla realise that she had lost her tongue, and she hastily covered her mouth.

She knew that Daddy identified himself as Uncle Simon, he hated being used as a stand-in, and when she said that, Daddy must have thought that she had taken him for a stand-in too.

He’s bound to be more angry and pissed off!

He said, “Jayla, I am not your daddy, I am your Uncle Simon.”

Jayla secretly spat out her tongue, but the words had already been said, and she couldn’t take them back, so she winked at Jaden and simply started Plan B.

Last night, Jaden and Jayla devised a plan to soften Kieran’s heart, and a plan B to implement a bitter ploy to make him willingly take a paternity test with them.

It’s really hard to carry out.

However, this time, even God was helping them. This morning, Jayla found that she had a fever.

She had to tell her mommy when she had a fever, but in order to carry out their plan, Jayla insisted on not telling Freya and didn’t even take the fever-reducing medicine.

She covered her mouth and coughed uncomfortably, and her face burned red and flushed.

Seeing that her coughing had attracted Kieran’s attention, she frowned while her mouth twitched pitifully.

Jaden hurriedly cooperated.

He reached out his hand and touched her forehead with concern, then said with an anxious look on his face, “Jayla, why is your forehead so hot! I’ll take you to the doctor!”

After hearing Jaden's words, Kieran also probed Jayla's forehead, and indeed, it was terribly hot.

Without a second thought, he picked her up, "Jayla, I'll take you to the hospital!"

"No!" Jayla waved her two short legs vigorously, "I'm not going to the hospital, and I don't want to take medicine! Uncle Simon, if you want me to go to the doctor, unless you promise me one request! Otherwise, you can just let me burn to death!"

Chapter 810

Fearing that Kieran would disagree, Jayla hastily added, "Don't worry, my request won't be to prevent you from marrying Regina!"

Seeing that he was hesitant to say yes, Jayla continued to cover her heart in pain with a huff, "I might be burning to death! Uncle Simon, leave me alone, just let me burn to death! Anyway, I'm just a child that no one loves!"

Saying this, Jayla even dropped a tear.

Kieran can naturally see that Jayla's fever is real, but the fact that she is acting so uncomfortable has some element of theatrics.

But even so, he was worried, especially when he heard her say that she was an unloved child, and his heart ached.

He couldn't even think about whether she would deliberately make any unreasonable requests, and he hurried to agree, "Jayla, be good and go to the hospital! I'll grant your request!"

Getting his promise, the corners of Jayla's lips instantly curled up into a cunning smile.

In fact, a child with a high fever is really not that uncomfortable, so Jayla got her way and stopped pretending to be soft, "Uncle Simon, since you promised me, I am willing to take medicine. Just ask the family doctor to prescribe some fever-reducing medicine for me."

"Can I ask you for my request now?"

"Yes." Kieran responded indifferently, he had always spoiled this little brat, even if he knew she was playing the pity game, what was the harm in fulfilling their demands!

"Uncle Simon, would you do a paternity test with me and my brother?"

Kieran's handsome face was instantly cold and sullen as he once again affirmed, "Jayla, I am your Uncle Simon."

Seeing that the conversation was about to break up again, Jayla hurriedly turned her look of help to Jaden.

Jaden understood the situation. He was a man and hated pretending to be pitiful, but he decided not to be a man for the time being in order to achieve his goal.

In the past, they didn't dare to force him to take a paternity test for fear of upsetting daddy, but now that the situation is special and he is about to get married to someone else, they can only take the risk.

“Uncle Simon, Jayla and I both know you are Uncle Simon.”

Jaden tried hard to make his face look pitiful.

Looking at the cute and dumb expression on her brother’s face, Jayla almost burst out laughing.

She wanted to take out her mobile phone and take a picture of her brother acting all cute and pathetic and show it to the girls in her class, they’ll go crazy!

“Uncle Simon, I also know that you hate it when people think of you as a stand-in for my daddy. But Uncle Simon, I really miss Daddy so much.”

“The time I had with Mummy and Jayla and Daddy was really, really short, and I lost Daddy before I could enjoy his love. Sometimes I would miss Daddy like crazy and fantasise that he was still alive, but I knew that Daddy didn’t want me anymore.”

“Uncle Simon, please, can you do a paternity test with us? If the result of the paternity test really shows that you are just our Uncle Simon, Jayla and I can resign to the fact. We won’t bother to hope that daddy will come back again, we will only keep daddy in our hearts for the rest of our lives.”

Receiving Jayla’s cheering expression, Jaden made a flood of efforts before squeezing out a tear.

Jayla also blinked her big eyes full of tears, “Uncle Simon, just think of it as you taking pity on me and my brother, do a paternity test with us, okay?”

Jaden’s lips twitched, but still continued, “Uncle Simon, a child without a daddy is so pitiful.”

Kieran does not know how to coax children, and when faced with waves of cries from the two little ones, he was at a loss for words.

Eventually, he spoke in frustration and helplessness, “Fine, I’ll take a paternity test with you.”

It’s good to have a paternity test done with them, so that those who presume to use him as a stand-in for Kieran will know the truth!

After removing their hair and following Kieran to the paternity test facility he had found, Jaden and Jayla both had smiles of relief on their faces.

In fact, they had quietly done a paternity test with him before, but, he wouldn’t believe the result of that paternity test, and he would only believe that the result was true if he arranged for someone to do it.

Kieran and Simon are identical twins, even if it is Simon, the paternity test shows that he and the two kids are just a parent-child match would be above ninety percent.

Only a further paternity test can determine whether the two children and he are paternity or not.

Further paternity test results would not be available for at least 72 hours or even longer, and the two children were anxious. 72 hours later, it would be almost time for Kieran and Regina’s wedding, and they were secretly praying that they could get the paternity test results before their wedding.

Just prove that they are related, their daddy can go home!

Fern's incident has proved that Freya and Freddie are innocent.

Lia sued Douglas and filed for divorce.

Fern sincerely apologised to Freya and Freddie. The cowering little girl had become braver and braver, and although Douglas' abuse of her had left a psychological shadow that was hard to erase, everything gets better and better when one is strong.

Seeing Fern's face wore a confident and optimistic smile, Freya was happy for her from the bottom of his heart.

Since Freddie was innocent and did not need to continue to be forced out of the competition, he knelt in front of his parents' effigy on the afternoon of the competition and solemnly kowtowed three times.

He would take revenge. Robin and Regina made his parents die in a foreign land for no reason, and this revenge is unforgivable!

For all those years he had been imprisoned, and he could not let the culprit go!

Tonight, all grudges and grievances will be settled together!

As it was Court's team that was up first this evening to showcase the designs, Robin and Regina had to go over earlier.

Regina's face was slightly apprehensive, after all, Freddie's strength should not be underestimated. Joanna was very concerned about this tournament, she absolutely could not be overpowered by Freya and make Joanna feel that she was not as good as Freya!

Robin was so determined to win. He saw Regina's nervousness and smiled as he moved closer to her, lowering his voice and saying, "Miss Wells, don't worry, Freddie will definitely lose! Not only that, but he will also bear the reputation of being a plagiarist and will never be able to turn a new leaf!"