

Talented 811

Chapter 811

“So sure of yourself?” Regina raised her eyebrows, the apprehension on her face dissipating, leaving only the certainty of a victor.

She knew Robin, he was a man who was ruthless, but he was always steady and cautious. If he could say such things with such confidence, he naturally had a good plan to beat Freddie into submission.

Robin did not speak immediately, his eyes drifting away, the corners of his lips curved in a shallow arc, as if he was caught up in some kind of beautiful fantasy.

When he thought of Freddie being recognized by everyone as a plagiarist, his heart was indescribably happy.

The thought that Regina was still waiting for his answer made him lightly withdraw his thoughts.

“Miss Wells, do you know what Freddie’s entry is?”

“What is it?” Regina asked subconsciously.

Recently she has been so busy trying to clear her name in the Fern’s affair, and with the wedding on top of that, she hasn’t really bothered to find out any details about Freddie’s entry.

The thought of the wedding made Regina uncomfortable all over.

It was her and Kieran’s wedding, but he was completely indifferent, he didn’t even bother to try on his wedding suit, he really ignored her completely.

But so what! Even if she didn’t exist in his heart, she would still be his wife in name only, and no one would ever steal her man again!

“It’s ‘The Empress Dowager’.” Robin said slowly in a long drawn out voice, “The exact same ‘The Empress Dowager’ as my entry!”

“What?!” Regina was stunned. She did not expect that Freddie would dare to enter the finals with ‘The Empress Dowager’.

If Freddie and Robin’s entries were identical, naturally it couldn’t have been a clash of inspirations, the judges and the public would have ruled that one of them had plagiarised!

And if Robin is found guilty of plagiarism, they will lose everything!

Seeing the worry in Regina’s heart, Robin smiled inexplicably, “Freddie dares to enter with ‘The Empress Dowager’, he is indeed courageous!”

“If”

“No ifs!” Without waiting for Regina to finish her sentence, Robin had cut her off.

“As long as I bite the bullet and say that ‘The Empress Dowager’ is my work, the only person who copied it can be Freddie! I have proof, and I promise, this time, I can defeat him!”

After saying this, Robin whispered a few more words in Regina's ear, and her face instantly glowed with light.

The Empress Dowager, like the previously entered costume collection, includes two costumes.

After changing their clothes, Freya and Kiki sat in the lounge, waiting to go on later.

From the LCD screens inside the lounge, they were able to see the competition clearly.

The five judges had already taken their seats, Mr. Hans had been talking enthusiastically to Daniel next to him, and Henry would occasionally say a few words to Phillip, except for Kieran who was sitting in the middle of the judges' table, was silent.

The day before the competition, the scoring rules were changed for the Grand Final. In order to be fair, the final score was divided into two parts: the judges' score, and the audience's score.

The average of the judges' scores accounted for 80 per cent of the total score and the audience scored 20 per cent of the total score.

The change in the scoring rules was in favour of Court, as more than half of the live audience were hired by them.

Coupled with the fact that Freddie will ironically be found guilty of plagiarism tonight, there is no longer any doubt that Court will win!

With a few minutes to go before the start of the finals, Regina pushed open the door of the lounge next door and walked up to Freya and Kiki like an elegant and haughty peacock.

Her eyes, sneering, swept over Freya's and Kiki's faces.

She admitted that they both, indeed, looked better than the models found by Court, and were even more stunning in this outfit, but, so what if they were even more stunning! They would still be nothing but a laughing stock if tWorld was proven to be plagiarised!

Regina leisurely withdrew her eyes from Kiki's face as she took out a wedding invitation from her bag and handed it right in front of Freya.

"Freya, you should know that the day after tomorrow is my wedding with Simon, you are welcome to come over!"

Looking at the gold invitation, Freya only felt her hands were also burned, they were getting married the day after tomorrow

Her hand shook and she almost missed catching the wedding invitation.

Seeing that Freya's hands were shaking, the smile on Regina's lips grew more and more wanton.

"Oh, Freya, there's one more thing I have to ask for your favor. Grandma wants you to accompany me to try on the wedding dress again tomorrow." Regina generally shook the jade bracelet on her hand, Freya knew this jade bracelet. Grandma usually wore it all the time, and she had given it to Regina as recognition of her as her granddaughter-in-law.

So many people were expecting Regina to marry into the Fitzgerald family!

When she thought of them in their wedding dresses, she couldn't breathe.

Regina is the best at reading people's minds, and seeing through the wretchedness in Freya's heart, she could not contain her joy.

"Freya, accompany me to the dress fitting! It's grandma's order!"

When Regina was so smug in front of Freya, Kiki couldn't stand it anymore, "Regina, you really are shameless, stealing someone else's husband and still being so righteous."

"Regina, if I were you and had done so many unspeakable things, I'd have to hide myself tightly to save coming out and annoying people! But what about you? You can't wait for the whole world to know how disgusting you are!"

"Regina, how long do you think you can be complacent? I don't believe that Mr. Fitzgerald can't regain his memory for the rest of his life! When he regains his memory, I'd like to see how you can still deceive yourself!"

"Also, your marriage certificate will be printed with Simon's name in the future, aren't you afraid that he will come to seek your life?!"

Hearing Kiki's words, Regina's face instantly turned as white as paper, but in a moment she regained her composure.

"Kiki, don't talk nonsense here! Simon is still well, I have his child and we're getting married soon, how could he possibly seek my life!"

She no longer paid attention to Kiki, but turned her face to look at Freya and said word for word, "Freya, see you tomorrow morning at eight o'clock! If you really don't want to go with me, tell Grandma yourself!"

It's quite disgusting that Regina is always mentioning Grandma.

Freya couldn't be disgusted by her all the time, so she had to fight back.

No matter how wretched she was in her heart, she would not let Regina be arrogant to the end.

She raised her eyelids, and between her eyebrows was unconcealed mockery, "Regina, I actually really admire your courage to ask me to accompany you to try on a dress."

Chapter 812

"Freya, what do you mean by that?"

Regina felt that she was the final winner and shouldn't have felt this kind of uneasy emotion, but after hearing Freya's words, a slight panic inexplicably arose in her heart.

"It doesn't mean anything, just simply admiring your courage."

Freya replied calmly.

“Regina, to get married, you should make it an auspicious occasion. If I were you, I would want this wedding to be foolproof and not make a fool of myself.”

“You seem to have forgotten that I walked you through your dress fitting earlier. Oh, that would be when you got engaged. I fulfilled your wish and accompanied you to the dress fitting. And then what happened? Your long-awaited engagement fizzled out.”

“Regina, now, you still try every possible way to make me accompany you to try on the dress, aren’t you afraid that this wedding that you’ve been trying so hard to get, will also be in vain?”

“Freya!” Thinking of that engagement where she asked Freya to accompany her to try on dresses, but in the end, Kieran’s mind was all caught up with Freya, she hated it.

If she asks Freya to accompany her to try on dresses this time, she won’t be able to humiliate Freya and she will end up making a fool of herself!

Freya’s voice continued, “Regina, shouldn’t your man accompany you to try on dresses? How much does your man dislike you that he has to let me do this for him?”

“You!” Having been hit by sore spot, Regina’s face could no longer maintain that high and mighty elegance.

Her face was so fierce that she almost threw away all the upbringing of a high class woman and turned into a shrew.

But she was the most dignified of all, and no matter how resentful she was in her heart, she could only be a famous lady sought after by countless people under public occasions.

“Regina, I’m going to be on in a moment, I’m very busy and I don’t have time to bullshit with you here!”

Having been given such an obvious expulsion order by Freya, Regina’s face couldn’t help but darken, but seeing the clothes on her and Kiki, all the decadence on her face was swept away, leaving only a condescending disdain.

She moved closer to Freya and tugged at the corner of her coat.

“Freya, you’re very proud of yourself for having the upper hand in the verbal battle, aren’t you? Simon said he would give me a grand wedding, what do you think I should give him as a gift?”

“Why don’t I just give him the trophy for tonight’s championship!”

With that said, Regina turned away triumphantly on her chunky heels.

In the first two matches, Court lost to World. Freya really didn’t know where Regina got the confidence that she was going to take back the champion’s trophy to Kieran in this grand final.

It wasn’t until the competition started and the two models from Court took the stage that she understood what the disdain in Regina’s eyes meant.

Court’s entry for the finals, surprisingly, was also “The Empress Dowager”!

As soon as the two models from Court took to the stage, there were audible gasps of uncontrollable amazement.

Even the judges, who were used to seeing all sorts of beautiful works, had an unconcealed shock on their faces.

Mr. Hans couldn't help but burst out, "My God! It's perfect!"

Daniel's eyes also showed obvious appreciation as he looked at the model who was walking in style. He nodded gently, and even though Quinn was his boss, as an artist in pursuit of true beauty, he couldn't help but write a high score of 99 on the scoreboard.

The point that was deducted was on the model.

The clothes were so perfect that the two models, although good looking too, really didn't deserve the praise of being perfect.

Through the first few games, Henry had a pretty good impression of Robin, but he didn't expect him to design such a stunning piece.

He looked at Robin, who slowly walked up the catwalk to explain his design concept, and his eyes were full of admiration for the younger generation.

He had been worried that there would be no one to succeed him in the field of fashion design, but now, with Phillip and such a brilliant Robin, he is relieved!

Grabbing a pen from the side, Han wrote 100 points on the scoreboard without hesitation!

Seeing the models on the catwalk, Phillip couldn't help but frown.

He had crossed paths with Robin a few times and he could sense that the man's mind was not clear enough; he really dared not think that someone with such a dark heart could design works that carried the purest and most devout soul.

He disliked Robin and loathed Regina even more, and he naturally wanted World to win the title.

But no matter how much he loathed a person, he would not bother with favouritism in front of his art. He was afraid that, for example, Lucy would be disappointed with him, and he wanted to be, in her mind, the best master of costume design.

With his eyes downcast, Phillip fairly wrote down the score on the scoreboard in front of him, 100 points.

Kieran was still all chilled and silent, and the blinding red on the catwalk reminded him of his child's blood.

It should have been such a blinding red when his child died a horrible death.

The hatred in his heart, accompanied by a heavy coldness, spread quickly through his mind.

He knew how much Freya cared about this competition, and if he wanted Freya to have a hard time, the best way was to give full marks to Court's work and zero marks to World, abusing that heartless woman to the point where she couldn't even cry, but he couldn't control his heart when he thought of the way her eyes were red.

How ridiculous that he was afraid she would be disappointed and upset when she killed his own son.

Simon, you're so sad!

Lifting his eyelids coolly, Kieran slowly swept over the two models on the catwalk.

Because that person was not Freya, he did not like them.

The makeup is too gaudy, the skin too dark, the body too flat, and, what the hell is that pair of feather earrings hanging from their ears?

Chicken feathers?

The dress was good, but there were already four impartial judges on the floor, so he could just play favourites.

Hmph, Freya, don't be fooled, you're nothing in my heart!

The arrogant man wrote with a broad stroke of his pen, but instead of a perfect score, it's, well, 94.

To be fair, this score by Kieran is indeed a bit harsh. After all, "The Empress Dowager" is impeccable, both in terms of design and workmanship.

There was thunderous applause as they listened to Robin's design philosophy.

There was no suspense, with the audience scoring mostly high marks like full marks.

Putting down the microphone, Robin came off the stage with his head held high, and he moved to sit next to Freddie with an unintentional smugness.

"Designer Freddie, how are the works of our Court today? Do you like it?"

Chapter 813

Seeing Freddie's eyes red with anger, Robin smiled in a bemused manner, "Designer Freddie, if you want to cry, cry now, or else you won't be able to cry when your model comes on later!"

"Robin, 'The Empress Dowager' is clearly my work, you're plagiarising!" Freddie roared at Robin with red eyes, with an extremely stoic look.

"Heh! Your work?"

Robin sneered in triumph, "Freddie, how can you prove that 'The Empress Dowager' is your work?"

Robin's words were tinged with an aggressive sharpness, "But I can prove that 'The Empress Dowager' is my work! I can prove that you, Freddie, stole my work using unorthodox methods! If you fight with me, you will only lose!"

"Freddie, for the rest of your life, you can only be my defeated opponent! In a moment, hug the clothes and cry!"

“Robin, you really think you can be complacent for the rest of your life! Even if I lose this grand final, sooner or later, you’ll be scolded!”

Freddie’s face looked unpleasant, but when he said this, his youthful face carried an indestructible determination that actually made Robin cower.

But when he thought of Freddie’s plagiarism being confirmed in a moment, he couldn’t help but straighten his back again with an unbearable arrogance.

“Robin, you’re almost out of all those pieces I used to design, right?”

Freddie hooked his lips and smiled lightly, “Robin, you really have the nerve to use those clothes you designed.”

“So what if you win this final! If you don’t come up with something more amazing afterwards, you’ll still have to be exclaimed by everyone as losing your talents!”

Freddie moved closer to Robin, his voice carried malice, “Robin, I’ll see your consequence!”

Hearing this from Freddie, Robin was nervous. But in a flash, he regained his composure.

He was not really interested in Freddie’s deathbed struggle or in trying to play off his words.

As long as he wins the finals, he can have money and fame.

There is nothing to worry about. He can do the same thing again and find another talented designer to take all his designs for himself!

Leisurely crossing his legs, Robin laughed creepily, “What a pity, Freddie, you won’t have the chance to see this scene in this life!”

As soon as Robin’s words were spoken, the lush music started to play again at the competition.

The lights fell, and the catwalk, which had just fallen silent, was instantly radiant.

The stage is haunted by dry ice, like a cloudy fairyland from which the nymphs of the nine heavens descend to earth.

So beautiful!

When almost everyone saw Kiki and Freya walking up the catwalk, these two words came to mind all at once.

What then flooded into the mind was a captivating and magnificent sight.

The two outfits in this group of The Empress Dowager are both in a big red colour.

The set worn by Freya was of a bustier design, and the top half of the garment was particularly simple, without even a single embroidered flower embellishment, except for a triangular inverted opening at the very front of the bustier, which made the garment more flattering to the bust, and also set off Freya’s exquisite figure.

Without the lights on, the skirt of the dress was the simplest of big reds, unmistakable except for the chic cut.

But when the light hits the body, the otherwise plain skirt instantly blooms with a hundred flowers.

So many flowers don't get aesthetically boring, it just gets overwhelmingly intoxicating.

It seemed that the catwalk also resounded with the surging and stirring sound of horses' hooves.

Then, with bated breath, the crowd realised that it was not the sound of horses' hooves, but the sound of high heels on the ground.

Originally, everyone thought that the skirts were just a hundred flowers, but when Freya lifted her foot and took a step forward, in a trance, everyone saw another view, some other blooming flowers.

The dark pattern of the skirt was seen from different angles and in different light, with different shapes. Watching flower after flower blooming on the hem of Freya's skirt, everyone realised that it wasn't a hundred flowers competing for attention, but a million flowers blooming!

This dress, not a vulgar World blush, but one that encompasses all the floral colours of the world!

The red flowers are all vulgar elements, but when combined together, they are surprisingly harmonious and reserved.

Freya is like a genie who has fallen to the mortal world.

Kiki is also in big red, unlike Freya, the main element of the embroidery on her dress is birds.

With each step she took, several birds of prey were raised from the hem of her skirt, as if, to break through it and soar high into the sky.

Layers and layers of skirts draped to the ground, different birds of prey from different angles, and eventually, all birds of prey all flying towards the one fiery red phoenix on Kiki's back.

The fire phoenix hovers and twists around Kiki's left shoulder in a diagonal one-shoulder design that is light and bright, yet carries the noble elegance of the king of all birds and is beautiful.

Clothes are beautiful, so are the two women.

Such a stunning dress can only be worthy of true captivation when worn on a beauty that is subversive.

Stunningly beautiful.

Looking at Freya on the catwalk, Kieran looked displeased.

This woman is addicted to seducing men, isn't she? Who told her to go out dressed like this?

Did she know how many men in the audience had eyed on her?

The thought of her showing her best face to Jacob every day from now on made him so angry!

He wanted to hide her

It is best to lock her inside the cage so that only he can see and approach her.

But thinking of her cruelty to him, he could only turn his face away and look away.

At first, when Freya and Kiki came on stage, the crowd couldn't contain the amazement in their eyes.

Freya is dynamic, Kiki is charming, and the beauties are different, but equally beautiful.

After the awe, everyone realised a serious problem.

The clothes that Freya and Kiki were wearing were exactly the same as the clothes on the models of Court just now!

A work so similar must have been copied by one of them.

Who really copied?!

Chapter 814

"What's going on here? How can the two entries be identical?"

"Yes, that's too much of a coincidence! Even the flowers on the hem of the skirt are indistinguishable!"

"What a coincidence! This is clearly plagiarism! I just don't know who actually copied!"

"It must be World that copied Court! It was Court's model who was on stage first!"

.....

There was much talk from the audience and the faces of the judges did not look good.

People have subconscious preconceptions. Obviously, it was Robin who copied Freddie, but since it was Court's model who walked on stage first, everyone would reflexively feel that it was Freddie who copied Robin.

Among the judges on the scene, the one with the most unpleasant face would be Kieran.

His face was so dark, not because he was disappointed with the plagiarist, but because he felt that if World was found to be plagiarized, Freya would be upset.

He felt sad that he was worried about that heartless woman.

Kieran wanted to pry his head open to see what it was filled with.

Looking at Freya and Kiki on the stage, Robin couldn't help but raise his chin in triumph as he looked sideways at Freddie, whose face was pale, "How was it? Isn't this match today particularly interesting?"

"Robin, you are not worthy of being a designer at all!"

Robin did not take Freddie's words to heart at all, his face was a lingering smugness, "Freddie, who is not worthy of being a designer, we will soon see! A copycat is not worthy of standing on this stage!"

Listening to Robin's unblushing words, Freddie was so angry.

Copycat?

Who's the copycat?

Freddie really wanted to tear up Robin's hypocritical and smug face!

After Robin said this, he stopped paying attention to Freddie as he got up from his seat and leisurely grabbed the microphone in the host's hand.

"I have something to say!"

Robin's voice instantly silenced the noisy scene, "I want to report World's plagiarism!"

"It is Worlds' plagiarism?! I knew it!"

"What a shame, a direct copy and paste! How can such copycat have the face to enter the competition!"

"Exposing the copycat was a big hit!"

"Copycats should get the hell out of the design world!"

"Not only Freddie, but World should be closed for good! Get out of our sight!"

.....

The voices of those people hired by Regina were extraordinarily irritated, with a look as if they could not wait to rush on stage and tear Freddie, the copycat, by hand.

Freya and Kiki also noticed the difference on the stage, many people were shouting for them to get off the stage, copycat don't deserve to be here. The two of them looked at each other, ignoring the clamour on the stage, step by step, they walked the catwalk through.

Today, it is not Freddie's battle alone, they will walk with him all the way, facing all the questions, fearless of gossip, to get justice for World, for Freddie!

"Get off! Get off!"

The curses from the stage became more and more intense. When Quinn saw that someone dared to scold his precious Kiki, he even wanted to make a move, but thinking of her explanation, he held back his temper.

Kieran sat motionlessly in his seat, his face dark.

Several spectators behind him were cursing Freya and Kiki. When he turned his face and was swept by his ice-cold sight, those few spectators were actually shocked into silence.

Seeing that so many people supported him, Robin's strength was even stronger as he repeated what he had just said, "I want to report Freddie for plagiarism!"

"The Empress Dowager" is my work, and Freddie has copied my "The Empress Dowager"! He has violated the principles of our competition and even more so the code of a costume designer. I demand that the judges give me justice and let Freddie withdraw from the competition!"

Robin's words are resounding, as if, indeed, it was Freddie who copied his work.

"Freddie copied you?" Daniel glanced carelessly at the scoreboard in his hand, "Everything has to be proven! It's the exact same work, and Freddie can say you copied him!"

“We won’t favour anyone, nor will we wrong anyone. Robin, you say that Freddie has copied your work, can you show proof?!” Compared to Robin, Henry appreciated Freddie’s talent more, and he couldn’t help but speak up.

Hearing Daniel and Henry’s words, Robin did not panic in the slightest, he clutched the microphone and said word for word, “I have proof that it was Freddie who copied my work!”

Phillip hasn’t said anything, he doesn’t believe that Freddie would plagiarize, but in this circle, it’s really not that clean.

If, today, Robin could really produce evidence to prove that Freddie had plagiarised, no matter how innocent he was, his life would be completely ruined.

After saying this, Robin waved his hand off stage, and his assistant immediately carried his computer to the stage.

The computer was already switched on and he connected it to the LCD screen at the tournament site and from the large screen, he was able to see clearly what was happening on his computer.

“The Empress Dowager is a piece I designed three years ago.”

As Robin spoke, he operated the computer and a number of design manuscripts with time were instantly displayed on the large screen.

“These, all of them, are my design manuscripts, and as you can see from the time, they are my designs from three years ago. Freddie was my classmate, we worked together, he had seen my design manuscripts and I had shared my design ideas with him. I considered him as my best friend, I just never thought that he would steal my work!”

“Freddie, we said we’d work together to be the best fashion designer we could be! Why have you done this to win, to become famous?!”

The time shown in the design manuscript save on the computer cannot be faked, and if Freddie cannot prove that he had already designed “The Empress Dowager” much earlier, the stigma of his plagiarism will never be washed away in his life!

And Robin knew in his heart that Freddie couldn’t provide is any evidence because his previous design manuscripts, even his computer had been hijacked by him!

He escaped from the basement with nothing!

He can’t prove his innocence, he can only take World with him, and go to hell with him!

Chapter 815

Patricia came over today to cheer Freya on, she had ever imagined that this scene would happen.

Joanna also came along, her gleaming eyes fell coldly on Freya’s face, but her heart grew even fonder of Regina.

She gently patted the back of Regina’s hand, “It’s still our Simon who has the vision to marry such a good woman as you, Regina!”

This statement by Joanna is obviously saying that Kieran has no vision and Freya is no good. Patricia subconsciously wants to say a few words for Freya, but today, on Freya's side, she cannot be cleared of the stigma of plagiarism, and if she speaks for Freya, it will only make Joanna's impression of her even worse.

"Grandma, I'm embarrassed that you're praising me." Regina was blushing, and her good-natured and understanding appearance made Joanna like her even more.

"Regina, what I said is the truth, it's a blessing for Simon to be able to marry you!"

Joanna knew that Patricia did not support Regina marrying into the Fitzgerald family, and she gave her a deliberate look as she said this, "If Simon marries someone else, I can't rest in peace when I die!"

"Grandma, don't say that! You're in good health and the baby in my belly still wants to grow up with you!"

Hearing Regina's words, Joanna couldn't help but laugh softly, "Then I'll become an old demon! By then, all of you will definitely dislike me as an old woman!"

"Grandma, what are you talking about?! We are happy to have you around, how could we possibly resent it!" Regina nudged her arm towards Joanna, like a cute little girl pouting at her own grandmother.

The more she looked at Regina's appearance, the more satisfied Joanna was, and in contrast to Freya, she could not help but frown again.

Even if Kieran is gone, Freya is, after all, the daughter-in-law of the Fitzgerald family, and her plagiarism is a disgrace to their family!

"Grandma, don't be angry with Freya! I don't blame them for copying our designs, I can understand her, she just wants to get a good result in the finals. Grandma, you really shouldn't be angry, it hurts our hearts if you get sick out of anger!"

Joanna already disliked Freya enough, and after hearing Regina's words, not only did she not lose her anger, her discontent with her increased even more.

In the past, Patricia was biased towards Regina, treating her like her own daughter, and always looked down on Freya. Now, she felt more and more that Regina's heart was really not pure enough.

What Regina just said was not helping Freya! It was clearly trying to push Freya into a worse situation!

Patricia respected Joanna, but she was straightforward and couldn't stand Regina's personality, so she couldn't help but speak up, "Regina, the matter hasn't been decided yet, how come it's Freya who have plagiarized!"

"Patricia, I know you like Freya, but it's her fault that they copied!"

Joanna's face was serious as she heaved the cane in her hand, "If they really didn't plagiarize, wouldn't they refute?! The fact that they have been silent is that they are weak-minded!"

As soon as Joanna's words fell, Henry's powerful voice rang out on the scene, "Freddie, what else do you have to say now?!"

Henry's words sounded serious and cold, but in reality, he was giving Freddie a chance to explain.

Freddie glanced at the smug Robin in front of him, took a microphone as well and got on stage, "It's true that I can't use the design manuscript to prove that I didn't plagiarize!"

Hearing Freddie's words, there was an instant outcry.

Everyone knew that the only way Freddie could now prove that he hadn't copied was to take out his computer and show everyone that the design manuscript on his computer predated Robin's.

But now, he is saying that he cannot prove his innocence with the manuscript. This is almost already a disguised admission of his own plagiarism!

Regina tried to suppress the smug glow on her face as she put on a resigned look at Joanna and said, "I don't mind if Freya wins, as long as she uses fair and square means, even if I lose, I will still lose with conviction. I just didn't expect"

Even if Regina didn't say the words that followed, Joanna knew it by heart, her eyes, harshly, fell on Sheng Patricia's face, "Patricia, our Fitzgerald family's children can't fall into the hands of a copycat! Even if Kieran is gone, she is not qualified to raise our Fitzgerald family's children!"

Patricia's heart thumped. Was Joanna asking her to take custody of Jaden and Jayla?

"Mom, this must be a misunderstanding, Freya is simple and kind-hearted, she would never do such a thing, she"

"That's enough!" Before Patricia could finish her sentence, she was interrupted by Joanna in a cold voice, "Patricia, if you are not willing to do this matter, I will personally take action! I will definitely not let her teach our Fitzgerald family's children to be uncouth!"

Patricia had always been decisive, but she was still being pressured by this powerful mother-in-law of hers. She knew that if Joanna personally took action, she was only afraid that Freya would be forced to be miserable, and even, would not even want to get a foothold in the city.

Her heart was filled with sorrow. Freya already had no husband, if she lost her children again, what should she do?

And she can't fight Joanna, and even if she wanted to help Freya, she's still powerless!

The day after tomorrow is the wedding of Kieran and Regina, and the thought of Freya having to watch her husband marry another woman made it a little harder for Patricia.

She is sorry for Freya, but she does not know how to help her. She can only hope that her Kieran will regain her memory soon.

But she knew in her heart that even if Kieran regained his memory, Regina had his child in her belly, he and Freya would not be able to go back together.

"Freddie, you admit that you copied it?" Robin was not as tall as Freddie, but because his heart was full of the triumph of a victor, he looked at him with a feeling of superiority.

When Freddie didn't say anything, Robin took it as his default, his sight went cold.

“Freddie, I want you to apologize to me! When you were penniless, I was the one who helped you find a job! When your inspiration ran dry, I guided you and helped you find it! I genuinely treat you like a brother, what about you?!”

“Freddie, I helped you, not in return, but not so that you could copy my work and become a copycat that everyone dislikes! Freddie, apologise to me! You owe me an apology!”

Chapter 816

“Apologize! Apologize to Designer Robin!”

“Copycat, apologize! Apologize!”

The scene was filled with voices telling Freddie to apologize. Joanna was the most shameful, listening to these voices, it was as if she heard others saying for Freya to apologize and that her daughter-in-law of the Fitzgerald family was a copycat who could not be on the stage.

Joanna couldn't listen to this anymore, she coldly swept Patricia, “Patricia, tomorrow I will have my lawyer go to Freya! You don't have to speak for her anymore, if she did something shameless, she should bear the consequences! Our Fitzgerald family can't afford to suffer this disgrace!”

After saying this, Joanna no longer wanted to stay at the venue, she got up, and wanted to leave the place.

“Grandma, you haven't seen me on stage to receive my award!”

Regina gently held Joanna's hand. Now, it was true that Freddie had been found guilty of plagiarism, but Freya had not yet made a public spectacle of herself, and the most exciting part had yet to come, so how could she let Joanna leave!

Although Freddie is the designer of the garments entered this time, Freya is one of the founders of World, and in a moment when the judges also decide that Freddie is a plagiarist, Freya is going to apologize to everyone!

She waited to see Freya admit that their work was copied from Court, she waited to see everyone shouted at them!

“Grandma, I'm the president of Court, and when our team wins in a moment, Robin and I are going to be on stage together, and I want you to cheer me on!”

Regina slightly lowered her eyes, her face with the usual little girl's shyness and apprehension, “Grandma, I'm actually nervous, seeing you is what gives me strength!”

Joanna gave Regina a dotting glance and sat back in her seat, waiting to see her most delighted granddaughter-in-law come up to the stage to receive her award.

If she had known what was going to happen next, Regina would not have been able to pander to Joanna and ask her to stay, but unfortunately, she cannot anticipate everything that is going to happen.

“I apologise?!”

In response to the accusations of the crowd, Freddie's voice, without being condescending, rang out, "I apologize? Apologise to whom? Robin or Regina?"

"Heh!" Freddie's voice was heavy with mockery, "I apologize to them? Apologize for what?! For Regina and Robin's collusion in appropriating my work? Or for the fact that they imprisoned me so that I can only draw for them?"

"Or, For the fact that they threatened me with my parents' lives that killed them in a foreign country and I didn't even see them before they died?!"

"What did Freddie say? How is this possible! How could Miss Wells and Designer Robin be such people?"

"To take someone prisoner and capture their parents, that kind of behaviour is so bad."

"That's right! If that's the case, Freddie is miserable."

These doubts were instantly overwhelmed by the voices of Regina's people, "Freddie, don't talk nonsense! You're just a copycat! Don't try to deliberately frame Miss Wells and Designer Robin to clear your name!"

"Yes! Shame on the copycat! You should apologize to Designer Robin!"

"You should also apologize to Miss Wells for slandering her! Copycat, apologize! Apologise!"

Having been exposed by Freddie in public for his and Regina's evil deeds, Robin's face was not the least bit flustered, "Freddie, you've really gone too far today! Don't say nonsense!"

"Judges, the evidence of Freddie's plagiarism of my 'The Empress Dowager' is overwhelming, I ask you all to give me justice!"

"Plagiarism has touched the bottom line of our competition, Freddie, if you can't prove that you didn't plagiarize, you can only withdraw from the competition!" Henry said with some regret, he didn't expect that a young man he was so optimistic about would really be a copycat!

Mr. Hans couldn't help but speak up as well, "That's an awful thing! Not only should you withdraw from the competition, but you should also apologise to all the public you have deceived! We, the fashion design community, don't want scum like you!"

"I told you, I didn't plagiarize!" Freddie's eyes fell on the two models of Court aside, "I can prove my innocence!"

"Innocence? Freddie, your plagiarism is already a foregone conclusion, how else can you prove your innocence?!" Robin spoke disdainfully, "You're planning to bite the bullet, aren't you?!"

"Will the two models from Court please come on stage! I can prove my innocence!" Freddie ignored Robin and instead said word for word to the stage.

The two models at Court didn't know exactly what Freddie wanted to do, but in this case, with 10,000 people watching, they could only go on stage.

Once the two models were on stage, Freddie paced unhurriedly in front of them, then grabbed the long hem of one of the models' skirts and revealed the red lining inside to the crowd.

“I made this dress with my own hands! The embroidery on it is not the usual Su embroidery we see, nor is it Shu embroidery, but a double-sided embroidery that I created myself by fusing the essence of Shu and Su embroidery, with one side forming a picture and the other side forming words.”

“And tear off this lining to reveal, on the hem of the skirt were the words!”

Freddie’s voice was not loud, but the minds of the crowd at the scene could not help but be drawn to him.

Seeing the lining on the hem of his skirt, Robin’s chest inexplicably panicked. He noticed the lining on the hem of his skirt, he always thought that the lining was just for decoration, but he never thought that there was something else inside!

His fists involuntarily tightened, and without knowing when, cold sweat had broken out on his palms.

He gritted his teeth and yelled at Freddie, “What double-sided embroidery! Freddie, plagiarism is plagiarism! It doesn’t change the fact that you plagiarised!”

As if not noticing Robin’s anger, Freddie leisurely turned his face and looked at him, smirking, “Designer Robin, since I copied it and this dress is your work, may I ask what words are embroidered on the back of this skirt?!”

Robin’s expression froze, he really didn’t know what kind of words were embroidered inside.

The requirements for the embroidery work in “The Empress Dowager” are so high that an ordinary embroiderer would not be able to produce results to his satisfaction, so the two costumes he brought to the competition are still the same two sets made by Freddie himself back then.

These two outfits were kept especially well, because he knew that they would be able to make his fame and climb to another level.

Fearing that the two suits might be damaged, he didn’t even dare to touch them hard enough, so he did not know what the back of the skirt, with the lining torn out, would look like!

However, Robin’s resilience was still quick and he remembered it in a flash.

The name of these two outfits is called “The Empress Dowager”, and the words inside, naturally, are also The Empress Dowager! If he even guessed the words inside correctly, he would like to see how Freddie could still clear the stigma of plagiarism from him!

Thinking so, Robin couldn’t help but curl his lips proudly, “I made the dress myself, how could I not know the words inside?! The words inside are The Empress Dowager!”

Chapter 817

Originally, there were quite a few spectators in the audience who were secretly sweating for Robin, but now they were instantly relieved to see him looking so sure of himself.

He spoke so calmly, naturally he knew the inner workings of the dress!

He designed and made the clothes, for sure he knew what kind of words are in! Freddie was just making a fool of himself

In fact, the most nervous person at the scene was Regina, whose heart almost burst out of her chest after hearing those words from Freddie.

She had invited Joanna over today so that she could watch Freya make a fool of herself, and she was the one who made a fool of herself!

She was afraid that Robin might guess the wrong word inside, making all their planning a waste. However, seeing his look of control, her heart slowly settled down again.

Robin had treasured The Empress Dowager for so long that he must have known the dress well, so how could he not know what words were on it!

Freddie did not say that what Robin said was wrong, his eyes drifted away, as if, thinking of a time that was the warmest and sweetest.

His voice was heavy with nostalgia, "I loved a girl who was once the goddess of my heart, and later, the love of my life."

"Her name is one that I think everyone has heard of. Her name is Lucy."

As he spoke, Freddie's hands exerted force and the lining of the skirt of the model standing beside him was ripped off with deft force.

It was only the lining that was ripped off, no offence to the model, however, at this point, everyone was able to see the writing on the inside of the skirt hem – Lucy.

Looking at the word inside of his skirt, Freddie's eyes could not help but become moist, he could not help but remember, when he was at his most down and out, that pure and kind girl gave him a bottle of cold drink, saving him from the fate of having his dignity trampled on.

All people think that Lucy is indifferent by nature and always has a cold and detached look that rejects people, but in fact he knows that he is the best girl in the world, and under her cold exterior.

However, her heart was trampled on by a man who did not cherish it.

He thought that if he had been able to woo her earlier and become strong earlier, perhaps, everything would have been different.

Fillip saw the word on the inside of his skirt, his fingers involuntarily tightened. He knew full well that Lucy did not like Freddie, but his heart was still so sour that he could not breathe, and then it hurt his heart.

Freddie's eyes and Phillip's meet in the air.

The gray hair on Phillip's head is quite a bit more than before, but this does not detract from his cold handsome face.

Freddie knew that Lucy's death had left Phillip in sadness, but he still could not forgive him.

Lucy is dead, so what is the point of all the remorse! After all, it was Phillip who destroyed her with his own hands!

Seeing the word on the hem of his skirt, Robin's smug face was instantly deadened. He could never imagine that the word on the hem would be a woman's name!

"The words on the hem of the skirt is not white hair! Is it that the person who copied it really wasn't Freddie, but Designer Robin?"

"It seems like we've really wronged Freddie just now! I think the person who plagiarized is Designer Robin!"

"It's solid! The copycat must be Robin! If he really designed this dress, how would he not even know what the words in it?!"

"I can't believe it! Just now he was so righteous in accusing Freddie of plagiarism! "

.....

Listening to the chatter of the audience, Robin's face was even more unpleasant, but he was not a foolish man, and took a few deep breaths and finally calmed himself down.

To be able to use such shady tactics to take Freddie's work for himself, Robin naturally has his shameless side.

Tonight, he intends to put the skill of shamelessness to good use.

He cleared his throat, "I'm sorry, a bit of time has passed and I forgot what words were embroidered inside the hem of my skirt! Now I remember, the word I embroidered inside the hem of my skirt is Lucy."

"As you all know, Lucy is a national goddess, and back then, she was also the goddess of my heart. I thought of my goddess day and night, and even when I made clothes, I liked to embroider her name on them."

"But men are fickle, and then I had another goddess and I actually forgot about it!"

The smile on Freddie's face was even more sneering and disdainful, Robin's shamelessness had once again refreshed his views. He really didn't expect that he would have the nerve to say such excuses.

Back in the lounge to change clothes, Freya and Kiki looked at the LCD TV inside the room and both wanted to smash Robin's hypocritical face.

However, they had promised Freddie that they would leave this to him, so they did not act rashly.

Freddie has suffered for so many years, and his parents died for no reason, some scores should be settled!

Robin's words resonated with many men on the scene. Indeed, men are mostly fickle and the woman around them may not be the same one for the rest of their lives, not to mention the star they chased and the goddess they had a crush on!

Besides, the dress has been made for years and it is indeed quite normal that one would forget what has been embroidered.

“Freddie, I didn’t expect you to have liked Lucy too! Our appetites are quite similar, no wonder you’ve been thinking of copying my work!”

Hearing Lucy’s name come out of Robin’s mouth, Freddie’s discomfort was so extreme that he wanted to smash his mouth and tell him not to tarnish Lucy’s name, but thinking of his plans, he finally held back.

“Robin, we will soon see who is plagiarising!”

With that, Freddie’s hands exerted force and tore off the lining of another model’s skirt.

He lifted the inside of his skirt so that everyone could see the word on it, “Freddie. The word on it is my name, Freddie.”

“You can still slyly argue about the word on the hem of that skirt just now, Robin, now, how do you want to slyly argue?! You can’t say that after you had a crush on Lucy, you changed your sex and had a crush on me, and quietly embroidered my name on the hem of your skirt!”

The corners of Freddie’s hooked lips were sarcastic, “I think I am not so charming as to charm you into frenzy!”

Chapter 818

Being dissed by Freddie like this, Robin’s face changed, and when he heard the uncontrollable laughter from the audience, his face was even more distorted.

Robin still wanted to explain himself, but now the truth was so obvious that anyone in the audience with a clean mind could see that it wasn’t Freddie who copied him, it was him who copied Freddie!

He had done everything he could, but in the end, he never had a chance to turn his life around!

Freddie’s voice was still going on, his handsome face looked more and more sunny, “Designer Robin, if you really have a crush on me, I’m afraid I’ll have to disappoint you, I’m not interested in men!”

The laughter grew louder and, the applause remained more enthusiastically.

It was obvious that everyone was applauding Freddie, his words were light-hearted and witty, with an obvious flirtation, but between the talk, he had knocked Robin into a million pieces.

No one would believe his joke that Robin had taken a liking to him and embroidered his name on the dress, everyone would just think that it was originally designed by Freddie!

Robin’s move has disgusted the people Regina had hired!

“Robin, now, you still want to say that it was Freddie who copied you?” Phillip, who had been silent, finally spoke up, “You are unrepentant after stealing his work, you are the real shame of the industry!”

Although Phillip is young, his international influence is in no way inferior to that of other fashion design masters, and once he spoke, everyone was even more unanimously on Freddie’s side, collectively despising Robin.

Accustomed to being hailed, Robin felt awkward to be suddenly despised by so many viewers.

He glanced at Regina, trying to get help from her, but she didn't want to pay any attention to him, and he could only make a dying struggle.

"Fillip, you misunderstood! I really didn't plagiarize! The person who plagiarised was Freddie! It was him, he was jealous of me, he wanted to frame me and changed my entry costume before the competition! Yes, he changed my costume! It's true that I did have words embroidered inside the skirt of my entry costume too, but my words were really The Empress Dowager!"

"Fillip, you have to believe me! Everyone, please believe me, I guarantee with my personality that I really didn't plagiarise!"

Robin's sophistry was reasonable, but unfortunately, Freddie's action of tearing up the lining just now was so shocking that it was impossible for anyone to believe him anymore.

No one was stupid, if the clothes had really been replaced, even if the replacement clothes faked by Freddie were more similar, as the designer and maker of the clothes, how could Robin not even see if they were real or not!

What's more, Robin's clothes, although well preserved, were a bit old at first glance, and must have been made for a certain period of time, so how could Freddie be so proactive as to change them out years ago!

There was only one possibility – those designs on Robin's computer were stolen from Freddie!

"What kind of personality can a copycat have?" Daniel gave Robin a contemptuous look, "For a scum of the design world like you to participate in this competition is a disgrace to the industry!"

"It's unbelievable! How can a copyist accuse someone of plagiarism so justifiably!" Mr. Hans looked at Robin incredulously and said, "Robin, you are so disappointing!"

Henry sighed heavily, "Robin, when you do something wrong, you should actively correct it, instead of shirking your responsibilities, this attitude of yours of not admitting your mistakes will only make people look down on you! I'll give you one last chance, did you plagiarise or did Freddie plagiarise?!"

"Henry, judges, you really have to believe me, the person who plagiarised really wasn't me, it was Freddie!"

Robin was still clinging to his mistake. Henry could no longer suppress the disappointment in his eyes, and his eyes looked at him with a bit more coldness, "I suggest that the organisers disqualify Robin from the competition! In our competition, we can take in works that are not perfect, but we will definitely not indulge in contestants with serious flaws in their character to ruin the ethos of the competition here!"

"I also demand that Robin be disqualified from the competition, and not only that, I want him to apologize to Freddie!" Fillip said word for word, "And also, apologise to Lucy!"

Just now, when Robin mentioned Lucy, his words were full of frivolity, even if she had gone and she couldn't hear these voices, he still wouldn't allow anyone to mention her in such a tone!

"I also demand that Robin be disqualified and that he apologise to everyone!" Mr Hans and Daniel chimed in.

Listening to the voices of the judges on stage, Robin knew that today, no matter what he did, he would not be able to turn his back.

But he really couldn't apologize to Freddie!

In front of Freddie, he had always been smug, so how could he possibly apologise to him!

"Apologize to me, Robin! Apologize to Lucy!" Freddie stepped forward, his voice sharp, "You should apologize to my parents! How did my parents die? Where did you hide their ashes?"

"Freddie, what are you babbling about?! How could I know how your parents died!"

Robin gritted his teeth and shouted, "You set me up for plagiarism, and you slandered that I killed your parents, Freddie, why are you such a nasty person!"

"Nasty?! You and Regina are the ones who are really nasty, Robin! You two dare to swear to heaven that you designed all the multiple works that Court has put out! How does that feel to gain achievement based on my efforts?"

Freddie snapped his face around and stared at Regina, asking in a stern voice, "Miss Wells, how does it feel?!"

When Robin's plagiarism was confirmed just now, Regina's face was already pale enough, and now that she was questioned by Freddie, her face went white.

Joanna's disgruntled eye fell on Regina's face, her eyes looking at her with obvious scrutiny, and her voice involuntarily raised.

"Hope, is it true? You really appropriated his work and hurt his parents?!"

"I didn't!" Regina shook her head vigorously, "Grandma, I don't know! I really don't know anything!"

Regina regretted that she should not have stopped Joanna from leaving just now. But there was no medicine for regret in this world, and if she regretted it, it was too late.

The only thing she can do is to have Robin carry all the blame!

As soon as Regina's words left her mouth, Joanna's stern voice rang through the air again, "Regina, do you dare say that you really know nothing about Robin setting up Freddie?!"

Chapter 819

"I"

Regina's face was getting blushed, now, the only person who supported her in the Fitzgerald family was Joanna, if even Joanna didn't like her anymore, it would be tough for her in the future.

Moreover, the day after tomorrow is her and Kieran's wedding, there must not be any accidents in these few days!

She gritted her teeth and tried to hide the twisted resentment on her face as she put on a pitiful look and said pitifully, "Grandma, you really misunderstood me, I really didn't expect Robin to plagiarize, let alone that he would set up Freddie today!"

“Grandma, I know that what happened today is the fault of our Court, that it was my failure to manage Court well that allowed Robin to do such unseemly things! But Grandma, whether you want to believe me or not, I have to say that I am really not in cahoots with him!”

“Robin is a designer I value very much, he was hired by Court at great expense. If I knew he would only copy, how could I have wasted so much manpower and resources on him?!”

“Grandma, I was really fooled by him and I can’t believe until now that the man I trusted so much would do something as despicable as plagiarism!”

Joanna looked at Regina with suspicion, but in the end, she chose to believe Regina.

Regina will be marrying into the Fitzgerald family the day after tomorrow, and it is related to the disgrace of the Fitzgerald family. If she is really in cahoots with Robin, she will not only disgrace herself, but also the Fitzgerald family.

So, whether she did anything wrong or not, the outside world must decide that all the fault is Robin’s!

The reputation of the Fitzgerald family must not be damaged by anyone!

Although she chose to defend Regina, after this incident today, Joanna’s impression of her was not as good as before.

It was Regina’s moral failings to be in cahoots with Robin, and even if she hadn’t been involved in the plagiarism, it was her incompetence as a leader to manage.

Whichever way it was, Joanna could not appreciate it.

She loves a good and loving offspring, but what she wants more than anything else is a woman who is the best match, both morally and in terms of ability, for her beloved grandson to marry.

There was no doubt that the events of the evening had left her disappointed in Regina.

However, thinking that she was the daughter of the Wells family, thinking of that mysterious and noble family, Joanna’s face eased as she looked at Regina.

Even if Regina was lacking in ability or morality, just the fact that she was the daughter of the Wells family made her the most compatible person in the world for her precious grandson!

In the beginning, she had agreed to marry Kieran and Freya because she couldn’t resist her stubborn husband, but in fact, she didn’t like Freya’s background, and she couldn’t be happier with Regina’s!

“Grandma, you still don’t want to believe me, do you?” Regina pityingly squeezed out a tear, “Grandma

Joanna gently clutched Regina’s hand, “Regina, I believe you! This is all Robin’s doing, it has nothing to do with you! Don’t think too much, just prepare well to be the most beautiful bride!”

Hearing these words from Joanna, Regina finally breathed a sigh of relief.

However, she still felt so bad in her heart that she almost went crazy. She had done all her calculations to defeat Freya, but she didn't expect that in the end, she would still face the end of Robin being implemented to plagiarize and Court losing reputation!

Robin had already been expelled from the competition by the security guards. The finals were broadcast live, and his plagiarism was already known to the world, and his career was completely ruined!

Robin was arguably the signature of Court, and with his destruction, Court was mostly ruined.

And Grandpa's last words

Because of the energy lost by Robin, Court can't make up for it for a while, and it's a bit more difficult to reach the goal her grandfather set for her before he died.

After it was decided that Robin had plagiarised, many viewers apologised to Freddie for misunderstanding his plagiarism.

Freddie gave a smile, which made everyone have a good impression on him.

Regina also took to the stage to express her profound apologies to Freddie, who naturally put all the blame on Robin.

What Robin did tonight was to drag Court into being dissed all over the internet, but Regina's apology has garnered a lot of support, and many feel that she too is a victim.

The designer she paid a lot of money for is a copycat, how bad must it be!

Many netizens have commented online, saying that Miss Wells is the biggest victim.

Looking at the increasing number of supportive comments online, the corners of Regina's lips could not be controlled to rise.

She is not that easy to lose!

Everyone thought that it was a foregone conclusion that Robin was out and Freddie had won the title, and that the next step would be the prize giving.

However, Freddie picked up the microphone and said, "Sorry for making everyone watch a farce. The Empress Dowager is not actually my real entry, it will appear here just to expose Robin's evil deeds!"

"My real entries have two sets, 'Undying' and 'New Life'!"

As Freddie's words fell, the scene instantly resounded with the sound of lingering music, and under the lights, Freya and Kiki straightened their backs and walked onto the catwalk step by step.

Stunned gasps of surprise rose and fell as the two of them stepped out for a moment, and even the women in the audience looked straight at them.

The dresses on both of them continue to incorporate a strong style.

The design of the top, which resembles a sleeveless cheongsam with a pure white collar that wraps around their necks and a panelled button in the same colour that smoothly clings to their chests, is undoubtedly conservative, but this design is filled with a strong sense of ascetic beauty.

The top half of the dress is pure white, and the bottom half is a snowy white, dotted with a glorious red. Layers of red, like feathers, more like petals of a single flower.

At first glance, the red, which almost flew up, looked like it had been glued on, but on closer inspection, it became clear that the glorious red had been embroidered on.

The crowd looked on in awe, no one had thought the costume was so stunning.

Everyone was immersed in the beauty of the costume, and as the sound of rousing music came, Jaden and Jayla came on stage holding hands.

Chapter 820

New Life.

Even if they didn't know the name of this group of clothes, the word that came to everyone's mind the moment they saw Jaden and Jayla was the same.

The pale pink, paired with the vibrant green, is indescribably harmonious.

Like, the first melting of the snow, the coming of spring and the revival of all things.

All suffering will eventually pass, and what eventually breaks out of the cocoon is vibrant life.

The vibrant kids walked down the catwalk in style, making everyone smell the fresh scent of green grass.

Freddie loves the style, and there is no doubt that for this set of children's clothes, he has adopted the same design.

What Jaden was wearing was a modified suit, coupled with a light green and soft pink, which was worn on him without any femininity, or abruptness, but rather set off his face.

He is like a young man in the national style coming out of the rain in the south, but he has the sturdy and bold body of a northern man.

What Jayla was wearing was a modified clothes, the upper body was a common design, but the lower body was changed into wide-legged trousers, and a pair of pink butterflies on the trouser legs were the icing on the cake, and as she walked around, a pair of pink butterflies spread their wings and wanted to fly, as if she could smell the fragrance of a hundred flowers.

Although Jayla usually likes to be particularly pampered, she actually has a little imperial aura about her. These wide-legged trousers worn on her have both the sweetness of a little girl and the aura of a big sister, and these two auras blend on her in an extraordinarily harmonious way.

It must be said that Freya, Freddie and Kiki are all quite business-minded. They took advantage of this grand final to launch World's children's clothing brand, so you can imagine how popular their children's clothing brand will be after it wins the title!

Add to that the fact that Jaden and Jayla, a pair of young models with such pretty faces, and the children's collection would be a hit.

The finals were broadcast live, and by now, many netizens were already cheering up frantically for Jaden and Jayla in the comments section, and parents were scrambling to get on Worldly website to try and grab a pre-order slot for this children's clothing, for their own children.

In today's society, face is really justice. After Freya, Kiki, Jaden and Jayla came on stage, the official website of World has crashed several times due to the excessive number of visitors, even though the technicians were frantically trying to repair it, the number of crashes continued unabated.

It is clear how many people's eyes were dazzled by the costumes entered in Worldly competition, and sales are sure to climb to new heights next.

Looking at the four men walking confidently and proudly on stage, Regina's face changed out of anger.

Jaden, Jayla

What a mistake not to have killed them earlier!

If she had known they would be in such a scene, she would have let them die a thousand times over!

Court actually has its own children's clothing brand under its banner, but they failed to make it a hit after investing a lot of money.

Little did she know that World would be an instant hit without any advertising money!

How can she be happy with this!

Even if she was so angry that her whole heart was already twisted, she still had to try to maintain a subdued and elegant appearance before Patricia and Joanna present.

She knew that what Joanna cared most about was the reputation of the Fitzgerald family, and generally, the elders of such a wealthy family were conservative in their thinking. She must could not accept that Jaden and Jayla came to the stage.

With this in mind, Regina turned her face and said to Joanna with a coquettish smile, "Grandma, Jaden and Jayla are so cute! Is Freya planning to let them model in the future since she takes them along on the show?"

Joanna is such a dignified person, how can she allow her grandson and granddaughter to be models!

Although the entertainment industry can be a source of glory and wealth, such powerful families still don't look up to people in the entertainment industry, in their view, actors and models are nothing!

When Joanna heard her words, she would have been furious with Freya!

The more Joanna hated Freya, the better the situation would be for her, and she could even use Joanna's hand to make Freya no longer have a foothold in the city!

Regina thought that after hearing her words, Joanna would be furious, but instead, her face was rarely tinted with radiance.

She looked at Jaden and Jayla with a loving face, "Our Fitzgerald family's children really look good any way!"

Regina, “.....”

Regina gritted her teeth, “Yes, our Jaden and Jayla are so good looking! But, Grandma, being models

It’s too degrading to be a model!

“I didn’t expect Freya to be so business-minded! In the past, I really underestimated her!” Joanna’s eyes filled with appreciation as she looked at Freya, “Well, launching a children’s clothing brand at this time is indeed a successful marketing exercise!”

“And the models are so cute! Such nice clothes, who else but our children could wear them so well!”

At this moment, Joanna’s face was not half as stern as before, but full of softness and love.

“Yes, our Jaden and Jayla are so good-looking!” Patricia had a satisfied look on her face, “What good-looking children! Only our Kieran and Freya can produce such good-looking children!”

Hearing Patricia’s words, Joanna nodded gently, although she still wasn’t much satisfied with Freya, but the children were too cute!

The adorable look of the two little ones made her steel heart melt.

Watching the interaction between Patricia and Joanna, Regina was angry.

Only Kieran and Freya can produce such good-looking children?

So the child in her belly is not a good looker!

Regina was really angry that she didn’t want to say another word to them.

With Robin out, it was a foregone conclusion that Freddie would win the title, but Freya was still nervous.

In case Kieran gave them a zero or some other super low score, even if they won the championship, it would still be embarrassing.

When the scores of World teams were announced, Freya’s heart was tense to the extreme, and her eyes locked on Kieran, who seemed to notice her gaze and sneered at her with a hooked lip.

When she met Kieran’s mocking gaze, a very bad feeling arose in her heart.