“Hadn’t you left?” Pierre entered the office furiously before pressing Selena against the wall. “Are you hoping that I can leave as soon as possible so that you can date another b*stard? Is it Finneas, or is it another young man? Tell me the truth!” It was as clear as day that he was pissed.

“Absolutely not! It’s just that I’ve forgotten that you’ll be off on a business trip today.” As soon as the words rolled off her tongue, she covered her mouth, as if realizing just how serious of a crime it was to have forgotten about it.

“Did you really forget about it? Selena Yard, what’s even the point in having that brain of yours? How could you possibly forget about such an important event?” Pierre was exasperated by her actions.

In fact, he already boarded his flight, but he was feeling extremely unsettled. Although he tried to stop himself from thinking of her, those thoughts of her were relentless in disturbing his peace by constantly pestering him. Just before his flight took off, he gave up on the struggle, and he decided that he had to meet her before he left, so he came.

“That’s not it. I was just too busy, so I ended up forgetting about it.” Knowing that it was her fault, Selena knew she owed him an explanation.

“Is work more important than me?!” Pierre sounded like a wife being left out in the cold, but Selena didn’t find it funny at all, as his tantrums tended to be terrifying.

“I—”

”Spit it out! Which of us is more important?”

“You! It has always been you, okay?”

“Why do you sound so disgruntled?”

With her mouth hanging wide open, she realized how annoying he could be when he was being emotional. Seeing that, Pierre took the chance and kissed her on the lips, while she accepted it without hesitation. They would be separated for a long time when Pierre was on his trip. While she used to be fine with it back then, the situation was different now; thoughts of him already flooded her mind before he even left her.

In the meantime, Pierre's kiss was getting more and more intense while he moved his hands all over her. "Hold on!" She quickly halted his advances. Now that she had experience, she could already identify what he was up to, so she pinned his hand down instantly.

His breathing was ragged, indicating how much he wanted her. "I will be away for at least a month, so won't you miss me?"

"We're in my office."

"So what?"

Upon staring into his lust-filled eyes, she let go of his hand. With nothing else to stop him, he carried her into the lounge behind the office and decided to let the wild beast within him loose. After a round of passionate love-making, Selena held him in her arms. Her face was still flushed from exertion as she snuggled against his chest. Meanwhile, he had a satisfied smile on his face, as he was feeling much more reassured now. Then, he checked the time.

"Do you have to leave now?" She sounded a little aggrieved, as they had to part ways for such a long time just when they finally managed to establish a relationship.

"Megan will most probably be sentenced to two years in prison. Even though she won't be able to harm you again, you should still be careful and remain alert. I'll also be assigning two of my men to protect you."

With a nod, she told him, "I am in a generally safe environment. In fact, you're the one who's the most dangerous to me."

Pressing her underneath him, he asked, "Would you like to have a taste of it again?"

She gave him a shove on the chest. "Get away from me! You should be leaving now! It's getting annoying!"

He knew she was acting coy, so he pinched her on her nose. "I really have to get going now." With that, he put on his clothes. Then, Selena followed suit before sending him off to the door, feeling reluctant.

Chapter 232 Let's Get Married When You're Back

"You don't have to send me," Pierre said. Standing there, Selena suddenly hugged Pierre from behind. "Let's get married once you're back."

At that moment, Pierre felt as though he was struck by lightning, and he realized he had made a huge mistake again!

For some reason that escaped Selena herself, she just naturally blurted it out. In the past, she had never thought about this, but now, she couldn't help but wonder what it was like to have a family.

She desired to have a family—a complete and loving family.

For the longest time, she desired to be doted on and to be loved. Since she had already found a person who she wished to protect, to treasure and to cherish, she didn't want to waste anymore time not being together.

Leaning against his back, Selena felt at ease, and it was a feeling she had never experienced before. In the past, she felt like she was a kite with a broken line, but now, she was held by someone.

"I need to go now," Pierre reminded her.

"Alright," said Selena as she let go of him. She knew very well that it wasn't easy for him to make a trip back to meet her, so she shouldn't get in his way.

Without hesitation, Pierre walked off straight for he didn't have the courage to look back at Selena, and she was left standing there, looking at the back of his vanishing figure.

The moment he got downstairs, Pierre gazed up at Selena's office and his eyebrows were seen knitted together.

Later, as soon as Selena left the office, she went straight home. Linda had brought Juniper home safely too. The moment Selena entered the house, Linda noticed the bite marks on Selena's neck, so she couldn't resist teasing her.

“Alright already! Off you go now!” Selena said while pushing Linda out of the house.

“Mommy, did you go on a date with Mr. Handsome?” Juniper asked inquisitively.

“You’re still a kid, so don’t be nosy!” After taking a seat on the couch, Selena carried Juniper up to sit on her lap.

“Tee-hee!” Juniper giggled while covering her mouth.

“Mr. Handsome will be away for a business trip, so he won’t be coming over for a while.”

“Really? But I really miss him,” Juniper said with her lips pouting, as she was feeling a little disappointed.

Rubbing on Juniper’s head, Selena asked, “Juniper, do you like Mr. Handsome a lot?”

Nodding fervently, Juniper said, “If anyone is to be my daddy, it has to be Mr. Handsome! Mommy, you will marry Mr. Handsome, right?”

Gazing at her own daughter, Selena grinned. “Once Mr. Handsome comes back from work, I will... marry him.”

“Wow! That’s awesome! I’m going to have a Daddy! I’m going to have a Daddy!” Juniper cheered loudly as she jumped down from Selena’s lap and ran around the couch for a few rounds.

Seeing how happy Juniper was, Selena couldn’t help but chuckle gleefully.

“Mommy, can I be the flower girl? Pretty please?”

“Of course!”

“Then, can Jojo and Jamie join me as well?” Juniper asked excitedly. However, she suddenly thought of something and immediately was downcast. “I miss Jojo and Jamie. I haven’t seen them for some time.”

Lately, so much had happened; ever since Pierre was hospitalized, Selena had never met Joaquin and Jameson as well. Now that she thought about it, she kind of missed the two rascals also.

“Mommy, can we invite Jojo and Jamie to go for a hike together?”

“A hike?”

“Yeap! Prue from my kindergarten mentioned that her daddy and mommy brought her to a hike last week. She collected a lot of leaves and all types of pretty flowers. When they camped there for a night, they even saw wild fruits in the mountain. Mommy, I really want to go. Can we go together with Jojo and Jamie, please?”

At the mention of Prue, Juniper seemed to be really envious of her. At the sight of her daughter’s expression at the moment, she couldn’t bear to turn her down.

Task NO 1 How to Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 233

Chapter 233 Go for a Trip

“I can definitely bring you out for a hike, but I’m not sure whether Jojo and Jamie can come along.” “Why?”

“Well, Jojo and Jamie have a really strict grandpa. You see, lately, their grandpa didn’t even allow them to attend kindergarten right? Anyhow, I’ll try my best and see if I can bring them along with us, but if it’s really not possible, then I guess we’ll have to go together, just the two of us.”

Nodding her head, Juniper thought it would be perfect if Joaquin and Jameson could join them. Then again, it would still be nice to hike with just her mother.

The next day, Selena contacted Niall. Because Pierre’s phone was engaged, she couldn’t get through no matter how much she tried, so she could only resort to calling Niall.

“Miss Yard, is there anything I can help you with?”

“Mr. Sanders, is President Fowler with you?”

“Nope. I stayed back to work at the company.”

Feeling a little disappointed, Selena said, “I see.”

“Miss Yard, is everything alright? You can let me know if you need anything. I’ll do what I can to help.” Obviously, he couldn’t possibly disregard Selena if she needed help.

“I’ve been trying to contact President Fowler through the phone, but I just can’t seem to get through to him. Do you know why?”

“Whenever President Fowler goes to the base, his phone is usually not reachable. The reason why you’re unable to contact him is because of the poor signal, as the communication facilities are not exactly well-established at that place.”

Hence, Selena told Niall about her request. “What do you think? Will President Fowler’s father agree?”

Before Pierre left, he had already given Niall his special orders, so when Selena mentioned that she intended to bring the two children for hiking, he was feeling thrilled inside. This would mean that he could fulfill what was instructed of him, and this plan could save him a lot of trouble as well.

“No problem. Miss Yard, I’ll personally bring the two young masters out to meet you.”

Hearing that, Selena was relieved, because Juniper wouldn’t be disappointed after all.

Meanwhile, in Fowler Residence, Meredith came over to visit Joaquin and Jameson once again. Ever since her marriage with Pierre was canceled, she had been paying more frequent visits to Fowler Residence, but she never stayed around for long.

Naturally, Helen understood Meredith’s intentions, so both of them would just avoid talking about it and simply enjoyed casual chats over tea.

Anyhow, Meredith was in fact the twins’ biological mother; her position in the family would undoubtedly be more important than Selena’s. In any case, even if Selena would become Pierre’s official wife in the future, her position in the family would still never surpass Meredith’s. Hence, Helen knew how she should tread the line.

“Mrs. Fowler, Jamie told me that he was really bored at home. I was thinking that maybe it’s alright to bring them out for an outing sometimes? It’s really about time they go out and explore the world.”

In her usual elegant manner, Helen said, “Indeed, nothing can be compared to a mother’s love. Unlike John, he always thinks of keeping the twins under his watchful eyes and keeping them locked up in the house. I’m worried that they may grow up with limited outlook and experience.”

“I understand that Mr. Fowler has his own concerns. We have different standpoints, but both of us just want what’s best for the children.”

Smiling, Helen said, “If everyone of the younger generation were as understanding as you are, I believe every family would be harmonious.”

Lowering her head, Meredith said bashfully, “That’s an overstatement. I owe the children way too much. If I have time, I really wish to bring them around and fulfill my duty as a mother.”

Holding Meredith’s hands, Helen understood that because of Meredith’s status, she couldn’t make the fact that she had two sons known to the world. The Fowlers didn’t want this news to spread as well, so besides the Fowlers, no one knew that Meredith was the twins’ biological mother. Unless Pierre and Meredith had officially gotten married, she could never bring the children out in public.

Chapter 234 Did You Miss Me?

“Meredith, I know you’re a good person, and I really hope that you’ll become the daughter-in-law of the Fowlers, so let me tell you a secret.”

Moving closer toward Meredith’s ears, Helen whispered, “A few days ago, Pierre told my husband that he won’t be together with Selena.”

Shocked, Meredith gaped at Helen with disbelief and thought, How’s that possible? Pierre would do anything for Selena. He’s so nice to her, so why won’t he get together with her?

“It’s true. I heard it with my own ears. I’m not sure what they said after that, but that was the exact words Pierre said. He told my husband not to worry, as he will not consider getting together with Selena, but he didn't mention why. Anyhow, you've got to get a hold of yourself. You still have a chance to claim your place as the daughter-in-law of the Fowler Family."

Clearly, Helen's words were like a chill pill for Meredith.

"Mrs. Fowler, thank you so much for telling me this," Meredith said, feeling grateful for Helen.

"No sweat."

After exchanging more pleasantries, Meredith asked to excuse herself.

A while later, Meredith felt her heart throbbing with joy as she sat in her car. Since Mrs. Fowler was the one who heard it herself, it couldn't possibly be a mistake. If it was true that Pierre would not get together with Selena, then this could only mean that she still had a likely chance!

Meredith was so happy that she felt like she was floating. Opportunities come to those who are prepared. This is my chance, so I can't just sit around and do nothing. No, I cannot wait around. Some opportunities will just slip away if I just wait on it. I have to act fast and take Selena down once and for all!

With her eyes flickering with both resentment and joy, Meredith muttered, "Selena, this time, we'll see who has the last laugh."

As soon as Meredith left, the maid standing beside Helen came forward and asked, "Madam, why did you tell Mrs. Yard about that? If Young Master... Um... I mean, Madam, you really shouldn't have told her that. I'm just afraid that you'll fall between two stools."

With a smirk, Helen sneered, "What did I say? I don't think I've said anything inappropriate. I didn't even mention that Pierre will marry her for sure. Let her figure it out on her own. Based on my understanding of her, she'll definitely make her move."

On the surface, it looked as if Helen was giving Meredith a chill pill, but the truth was that Helen was trying to get Meredith to speed up her plan.

Frankly, Helen had lost her patience, and she didn't wish to wait any longer.

On the other hand, Selena didn't expect Niall to be that efficient. Much to her surprise, she finally got to see Joaquin and Jameson again when the weekend came.

"Come here! Let me give you two a big hug!" With her arms wide open, Selena embraced the both of them and gave each of them a kiss. "Did you miss me?"

"Of course! I miss you so much!" Jameson wanted to do a high jump in order to express how much he missed her.

At the side, Joaquin was acting all cool, but the corner of his mouth was curved up in a smile; it seemed like he was admitting it silently.

"We're going for a hike today, so have you guys packed all the things you need?" Selena asked as she gave Joaquin and Jameson a light pat on the head.

Standing beside them, Juniper had gotten herself all geared up. She had worn a pink sportswear with a pink cap that matched Selena's outfit, looking really adorable.

"All set and ready to go!" With that, both of them took out their caps from their bag.

The moment Jameson took his cap out of the bag, Selena let out a chuckle, for it was a green cap; the kind of bright green that was jarring to the eyes. It made the boy look rather comical.

On the contrary, Joaquin was wearing a blue cap, and he looked like a fine gentleman.

"Miss Yard, why are you laughing? Is my cap ugly?"

"It's nice!" Selena lied and thought that when Jameson grew up, he would probably regret his decision of choosing such an ugly color when he saw photos of himself.

Chapter 235 Hiking

This mountain was known as Mount Froston. It wasn’t considered a tall mountain, but the view was indeed picturesque. What made this mountain region impressive was all the rare species of flora and fauna. With each of them carrying a booklet which was used to collect leaves, the three little ones got so excited just picking up any piece of pretty leaf they could find.

On their way up the mountain, all four of them were happily enjoying a good laugh and having a blast together.

Occasionally, they would stop by somewhere to rest, getting a drink or enjoying some snacks.

As time passed, since they were not too far away from the mountaintop, Selena thought they should rest for a bit. The moment she saw Jameson walk by her with the icky green cap, she couldn’t help but giggle again.

Feeling his anger spiked, Jameson snapped, “Miss Yard, why are you laughing at me again?”

Immediately, Selena tried to suppress her laugh. “No, I didn’t.”

“Hmph! I may be angry, but I certainly won’t throw a tantrum in front of a pretty lady!”

Seeing the angry expression on Jameson’s face, Selena thought he looked simply adorable and amusing.

Running toward Joaquin, Jameson asked, “Jojo, can we exchange caps?”

“Why?” asked Joaquin with his face screwed up.

“Because Miss Yard keeps laughing at me. Please? Pretty, pretty please?” pleaded Jameson as he started pestering Joaquin like a spoiled child. Since young, Joaquin doted on his little brother, so he didn’t hesitate to take down his cap and passed it to Jameson.

After changing his cap, Jameson ran in front of Selena to show off. "Miss Yard, bet you won't laugh at me now, right?"

Examining the green cap, Joaquin didn't understand what was so amusing about it, but he certainly didn't like the color at all. Not knowing why Jameson would choose such a color, Joaquin didn't put it on and just chucked it into his bag.

"Calling all three musketeers!"

"Roger!" replied the three musketeers.

"Okay! This will be our final sprint up to the mountaintop! So let's get ready and get rolling!"

With that, the four of them dashed right up to the mountaintop.

Around late evening, the sun was glowing like a fiery ball among the mountains; the orangey red hue of the sunlight was seen covering the whole mountain valley. Even their faces were shone red.

"Amazing!" Jameson gasped.

Checking out the time, Selena noticed that the sun was about to set. If they were to go down by foot, it would likely be too late. Hence, they had to take the cable car. In fact, she intended to take the children for a cable car ride so that they would get to enjoy a different view.

"Settle down now. We'd better get going before we miss the last cable car ride," Selena urged. Considering that they had taken quite a while to hike up the mountain, they didn't have much time to enjoy the scenery.

"We don't want to go down. We want to camp here in the mountains!" Juniper suggested abruptly.

"Camp? You mean stay overnight in the mountains? That's a brilliant idea!" Jameson whooped and danced with joy.

Tugging at Selena's sleeve, Jameson pestered, "I wanna camp! I wanna camp!"

Frankly, Selena thought it was a good season for camping, but it would be a little too much for her to handle three children on her own. If Pierre was around, it would be a lot better, but since she was alone...

“Oh Miss Yard, thou art truly the world’s most beautiful lady I’ve ever met. Thy ethereal beauty, as well as thy angelic face, simply no words can describe thy beauty...” Jameson just went on and on praising Selena.

“Alright, alright, let’s just camp here tonight,” said Selena, as she really had no other way but to yield to Jameson’s wishes.

Task NO 1 How to Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 236

Chapter 236 The Child Went Missing

Since Mount Froston was a tourist spot, there were a lot of places for camping. Hence, there were shops that rented out tents and other camping necessities. After Selena had bought everything, she started setting up the tent with the three children. During sundown, the tent was finally set up.

Feeling their tummy grumbling, Selena led the three of them to a small shop in the mountains. As it was a last minute decision to camp here for the night, they didn’t bring enough food, so they had to settle with cup noodles for dinner. Fortunately, the shop offered hot water and a place to eat. Though the shop was shabby, the children were still happily gobbling up their food.

Once Juniper was done with her food, she said, “Mommy, I need to go to the washroom.”

“Washroom? It’s that way.” Pointing toward the washroom, Selena noticed there were no lights in the washroom. With that, she requested the shopkeeper to take note of the children while she led Juniper to the washroom.

Standing up from his seat, Joaquin needed to go to the washroom too, so he turned around to ask Jameson, “Jamie, do you want to go to the washroom?”

“Nope.”

“Don’t run around. Stay here until either Miss Yard or I get back, you hear me?” said Joaquin as he walked off to the washroom on his own.

“Alright!” replied Jameson obediently, and he continued to stuff himself with more delicious noodles.

Considering that this was Jameson’s first time eating cup noodles, Joaquin figured his little brother wouldn’t leave without finishing it up, thus thought it wouldn’t be a problem to leave him here for a second.

Juniper wasn’t feeling too well, and had a little diarrhea. Just then, Selena received an urgent email on her phone.

“Juniper, I’ll be out here waiting. If you’re done, call me, alright?”

“Okay!”

When Selena had finished replying to that urgent email, Juniper came out, and so both of them went back to the shop, but they realized the table was empty!

Startled, Selena was about to run to ask the shopkeeper, then she noticed Joaquin came walking out of the boy’s washroom. “Jojo, where’s Jamie?”

“He didn’t go to the washroom with me,” said Joaquin as he gazed toward the chair, but Jameson was nowhere to be seen.

Heading toward the shopkeeper, Selena asked whether they had seen the child, but they stammered an explanation, saying they were busy with customers and didn’t notice the child.

After searching through the boy’s washroom and the tent, Selena still couldn’t find Jameson!

“Jamie!” The three of them went searching for Jameson around the mountaintop, all the while calling out his name.

Initially, Selena wasn’t too frightened because she figured the child was just being playful and probably got attracted to something. However, the area around the mountaintop wasn’t a big place, so after they had searched through once and still didn’t find him, Selena got more worried. Looking toward the downhill, it was all pitch dark, and she couldn’t see a thing.

At that, she felt her heart lurched. What if the child accidentally fell off the cliff...

Trying to suppress a shiver, Selena immediately called up Pierre. But same as before, his phone was still unreachable, so she contacted Niall.

The moment Niall heard the news, he stuttered, “What?! Miss... Missing?”

He was the one who actually brought out the two Young Masters. If anything bad happened, he wouldn’t live to see tomorrow!

“You have to calm down. Since the child was there alone for a short few minutes, I bet he hasn’t left this place yet. Come here now together with your men and seal the entry of this mountain!”

Though worried sick, Selena still managed to remain calm and rational at this point of time. “Mr. Sanders, all this happened because of me. So whatever happens, I’ll bear the responsibility on my own. You don’t have to be afraid. What’s crucial now is to find the child!”

“Alright, I’ll arrange for it right away!”

Not long later, Niall arrived with all his men. They had sealed all the entry and exit of the mountain and had people searching through the area.

Task NO 1 How to Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 237

Chapter 237 This Is Kidnapping

Because it was the peak season for hiking, there were a lot of people on the mountain. Some even planned to come hiking during the night so that they could catch a glimpse of sunrise the next day. However, this had undoubtedly increased the difficulty of their search work.

Looking down at the two children, Selena figured it wouldn’t be convenient to bring along the kids during late night.

“Jojo, Juniper, I’ll get someone to send the both of you back home, while I stay here to find Jamie, is that alright? I really can’t take care of the both of you now, so I’ll get Linda to come and pick up you two.”

“I wish to stay.” Joaquin refused to leave. It was his brother who went missing after all, and they were never separated since birth.

"I don't want to leave, either. I want to stay with Mommy until we find Jamie," said Juniper, as she was worried over Jameson too.

"Both of you are still too young, and it's really dark here. What if either of you fell down by accident? It'll only make things worse. Listen to me, go home and wait for us." After spending some time convincing the two children, they finally agreed to go back home.

With that, Selena joined the rest in search for Jameson. However, it wasn't efficient to search in the dark with torchlights, so after a night of search, Jameson was still nowhere to be found.

All of a sudden, Selena had a gut feeling that this might not be an accident, but a planned abduction. Otherwise, there was no way Jameson could possibly run off so far on his own and within a few minutes.

After a night's search, everyone was exhausted, hungry and could barely keep their eyes open.

Meeting up with Selena, Niall reported, "Miss Yard, what now? We still can't find him. We even searched the mountains on the other side."

"There wasn't any clue on my side either." Gazing at the deep valleys, Selena sighed.

Early in the morning, the mountain valleys hid behind a layer of mysterious mist. This was the first time in her life Selena ever felt terrified by the mountains.

"Miss Yard, what should we do now?" Feeling his heart in his mouth, Niall still felt responsible for what had happened.

"We have to inform Mr. Fowler."

"What?!" Niall was fully aware that John wasn't too fond of Selena. Now that things had turned out this way, Selena intended to report to John about his precious grandson, who had gone missing? For heaven's sake, John would strangle her alive!

"I'll explain everything to him myself."

Knowing the consequences, Selena understood that the negative opinions about her would only accelerate, which would directly affect her future with Pierre. Then again, there was no other way, for finding Jameson should be the ultimate priority.

Since Pierre wasn't around, John would be their only hope.

With that, Selena went straight to the Fowler Residence. When John heard of the news, he immediately summoned Selena's presence.

Sitting in the living room, Selena felt her heart pounded when she saw John walking in with a murderous look on his face.

Admittedly, she was trembling inside, as she'd heard of John's dignity; she was afraid that he would end her life in a single gunshot.

"Jamie went missing?"

"Yes, I'm really sorry. I thought of bringing the children to camp at the mountaintop, but he disappeared after we came out of the washroom. We searched through the entire night, but found nothing. Hence, I suspect that someone had plotted to kidnap the child. If my guess is correct, things will be way more complicated, which is why I find it necessary to report to you and to seek your help."

Trying to suppress his rage, John felt he had underestimated this woman. Under such circumstances, she was still able to remain calm and even suspected that this was a deliberate kidnap case. It seems like this woman is truly not as simple or ordinary as she appears to be.

Task NO 1 How to Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 238

Chapter 238 My Jamie

Turning to Niall, John bellowed, "Didn't you say that Pierre was bringing the kids out to have fun?!" With his head hanging low, he answered, "Yes, before leaving, President Fowler did mention that Young Master Jameson had called him saying that he was very bored at home. So he wanted me to bring him out to have fun when I'm free. Coincidentally, Miss Yard wanted to bring him for a hike. So I—"

Lifting his leg, John gave him a kick strongly, and he rolled across the floor, clutching his chest in pain.

Selena knew that Niall had taken the kick in her place, and she was the person John really wanted to hit.

Standing in front of John, she said, "Mr. Fowler, I don't think now is the time to pursue responsibility. The most important thing now is to find Jamie. Send people to look for him immediately!"

Glaring at her with daggers in his eyes, he shouted, "I didn't raise my hand at you simply because you're a woman!"

Then, he called for his butler and started working on the deployment.

No matter what, John had finally made his move, and that made her feel slightly at ease because he was an astute man.

When Helen came out, she happened to see Selena, and she gave her a nod. But Selena couldn't be bothered with her and left the room in a hurry.

Smirking, Helen thought to herself, She's not a simple woman at all. I thought that she'll only come here when she's at her wit's end, but she already came over today.

The search in the mountain and its surrounding areas continued with John and his men while Selena tagged along with them to the mountain every day. Even when her feet blistered and her hands were cut by branches, she couldn't care about it at all because she had to find Jameson!

The search went on until the third day, but there were still no leads, and everyone was thrown into a state of panic.

Meanwhile, John had taken Joaquin back to the Fowler Residence with him; there was no way that he would allow his grandchild to stay with Selena anymore.

Once again, Selena visited the Fowler Residence. "Mr. Fowler, I think this must be a kidnapping case. Did you receive any suspicious phone calls at home recently?" she asked with her cracked lips. For the past three days, she hadn't drunk enough water, and it was showing on her cracked lips which were bleeding from the dryness.

John shook his head. His cell phone was never turned off the whole time these few days, and he even instructed his servants to remain standby at the phone at home to let him know if there were any calls. Unfortunately, there was still no news.

“Could you contact Pierre, then? Since he’s Jamie’s father, he might be the first person that comes to the kidnappers’ mind.”

The mention of Pierre sent John into a fit of fury! His son had gone missing, but they couldn’t even reach him.

“How could I get in contact with him when even you aren’t able to?” John said. It wasn’t common for them to contact each other often, and even when they did, it would be through their assistants.

Wasn’t Pierre away on a business trip? Selena wondered suspiciously. It couldn’t be that he went to a place so isolated that they couldn’t contact him for days.

A little while later, a servant came in hurriedly and reported, “Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, Ms. Yard is here.”

Almost immediately, John lifted his head and peered over at Helen, who explained anxiously, “Meredith is Jamie’s mother, and there’s an inexplicable telepathic connection between them. She said that she kept dreaming about Jamie for the past few days, and she asked me if he was ill. That’s when I told her everything.”

Coincidentally, Joaquin came down from upstairs at this moment. “You haven’t found Jamie yet?”

In fact, he came down specially to check the situation because he was worried that John might make things difficult for Selena. Hence, he came down instantly when he heard that Selena was here.

Subsequently, Meredith entered the living room as well and dashed over to him. With a loud thud, she fell to her knees and held him in her arms, crying, “Jamie, my dear Jamie! Where’s Jojo?”

Task NO 1 How to Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 239

Chapter 239 What Should I Do That You’ll Let Me Off

With a hint of indifference in his eyes, Joaquin clarified, "I'm Joaquin." Taken aback, Meredith froze. Helen didn't make herself clear in the phone call, so all she knew was that one child was gone, but she didn't know which one. A trace of panic flashed across her eyes, and she resumed wailing. "I'm worried to death! Where's your brother, Jojo?"

"He's not found yet," he replied. Then, she scrambled to her feet with Joaquin in her arms. In his mind, this was the only time when she had held him this way.

"I'm sorry I lost my composure earlier, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler. Where's Jamie? Do you have any news now?" she asked with tear-filled eyes as she gazed from John to Helen.

"There's no news for now. Just calm down first."

John's words merely made her even more depressed, and she cried, "Mr. Fowler, how can I calm down? That's my son we're talking about. My son!"

"We've combed through the mountain and even the surrounding areas in detail, but there's still nothing." John sighed helplessly.

Should I just wait for the kidnapper to call? he thought. But I just couldn't get in contact with that unfilial son now!

Glaring at Selena on the side, Meredith lunged at her and gave her a tight slap. "It's you! It's all because of you!"

Without uttering a single word nor moving an inch, Selena took in all of it silently. Knowing that she should bear the responsibility because she was the one who lost Jameson, she felt that she had been too careless.

"What should I do that you'll let me off, Selena? You can come directly at me if you want anything with me, but don't hurt my child!" Meredith wailed and fell to her knees. "I'm sorry, Selena. You can scold and hit me if I've done anything wrong, but please don't ever hurt my child because he's innocent!"

Staring at her, Selena felt really uncomfortable; she had been through the pain of losing Juniper before, so she could understand what Meredith was feeling now.

“I’m sorry, but I didn’t do it on purpose. I merely wanted to bring them out to have some fun.” Gritting her teeth, she added, “I’ll definitely find him.” Then, she left in big strides.

After Helen cast the servant a look, she quickly went over and helped Meredith up from her knees to a seat on a chair. Holding Joaquin back into her arms, Meredith pressed his face against hers.

As Joaquin watched the tears in her eyes, he felt really bad. So she still cares about us in her heart, he thought. After all, she was their biological mother.

“Bring Young Master Joaquin back to his room,” John instructed the servant, feeling that there were some situations which were unsuitable for children to be present.

When he had left the room, Meredith wiped away her tears and began, “Mr. Fowler, was Selena with your men the whole time these past few days?”

“Yes.” “That’s why we can’t find Jamie!” she cried out with a look of hatred in her eyes.

“So you’re saying...”

“There could be no one else but her!” she spat, looking at him with ferocity in her eyes. “This sister of mine is capable of anything. She could even pretend that everything was alright when Megan fell down the staircase and almost died from the miscarriage, but that doesn’t mean that she had nothing to do with it!”

As she shut her eyes in agony, tears rolled down her cheeks from the corners of her eyes. “How could there be such a coincidence? Just when Pierre is away on a business trip and couldn’t be in touch, she had to bring the kids on a hike.

Now is the peak season for hiking, and it’s dangerous to bring children for a hike! With so many people around, how is she so confident that she could handle three children should any accident happen?”

Chapter 240 Regarding That Spy

John tightened his brows while Helen kept mum. “She’s been dating Pierre recently because she wants to marry into the Fowler Family, but as an ambitious woman, she would never allow my sons to be the young masters of the family.

That’s why she planned the incident this time. I think she probably planned to get both of them, but Jojo was saved because he went to the washroom.”

Helen nodded in agreement. “What Meredith said makes sense. The fact that Selena could get to her position today shows that she’s not a simple woman, and so all the more reason we have to keep our guards up against her.”

“Mr. Fowler, the only way to find Jamie now is to follow Selena and find out if she has any other plans, then maybe we might still have some hope left! If she’s a little more ruthless, maybe Jamie is already...”

In the meantime, Selena was unable to relax throughout the whole search operation because she knew that she couldn’t pin all her hopes on John. This incident started because of her, so she had to be responsible.

Sitting in the car considering her options, she picked up her cell phone and contemplated calling a certain number which she had never called before. Maybe he’ll have some solutions.

However, she didn’t have the courage to make the call. Hence, she started the engine and left the Fowler Residence.

On the way, she ran through the whole incident carefully in her mind—whether there was anyone suspicious along the way, what went wrong, and what other plans the other party might have made in advance.

However, no matter how she thought about it, she couldn’t think of any part when it went wrong. She was so focused on playing with the three kids that she had let her guard down completely.

The base was hidden deep in the Moses Mountain range; nobody knew of its existence and what was going on in here. The whole time, Pierre was here without any cell phone signal. If he wanted any signal, he would have to walk out of the base. But that would make him an easily visible and huge target. Furthermore, once his cell phone signal appeared here, it might also leak information.

So even though his cell phone was turned on, he couldn't receive anything. Whenever he was bored, he would stroke Selena's picture on his cell phone.

He had to admit that he really missed her. In fact, he missed her to bits. There hadn't been anyone who could distract him this much.

In the next instance, a knock came on the door, and he regathered his thoughts before answering, "Come in."

Startled to see the person who walked in, he sprang up from his seat until the other man gestured for him to take his seat, and they sat across from each other.

"How are the investigations on your side regarding that spy with the codename Moon?" the man asked.

Sighing, Pierre replied, "I've confirmed her location the last time, but I didn't expect her to be so cunning and give me the slip."

"Silver Fox, we've recently found some specific information about this spy."

"Really?" he asked alertly.

The man handed a document to him, and he took it. When he saw the name written on it, he placed the document down and said, "This is impossible."

"Why is it impossible?" the man asked in confusion. "It seems like you're not in your best shape recently, Silver Fox."

Calming his emotions, Pierre picked up the document again. "How did you manage to get this information?"

"Our investigation department has spent a lot of effort on it. The other party's movements have been very hidden lately, and it wasn't easy to find out anything about them at all."

Staring downward, Pierre asked, "So what should I do?"

"The base doesn't have anything important for now, so you can take care of this spy properly. Remember to make it as secretive as possible. It would be best if you could catch them in one fell swoop, but even if you can't, you shouldn't alert them. I believe in your abilities."
