

Taming Faye by Laurieen Chapter 6

Ex girlfriend In Town

Taming Faye:::

“How I wish I can just think of something else rather than him, now I know he’s my boss I really need to have a life, because he is certainly a No-go area as the CEO of the most influential company in the country and also a billionaire he has many ladies at his beck and call”

Thinking about the date she had tonight, she thought that will take her mind away from Daylan and also give her a push to start something good for herself.

Giving focus to the work at hand she didn’t hear the door opened and someone walked in, she quickly looked up and met the same person she was trying to forget moment ago.

Daylan!

It feels so strange looking at him again, she felt a sensation like butterflies floating in her stomach.

But what’s he doing here with Anthony? She wondered.

Anthony cleared his voice breaking them from the trance and reintroduce them to each other making everything more awkward.

‘Mr sage, this is your new secretary Faye Smith, and Faye Smith this is your new boss and CEO of sage company Daylan sage”

“Annoying Anthony!” Daylan hissed silently, rolling his eyes at his friend who gave him a wicked grin.

“I thought we discussed about hiring a male for this job Anthony?” Daylan asked not breaking his stare at Faye.

“Hire a male?” Faye asked a bit hurt.

“You don’t need to prove anything Daylan, it mustn’t always be a male as your secretary. Try and work with her and I bet she is good at what she does” Anthony replied walking away, leaving them alone in Faye office.

The office was quiet as Faye could hear the loud thumping sound of her heartbeat as Daylan gazed at her.

Daylan was already developing a headache at that moment due to the current situation and his thing down there was not helping at all, he was getting uncomfortable due to the tightness in his shorts just by seeing her alone remembering that night how he screwed her.

He had one night stand with his fucking secretary!

He closed his eyes and sighed.

It's one thing to sleep with a stranger, but it is another thing to sleep with a person who has a big effect on him and be working close to him, He cleared his throat and spoke.

"I am sorry for the impolite welcome Faye, as Anthony has said earlier we welcome diversity and encourage everyone to be themselves and evolve in their field, I don't tolerate laziness and lateness and most especially my expectations since you're paid to work with me. Once again welcome to the family."

"Thank you Mr sage, I hope to meet your expectations and as well the company requirements" her soft voice caused a stir in his pants.

"If you would excuse me, I will continue with my work" she said walking towards her table.

Daylan staring at her butt looking well molded in her tight skirt quickly dipped his hands in his pocket creating space for his hard member, nodded his head and left.

Daylan walking towards the elevator knew Faye was taken aback by his seriousness and harsh tone, but what else can he do? After all he is her boss and she should be treated like everyone else.

He can't be close to her! No!

What happened that night was memorable and he can't have rumours going round of him sleeping with strangers. He knew as a CEO of the top leading company in the country and other countries too such rumours will spread fast, he has a reputation to hold and a business to expand.

"I really need to distance myself from him..." Faye said when Daylan walked out of her office.

"He's really having a big effect on me" she was still feeling the tingles that shot up in her thighs when she saw him at the door.

Four weeks passed since Faye had started working at Sage company, they both avoided each other at all cost even during company meetings, Daylan would eye everybody in the room except her. He didn't not acknowledge her before her colleagues and pretended like that night meant nothing to him whereas it meant a lot to Faye.

Whenever she was called up for her presentation he would question her without any trace of emotions in his eyes.

He invited women to his office to make sure he was distracted from her, yet daylan realized he is still falling deeply for her.

his EX girlfriend rocks into town unexpectedly.