

Talented 991

Chapter 991

“Get in the car!”

Khalid’s voice was cold, but Emily was quite happy to hear him say that, for he was not bothering with Elis anymore.

“Mum, I don’t want you to go with him! He’s a bad person, he’ll bully you!” Elis stubbornly grabbed her hand and wouldn’t let her leave.

“Elis, it’s alright, I am going to the police station, it will be alright! The police will protect me!”

Only after hearing Emily say that she was going to the police station did Elis breathe a sigh of relief.

In a child’s mind, the police are the most sacred profession, and they won’t let the bad guys do whatever they want!

Only after coaxing Elis back into the house did Emily plan to get into the car.

She had originally planned to sit in the back seat, but, just as she left the door, Khalid took the initiative to open the door for her.

If it were any other woman, they would have been overjoyed when a man like Khalid took the initiative to open the door for them.

But when he took the initiative to open the door for Emily, she felt no surprise, only shock.

She didn’t want to sit so close to him on the passenger side, but she didn’t dare to disobey him either.

She could only cautiously lean towards the car door to keep the maximum distance from him.

Noticing Emily’s movements, Khalid frowned.

He tapped the steering wheel and wrinkled his brow as he spoke, “Emily, are you that afraid of me?”

“No... no.”

When he heard Emily’s stammering reply, Khalid was speechless!

He gripped the steering wheel and started the car.

Since he did not speak to her, Emily could not help but take a breath of belief.

Khalid was like a demon to her, and every time she was beaten, she got seriously injured.

She was very poor and usually played an important roles in the drama, but the money she earned was not enough to buy medicine for her father and Cassius, so every time she was injured, she did not bother to put medicine on herself.

She only endured the pain, waiting for the fuzzy blood and flesh to slowly scab over, leaving hideous scars over and over again.

When she saw Khalid, she thought of the terrible beating and the endless kneeling in front of Adeline's tombstone in repentance. That kind of fear, rooted deep in her heart, had become a habit that could not be discarded.

While Emily's body was tense all the way, Khalid was distracted all the way.

Adeline's deception of him was not as deep in his heart, and all that lingered in his mind was the cruel torture he had inflicted on Emily.

Because he was so distracted by driving, when he reached the fork in the road, he didn't even notice a heavy truck rushing out from the next fork in the road.

Realising the danger, he panicked and steered to avoid the heavy truck, but because he steered too hard, the car rushed too fast and actually ran off the side guardrail.

Emily did not expect such a sudden turn of events, and she was so frightened that she forgot to scream.

The moment the sky turned upside down, all she could think of was how sorry she was that she couldn't see Josiah again before she died.

He hadn't been told that Elis was their child, that their child was still alive.

Emily was lucky, the sports car crashed into a sharp rock, Khalid's head hitting the car window heavily on the side, she actually had no visible wounds on her body, except for her back which was sore from the crash.

Emily couldn't help but breathe a sigh of relief.

She hadn't had time to react, but she smelt the heavy smell of petrol in the air.

She didn't know much about the construction of a car, but she knew that it would be dangerous about the leaking gasoline, and in case it exploded, she would probably be in fire.

She didn't dare to delay in the slightest and hurriedly unbuckled her seat belt and got out of the car.

Khalid fell into a brief coma because of the impact on his head.

After she got out of the car, she realised that Khalid was still in the car and if the car exploded, he would definitely die.

And if he died, all her suffering and torment would be over.

In the end, Emily still turned back.

She was not a saint, she just didn't want to see death and become a demon like Khalid.

No matter how hateful he was before, this moment, he was seriously injured and unconscious, he was weak.

She pulled open the door on Khalid's side of the car, although his head was bruised, fortunately, his body was not pinned down by the parts of the car, otherwise, even if she wanted to save him, she would not have been able to get him out of the car.

However, even if she had got him out, it would not have been easy.

He was tall, with hard bones, and with him on her back, he almost crushed Emily.

She gritted her teeth and it took her lots of strength before she could barely take a step with him on her back.

After being carried on Emily's back, Khalid woke up, he too smelled the strong smell of petrol and saw the girl who was carrying him on her back.

His expression, for a moment, froze. He was so badly injured that he couldn't move, and it was easy for her to want him dead.

He also thought that, as she hated him so much, she would be desperate for him to die.

Khalid moved his lips, his voice hoarse, "Emily, why?"

Hearing his voice, Emily was so scared that she almost threw him out. However, he was too heavy for her to throw.

Thinking she didn't understand him, he asked again, "Emily, you obviously hate me so much, why did you save me?!"

"Mr. Smith, we are different."

Still with obvious timidity, she had unabashed humility.

Khalid was in a trance for a moment, not knowing what to say, they were, indeed, very different.

Emily didn't want to talk to him any more, carrying him was hard enough, if she wasted any more words with him, she would die of exhaustion.

After carrying him to a place away from the car, Emily put him on the ground and squatted down, panting hard for a while before she had the strength to call the hospital.

No sooner had she finished than the car in the distance exploded with a loud bang and was then engulfed in flames.

Emily had a moment of fear, luckily she had run just in time and far enough away, otherwise, the consequences would have been unthinkable.

She actually wanted to take advantage of Khalid's injury to negotiate some terms with him, but when she thought of his indiscriminate, cruel and ruthless appearance, she finally swallowed the words that were on her lips.

If he didn't know how to repay her kindness and continued to torment her in the future, it would be her bad luck!

It was already late at night when she had dealt with Khalid, and as she was just about to return to her home in the slum, her mobile phone rang.

It was a call from the hospital. Elis had been in a serious car accident and was now in the emergency room, and was in a critical condition.

Chapter 992

He is in critical condition.

After silently reciting this over and over again, Emily's hand shook and the phone in her hand clattered to the ground.

First, Khalid drove his car to kill her and Elis, then she and Khalid had a car accident together, and then at night, Elis had a serious car accident, which was very bad.

When she thought of Elis' well-behaved and understanding appearance, Emily's tears fell, she would rather be crushed by the wheels over and over again than to put her Elis through such a painful ordeal.

When she arrived at the central hospital, Elis was already being wheeled out of the emergency room.

The car that hit Elis had hit and run, and since there were no monitors in the slum area, there was no way to find the person who had hit Elis.

As she watched Elis shrink into a tiny ball on the hospital bed, Emily's heart ached as if she was being attacked, she wanted to stay with her Elis and see him wake up, she didn't want to leave for a minute.

But now, she had to leave.

The doctor said that if she didn't pay the hospital fees, Elis would be discharged tomorrow, and that Elis' leg was so badly injured that he would need another operation in three days, otherwise he would never be able to stand up.

The hospital fees, plus the next operation, would cost at least 200,000, but over the years, she hadn't saved a cent at all, and she couldn't get 200,000 even if she sold herself.

She knew that Freya was a good person, and if she went to Freya to borrow money, Freya might be willing to lend it to her, but she didn't have her contact information, nor did she know her address, so she couldn't find Freya at all.

She had also thought about taking out a loan, but for someone like her, with nothing to pledge as collateral and no guarantor, no formal lender would be willing to lend her money.

She had a nominal husband, and her nominal husband was a very rich man, but how could he possibly lend her money when he wanted even to kill her?

After thinking about it, she could only go to Josiah to borrow money.

Josiah had already been discharged from hospital and was now living in his newly purchased villa.

He was originally a musical genius, with a terrifyingly large fan base. Now that the news of him being alive is out, all he has to do is casually show up in front of the camera and he will be back on top.

What's more, his face and talent have not diminished just because he has been a vegetable all these years. On the contrary, after he woke up this time, he has an extra calm and introspective aura about him, which has even made his fans crazy obsessed.

Coupled with the shares transferred to him by Sabrina and the powerful Wells and Fitzgerald families backing him up, although he was still recuperating, his popularity was still unmatched in the entertainment industry.

There was no doubt that Josiah was rich.

But it wasn't easy to borrow money from him, but in order to save Elis' life, Emily still wanted to give it a try.

What if he was merciful and gave her some money?

At one time, Emily was a proud girl, but now, her so-called pride had long been worn down by life. As long as she could save Elis, even if her dignity was trampled under the feet of others, she really didn't care.

With heavy apprehension, Emily dialed the phone number that had been engraved in her mind for years, but fortunately, Josiah had not changed his phone number.

As soon as the call was answered, Josiah's voice, which was as clear and cold as falling snow in winter, came through, "What is it?"

"Josiah, it's Emily speaking, I ... I want to borrow some money from you."

"Borrow money?" Josiah's cold voice was tinged with heavy sarcasm, "What, that cripple can't afford to feed you anymore?"

"Josiah, six years ago I broke up with you, all those words I said were lies, there was nothing between me and Cassius. He was kidnapped, that person used Cassius' life to force me to break up with you, I could only compromise."

"Josiah, I didn't abort our child, our child Elis is still alive! It's just that he's had a car accident now, and I need money to operate on him. Josiah, can you lend me 200,000 first?"

"Emily, you take me for a fool!" Josiah's voice no longer had the warmth in it that it once had, only a desperate coldness.

"Emily, back then it was you who killed our child with your own hands and smashed our child's corpse in my face, and now you're saying that our child is still alive?! Elis, you really think that I am brain-damaged, you can play whatever you want?!"

"Josiah, I really didn't kill our child! I lied to you at that time, it was really just a stop-gap measure! Josiah, if you don't believe me, you can take a paternity test with Elis, he is really your child!"

"Shut up!" Josiah coldly cut off Emily' words, "Emily, I don't believe a word you say!"

"What, now that that cripple can't satisfy you anymore, you want me to raise you and that wild child? Sorry you're going to be disappointed, I am not that stupid!"

Emily bit her lip deadly, pain and embarrassment intertwined in her heart, leaving her breathless.

In this world, sometimes it was particularly ridiculous, many people easily believed lies, but were unwilling to believe truth.

She knew that no matter what she said, Josiah was not willing to believe that Elis was his son, so she could only refrain from mentioning it to annoy him and concentrate on borrowing money from him.

“Josiah, for the sake of our past love together, can you lend me 200,000? Don’t worry, I’ll work hard to earn money and pay you back as soon as possible! Josiah, please save Elis, okay?”

“Love? Between us, there is only hatred, an unbreakable hatred of killing our son, where is the love? Emily, my child has already been brutally killed by you, what makes you and that cripple’s sinful child still alive?!”

Josiah’s voice was as cruel as if it came from a bloody purgatory, “Emily, wanting me to save that sinful child, you’re dreaming!”

After saying these words, he hung up the phone decisively.

Emily gripped the phone and limped helplessly to the ground, her child’s real father was unwilling to save him.

What on earth should she do to find a way out for her Elis?

Freya had been working hard in the laboratory for three days and had finally developed the antidote to the withering silence.

She carefully took the small porcelain vial containing the antidote and fed it to Kieran with great joy.

She thought that after taking the antidote, Kieran would get better, but as soon as he took the antidote, a mouthful of blood gushed out of his mouth and he fell to the ground, motionless.

Chapter 993

“Kieran!”

Freya jumped over and hugged him hard, “Kieran, wake up! Wake up!”

Of course, Freya would not be so stupid as to give the antidote to Kieran as soon as she developed it, she had already tested it in advance, it was safe and could really solve the silence, but she could not figure out why he would turn out like this after taking the antidote.

It seems that he heard Freya’s voice, Kieran slowly and with difficulty opened his eyes, “Freya, don’t worry, I’m fine ...”

As soon as Kieran said this, blood seeped out from the corner of his lips again, as if it couldn’t be stopped.

Kieran saw that Freya was so anxious that she was about to drop tears, he was so distraught that he reached out his hand and tried to wipe away the tears at the corner of her eyes, but before his hand touched the skin at the corner of her eyes, it slid down in disarray.

“Kieran!” Freya couldn’t control her cry, and she scrambled to check his pulse.

His pulse was still beating, but it was weak and slow, as if it would stop at any moment.

Freya took a deep breath as she tried to calm herself down and continued to take his pulse.

She was a rare medical genius, and her pulse-taking skills were such that Sebastian had praised.

But even though she was so skilled in medicine, she could not figure out what had caused Kieran to become like this after taking the antidote.

She didn't know how to save him.

The black blood was still seeping out from the corners of Kieran's lips, and Freya carefully wiped the blood from his lips. The needles were placed next to her, but she dare not apply it.

She had thought of taking Kieran to the hospital, but hospital was helpless about the withered poison, and now that he had become like this, it was even more unlikely that the hospital would be able to restore him to health.

As long as he still showed signs of life, as long as he had one breath left, she would save him.

After letting the maids carry him back to his room, Freya called Sebastian in a panic, asking him to come over from the lab and see what was wrong with Kieran.

After Sebastian took Kieran's pulse, he also shook his head incessantly.

He had observed a patient years ago after he had taken the antidote to withering silence. The person did not show any obvious difference after taking the medicine, but became much healthier the next day.

Even Sebastian, who was as skilled as a doctor, could not understand for a moment why Kieran had become like this.

After discussing the matter with Freya, Sebastian decided to give Kieran an injection first, so that even if he could not be completely restored to health for a while, his life would not be in danger in a short time.

Looking at the man lying on the bed, who was a bit frail, Freya's heart throbbed with pain.

Having gotten used to his strong, invulnerable appearance, her heart ached hysterically when he suddenly became so vulnerable.

She would rather be the one tormented by the withering silence, she did not want his magnificent body to become stooped under the ravages of his illness.

"Teacher, we've tested it, the antidote we developed for the withering silence is fine, how could Kieran turn out like this after taking the medicine?"

"I didn't expect it to turn out like this either." Sebastian sighed softly, he had always been confident in his own medical skills, plus his most admired apprentice even delved into it with him, and the results of their trials were successful, so he had never expected that after taking the medicine, Kieran would not only not get better, but also not wake up at all.

After a moment of silence, Sebastian said thoughtfully, "The ones we use for experiments are usually small animals, they are after all somewhat different from the human body's structure, and it's possible that accidents sometimes occur."

"Now, we must get the antidote to the silence left behind by Steven, otherwise, I'm afraid that Kieran will be in a bad way!"

When she heard the words from Sebastian's mouth, Freya was nervous.

She had already lost Kiki, a pain she could not heal in her life, and she did not want to suffer the pain of losing the person she cared about most.

She wanted to save Kieran, she wanted to get the true antidote to the Withering Silence, there was only one way to do it – find Regina.

Once, she thought that she and Sebastian would be able to develop the antidote to the withering Silence, but they couldn't experiment with living people, they could only use lab rats.

They didn't expect the antidote to be developed, but when used on mice and people, the effects were so different.

They failed.

They could only take the path they were least willing to take and beg Regina to save Kieran.

Freya felt that she and Regina really had a heart to heart. She was just about to go to Regina and Regina's phone call had already come through.

Regina asked, gnashing teeth, "Freya, you're still so calm! If you continue to drag this out, Kieran will die in the end after all the tortures! Freya, you are so cruel, watching Kieran die and yet you are not willing to do anything!"

Freya laughed coldly in her heart, who was the cruel one? If it wasn't for Regina, how would Kieran have become like this?

Freya did not want to talk nonsense with Regina, she went straight to the point, "Regina, I want the antidote for the withering silence!"

"They say women are poisonous, Freya, it turns out that you're not quite as cruel as you should be!" Regina laughed in a grim and creepy manner, the resentment turning sharply into smugness, making her voice sound even more distorted.

Regina knew in her heart that if she wanted Freya to trade the lives of the two little ones for the antidote, there was no way she would agree to it, so she had to settle for the second best.

"Freya, there is no free lunch under the sky, if you want to get the antidote to save Kieran, you always have to pay the price!"

"Regina, don't beat around the bush! Whatever you want, let me know!"

Regina continued to speak slowly, "Freya, in fact, I don't want Kieran to die either, you know, I love Kieran, without Kieran, I can't live."

"But if Kieran insists on only wanting you, I'd rather destroy him than let you have him! Freya, that's how I am, what I can't have, I'd rather destroy than let anyone else have!"

"Regina, what exactly do you want from me!"

“Freya, what I want you to do is actually very simple, I just want you to give me and Kieran a gift for our wedding.”

“Freya, someone has caused Kieran to be struck by withering silence, someone has to take the blame for this crime. I want you, before Kieran wakes up, to confess all your mistakes, including the fact that you and Steven collaborated to kill Simon! I want you to turn yourself in at the police station, and I want you to put yourself through jail!”

“Oh, of course, before you go to jail, you have to do one more thing.”

Seeing Regina pulling a long tone and not speaking, Freya couldn't help but feel anxious, “Regina, what else do you want me to do?!”

Chapter 994

“I want ten percent of Well's shares in your hands!”

When she thought of how much Sabrina favored Freya, Regina's voice was so hateful that it sounded like a poisonous snake spitting its tongue, “Freya, you are just a bastard, what qualifications do you have to want what the Well family has! I am the most noble daughter of the Well family, you are nothing!”

“Regina, you are noble, I want to see if you can be noble for the rest of your life!”

“Freya, what do you mean by that? You despise me, don't you? You're just a bastard, how can you look down on me?”

Freya was not in the mood to listen to her hysterical screaming, she spoke coldly, “Regina, I promise you both conditions, I also hope you will keep your promise and give the antidote to Kieran!”

“Freya, don't worry, as long as you're hiding in prison for the rest of your life, I naturally won't let anything happen to Kieran! If Kieran stays with you, he can only die, but if he is willing to look at me one more time, I will naturally grow old with him!”

Freya really wanted to say to Regina, “You're dreaming!”

But she was afraid that Regina would destroy the antidote in a moment of psychological distortion, so she held the words back.

The share transfer agreement had already been drawn up and she wanted Freya to go to the Fitzgerald's to sign it and confess her so-called sins to Joanna.

Because of the incident at Kiki's funeral, Sabrina had recently taken a dislike to Regina, but Master Zachary had put in a good word for her, so Joanna's attitude towards her had only slightly changed.

Regina needed to use Freya's ugly face to set up her pure and noble image, so before Freya turned herself in at the police station, she wanted to show Joanna her ugly face first.

Moreover, Regina knew that the older Joanna got, the more senile she became, and now that it was a society governed by the rule of law, there were still some feudal and authoritarian ideas left in her.

It was likely that after Freya admitted that she had drugged Kieran, she would secretly dispose of Freya, so that there would be no more Freya in the world.

After hanging up Regina's phone call, Freya did not dare to delay at all. She grabbed the car keys and rushed out.

Just as she descended the stairs, she saw a serious looking Jaden and Jayla.

"Mummy, where are you going?" Although Jaden always looked cold, there was a clear concern in his eyes when he looked at Freya.

"Jaden, you and Jayla stay well at home and don't wander off, I'm going over to Grandma's place."

After gently hugging Jaden and Jayla, Freya jerked up and released them.

Freya really was reluctant to leave these two kids. She wanted to see them grow up, to see Jayla wear a wedding dress, and to see Jaden achieve success and fame and have a smooth life.

However, after today, she would not have the chance.

Afraid that if she continued to reluctant to leave these two little kids, she forced herself to stop looking at them and headed outside the living room.

"Mummy, brother and I will go over with you!"

Jaden and Jayla were both the best of the best, they had already heard about Kieran's coma, plus seeing how Freya looked at this moment, there were some things that they had already guessed roughly.

"Jayla, be good and stay at home, your daddy still needs you to take care of him! When your daddy wakes up, you guys call me, okay?"

"No!" Jayla stubbornly grabbed Freya's hand, "Mummy, daddy values his wife more than us, he must want you to take care of him. Don't go to grandma's place, stay at home and take care of daddy, okay?"

"Jayla, I really have something very important to do at your grandma's place, I'll be back soon. Be good, wait for me to come back!"

Freya had always hated lying to her children, but today, she had no choice but to lie to them.

She wanted to give them another hug, but once she did, she couldn't let go of them, so she had to leave in determination.

"Mummy ..."

Jayla stretched out her little hand and pitifully tried to grab Freya's hand, before she could touch Freya's hand, it was pulled by Jaden.

As she watched Freya's figure fade away in front of her, Jayla couldn't help but feel anxious, "Brother, let go of me! Why are you pulling me!"

"You were the one who said just now that the antidote developed by Mummy and Grandpa Sebastian had failed, so she would definitely go to Regina for the antidote! Regina is so bad, who knows what she'll do to Mommy! Brother, we can't let that bad woman bully Mummy!"

"Can you stop Mummy?"

"I ..." Jayla pouted. She knew how stubborn Mummy was, if Mummy insisted on going, she and her brother combined would not be able to stop her.

Jayla did not want to be looked down by her brother, she raised her chin and said arrogantly, "Even so, I will find a way to stop her, I can cry and make a scene!"

"Cry was Great Grandma's place!"

Jaden straightened his bow tie, his meticulous suit looked even more neat and sharp as he took his children's mobile phone from the side coffee table and took the lead outside the living room.

"Brother, are you going to Great Grandma's? Wait for me!" Jayla chased after him in quick steps.

"No, I am going to somewhere else."

"Brother, you're walking too fast, wait for me!" Jayla was so tired and panting that she didn't really hear what Jaden had just said.

"Jayla, it's not that I'm walking too fast, it's that you're too fat to run. If you continue to eat chocolate every day in the future, you definitely won't be able to get married in the future!"

Seeing her sister who was panting after running a few steps, Jaden was full of disgust, but still slowed down his pace and waited for her.

"Never mind! I have you! You can raise me, brother!"

"You are dreaming!"

Even though he said that, he still clutched his sister's hand.

When Freya arrived at the Fitzgerald's, Regina and Joanna had long been waiting in the living room, and Master Zachary was also there, they all had serious faces.

Originally, Joanna was twirling her Buddhist beads and sitting on the chair with her eyes closed, when she heard the maid inform her that Freya had arrived, she opened her eyes with a jerk.

Her cloudy eyes instantly became stern and she stared at Freya, asking in a stern voice as if she was interrogating a prisoner, "Freya, what is the poison in Kieran's body?"

"Kieran said he was poisoned by Steven, but why did I hear that it was you and Steven who joined together to harm my Kieran?"

"Freya, say it! Who really harmed my Kieran!"

Chapter 995

Freya gently closed her eyes and slowly opened them again, her face with a cloudy breeze of blandness.

"Grandma, it's me."

On the way here, Freya had already prepared herself to take on everything, as long as Regina could save Kieran!

She wasn't afraid, not even bit!

Freya was only sad in her heart, she had promised Mr. Fitzgerald that no matter what happened, she would not do anything stupid, but she had broken her promise.

She was most concerned about promises, and she wanted to keep her promise, but when she really watched him fall motionless on the ground with blood flowing.

Kieran, I am sorry, after all, I am too selfish to bear the pain and despair of losing you.

“Freya, what did you say?!” Joanna exclaimed out of breath.

Although she had already heard Regina say that she had found out clearly that it was Freya and Steven who had harmed Kieran together, but Freya’s actual personal admission still gave her no small shock.

“Grandma, it was me.” Freya repeated what she had just said.

Joanna trembled and got up, she used all her strength and threw a slap at Freya’s face fiercely.

“Freya, you’ve really let me down!”

This slap from Joanna was so severe that Freya’s face was deflected to one side, and the corners of her lips, oozed bright red blood, and the half of her face that had been hit was hot and painful, but she did not cry out in pain, let alone defend herself, but gave Regina a cool and faint look, hoping that she would keep her promise.

Regina naturally understood what Freya meant, and she faintly hooked her lips at her, telling her wordlessly, “Don’t worry! As long as Kieran and I are together, how could I let him die!”

When Freya didn’t say anything, Joanna became more and more angry, she stared at Freya fiercely, “Freya, our family has treated you well, and Kieran is genuinely good to you, why do you want to harm my Kieran!”

“Grandma, don’t be angry!” Seeing that Joanna was trembling with anger, Regina hurriedly stepped forward to support her thoughtfully, “Grandma, it’s not worth it to be upset by someone like Freya!”

“Freya, the thing I regret most in my life is letting you marry into my family!”

After saying these words, Joanna began to gasp for air again, and only after Regina helped her to smooth her breath for a while did she feel more comfortable.

Regina was afraid that Joanna was not disgusted enough with Freya, so she sighed softly, “Grandma, you really should not be angry anymore! You’ve ruined your health, and we’re all heartbroken! Alas, poor Kieran was so in love with Freya that he ended up being harmed.”

After saying this, Regina turned her face to look at Freya again, “Freya, even if you have someone outside, you can’t harm Kieran like this! Kieran loves you so much, yet you want his life, do you have a heart or not!”

“Regina, is Freya really having someone outside?!” Joanna grabbed Regina’s hand, her voice trembling as she asked.

Regina had a sullen face, as if she couldn't bear to tell Joanna the truth, and only after a long time did she sigh quietly, "Grandma, I mistakenly thought that Freya and Bradley were together before, but it was actually an oops. Only a few days ago did I learn that the man outside Freya was someone else."

"Mr. Jenkins has proposed to her again, something that quite a few people know about. As far as I know, Mr. Jenkins has proposed to her at least three times, so I guess she's harming Kieran so much just to stay with Mr. Jenkins with Kieran's money!"

"Is that really true?!" Joanna asked incredulously.

"Grandma, if you don't believe me, you can ask someone else, I really didn't deliberately wrong Freya." Regina said rather sincerely to Joanna.

Joanna looked at Freya with complicated eyes. She had already trusted Regina, plus she had indeed heard a lot of rumours about the relationship between Freya and Joshua a while ago, and now, she was even more convinced of Regina's words.

"Freya, if you really like Mr. Jenkins, none of us will stop you, and Kieran is also willing to divorce you, why do you have to put Kieran to death? And, you're already with Mr. Jenkins, why do you still want to hook up with my brother? Freya, how can you be so shameless! You've disgraced the Fitzgerald family and Grandma!"

"Regina, don't go too far!" Freya uttered in a cold voice. She had agreed to turn herself in to the police and sign the share transfer agreement, but that didn't mean that she was willing to let Regina slander her with impunity.

Without waiting for Regina to speak, Joanna spoke in a stern voice, "Freya, you are the one who has gone too far! Our family can't tolerate people like you who are sultry and ambitious!"

"I'll leave now!" Freya really did not want to say a word to Joanna, she turned around and walked outside.

"Leave?!" Joanna laughed coldly, the aura of the head of the family pouring out from her body, "Freya, you have made my Kieran's life worse than death, you have created so many sins, you think that you can just leave now?"

"Someone comes and get her!"

As soon as Joanna's words fell, several servants rushed out from a side corridor and surrounded Freya.

Freya was shocked, she thought she would be humiliated when she came over to the Fitzgerald's, but she never expected that Joanna would want to deal with her directly and privately!

With Joanna's tactics, she wouldn't want to walk out of the door of the Fitzgerald's alive!

"Grandma, can you please give me a few minutes to let Freya sign this agreement?"

Regina knew that Joanna was going to dispose of Freya, she took out the agreement from her bag, "Grandma, this is an apology, Freya deliberately framed Court a while ago, I hope she can sign it to prove Court's innocence."

Joanna was so old and had some presbyopia, so naturally she could not read exactly what was written on the agreement, but after hearing this from Regina, she was happy to let Freya sign this agreement.

She had always wanted to set up Regina and Kieran, in her opinion, Regina was her destined grandson-in-law, and she naturally hoped that Regina's business would not carry a stigma, but would get better and better.

Joanna nodded gently, and having received her approval, Regina instantly burst with joy.

She placed the agreement on the coffee table to one side, "Freya, sign it!"

The first page of the agreement was covered with a piece of blue letter paper, lifting this blue letter paper, the words of the share transfer agreement in big clear letters were reflected in Freya's eyes.

This was the property left to her by Sabrina, and she did not want to give it to Regina, but in this situation, she simply had no other choice.

She grabbed the pen on the table and began to write her name on the signature.

Chapter 996

Regina excitedly stared at Freya's fingertips, as long as Freya had signed the agreement, she would get a lawyer to notarize it, and simply go through the legal procedures, this huge amount of property would be hers!

This agreement was not only a transfer of ten percent of Well's shares, but there was also a subsidiary agreement underneath, where she would get all the real estate and other things that Sabrina had transferred to Freya!

What was even more satisfying to Regina was that she had also pressed a share transfer agreement about World at the bottom.

Freya was the biggest shareholder of World, as long as Freya transferred all her shares in World to her, from then on, she, Regina, would be the boss of World. How could Freddie and the others fight with her!

Kiki was already dead, after she killed Freya, she would expel Freddie from World and make World serve Court!

Regina finally waited until Freya had finished signing the agreement.

She double-checked it to make sure there was nothing missing before she contentedly grabbed the agreement into her hands, squeezing it carefully for fear of accidentally breaking any edges.

"Regina, it should be okay now, right?"

After signing the agreement, Freya continued to walk outside the living room when a maid blocked in front of her, as if not allowing her to leave.

"Get out of the way!" Freya spoke coldly, the maid was shocked by her aura, but thinking of Joanna's order, she still grabbed Freya's wrist with a stiff upper lip.

"Madam has said that you cannot leave!"

“Let go of me!” Freya shook off the maid’s hand with force, and she turned her face to look at Joanna with eyes that no longer had the respect for her elders.

“Grandma, this is a society under the rule of law, even if I have made a mistake, I can go to the police station and turn myself in, why do you have people stopping me from going out?!”

“Turn yourself in?” Joanna laughed coldly, “Freya, I don’t believe you will really go to the police station to turn yourself in, even if you do, it’s only a crime of intentional assault, how many years can you be sentenced to jail?”

“But what about my Kieran? My Kieran is dying because of you! He was so badly hurt by you, what right do you have to live on?!”

“Grandma, the law will judge for the crime, it won’t over punish a good man or spare a bad man, I believe it will give us all justice! Grandma, let me get out of here, I’m going to turn myself in!”

Going to turn herself in, Freya held the worst intention, but when Kieran woke up after taking the antidote, everything might also be reversed, she wanted to cling to the last glimmer of hope, turning defeat into victory.

But if she were to leave it to Joanna today, she was only afraid that she would be in a bad way.

Even though she had chosen the darkest and most difficult path, she still wanted to do what she could to survive and win a final reunion with Kieran.

“Justice?” Joanna’s eyes were as harsh as a knife, “Blood is the only true justice!”

“Freya, you are greedy, you are snake hearted, you have harmed my Kieran, I want you to pay the heaviest price!”

Glancing at the maid on the side, Joanna asked in a cold voice, “Is the medicine ready?!”

What medicine?

A bad feeling came to Freya’s mind, and the next moment she heard the maid say, “Madam, don’t worry, the abortion pill has already been prepared.”

Abortion pills?

Joanna had really gone mad! She was actually going to give Freya an abortion!

She pushed away the maids who were in front of her and rushed outside the living room with the speed of a hundred-meter sprint.

After running out of the living room, she thought she had finally gotten a chance, but she didn’t expect a large row of maids to stand in the courtyard in a neat and tidy manner, clearly not wanting her to escape.

Looking at the aggressive servants in front of her, Freya shivered all over.

Just now, she admitted that she had caused Kieran’s death, and she could understand that Joanna would be furious and disappointed with her.

But she couldn't understand that she wanted to kill the child inside her belly.

Not to mention that she had not committed any wrongdoing, even if she had committed a great crime, it had nothing to do with the child inside her belly.

What's more, this child still has the blood of the Fitzgerald family in his body, and Joanna is its own great-grandmother!

When she first agreed to Regina's visit to the Fitzgerald's, she was certain that Joanna would not harm the child in her belly, even if Joanna imprisoned her and made her suffer, she was the child's great-grandmother and would wait for the child to be born before taking her life!

She could face her tragic death in some cold corner of the Fitzgerald mansion after the birth of her child with open arms, but she couldn't stand by and watch someone else kill her child!

"Get out of the way!" Freya's heart was dying with anxiety, but her back was still straight, "You have no right to lynch me, and you have even less right to hurt my child! Let me out of here!"

Seeing Regina holding Joanna slowly walking out, Freya said in a cold voice to Regina, "Regina, I have already done what I promised you, and I will also turn myself in to the police station, let me leave here!"

Joanna heaved her cane, "Freya, you're really lawless! In front of me, you even dare to threaten Regina! Are you going to threaten me? Freya, what can't you do?"

"Grandma, I understand that you hate me, but my child is the bloodline of the Fitzgerald family, how can you hurt it! Grandma, you are so cruel!"

"The bloodline of the Fitzgerald family?" Joanna hooked her lips, her old face was more and more cold and gruesome.

"Freya, let alone the fact that this child might be others', even if Kieran is the father, it deserves to die for having an ambitious mother like you!"

"Someone! Give medicine to Freya!"

At Joanna's command, two tall maids grabbed Freya's arms, one left and one right.

It was a matter of the life of the child inside her belly, so of course Freya would not let others do whatever they wanted.

"Let go of me!"

The two maids, though physically strong, were no match for her, so she used her dexterity to quickly break away from them and rushed forward.

There was no escape.

Several of the male maids clamped her down so hard that she couldn't move a muscle.

Freya's eyes were streaked with red blood, and she looked at Joanna, who had a majestic face in front of her, but without any semblance of human kindness, and her throat choked up.

“Grandma, please spare the child in my belly! When the child is born, I am willing to die, I only beg you to let the child in my belly go!”

There was no trace of mercy on Joanna’s face as she spoke without expression, “Give her the medicine!”

Chapter 997

It had to be said that Regina’s acting skills were really top notch, in her life, she had never been a good person for a day, but what she was best at was pretending to be a good person.

When she heard Joanna’s instructions to the servants, Regina was obviously overjoyed, but she still felt that she had to put on a sad face and pretend to be a good person.

She anxiously and mournfully took Joanna’s hand, “Grandma, why don’t you just stop letting people give Freya medicine! What if, what’s inside her belly is really Kieran’s child?”

“Grandma, I truly love Kieran, and after I get together with Kieran, even if this child is born to Freya, I will still take good care of it!”

“Regina, I know you have a good heart and are a good girl, but this child can’t be kept.” Joanna gently patted the back of Regina’s hand, “No matter who the father of this child is, he has Freya’s blood in him, if he lives, when he grows up and knows that I took Freya’s life, he will definitely resent me, rather, let him not have to come into this world!”

Joanna’s ruthlessness had shocked Regina, but unfortunately, as she grew older, she was blind, so Regina was able to fool her.

Regina said with feigned apprehension, “Even without this child, there are still Jaden and Jayla, if they knew about Freya, I’m afraid they would still hold a grudge against you, Grandma!”

“They won’t know!” Joanna seemed to ponder for a moment, “If they ever find out, when you and Kieran have a child, I will send them away!”

The corners of Regina’s lips could not be restrained from rising as she received Joanna’s promise.

Joanna was definitely going to be parting with those two little brats.

After Freya’s death, as long as Regina stirred up, Joanna and the two kids would definitely be at odds with each other, and she could just sit back and reap the benefits.

This time, she had really solved all the people she hated without any bloodshed!

Freya’s heart was pounding like a million knives stabbing her in the heart one by one.

She had never imagined that Joanna would be so crazy as to go after the two little ones!

The world had gone mad! The world had gone completely mad!

Freya clenched her teeth to death, not allowing the maid to successfully pour the abortion pill into her mouth.

After all, Freya was Kieran’s wife, so they didn’t dare to be too rude, and for a while, the abortion pill couldn’t be poured into her mouth.

Seeing that Freya still dared to resist, Joanna was displeased to the extreme, and she spoke coldly, "Pry her mouth open! Pour the medicine down!"

At Joanna's command, the servants no longer showed any mercy to Freya, and several of them stepped forward together, intending to rip her mouth open, regardless of whether she lived or died.

Freya was still clenching her teeth, but she knew that she could not hold herself up for much longer.

Just as her jaw was fiercely squeezed, her mouth forcibly open and the black abortion pill poured into her mouth, a foot wearing black leather shoes viciously kicked the porcelain bowl away, while the male servant carrying the bowl was unceremoniously kicked to the ground with another foot.

Sabrina's angry voice rang out in the air, "Joanna, who allowed you to bully my precious granddaughter like that!"

Joanna had not expected Jaden and Jayla to suddenly lead Sabrina, Walter and Jacob over. She did not know the relationship between Freya and the Well family, and for a moment, she really did not understand where Sabrina's anger was coming from.

She gave Regina a puzzled look, "Sabrina, what are you talking about! When have I ever bullied Regina! Regina is so understanding and generous, I love her, how could I bully her!"

Joanna wanted to maintain good relations with the Well family, but she felt ashamed that she hurt Freya in front of so many people.

After sweeping a glance at the male servant who was rolling on the ground with his heart covered in pain, Joanna's eyes sank, and her voice took on an angry harshness, "But you guys came here to question me, and you even injured my servant. What do you take my house for?"

"Joanna, don't be unreasonable! You've bullied my precious granddaughter, what's wrong with us hurting a few of your people?!" Sabrina didn't back down and yelled at Joanna with resounding words.

"Sabrina, you are the one unreasonable! Why don't you tell me clearly how I have bullied Regina? If you don't give me a clear explanation, if you are so unreasonable, our Fitzgerald family is not finished with you!"

Jacob threw the servants who were dragging Freya straight out.

Seeing this, Sabrina hurriedly went forward and hugged Freya tightly into her arms, "Freya, it's my fault, I came over late and made you suffer!"

Joanna was dumbfounded, wasn't Freya a member of the Stahler family? How did she somehow become a member of the Wells family?

Receiving Joanna's questioning look, Regina looked pale on her face.

She didn't expect Sabrina and the others to suddenly come over today.

With them all coming over, her plan to fix Freya was definitely going to be a complete bust!

Not only that, she was afraid that she would not be able to conceal Freya's life, which she had been trying to hide and did not want Joanna to know.

“Regina, what the hell is going on here?” After receiving no response to her question, Joanna asked directly.

“Grandma, Freya may be my sister.” Regina said, “Because there is a lot of uncertainty, so I have never said anything to you.”

“What do you mean by Freya may be your sister?!” Sabrina was not satisfied with Regina’s words, her brows were knitted tightly, “Freya is my granddaughter!”

“What?!” Even though she had seen all the vicissitudes of the world, she had never thought that Freya would have such a relationship with the Well family.

“Joanna, let me tell you, Freya is my most beloved granddaughter, if you bully her, you are bullying me! What kind of medicine did you force my granddaughter to eat? Abortion pills, right? My granddaughter is carrying the bloodline of your Fitzgerald family, yet you want to kill this child. Joanna, you are vicious bullying my granddaughter, I will stand against you!”

“Grandma, don’t say that.” Regina was desperate to seek Joanna’s goodwill towards her, and since Joanna was being scolded, of course she had to step in.

“Grandma, it’s all a misunderstanding, Grandma Joanna didn’t mean to hurt Freya, you misunderstood her.”

“Shut up!” Seeing that Regina still wanted to pretend to be a good person, Sabrina directly coldly interrupted her words. Glancing at Freya’s swollen face, Sabrina raised her hand and threw a slap directly and viciously onto Regina’s face.

Chapter 998

“Grandma ...”

Regina hadn’t expected Sabrina to strike her in any way, and she was directly dumbfounded by the blow.

Her eyes were filled with tears, looking aggrieved.

“Grandma, what exactly have I done wrong for you to hit me like this?”

Seeing Regina being beaten, Joanna was unpleasant.

Regina was her beloved junior, she was the one who personally took Regina into the Fitzgerald family’s old mansion, and for Sabrina to hit Regina in front of her was a disgrace for her!

“Sabrina, don’t go too far! What did Regina do to you? If you have anger, take it out on me, don’t hit Regina!”

“Regina, say it yourself what you have done?!” When Sabrina smiled, she was loving and affectionate, but when she pulled her face long, coupled with those gleaming and cold eyes, her aura was so overwhelming that people couldn’t breathe.

Seeing that Regina did not say anything, she spoke word by word, "Regina, you are responsible for Freya being bullied like this today! What did Freya do wrong to let you hurt her so much over and over again? Regina, how could the Well family have such an unrepentant and evil-minded daughter like you!"

"Grandma, I didn't harm Freya! You've really wronged me!" Regina covered her face and looked at Sabrina with teary eyes, "It's Freya! She has harmed me time and time again, and she has also harmed Kieran! It was she herself who admitted that she had inflicted the withering silence on Kieran! Ask Freya if you don't believe me!"

"I'll testify for Regina! It was indeed Freya herself who admitted that she had combined with Steven to put the silence on Kieran!" Joanna's eyes were awe-inspiring, "Freya has caused my own grandson to fall into a coma again, and he may never wake up again! She has a poisonous snake's heart, even if she were a member of your Well family, I would not be able to tolerate her!"

"My sister couldn't possibly do such a thing!" Jacob spoke with a dark and sullen face, "Joanna, even if you are an elder, you should apologise to my sister for slandering her!"

"You want me to apologize to Freya?" Joanna's face turned pale, "Sabrina, is this the grandson you have educated? He can't tell from between right and wrong, shows no respect to the elders!"

"Joanna, you're the one who can't distinguish between right and wrong!" Sabrina was not afraid of Joanna.

She carefully checked the five finger marks on Freya's face, "Joanna, it was you who hit Freya, right? Freya respects you and she will not slap you, but you must apologise to Freya!"

"I apologise to Freya?" As if she had heard something extremely ridiculous, Joanna could not restrain herself from sneering in mockery, "I apologise to her, you're dreaming! Simon died for no reason, my Kieran is in a coma, who will apologize to me? Who will apologize to our Fitzgerald family?"

Originally, Regina's heart was in apprehension, but when she heard Joanna mention Simon, her heart was instantly filled with courage.

She had been so preoccupied with Kieran that she had almost forgotten that Freya had promised to admit her guilt in killing Simon.

She said, "The one who should apologise is not really Grandma Joanna, but Freya! Freya is my sister, and I wish her well, but what she did was too much! Not only did she put withering silence on Kieran, she also killed Simon!"

"I've investigated clearly, Steven only killed himself to take the blame for Freya, it was Freya who really killed Simon! If you don't believe me, you can ask Freya!"

"What?!" Joanna was stunned. She stared at Freya with hatred, "Freya, did you really kill Simon? Freya, what does our Fitzgerald family owe you that you would do this to my two grandsons!"

"I ..." Freya did not want to admit to this trumped up charge in front of the two kids, but she was also really worried that Regina would ruin the cure for the withering silence, so she was in a dilemma.

“Regina, shut up!” Jayla couldn’t bear to see Regina’s reversal of right and wrong, so she spoke up in anger, “Regina, my mommy doesn’t even know Steven, how could he possibly take the blame for her! But you, you and Steven are so close, why don’t you say that he is taking the blame for you!”

“I ...” Regina was blocked from speaking by Jayla, she took a deep breath before speaking slowly, “I didn’t do anything bad, why should I let someone take the blame for me? It’s Freya who has not only caused harm to Simon, but also to Kieran, she has sinned so much that she deserves to be punished!”

“Even if Freya has done something bad and needs to be punished, it shouldn’t be by you guys abusing lynching!” Sabrina’s eyes swept over Regina’s face with a biting glare, “I believe in Freya’s character, Freya does not admit these trumped up charges!”

Hearing that, Regina was angry.

Obviously, they were both her own granddaughters, why did she praise Freya, while she was no nothing in her heart? It wasn’t fair!

“Grandma, I think you should ask Freya if she did these things or not! If she didn’t do it, none of us can wrongly accuse her, but if she admits it, you can’t continue to shield her with favouritism!”

“Regina, why ask my mommy about things that have nothing to do with her?!” Jaden’s eyes were as dark as a black hole, allowing all the darkness and nastiness in this world to hide, “Or, are you trying to play some trick again to frame my mommy?!”

“Jaden, what are you talking about? Freya is my sister, how could I possibly frame ...”

“But Regina, you’ve clearly slandered my mommy time and time again!” Not waiting for Regina to finish, Jayla had already interrupted her, “Regina, I have no problem with that you are addicted to slander others, but please leave my mommy alone!!”

Noticing the subtle looks on the faces of the maids at the side, Regina’s face turned unpleasant, if not for the fact that she was in front of so many people, she would have wanted to tear these two kids apart!

She couldn’t do nothing to the two sharp-tongued kids, but Freya was desperate for the antidote, so she endured it.

She no longer paid attention to Jaden and Jayla, but turned her face and said to Freya, “Freya, tell everyone, are Grandma and I wronging you, or did you really harm Simon and Kieran?!”

Chapter 999

“I am the one who caused ...”

Freya gritted her teeth, she was about to admit to all the trumped up charges for the sake of the antidote to withering silence, a voice as cold and bitter as falling snow on top of a mountain rang out in the air.

“What, are you still planning to bend the rules?”

Hearing this familiar voice, for a moment, Freya thought she was hallucinating. She fiercely turned her face and looked incredulously at the handsome man standing in front of her, already in tears.

“Kieran!”

Freya jumped into Kieran’s arms, hugging him with almost all her strength.

Until now, she still couldn’t believe that the man whose pulse was weak and dying when she left the Kelsington Bay, was as strong as a pine in the blink of an eye.

She put her finger on Kieran’s wrist, his pulse was strong and vigorous.

Freya stared round in shock. The withering silence in his body had actually been lifted?

Seeing Freya’s confusion, Kieran smiled and spoke, “Sebastian took my pulse before, he said, I’m already well.”

Meeting Kieran’s eyes, Freya smiled with tears in her eyes and arched her eyebrows.

Yes, the withering silence in his body had been lifted.

From now on, she no longer had to be threatened by Regina, and she could still grow old with him.

She thought that his reaction to taking withering Silence’s antidote would be so peculiar, probably because of something she had fed him quite a lot of relieving medication before, those blackened blood was not poisoned, but detoxification.

Regina was so shocked that her eyes glazed over, she had informant in Kelsington Bay, and she was told that Kieran vomited blood and became unconsciousness.

What the hell was going on that Kieran was not standing in front of her?

“Kieran!” Joanna was instead joyfully excited, tears welling up in her cloudy eyes, “Kieran, you’re awake, it’s wonderful! The withering silence inside you ...”

“Grandma, the withering silence within me has been lifted.” Kieran shielded Freya in his arms and looked at Joanna with eyes that were clearly tinged with a bit of coldness, “It was Freya who developed the antidote to the withering silence in my body.”

“What?! How is this possible?!” Joanna obviously couldn’t believe Kieran’s words, “It was clearly Freya who harmed you, how could she ...”

“Grandma, Freya and I truly love each other, how could she have harmed me? You misunderstood Freya!”

Kieran was very respectful of Joanna, but seeing the obvious swollen on Freya’s face, his respect for her was mixed with a bit of dissatisfaction.

“Kieran, what did you say? The withering silence on your body was resolved?” Regina couldn’t help but ask, “Kieran, you’re not coaxing us, are you?”

“What, you’re disappointed that the Withering Silence on my body has been resolved?” Kieran didn’t give Regina any respect at all, his voice was cold.

“I ...”

Regina was really disappointed that the withering silence on Kieran’s body had been lifted, but this was something that she really didn’t dare to say openly.

“Kieran, what are you talking about! How can I be disappointed that the withering silence on your body has been lifted! I can’t be happier! Kieran, congratulations, you’re finally back to health!”

When Kieran did not wake up, no matter how much she threatened Freya, Regina was not afraid that Freya would tell the truth.

But now that Kieran had woken up, she was really afraid that Freya would reveal what she had done.

Fearing that the things she had done would be revealed, Regina was all smiles and tried to change the subject, “Grandma, the poison in Kieran’s body has been lifted, it’s really wonderful! It’s really great that Kieran has regained his health! Grandma, we have to celebrate!”

“Yes, it’s wonderful that Kieran has gotten better!” Joanna wept with joy, “As Regina said, we must celebrate!”

Regina tried to cover up what she had done, but apparently Kieran didn’t want her to have her way.

His eyes, like ice blades, swept over her, “Regina, just now I heard you forcing Freya to admit her guilt, who are you to force her like that?!”

“Misunderstanding! It’s all a misunderstanding!” Regina said with a smile “Kieran, I was just joking with Freya, don’t take it seriously!”

However, Joanna did not intend to forget about it, and her eyes still held a clear dissatisfaction when she looked at Freya.

“What misunderstanding! Freya admitted that she was the one who caused you to be struck by the withering silence!” After a pause, Joanna then spoke coldly, “And Simon! Regina has investigated clearly, and Freya was related to Simon’s death! Freya, tell me how Simon died!”

Regina’s heart pounded furiously and she hugged Joanna’s arm in a petulant manner, “Grandma, this is all a misunderstanding! Kieran has already woken up, let’s not bother with these things! Steven admitted before he died that he killed Simon, so let’s let bygones be bygones!”

“What’s more, Freya is still carrying Kieran’s child in her belly, she saved Kieran’s life, she is greatly meritorious, we can’t continue to make things difficult for her!”

Joanna sneered, “A person who personally fed poison into my grandson’s stomach can be considered greatly meritorious?!”

Joanna glanced at Master Zachary next to her, “Master, you heard her admit it just now, right?”

Master Zachary nodded and the coldness in Joanna’s eyes intensified, “Freya, you have a malicious heart and an unscrupulous mind, our Fitzgerald family cannot tolerate you!”

“Joanna, your Fitzgerald family can’t tolerate our Freya? You think our Freya cares about your Fitzgerald family?” Sabrina took Freya’s hand, “Go, Freya, go home with me!”

“This family doesn’t distinguish between right and wrong, we don’t want them! Come home with me! I will find you a better husband and he will never bully you in the future!”

Kieran’s face instantly darkened. Sabrina was Freya’s grandmother and he respected her, but she was not allowed to take his wife away.

“Go! If you want to go, hurry up and go!” Joanna didn’t show any weakness, “We can have this kind of daughter-in-law who poisons others in the Fitzgerald family!”

“Grandma, it wasn’t Freya who poisoned me!” Seeing that his wife was about to be taken away, Kieran was anxious.

“It wasn’t her who poisoned you, why would she admit it herself?!” Joanna sneered, “I don’t believe she would be that stupid!”

“Grandma, I didn’t poison Kieran.” Since she no longer had to fear Regina, Freya did not want to continue to take the blame, “Grandma, I admitted that I poisoned Kieran, because I was forced to do so!”

Regina was afraid that Freya would expose her, so she spoke up, “Freya, don’t talk nonsense here! How can anyone force you to admit that you have poisoned Kieran?!”

Freya spoke up without any haste, “Regina, that person is you!”

Chapter 1000

Regina’s face turned pale, “Freya, don’t be ridiculous! How could I possibly force you to admit that you poisoned Kieran?”

She hugged Joanna’s arm tightly in a panic, “Grandma, don’t believe Freya! I really didn’t do such a vicious thing! I have no enmity with her, how could I possibly force her to do such a thing! Grandma, you must believe me!”

Joanna patted the back of Regina’s hand soothingly, “Regina, I believe you, you’re a good girl, Grandma believes that you wouldn’t do such a thing.”

She spoke to Regina with doting, but when she looked at Freya, there was only a serious bitter coldness.

“Freya, don’t be ridiculous! I know Regina’s character well, she would never do such a thing!”

“Is that so?” The corner of Freya’s hooked, carried faint sarcasm. It wasn’t that she didn’t respect the elderly, but she just couldn’t respect elders like Joanna.

“Grandma, you believe so much in Regina’s character, but unfortunately, you’re going to be disappointed this time!”

With that, Freya took out her mobile phone from her pocket.

She pressed a button, and Regina’s voice, full of resentment, poured out from the phone.

“Freya, how can you still be so calm? If you keep dragging, Kieran will only die after his torture! Freya, you are so cruel, watching Kieran die and yet you are unwilling to do anything!”

Hearing this voice, Regina almost fell to the ground as her legs went limp.

Before, Jaden had hacked her phone many times, and she had become skittish. Some time ago, she had enlisted the help of a skillful hacker, and since so, her phone had not been hacked by Jaden again.

However, she never expected that the phone call she made with Freya would be recorded by Freya.

Regina grabbed Joanna's arm with all her might and managed to steady herself, "Turn it off! Freya, turn it off! Don't try to set me up!"

"Regina, I should show everyone who set up!"

Freya continued to play the record. Listening to the sounds that kept coming out of her phone, Regina was so anxious that she wanted to go and grab Freya's phone, but with so many people staring at her, she didn't have the guts.

She could only listen to the vicious words she had said, shivering all over.

"Freya, there's no free lunch under the sky, if you want to get the antidote to save Kieran, you always have to pay the price!"

.....

"But if Kieran insists on just wanting you, I'd rather destroy him than let you have him! Freya, what I can't have, I'd rather destroy and no one else can get it!"

.....

"Freya, someone caused Kieran to be struck with withering silence, someone has to take the blame for this crime, I want you, before Kieran wakes up, to admit all your faults, including the fact that you and Steven collaborated to kill Simon! I want you to turn yourself in at the police station, and I want you to put yourself through jail!"

"Oh, of course, you have to do one more thing before you go to jail."

"Regina, what else do you want me to do?!"

"I want ... ten percent of Wells' shares in your hands!"

"Freya, you are just a child born by a mistress, who are you to ask for our Well family's things! I am the noblest daughter of the Well family, you are nothing!"

Freya felt that what Regina said afterwards didn't make much sense anymore, releasing it was just a dilemma for everyone, so she simply quit playing it.

After listening to the recording, Regina felt collapsed, clutching on to Sabrina's hand, "Grandma, I didn't! I really didn't! It was Freya set me up! It's really her who's setting me up!"

Joanna still hadn't recovered from her extreme shock, she had never thought that Freya was really being forced to admit to harming people!

And Regina, whom she had always trusted, was the culprit who had forced Freya!

“Regina, why did you do this?!” Joanna’s pale face was filled with exhaustion and disappointment, “Regina, you have the antidote to withering silence in your hand, why are you unwilling to give it to Kieran and force Freya? Regina, what is your purpose?!”

“I ...”

Regina’s eyes welled up with tears, she was really aggrieved when Joanna, who had always loved her, questioned her.

She sobbed hard before she found her voice, “Grandma, I didn’t, I really didn’t force Freya, I was framed! Grandma, why don’t you believe me?!”

After listening to this recording, Sabrina got a better understanding of Regina’s viciousness.

She had always known that Regina’s heart was not as pure as it appeared, but she still did not expect that she would do such a thing.

She was so angry that her fingertips were trembling, “Regina, you’ve gone too far! Freya is your sister, how dare you force her to do such a thing by using the antidote to withering silence?! Do you know what would happen if she really confessed to these crimes? She’ll have to go to jail! She would even have to pay for Simon’s life!”

“Regina, how can you be so cruel?! How could the Well family have a daughter with such a snake’s heart like you?!”

“Grandma, I didn’t! I really didn’t ...”

“You didn’t?!” Sabrina didn’t believe Regina’s defence in the slightest, “Regina, don’t tell me that Freya forced you to say these words! I don’t believe that Freya would force you to say something like that!”

“Grandma, you don’t believe that Freya would force me, then do you believe that I forced Freya? Grandma, you’re really being unfair to me!” Regina was so aggrieved and angry that she could no longer maintain her usual calmness, and she screamed hysterically, “Grandma, Freya is your granddaughter, and I am your granddaughter! But have you ever treated me like your granddaughter?”

“No, you don’t! You only have Freya in your eyes! Whether it’s Wells’ shares or your affection, you only give it to Freya! Grandma, I grew up by your side, I tried to please you in every way possible, but in your heart, I’m no better than a dog!”

Walter slapped Regina hard in her face.

“Regina, how dare you speak to your grandmother like that?”

“What? Did I say something wrong?” Regina cried, covering her face that was sore from Walter’s slap, “She doesn’t even see me as her granddaughter, so why can’t I say that?”

“And you, Dad, my mother is your legitimate wife, I am your daughter, have you ever seen me? You are just like Grandma, in your eyes, there is only Freya!”

“Regina, we can indeed only see Freya!” Jacob spoke coldly, “Because our Well family doesn’t need a psychologically twisted demon!”

Glancing at the pile of agreements that Regina was clutching in her hands, Jacob said in a frightening cold voice, "Give it to me!"