

Talented 921

Chapter 921

Regina had never expected Jaden to dare to treat her like this, and right away, she let out a scream.

The bowl of hot soup poured over her body.

Regina's face was twisted in pain.

She wanted to set these two kids up, but she didn't want to pay such a high price!

If she got a little soup on her arm, it would burn a little, and then she can complain in front of Joanna, but she doesn't want a big bowl full of hot soup!

The hot soup poured down Regina's neck, and her arms and neck, exposed to the air, were instantly red, and the skin beneath her clothes was no better, and even though she was calm and graceful, she couldn't help but wail and jump around in pain.

Especially when she thought of Jaden's cold eyes just now, her heart stuttered even more.

It's really awful!

In a trance, it was as if she saw a demon that had fallen out of the eighteenth circle of hell.

How could a child of just over five years old have such a terrible aura about him! And how could he have poured a huge bowl of hot soup over her so viciously!

Suddenly, there was some indescribable panic in Regina's heart, but her heart only slowly settled down again when she thought that these were two little kids after all.

No matter how ruthless and cunning they are, their power, after all, is limited, and if she plays a trick, she will be able to make them disappear from this world completely!

She's taken so much pain, she can't take it for nothing!

Glancing at Joanna on the stairs, Regina screamed hysterically, "Ah! It hurts! Jaden, Jayla, what are you doing! What have I done wrong for you to do this to me!"

"Ah! It hurts! It hurts so much"

Joanna was coming down the stairs slowly, but when she heard Regina's voice, she scrambled to quicken her pace.

When she saw Joanna coming, Regina screamed even harder, "It hurts! Jaden, Jayla, I know you don't like me, but I really don't know what I've done to offend you, you have to hurt me so much!"

"I'm still carrying a baby in my belly! I don't care if you pour hot soup on me, I don't care if you scald me to death, but what if you hurt the baby inside me?"

"Simon is gone and I can't let anything happen to our baby!"

Regina seemed to be unable to control the aggression in her heart and cried so much that she could not speak.

When Joanna saw the large patch of red on Regina's arms and neck, as well as the mess on the ground, she hurriedly went to Regina and asked with concern and anxiety, "Regina, what's going on here? How are you? Doctor! Get the doctor over here!"

At Joanna's command, the maid panicked and went to call the private doctor.

Regina was still sobbing pitifully, she was in such a mess, and with that big red patch on her body, she looked truly pitiful to the extreme.

"Grandma, I"

As soon as Regina opened her mouth, her tears kept falling.

Regina had wanted to act like she wanted to say something, so that Joanna's heart would be more on her side and punish the two kids properly, but Jayla caught the opportunity and spoke up in a hurry, drawing Joanna's attention to her.

"Grandma"

Jayla timidly lowered her face, "Great Grandma, it's all my fault, it's my fault, I accidentally spilled it on Regina."

She didn't expect Jayla to take the blame instead of Jaden, so Regina couldn't help but be surprised. However, she didn't like both kids, so no matter who was punished today, she was happy.

"What the hell is going on here?"

Thinking of the fact that Regina's hand was now injured and she was still pregnant with a child, Joanna's voice could not help but be cold and stern, "You're fooling around again, aren't you?!"

Being reprimanded by Joanna, the aggression and timidity on Jayla's face intensified.

She didn't speak immediately, but sniffled hard as she sobbed, looking too aggrieved to speak.

"Say it! What the hell is going on here?"

Jayla's face turned red, as if she was crying extremely hard. She sobbed hard for several more times before she spoke pitifully, "Grandma, I really know I'm wrong, don't be angry, okay?"

"A few days ago I had some misunderstanding with Regina. She was having a difficult time with her stomach and had diarrhoea, I was afraid that something would happen to her, so I shouted out and drew all the servants inside the mansion to her room. But she pooped her trousers and she made a fool of herself in front of everyone, and made a feud with me."

"Great Grandma, I really didn't mean to shout at anyone to make a fool of Regina, I was really worried about her. She's carrying Uncle Simon's baby inside her belly, and I'm afraid that if she's having such a hard time, something will happen to the baby."

"I was just a little kid and didn't know how to help, so I had to call out for an adult to come and help. Because of what happened that day, Regina doesn't like me anymore. I like Regina and I want to play with her, so I want to make amends to her and admit my mistake."

“Regina has a baby in her belly and has to be properly nourished. I wanted to serve Regina a bowl of bone broth so that she could nourish her baby, but I didn’t expect her not to accept my apology to her.”

When she said this, Jayla wailed and burst into tears.

“Grandma, am I unattractive and annoying, and does everyone dislike me?”

“I really like Regina and I like the baby inside her tummy, so why doesn’t she like me?”

“I really didn’t mean to do it, I was serving bone broth to Regina and she didn’t want it, she pushed me several times and the soup poured over her.”

Jayla stood shivering in place and cried out, looking terrified, “Great Grandma, I’m wrong, it’s all my fault, I’m a bad child. I accidentally poured the soup on Regina, have someone beat me!”

“Great Grandma, I have made a mistake, I am willing to suffer the family law, I only hope that you will not hate me.” Jayla blinked her eyes, innocent and pitiful, “If even you hate me, I really won’t have anyone to like me!”

Saying that, Jayla timidly stretched out her hand at Joanna, “Great Grandma, you let someone beat me! I’m not afraid of pain! As long as you don’t hate me, I’m not afraid of any pain!”

Seeing Jayla’s appearance, Joanna’s heart softened and she turned her face to look at Regina and asked, “Regina, did Jayla really accidentally pour the soup on you?”

Chapter 922

Regina has been completely stunned by the extent of Jayla’s inversion of right and wrong and shamelessness.

It was only after hearing Joanna’s words that her thoughts returned to her.

She spoke with unmistakable resignation, “Grandma, I”

She was unwilling to compromise by saying that Jayla had accidentally poured the soup on her, but Regina was so shrewd that when she saw Joanna’s face, she already knew that the scales in her heart had tipped completely in favour of those two kids.

Regina was not willing to suffer loss, but at this moment, what could she do!

If she were to say that Jaden and Jayla had deliberately harmed her, not only would Joanna not believe her, but she would also think that she was too small-minded to be bothered with two children.

Jayla sobbed vigorously, then lifted her face and looked at Joanna rather firmly, “Great Grandma, it’s my fault, it’s all my fault, I am an obnoxious child. If you think beating me is not enough, I am willing to be poured with hot soup all over too.”

With that, Jayla picked up the large bowl of fish soup in the table.

“Great Grandmother, although I really didn’t mean to get the soup on Regina, I caused her pain after all, and I deserved to be punished!”

Joanna already liked these two little kids, especially when she thought of the time she misunderstood them and almost used the family law on them, her heart softened.

She was quite fond of Regina, but without the blood ties. She didn't feel much when Regina was in pain, but if such a cute little baby was also doused in hot soup, she would be heartbroken.

When she saw that Jayla had really picked up the bowl of fish soup and was about to pour it over herself, Joanna couldn't care less about Regina, she grabbed the big bowl of soup out of Jayla's hands and hugged Jayla into her arms.

"Jayla, my dear, you're so cute, how could you not be attractive! I love you and Jaden the most!"

Joanna gently wiped away the tears from the corners of Jayla's eyes. The more she looked at this little brat, the more she liked her, and when she thought of the big bowl of fish soup that she had just snatched away from her, her heart felt a pang of fear again.

Regina's flesh is thick, so it's fine if it hurts a little, but her little baby is so tender that if she were poured with boiling hot fish soup, she'd be scalded to the skin!

Moreover, she really didn't think that Jayla had done anything wrong. It wasn't easy for her to be so careful to please Regina, and even if she had accidentally spilled fish soup on Regina, she had only done a bad thing out of good intentions.

Thinking of what Jayla had just said, Joanna couldn't help but frown.

She was aware of what happened that night the other day, when Jayla panicked and shouted for someone to rescue Regina, not realising that Regina had shit her trousers.

When Regina made a public spectacle of herself, Joanna thought nothing of it, except that she had never imagined that she had made the two kids cynical.

The children of their Fitzgerald family are all delicate and exalted, how can they stoop so low as to ask for forgiveness!

Jaden and Jayla have put their stance so low, and Regina is still arrogant!

If Master Zachary hadn't said that she was the lucky star of their Fitzgerald family, that she was still carrying Simon's child inside her belly, and that she was making things so difficult for these two lovely children, today, she would not have spared her so easily!

Even if she would not punish Regina, but thinking of Jayla and Jaden being embarrassed for their commiseration, Joanna's face could not help but chill.

"Regina, what you did this time was a bit much!"

"What?" Regina was dumbfounded, she felt so wronged and aggrieved!

She was the most pathetic victim, she was being bullied by these two kids, how come she ended up being the one who went too far?

"Grandma, I"

Regina did not want to be misunderstood by Joanna like this, so she subconsciously tried to explain, but before she could finish her sentence, she was already cut off coldly by Joanna.

“Regina, I know you were upset when you made a public spectacle of yourself the other day. But what does this have to do with Jaden and Jayla? They are so fond of you, so fond of the child inside your belly, everything they do is for your own good, and you, an adult, don’t be more open-minded and have to make things difficult for them at every turn.”

Regina’s eyes were red with anguish, she wanted to tell Joanna that these two brats wanted her to die early, how could they like her and do her good!

But she knew in her heart that if she said that, Joanna wouldn’t believe a word of it.

Not only that, Joanna would think that she was too narrow-minded to tolerate these two little brats because she couldn’t distinguish between right and wrong.

Regina took a deep breath, could not continue to defend herself. After so much aggravation, she could only swallow her tears.

“Grandma, I’m sorry, I didn’t mean to make things difficult for Jaden and Jayla. I like them too, it’s just that I really don’t like bone broth, and I just pushed back a little bit and I didn’t expect to get doused with hot soup.”

Regina somewhat subconsciously put the blame on the two little ones, but, after hearing her words, Joanna’s face was not that unpleasant anymore.

Swallowing all the resentment in her heart, Regina said to Joanna, “Grandma, don’t worry, I will take good care of Jaden and Jayla, I will truly be good to them, they are Kieran’s children and so cute, how could I not like them!”

“I will love them as if they were my own children.”

Hearing Regina’s words, Joanna finally nodded in satisfaction. She hoped that Regina would be able to get along well with Jaden and Jayla in the future, after all, they would soon become a real family.

Sitting on the seat, Joanna said lightly, “Since today’s matter is all a misunderstanding, let’s just forget it. Jayla, don’t cry, it hurts my heart if you cry anymore.”

Jayla held back her tears and gave a big smile. Seeing this, the corners of Joanna’s lips could not help but rise, forgetting how badly Regina had been burned.

Regina walked back to her room with hatred. The doctor had treated her burns and said they would not leave scars, but the hatred that she felt in her heart still could not be removed.

Thinking of something, Regina dialed a number.

Jaden and Jayla are only two small children no matter how smart they are, she doesn’t believe that they can compete with a pack of mad dogs!

Freya, just wait until you collect the bodies of those two little brats!

Chapter 923

There are several dogs in the backyard of the Fitzgerald's. If those dogs suddenly go crazy and Jaden and Jayla happen to go there, the two of them will definitely have no way to survive!

Originally, Regina's heart was still full of hard feelings, and the thought of those two little kids being bitten bloody by dogs made her heart feel smoother than ever.

No one who stands in her way will have an easy time!

What she wants, she will get it for sure!

Jayla's battle of wits with Regina was quite energetic, but these two days she was really in a bit of a bad mood.

She had always been quite a self-absorbed little girl, optimistic and enthusiastic, but a recent spate of blows had caused her to have serious doubts about herself.

After dinner, Jayla plopped down on the sofa in her room, looking up like a poor puppy that no one wanted, "Brother, am I really unpopular?"

In the past, Leon had particularly disliked her, and he ignored her when she went over to him every night.

The time she was taken by the traffickers, Leon had his leg broken by the traffickers for her, and she thought he treated her as a good friend's and that he would be willing to care about her in the future.

However, after returning from that remote village, Leon was even more reluctant to care about her.

His leg was badly injured and even after the operation, he was still confined to a wheelchair for a short time. She often went to his house to try to help take care of him, but every time, he just chased her away coldly.

Especially after Annie found her biological parents, Leon became even colder towards her.

Annie's parents, surprisingly, are neighbours who live on the same floor as Leon.

Annie went over to keep Leon company almost every day, and the two of them seemed to have a particularly good relationship.

He spoke to Ann, politely and gently, but to her, never in a good manner.

Jayla is really sad. She is cheerful and many children are willing to play with her, but Leon is the first friend she has ever made with all her heart, and he only sees Annie, not her at all.

"How could that be!" Jaden didn't hurt Jayla as usual, he rubbed her head, "My sister is the cutest sister under the sky, how could you be unattractive!"

Jayla looked at Jaden, she smiled with her arched eyebrows, she also thought she was quite cute. Leon was really blind to not like making friends with her.

Annie underwent surgery on her legs, but because she has had the injury on her legs for so long, even with the surgery, she had a slight limp.

However, even if Annie's legs were not so good, Jayla had to admit that Annie was really a beautiful little girl.

She may not be as good-looking as Jayla, but she is skinny and small-boned, and her face is smaller than a palm.

Jayla pinched her fleshy face in the mirror. She was a little drama queen and used to pretend to be pitiful, but no matter how good she was at pretending to be pitiful, she was tough in her heart!

And based on this meaty face, she looks like she's having a great time, and she doesn't look pathetic at all!

Jayla took a look at the boxes of chocolates she had placed on her desk. Should she really eat less chocolate?

Maybe if she stopped eating chocolate, she would become a delicate little girl like Annie, and then maybe Leon would want to play with her.

What she doesn't know is that her fleshy face really has nothing to do with whether she eats chocolate or not.

She's really quite skinny on her body, she's got this little fleshy face, pure adorable baby fat, and even if she didn't eat sugar, she wouldn't be able to turn out Annie's pointy chin.

Jayla grieved in the mirror for a while, and she still went to Leon's neighborhood out of habit.

After the last incident with the human traffickers, Jayla would not go there by herself again, she always had several bodyguards follow her.

It was only 7pm when she arrived in the Leon's neighborhood.

She went to Leon's flat. It was rather sultry and the door of Leon's house was open, so she stood at the door and was able to see clearly what was going on inside.

Leon sat in his wheelchair reading a book, and Annie moved a small stool to sit next to him, smiling with a timid shyness that was indescribably compassionate.

Annie was also reading a book, she seemed to be unable to understand somewhere, she picked up the book and asked Leon.

Leo's face still had no half-hearted expression, but without any impatience, his voice was clear and indescribably nice, but when he spoke to Jayla, it was always cold and icy.

Jayla, I don't want to see you!

Jayla, don't ever appear in front of me again!

She also hoped that Leon would be patient enough to answer her questions.

Jayla came over this evening and carried a lot of fish and meat. She had been pampered since she was a child, and even during the time when she followed Freya abroad and lived in poverty, with Jayla as her older brother to pamper her, she had never carried heavy things, not to mention she was back at the Fitzgerald family, they were so many servants.

She was weak and looked extraordinarily stretched carrying fish and meat.

Moreover, the fish was still alive, splashing water all over her and she looked unspeakably wretched.

But as long as her identified best friend was willing to accept her and play with her, even if she was asked to carry a big shark over, she thought she would give it a try.

“Leon, have you eaten yet?” Jayla walked into the living room pretending to be brisk, even if Leon ignored her, it was as if she couldn’t feel it.

“Leon, I’ve brought you fish, your mother works hard, you can make her fish soup!”

At this time, Leon’s mother had not yet returned home from her part-time job, and Leon was to cook. Jayla placed the fish in the large basin inside the living room, but as she was just about to put the meat in the fridge, Leon’s clear cold voice rang out in the air, “Take it away!”

“Jayla, I told you, don’t come over here again, I won’t be friends with you!”

Leon gave Annie a look, “Let her go!”

Annie timidly limped up to Jayla, “Jayla, go back, can I walk you down? Jayla, don’t be angry with Leon, he didn’t mean to make you angry.”

With that, Annie shoved the piece of beef that Jayla was carrying into her hand. Jayla stubbornly wanted to put the beef on the fridge, and as they both pulled in this way, Annie actually fell heavily to the ground.

Chapter 924

Jayla was aware that she had not pushed Annie, yet Annie would suddenly fall down, which was really a bit strange.

Jayla is not a silly girl. With a twinkle in her eye, she had already thought clearly that Annie had fallen on purpose.

Jayla actually treated Annie as her friends. After all, she is a five-year-old child, and she can see Annie’s deliberate fall, but she cannot guess what she has in mind when she does so.

“That hurts

Annie’s face instantly scrunched up, her face was already pitifully small and when she frowned, it was even softer to the extreme, as if she was being tortured in some unbearable way.

“Jayla, why did you push Annie!”

Leon’s eyes were instantly cold, “Jayla, don’t ever come to my house again! And don’t appear in front of me!”

Jayla was the little princess of the family, and she was invincible in dealing with bad women, and she had never been so aggrieved!

At that moment, she couldn't control herself and spoke, "I didn't push Annie, she fell on purpose!"

Jayla stared coldly at Annie who was still on the ground, "Annie, why did you deliberately fall on the ground? We are friends, why did you set me up so deliberately?!"

"I didn't!" Annie shook her head in aggravation, looking as if she was in great shock, "Jayla, I really didn't fall down on purpose, let alone trying to trap you! Leon, I don't know why I suddenly fell down, don't blame Jayla, okay?"

"It's all my fault, Jayla, Leon, don't you all get angry, okay?"

Hearing Annie's words, Jayla couldn't help but sneer. Just now it was her and Annie who pulled, now Annie said that she didn't fall down intentionally, so doesn't that mean Jayla pushed her down?

Suddenly she felt that Annie was a ridiculous friend!

She suddenly felt that the Annie was a bit strange.

Could it be that because she didn't want Leon to be her friend, she didn't even want her as a friend anymore?

"Annie, you really let me down!" Jayla lifted her chin, but under Annie's eyes, a touch of indescribable vulnerability was tinged.

"Jayla, apologize to Annie!" Leon's voice was still not half warm, there was no air conditioning inside the room, and in this late summer night, it was a bit stuffy, but Jayla still felt chilled all over.

It's really bad to be wronged.

It's especially hard when you've been wronged by someone you consider a good friend.

But Jayla is a strong little girl. When she abused Regina, she could pretend to cry, in this misunderstood situation, she really couldn't cry.

Her chin stubbornly raised higher, "Leon, I told you, I didn't push Annie! I didn't do anything wrong, why should I apologise?!"

"It was Annie who deliberately faked the fall, she deliberately set me up, she is the one who is at fault, she should apologise to me!"

"Jayla, you're really unreasonable!"

Leon half lowered his eyelids and his voice was even colder, "Jayla, either apologize to Annie or never appear in front of me again!"

Jayla's body stiffened abruptly, she did not want to shed tears, but she was so aggrieved in her heart that even though she tried her best to hold them in, her tears fell down.

"Leon, I hate you!" Jayla huffed out these words, turned around and walked outside.

She thought that tonight her brother might have actually told her a well-meaning lie, and that she was indeed an unattractive child.

Otherwise, how could it be that no matter how hard she tried, her friend, Leon, would still hate her so much!

Jayla thought to herself with anger, she never wanted to care about him again in her life!

Leon was stunned for a moment as he watched the girl head out.

His fingers clenched hard on the armrest of the wheelchair.

He wasn't the kind of fool who couldn't tell right from wrong and would be fooled, and he could see that Annie was pretending to fall just now!

He knew better than anyone what kind of little girl Jayla was, he understood that she was kind.

His life was bleak and dull, was only at the sight of this little girl's bright smiling face that he felt that his life not only dark and black.

He wanted to get close to Jayla and be friends with her, not because she had wealth and power behind her, but simply because he thought this little girl was good.

But his mother told him that he couldn't be friends with Jayla.

He and Jayla are not from the same world. He is poor, while Jayla is living in the brightest and most brilliant place, they are different from each other.

Her mum was poor but proud, she said, in this world, there is no real equality.

People are different, and different people could not be friends.

He didn't know if what his mother said was right or not, but sometimes when facing Jayla, he couldn't help but feel inferior, and he actually knew in his heart that he and Jayla were different.

How can someone living in the slums be the same as a starry-eyed little princess!

Since it is impossible to be in the same world, whether as friends or otherwise, he should not be delusional!

Leon heavily closed his eyes, and slowly opened them again, tumultuous emotions in his eyes.

Annie still collapsed pitifully on the ground and met Leon's eyes as she struggled to get up from the ground with an aggravated look.

She limped up to Leon and spoke softly and aggressively, "Leon, I'm sorry, I got you into trouble just now."

"I'm sorry for Jayla, I accidentally made her angry. But Leon, I really didn't pretend to fall down on purpose, let alone set up Jayla. Jayla and I are good friends, how could I have set her up!"

"Leon, do you think that I deliberately set Jayla up? Leon, do you think that I am annoying and you don't want to be friends with me anymore?"

Chapter 925

Leon spoke with an expressionless face, "Annie, you're not wrong, it's Jayla who's wrong."

Hearing this from Leon, Annie could not help but smile with a sunny face.

She knew that Leon would always be on her side! Leon was her best friend, she didn't want him to be friends with Jayla!

Looking at the smile on Annie's face, Leon couldn't help but think of the countless times Jayla had smiled at him with her eyebrows arched.

He still preferred to look at her face with a smile.

Unfortunately, he doesn't deserve it.

Leon ignored what Annie said next, he just recited in his mind over and over again that it was Jayla who was wrong.

Jayla was wrong, for her status.

How can the brightest star in the sky fall to earth, covered in mud?

So, it was Jayla who was wrong.

He drove Jayla away, and she would never care about him again, that was good.

Freya is still in a pretty good mood these days.

Taking the medicine she had prepared to delay the effects of the Withering Silence medicine on a regular basis, together with her acupuncture, Kieran had not deteriorated in the past few days.

Moreover, Josiah surprisingly woke up a few days ago.

That day, when Freya got the news that Josiah had woken up, he had actually been awake for most of the day.

There were so many things she wanted to say to him, but by the time she got to the hospital ward, she found nothing she could say, that she could only hug him and drop tears.

It was Kieran, Jaden and Jayla who accompanied her that day. Josiah had been able to hear the outside world since the first few months, and Freya would often tell him about recent events, so he was not too surprised to see Jaden, Jayla and Kieran.

The only slight surprise was that he did not expect his brother-in-law to be this handsome, at least a few hundred times more handsome than Remy Byrne.

He felt that his sister, really, was becoming more and more discerning.

Jaden and Jayla are just as cute as he imagined, and his sister is so beautiful that the children she produces, naturally, will not be any worse.

Jaden and Jayla hugged Josiah's arms left and right, calling out to uncle one after another, making his heart flutter.

Josiah couldn't help but close his eyes, he couldn't help but think that if, back then, his and Emily's child had survived, it would have been even older than Jaden and Jayla.

Unfortunately, Emily was too cruel, too vicious and too heartless to kill his child for the sake of that cripple!

Josiah could never forget that feeling, the blood running down his face, the smell of his child's tragic death filling his nostrils.

If he does not avenge the murder of his son, he does not deserve to live!

The day Josiah woke up, Emily actually knew about it. She sneaked over to see him as usual, but she didn't expect to see a room full of people just as she tried to open the door secretly, and she also saw that pair of eyes full of hatred.

The young man's eyes, as far as she could remember, had always been warm and affectionate, except on the day of the break, his eyes were red with bloodthirsty hatred, as they were now, hating the fact that he could not skin her.

Emily really wanted to rush in, hug him hard and tell him that their child was still alive, that she still wanted to jump into his arms like she had done in the days when their love was strong, and tell him how much she had suffered over the years.

But she didn't know how to say it, and she knew in her heart that even if she did, he wouldn't believe her, he would only think that she was pretentious and that she was disgusting.

So, after giving him a deep look in her eyes, she could only flee.

The moment she turned around, she clearly saw the corners of his lips curled up, cruel and bloodthirsty, hatred filled the air, cold and ruthless, no longer the warm and gentle young man he once was.

Freya also noticed the change in Josiah.

He had just woken up now and was still not very articulate. When he smiled at her, he was as warm as ever.

His eyes were empty and dead, as if, his soul had been taken out, and what lay on the hospital bed was nothing but a walking corpse.

Freya especially wanted to know what had happened to Josiah before the car accident to make him look like this, but she was worried that it would irritate him, and she resisted the urge.

Josiah had actually entered the entertainment industry before his car accident.

He was a talented singer-songwriter who became famous in one battle. At that time, he was known as the only legend in the singing world, and there were countless fans who worshipped him, and his popularity could not be compared to even the likes of Khan now.

He made a lot of money during his debut period, but only because, he signed with a small entertainment company under the name of Maximus Stahler. After his accident, all his funds were frozen by Maximus Stahler, Freya didn't get a single penny, which is why she was having a bad time.

At that time, when something happened to Josiah, it was a bolt from the blue for so many fans who loved him, and many of them cried their eyes red.

They did not know that Josiah had become a vegetable and all thought he was dead, but even so, every year on the day of his accident, countless fans still spontaneously organized to mourn for him.

There are also countless fans hoping for a miracle, hoping that one day Josiah will suddenly appear in front of them and lead them to a new legend.

If fans knew about Josiah's current awakening, a big earthquake would have to happen in the entertainment world.

Josiah has really recovered exceptionally well. His voice, under Freya's conditioning, quickly returned to normal, and thanks to Freya's daily massage and acupuncture, he was able to get out of bed and walk without any special rehab.

Watching Josiah become better and better day by day, Freya rejoiced from the bottom of her heart, but, she was greedy, she wanted to see the light bloom again in the eyes of her brother.

The withering silence in Josiah's eyes now would always make her feel that although he was still there, his heart, though, was already dead.

Josiah had been awake for more than a week, and Freya felt that there were some things that she could ask.

"Kieran, are you unhappy? Did something else bad happen to you before your car accident?"

"Sister, I'm fine." Josiah smiled tenderly and dotingly at Freya as usual, except that his eyes were dull and lightless, as if his heart had long since grown old.

He obviously didn't want to continue this topic, "Sister, how is brother-in-law treating you? If he dares to bully you, you must tell me, I'll beat him up!"

"He's very good to me." When she thought of Kieran, Freya's heart just fluttered softly.

She felt really happy now, with her children, her husband doting on her, and if the withering silence in Kieran's body was lifted, she must be the happiest person in the world.

Freya was about to talk to Josiah about Kieran, but the door of the ward was suddenly pushed open and Walter unexpectedly walked in.

Chapter 926

Originally, Freya still looked like a gentle sister, and when she saw Walter, the look on her face instantly coldened.

She frowned unhappily, "Mr. Wells what are you doing over here?!"

If it wasn't for the sight of Jacob who was following behind Walter, Freya would have already taken the fruit knife on the table and cut Walter.

Walter did not speak immediately, his eyes looked deeply at Freya with the loving care and guilt.

Initially, he didn't think Freya was much like Bernice Turner, but after learning that she was his daughter, the more he looked at her, the more he felt that she was a complete combination of him and Bernice Turner.

How could he be so blind in the first place that he couldn't even recognize his own daughter! He made her suffer so much time and again, and even, almost cost her life!

Walter withdrew his eyes from Freya's face as he tried to look calm, "I came over to see Josiah."

Freya laughed coldly, "Mr. Wells, I'm thanking God that you didn't harm my brother! I really don't need you to pretend to be merciful! Mr. Wells, you are not welcome here, please go back!"

Freya really hated Walter from the bottom of her heart, she was not masochistic, how could she possibly like someone who wanted to put her to death over and over again!

If anyone else had dared to be so unreasonable to Walter, Jacob would have drawn his sword and chopped him up, but who was Freya?

It was her sister! How can he let his sister suffer!

Besides, his sister is pregnant and is in absolute need of protection! She is not to be messed with!

Fearing that Freya would make her angry, Jacob hurriedly stepped forward to ease the atmosphere, "Freya, don't be angry, Dad came here to see Josiah, he won't do anything bad to Josiah."

No matter how much she hated Walter, since Jacob had said so, Freya had to respect him.

She snorted through her nose and sat on the edge of Josiah's hospital bed, not bothering to look at Walter again.

Josiah spared a glance at Walter, who had learned a secret the day before his car accident that Maximus Stahler was not his father.

He tried to find out who his real father was, but before he could start investigating, he was already in a car accident, and in this sleep, six years had passed.

Walter and Jacob did not identify themselves, but looking at the two men in front of him, whose resemblance to him, Josiah's face could not help but reveal a touch of recognition.

However, as long as his sister didn't like the man, he wouldn't recognise this Mr. Wells whether he was their real father.

He has to stand firm for his sister's decision.

There is an inseparable bond between father and son, but a father is not as close as a sister!

He knew that during the years when he was unconscious, Freya must have suffered a lot, and now that he was awake, no one would try to bully his sister!

After Freya had disliked Walter, she suddenly realised something very serious.

She turned her face and looked at him with a cold face, "Mr. Wells, how do you know my brother? What exactly is the purpose of your coming here today?!"

Jacob doesn't like to lie, especially not to his sister, but to cover up the relationship between Walter and them, he wisely lied.

"Freya, Dad is a fan of Josiah's, and when he heard that Josiah had woken up, he had to come over to have a look."

Is Walter a fan of Josiah?

Freya's face scrunched up, she really didn't see any sign of it in Walter.

However, everyone is free to pursue what they like, and she can't even deny Walter the right to pursue stars just because he is psychologically twisted, can she?

Hearing this from Jacob, Walter hurriedly spoke up, "Yes, I'm a fan of Josiah's, and I especially like the songs he sings!"

Walter's words were not really all lies.

It's true that he used to not be a fan of stars or anything, but after knowing that Josiah was his son, he listened to every song he ever sang, so in a sense, he was kind of a fan of Josiah.

Josiah did not say anything, but only coolly and lightly hooked his lips. This father and elder brother of his looked all fierce, but they died without even blinking.

Well, go on, he'd like to see how long they could go on with this lie.

"Josiah, how do you feel now?" Walter tried to suppress the excitement in his heart, but the voice that came out was still tinged with an uncontrollable tremor.

He looked steadily at Josiah's face, which looked exactly like his when he was young, his eyes were sore and his heart was filled mixed feelings.

It's the child that Bernice left him!

He had promised Bernice Turner before that he would make her the happiest woman in the world, that he would bring the best of everything to the three of them.

But before he could even treat her well, she was gone from his life forever, and their children, whose existence he did not know until they were adults, were gone.

He doesn't deserve to be a father!

"Josiah is fine, no need for you to be pretentious here!"

Maybe it was because of her preconceptions, Freya's impression of Walter was bad, she felt unpleasant. She had let him stay inside the ward for so long, it was because of Jacob. She did not want to continue to see Walter, she spoke with heavy disgust, "Mr. Wells, Josiah still has to rest, please leave his ward!"

"Freya, I"

His children were here, and Walter really couldn't bear to leave, seeing them, as if, Bernice was still by his side, and their family was harmonious and happy.

“Get out! Walter Wells, get out!”

Freya’s face was getting worse and worse, she shouted Walter’s name directly, seeing Kieran pushing open the door and walking in, she hugged his arm and pouted, “Mr. Fitzgerald, someone is really annoying, can you help me throw him out?!”

Hearing Freya’s soft voice, Kieran felt his heart soft, and he instantly wanted to throw out this person who had annoyed his wife.

As he was just about to throw that man with a blank face, he noticed that the person sitting on the sofa in the ward was Walter.

His wife is used to love, he cannot make her angry, but he can’t throw his father-in-law out.

Freya’s voice was getting softer and softer, “Honey, just throw him out.”

Chapter 927

Kieran’s cold, austere gaze landed harshly on Walter and Jacob, “Mr. Wells, Freya doesn’t want to see you right now.”

Kieran’s expulsion order was so obvious, if Walter still couldn’t hear it, then he was really brain-damaged.

If anyone else had dared to kick him out and have him thrown out, Walter would have already thrown him out of the galaxy.

But who is Freya?

She’s his most precious daughter!

Even if he abused himself, he couldn’t cause his own precious daughter any half-hearted discomfort!

Seeing Jacob’s aura around him, his fury surging, looking like he wanted to fight with Kieran, Walter held his arm, “Let’s go back.”

Walter got up, he didn’t want to upset Freya, but he was a bit reluctant to leave so soon.

He fondly glanced at Josiah and then at Freya before finally speaking somewhat stiffly, “Freya, I’m sorry for what happened before, I apologize to you.”

Freya was stunned, she really didn’t expect such Walter would take the initiative to bow down and apologise to her.

But so what!

Does apologizing to her mean she has to forgive him?

Funny, if apologies worked, murderers wouldn’t even be in jail!

In her eyes, Walter is no different from a murderer. She is lucky, but if she were a little more vulnerable, she would have died at his hands.

So, even if she was shocked by Walter’s apology, Freya would not accept it.

“Walter, put away that sycophantic look! And don’t you apologize to me! Because your apologies, which show me no sincerity, will only make me feel sick!”

To a murderer, Freya really couldn’t take any good attitude, she gave a cool laugh and continued, “Walter, in the future, don’t appear in front of me and Josiah again, it affects the air and affects the mood!”

“Freya, I’m sorry, I know I’ve done a lot of very bad things to you before, but I really regret it. I apologize to you, and I hope you can forgive me.” Walter’s eyes were earnest and incomparably sincere as he said to Freya.

He had always been a murderous man, but he had never spoken to anyone in such a lowly manner!

But in order to seek Freya’s forgiveness, he was willing to put his gesture to the lowest possible level.

Freya did not have any intention of accepting his apology, “Walter, don’t apologize to me, don’t you think that it’s really funny for you to apologize to me?!”

“Is it that if I kill you, and I say sorry to you, you will forgive me?! That day at Rosie’s house, if I hadn’t learned to swim in advance, plus I was very talented in closing my breath, I would have been killed by your men already, so there is no point in you apologising to me now.”

“So Walter, put away your disgusting face, I won’t accept it, ever!”

Hearing Freya’s words, Kieran couldn’t help but clutch her hand. She said this lightly, but he could imagine how thrilling it was at that moment Freya was close to death.

Originally, he wanted Freya and Walter to identify as father and daughter, so that she could have the love of her father, but now that he thought of the grievances Freya had suffered, he suddenly did not want her to forgive Walter.

Why should an evil man who almost killed his precious wife be forgiven!

When Walter heard Freya’s words, he was unable to come back to his senses for a long time. He couldn’t help but remember the phone call his men made to him on the night of Rosie’s birthday party.

At the time, his men said that Freya was dragged into the lotus pond by him and held underwater for several minutes, and that she was bound to die.

Even if she had survived, how frightened she should have been, then, toiling on the brink of death!

Walter suddenly lost his voice, and he didn’t even have the courage to continue to ask for Freya’s forgiveness, because, even he felt that he was unforgivable.

Especially in the dungeon, he even tried to cut off Freya’s hands with his own hands!

He is truly the most hateful father under the sun!

When Freya was growing up, he did not take any responsibility for her upbringing as a father, and the only thing he brought her was pain.

Walter turned around despondently, his body, still as straight as a strong pine, but his upright back looked more than indescribably sluggish.

“Dad

Jacob gently held Walter as he tried to help him say a few words in front of Freya, but when he saw Walter gently shake his head, he didn't say much after all.

Looking at Walter's forlorn back, Freya could not return to her senses for a long time.

She thought that she would be happy and amused by saying something cold and mean to Walter. After all, he was Regina's father, and he had harmed her, someone who annoyed her.

But inexplicably, looking at his sluggish back made her feel sad inside.

“Sister, did he hurt you?”

Freya only turned her face to Josiah.

“That was all in the past.” Freya didn't want Josiah to know so many bad things and worry about her, she said lightly.

The fact that Josiah did not continue to ask questions, he is gifted, listening to Freya's words, he knew that Walter's behavior must be excessive.

He actually wanted to find his real father, but if his real father had upset his sister, that kind of father was not wanted!

After all, how can his father or anything be more important than his sister!

After Josiah knew that Freya's husband was Kieran, he had checked a lot of information about him from the internet in the past few days.

Seeing the introduction of Kieran on the internet, Josiah's heart was somewhat worried. After all, it was difficult for a man as rich as that to be single-mindedly good to a woman.

However, after his observation of Kieran over the past few days, he put his mind in peace.

His brother-in-law really loves his sister.

He is happy that his sister has finally found true love.

Seeing his brother-in-law completely ignoring him and starting to cuddle with Freya again, Josiah couldn't help but want to seek a sense of presence.

“Sis, am I air? Did you all treat me like air when my brother-in-law started hugging and kissing you right in front of me? Do I look so much like air?”

“Ahem

Freya was about to say something to ease the embarrassment, but Kieran's mobile phone rang sharply.

After answering the phone, Kieran's face was instantly covered with a cold colour, "Something happened at the old house!"

Chapter 928

The old house is in chaos.

Joanna's eyes were red from crying, but now that Kieran hadn't returned, no one really dared to rush to save the kids.

"Grandma, don't be sad, Jaden and Jayla will be lucky, they will be fine." Regina hugged Joanna's arm tightly and comforted her in a good and considerate manner.

"How can it be fine! Those two dogs have gone crazy, and Jaden and Jayla are just two kids, how could they possibly beat those two crazy dogs!"

Joanna's tears rolled down her face uncontrollably. Her heart was bleeding at the thought of that cute little kids being bitten to death by that vicious dogs.

Regina was so happy when her plan worked, but she still put on an anxious and distressed look and said, "I hope Jaden and Jayla will be alright! If anything happens to them, I'll be devastated!"

After saying this, Regina's eyes couldn't help but drift to the closed door in front of her.

When they came over, they could no longer hear the cries for help from inside, they thought the two little kids had already been eaten alive by the dogs.

Now, all they could hear was the ferocious barking of the dogs. There were quite a few servants, but everyone knew that the two dogs had now gone mad and no one dared to rush in to save them.

Jaden and Jayla's lives are noble, but there is no one who does not love their own lives, and they certainly would not be foolish enough to risk their own lives.

Listening to Joanna's cries, Regina found it more and more difficult to contain the smugness in her heart.

Today, her plan was implemented when she bribed one of the servants, Addison.

Addison had sprinkled medicine on the ground in the backyard in advance, after eating that kind of medicine, the dogs would definitely go crazy, and he would then find a way to bring Jaden and Jayla into the backyard.

Forty minutes earlier, Addison had texted her that she had managed to introduce Jaden and Jayla into the backyard. The maid who had just been cleaning outside the backyard had heard the mad barking of the dogs and realised that it was unusual, and she had opened the backyard gate to check it out, only to see a large pool of blood.

Realising that it was the dogs that had gone mad, she hurriedly re-closed the backyard gate and screamed for help in the front yard.

These two dogs, both raised by Brandon, are usually mild-mannered and have never hurt anyone, so no one expected them to run out of their cages and suddenly go crazy.

When Joanna heard the news, she couldn't even eat her lunch and rushed over.

When Regina found out, she of course rushed over together. It so happened that a servant said that she had seen Jaden and Jayla come to the backyard earlier, and Joanna immediately panicked.

She hurriedly ordered the maid to go to Jaden and Jayla's room to look for them. The maid hurriedly came over and said they were not inside the room.

It was the weekend and the two kids hadn't come downstairs for lunch, they weren't in their room and their phone couldn't be reached, plus several maids had seen them coming to the backyard, so naturally Joanna decided that something had happened to them.

Regina was already beyond certain that Jayla and Jaden had been bitten to death by the dogs. She forced the corners of her lips not to maintain an upward curve and softly comforted Joanna, saying, "Grandma, you should stop crying, hearing you cry so hard makes me sad inside as well."

"Grandma, you have to trust Jaden and Jayla, they're so resourceful, they'll find a way to get out!"

"Jaden, Jayla" Joanna could not listen to Regina's words at this time, she trembled and walked to the gate of the backyard, then tried to push the door open and enter.

Regina hurriedly pulled her back, "Grandma, don't be impulsive! Those two dogs have gone crazy, if you go in, not only will you not be able to save Jaden and Jayla, you'll also get yourself killed!"

"Let go of me! You let go of me!"

Joanna was in tears, "My Jaden, my Jayla I'm going to save them"

Joanna's heart was breaking, just now the maid said that when she opened the door, she saw a large amount of blood, all that blood was her Jaden and Jayla's!

One minute later she went in, they would suffer more, and even if they had been bitten to death, she didn't want their bodies to continue to be devoured by the vicious dogs!

"Jaden, Jayla"

With force in her hands, Joanna wanted to break Regina's grip and go inside the backyard to stay with them whether they lived or died.

She wasn't so cruel as to force the servants to go in and get the two little ones out, but her own life was in her own hands and she could have stayed with them for all her worth!

"Grandma, don't be sad, don't be sad" Regina didn't know how to advise Joanna and she could only keep mumbling.

Regina surveyed around and did not see Addison in sight.

She didn't see Addison, but she didn't think anything of it. It was Addison who tricked the two kids into going into the backyard, and it was good that he was hiding away now to save more trouble.

Soon after, Kieran and Freya rushed over. Seeing that Freya's face did not show any expression of grief, Regina knew that she must not yet be aware of what had actually happened over here.

Regina lowered her eyes, she glanced at Freya's still flat belly, she spoke maliciously, "Freya, don't be sad, Jaden and Jayla will definitely not be bitten to death by evil dogs!"

Regina tried hard to suppress the urge to smile. Freya was pregnant now, and she was hospitalized some time ago and she could not be emotional. If she knew that Jaden and Jayla had been bitten to death by a dog, she was afraid that the baby in her belly would not be saved either!

"Freya, I know you're worried about Jaden and Jayla's situation, they're both so small and being pestered by a vicious dog is indeed bad luck, but I'm sure there will be a miracle! Jaden and Jayla are so cute, God will not be so cruel to take their lives!"

"Even if even if something really happens to Jaden and Jayla, you must hold on for the sake of the baby inside your belly!"

Regina took Freya's hand quite affectionately, "Freya, you must be strong, no matter what happens next, all of us will face it together with you!"

After saying this, Regina started to wipe her tears in a fake manner, "Jaden, Jayla, your lives are so bitter! You are so understanding, so smart, so cute, how could you just"

Regina looked so sad that she couldn't speak, and in the end she felt tired to pretend, so she had to cover her face and try to put on a grief-stricken look.

Chapter 929

Hearing Regina's words, Freya had a dumbfounded look on her face.

Two minutes ago, Jaden and Jayla were texting her, OK? How could they have been bitten to death by a vicious dog!

She really doubted that Regina had a problem in her brain!

Freya is a kind girl, and seeing Regina performing so hard, she really couldn't bear to spoil her fun.

She covered her stomach and put on a grief-stricken look, then rolled her eyes and collapsed into Kieran's arms.

Well, she pretended to faint, really not wanting to see Regina's pretend-sad face.

Kieran also put on an anxious look and hugged Freya tightly, "Freya, what's wrong with you? Wake up!"

Regina rushed to Freya with sincere concern on her face, "Freya, don't scare me! Freya, I'm sorry, it's all my fault, I shouldn't have told you the actual situation of Jaden and Jayla! I'm sorry, I'm sorry"

Kieran didn't pay attention to Regina, he just hugged Freya tighter and kept some distance from Regina.

Regina was upset that Kieran was so cold to her, but when she thought that the two kids she hated most had gone to see the King of Hell today, she couldn't be upset.

Soon, the bodyguards under Kieran, standing on the wall in the backyard, shot down the two crazy dogs.

Brandon loved those two dogs the most, and he was heartbroken when the dogs he had raised for so many years died.

But now that a human life has been caused, he couldn't care less about his heartache.

"Jaden, Jayla"

After the two dogs were shot down, Joanna trembled and headed inside the backyard.

The servants' faces did not look good. Although they had no blood relationship with Jaden and Jayla, those two little kids were so delightful that everyone liked them from the bottom of their hearts, and they could not bear to see them turned into bloody corpses.

As soon as the gate to the backyard was pushed open, a heavy smell of blood hit the air.

Joanna's body trembled violently, and had it not been for several servants holding her up with force, she would have fallen to the floor.

Even if she hadn't fallen to the ground, Joanna was now in a very bad condition, her face was pale, her lips and fingertips were trembling uncontrollably. She wanted to call out Jaden and Jayla's names, but at this moment she was so uncomfortable that she couldn't even find her own voice.

"Grandma, don't go in, I'm afraid you won't be able to bear it when you see what's inside."

Regina thoughtfully clutched Joanna's hand, "Grandma, let me take you back to your room to rest, okay?"

Joanna could no longer hear Regina's words. Her lips kept mumbling, she only wanted to see her two kids now, even if they became corpses, she still wanted to see them.

Unable to persuade Joanna, Regina wanted to go back to stimulate Freya, who had just woken up.

Her eyebrows knitted together and she looked like she was genuinely doing Freya a favour, "Freya, don't go in there! Even if you don't think of yourself, you have to think of the child inside your belly, I'm afraid that the situation inside is so tragic that you won't be able to bear it."

This time, Freya did not go along with Regina's acting and pretending to be soft.

She raised her eyebrows and looked at Regina with a puzzled expression, "How can I not be able to bear it if I go inside to watch the fun? Regina, I'm worried that you'll be the one who can't handle it later!"

Will she be the one who can't take it?

Regina sneered in her heart, if anything happened to Jaden and Jayla, she would have to be so happy that she would celebrate with firecrackers, how could she not be able to bear it!

But Freya's attitude is really a bit strange. Can it be that, after knowing the news of Jaden and Jayla's accident, she was too seriously stimulated?

With this in mind, Regina felt that this was all the more reason for her to say something at this time and try to act like a good person in front of everyone.

"Freya, don't be upset, you're pregnant now, you must stay calm and not hurt the baby inside your belly!"

"Regina, what's wrong with you!"

It's okay to accompany Regina in a scene once, but if she does it more often, Freya will definitely not be able to stand it.

She gave Regina a cold sweep, "Regina, I told you, I'm fine now! I was going to go inside and see what all the fuss was about! Regina, just don't cry later! Don't worry, I won't hand you tissues later even if you cry!"

"Freya?" Regina looked at Freya incredulously, she didn't look like she was stimulated to the point that her brain was out of order, but how come the words she said were so strange?

She guess it's not easy to tell if there's something wrong with her brain, but it's definitely not normal for Freya right now.

Although Joanna was in pain at the moment, she heard Freya's words loud and clear.

Joanna's brow was knitted very, very tightly, her children had been bitten by vicious dogs and she was going in to watch the fun?

What kind of heartlessness would it take to be so indifferent to her children! Not even caring if they live or die!

What a family of misfortune!

No wonder Master Zachary said that Freya was the calamity of their Fitzgerald family! She's really a calamity!

At this time, Joanna was too lazy to lecture Freya, but the disgust and dissatisfaction she felt for Freya rose to new heights in her heart.

Regina accurately caught the change of expression on Joanna's face, and she spoke up nicely, "Grandma, you really shouldn't feel too bad! No matter what, Jaden and Jayla are her children, she must have been too upset to say such things!"

"Upset?!" Joanna spoke in exasperation, "I think she wants Jaden and Jayla to be bitten to death by vicious dogs! What a misfortune for the family! Family misfortune! How could our Fitzgerald family marry such a vicious daughter-in-law?"

She punched her chest a few times before she regained her breath.

Regina continued, "Grandma, Freya really didn't mean it, don't be angry! She's pregnant now, so it's normal for her to be a bit strange sometimes! Grandma, just take care of yourself, Jaden and Jayla certainly don't want you to be too upset."

In front of her, there was a large area of bright red, but no corpses or anything. Regina helped Joanna to continue on, she had a very strong feeling that the corpses of Jaden and Jayla, after this corner, would definitely be able to be seen!

Regina was looking forward to seeing Jaden and Jayla drenched in blood and even dead, but a brittle voice rang out behind her, "Regina, are you disappointed that my brother and I are still alive?"

Chapter 930

Hearing this voice, Regina felt her body jerked stiffly.

After a brief daze, she jerked her face around to find Jaden and Jayla, whom she had long ago decided had been bitten to death by a mad dog, standing in front of her with a smile on their faces.

Because she was so shocked, Regina forgot to hide the grimace on her face, and this look was seen by several servants, who were all scared.

Seeing Regina's look, Jaden and Jayla's hearts were indescribably happy.

They like to see Regina being abused, they don't feel good if they don't abuse Regina for a day!

Just now, Jaden and Jayla were indeed not inside their room, they went to Regina's room and did something big.

Some days ago, Jaden quietly hacked Regina's phone and implanted a hidden software on her phone that could listen in on her calls, so that they would know all about it when she called Addison and instructed her to do such evil deeds, and they were prepared early so that they did not fall into her trap and be bitten by the evil dogs.

Inadvertently, Jaden heard one more thing.

Yesterday Gracie called Regina and asked her how the bottle of medicine was going and whether it had been used on Freya.

After listening to their conversation in its entirety, Jaden realised that Regina and Gracie had tried to use such a vicious method to turn Mummy into an ugly monster!

They can't stand it!

So today, after successfully getting Addison to make a fool of herself, Jaden and Jayla tumbled down the wall in the backyard and quietly sneaked into Regina's room.

Know your enemy and you will never lose a battle.

Gracie and Regina had revealed so much in their conversation that he easily found the small pill bottle that Regina had hidden inside the bedside table.

When they spoke on the phone yesterday, Regina had also said in it that her friend had just brought her a set of cosmetics from abroad and she would send it to Gracie in a few days.

Jaden and Jayla took out the tools they had prepared in advance and poured all the medicine in the bottle into the cosmetics that Regina was going to give to Gracie.

Jayla washed the medicine bottle in the water several times and filled the bottle with the toner she had prepared in advance before leaving Regina's room.

In fact, Jaden and Jayla wanted to add the medicine in the bottle to Regina's pregnancy cosmetics, but they resisted the urge when they thought that she was still carrying Simon's child in her belly.

Gracie instigated Regina to use this medicine to harm their mommy, she deserved to be disfigured!

Seeing Regina frozen in place as if struck by lightning, Jayla smilingly asked again, "Regina, are you disappointed to see that my brother and I are still alive?"

"I"

Naturally she was disappointed.

But Regina would not be foolish to say this in front of so many people.

Regina let out a dry laugh, and that stiff and resentful face slowly turned elegant and gentle, "Jayla, you're kidding! I'm really so happy, so happy, to see you all intact! Yes, I'm really so happy, I've never been so happy before!"

Jayla couldn't help but roll her eyes, she didn't believe Regina would be happy!

She smiled sweetly at Regina, "Regina, if you are so happy, why do you still have an expression on your face, as if you ate shit?"

"I"

Regina was so choked by Jayla's words that she couldn't say anything. She hadn't felt that way, but now that she heard Jayla's words, she really felt like she had eaten shit.

At this time, Joanna noticed Jaden and Jayla, who had appeared intact in the backyard, and with red eyes, she trembled as she walked up to them.

She reached out, wanting to rub their heads, but fearing that it was only her illusion and that as soon as she touched them they would turn into bubbles and dissipate into the air.

Joanna's voice trembled as she spoke, "Jaden, Jayla, is it really you? Are you really still alive?"

It is true that many of the things Joanna has done have made the two kids quite upset, but at this moment, seeing her in this state, the two of them could not help but feel saddened as well.

Jayla walked up to her and hugged her gently, "Great Grandma, it's me and my brother, we're fine. I'm sorry, just now my brother and I didn't have our mobile phones with us, we didn't see you calling us, so we made you worry. Great Grandma, I'm sorry, will you stop crying?"

Jaden raised his face in a good manner and said, "Great Grandma, I'm sorry for making you worry."

"It's okay, it's okay"

A tear rolled down from the corner of Joanna's eye, the joy of regaining something that she could no longer think about too much. Right now, she just wanted to hug these two cute little kids and not let go.

Jaden and Jayla wiped away the tears from the corners of Joanna's eyes in an understanding manner, and when they looked at Regina, they both gave her a blank stare in a rather tacit understanding.

Meeting the dejected eyes of Jaden and Jayla, Regina was so angry that she almost vomited blood.

She covered her heart, which hurt so much that she could hardly breathe.

Seeing the image of Joanna holding Jaden and Jayla left and right, many of the servants secretly wiped tears from their eyes.

In their hearts, they secretly rejoiced that, fortunately, such lovely two little babies had not been bitten to death by the vicious dogs. If they had really died in the backyard today, in future, there would really be no more laughter in the house.

“Regina, are you alright? It’s a good thing that Jaden and Jayla are fine, everyone is happy, and by rights, you should be happy too. Why do you suddenly look so unpleasant when you know they are fine?” Freya said to Regina with a big smile.

This time, Regina was furious, and it took almost all her strength not to rush up and rip Freya’s smug face off.

She stiffly squeezed out a smile, “Freya, what are you talking about! Of course I’m happy that Jaden and Jayla are fine! My face will look unpleasant because I am not feeling well. Just now I thought something had happened to Jaden and Jayla, I was too anxious, and my stomach hurts now.”

Hearing Freya’s words, Joanna realized that Regina’s reaction was abnormal, however, thinking that Regina might be anxious just now, she didn’t think much of it.

Joanna was just about to ask someone to get a private doctor to come over and check Regina’s body, but a servant couldn’t help but mutter, “If the blood on the floor isn’t the young master’s and young miss’, whose could it be?”