

Taming Faye by Laurieen Chapter 7

Hot Wet & Bothered

Taming Faye:::

Jamie who was Daylan ex girlfriend broke up with tristan two years ago after cheating on him with a male model. She recently relocated after seeing Daylan on TV during interview or when presenters discuss about companies in the country. She monitored his success growth and private life with the hope of reuniting with him.

For weeks she kept on searching and making every possible means to reach out to him until she met Anthony at a gala show whom she had always knew to be Daylan best friend from childhood, seeing anthony at the event was her answered prayer.

Anthony invited her for his kid 4th birthday party as she happily accepted the invitation knowing full well that Daylan would not miss it and she will get to see him too.

Daylan met Jamie at the party and he still couldn't hide the anger and hatred he has for her when he caught her cheating on him. Seeing her alone brought back the painful memories he thought he was over with, his anger increased laced with hatred.

"What are you doing here? He asked angry yet surprised seeing her at the party.

How did she meet Anthony? Was it Anthony who invited her?" He wondered, not liking the fact that she was in the same place with him.

"Daylan honey!" Jamie called out to him, walking seductively to him Smiling,

"I asked, what are you doing here? Don't you have shame?? Who invited you here? He hissed eyeing her with disgust, he tried to control his anger, not wanting to draw the attention of the other guests to them.

Anthony came over to them and said, "I did, I invited her to the party" he gave Daylan a light Pat on the back before leaving them.

He was still angry, who wouldn't?

she was his first love!

.

She cheated on him with his business rival Tristan!

she made a fool out of him.

“I’m sorry Daylan.....” Jamie sighed, tear sting her eyes, as her eyes met with his.

Jamie slowly hand held his face, regret evident in her eyes as she tried to explain herself and what actually happened, with the hope that he might forgive and accept her.

Daylan was silent looking at her as she kept on apologizing.

On a second thought Daylan sees Jamie as a means to distract himself from Faye who has been giving him sleepless night, he agreed to forgive her but told her not to expect anything more from him.

They exchanged contacts and he returned back to the party, not sparing her a glance throughout the party.

The next morning Faye quickly compiled the documents she had gone through over and over again and walked towards the elevator punching the 21st floor.

She has to give her boss the documents since they needed his signature, she took a deep breath and walked towards his office.

“Excuse me sir, here is the document that needs your signature” she blurted walking towards Daylan who was watching the city view from his window, Daylan turned and looked at her, taking in the view he was seeing.

God! She look so beautiful, with her pencil skirt displaying her perfect curve, and her fitted blouse showing a little view of her cleavage “Sir?” He asked amused walking towards her smirking.

Faye gulped.

She looked up savouring the mouth watering sight of him, she felt her cheek heat when he drew nearer making her feel his warm breath on her face.

She squirm.

“Wh.....what?” She asked with her voice shaking while walking backward eyeing him.

He quickly held her at her lower back so she won’t escape.

Tingles shot up in her thigh, as her body reacted towards him without thinking, she drew farther away from him slowly until her butt touched the table.

Smirking he held her waist putting her between his legs, leaning close to her ear making her whimper in response as her eyes closed.

His mouth was inches away from her and he was damn sure if she had turned around to face him their lips would meet, and he doesn't care

"Why are you trying to fight this feeling?"

"Your body wants me" He whispered in her ears as he trailed his finger under her skirt to her thigh,

"....." she began but gets distracted when his hand travelled up towards her core, he had barely touched her bare entrance and she was already drenched.

"You what?" He asked with a hint of amusement in his tone as he flicked his tongue gently over her neck.

Faye felt like jelly, she was weak as he gripped her lighter around her waist with one hand while touching her bare core through her panties with the other.

"Hmm. you're wet for me" his husky voice which was barely a whisper came out sending shivers through her as his finger rubbed her moistness

"Please..... She begged him to touch her so badly, with her head resting on his shoulder

She was getting wetter and hotter when his hands rubbed her core faster, Daylan dipped his finger inside her slowly

"Please..

she begged weakly

Daylan chuckled and dropped his hands to his side stopping completely

"That's what you get for behaving strange these last weeks" he smirked.

She slowly looked at him, a wide grin was plastered on his face and he looked pleased with what he had done.

What?

Did he just make fun of her?? Anger clouded her features

Embarrassed at the state she was in, she gently shifted her panties and skirt, and walked out of his office angry, he just left her like that hot, wet and bothered