

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO

Chapter 551

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 551-Cutting to the chase, Bradley explained to Pierre the purpose of his visit. “There are a few other antique collections in my room. Why don’t you pick one that you like?”

Upon hearing that, Pierre asked with a frown, “What do you mean by that?”

Even though Bradley’s patience was running thin, he forced himself to remain coolheaded. “Mr. Fowler, you know I want the scrolls back, so stop playing the guessing game with me.”

“Oh, so that’s what you’re after! Mr. Oberlin, my son was the one who brought the scrolls, so there is no need for us to return them to you. Haven’t I already cleared up the misunderstanding with you during the birthday banquet?” Of course, Pierre would never admit to stealing them. If he did, he would be admitting that his son was a thief, which could potentially be troublesome.

“You—” Bradley was so frustrated that he had no words to express himself. “Mr. Fowler, this won’t be handled as a case of thievery, so your son didn’t steal anything. The scrolls are important to me, so I hope you will be able to return them as soon as possible.”

However, Pierre only waved his hand. “Of course this isn’t a case of thievery! The scrolls belong to the Fowlers, and my son was merely having fun with them. As I said, I don’t see why we should return them to you.”

Bradley shot up from his seat in rage upon witnessing Pierre’s stubbornness. “Fowler, stop messing around with me! Both of us know that the scrolls belong to us, the Oberlin Family! Just tell me if you will return them to me or not!”

In the face of Bradley’s wrath, Pierre was still all smiles as he replied, “Mr. Oberlin, as I have told you countless times, the scrolls belong to our family, so there’s no such thing as returning them to your family.”

Upon hearing that, Bradley was finally able to grasp what Pierre meant. “So you have made up your mind to keep the scrolls, haven’t you?” There was a fierceness to his gaze as he stared at Pierre. I never knew he could be such a douche!

“Mr. Oberlin, you say such interesting things. The scrolls had always been in the Fowlers’ possession.”

“Okay! Pierre Fowler, just you wait, you b*stard! You won’t be able to leave here just like this! Hmph!” Bradley stomped away in anger as Joaquin watched everything with his own eyes from upstairs.

Still in his seat, Pierre took a sip out of his cup of tea. To deal with rascals like the Oberlins, we will have to give them a taste of their own medicine, he thought. All of a sudden, he realized that he hadn’t received any updates from Selena in a while. He was so focused on dealing with Bradley that he had forgotten about her. Therefore, he took out his phone to check her coordinates.

At that moment, a call came through to inform him of breaking news. News broke in Yucaria that a woman from Astoria murdered Scott Jensen when they met up in secret. The police had already arrested the woman on the spot, and they had started an investigation. Also, the incident had made it to the headlines of newspapers as well as TV stations.

A smile tugged on the corner of Linda’s lips when she saw the news. It never was her plan to only have Selena sleep with Scott. If she could get rid of Scott, which would in turn frame Selena as the murderer, she could kill two birds with one stone.

After all, she was already bored of Scott, who was a lecherous man. If it weren’t for the fact that he was her only choice, she wouldn’t have gotten involved with an old pervert like him. However, she no longer needed Scott now that she had the Murrays to back her up. Besides, Scott already knew too much about her, so he had to be dealt with lest he gave her more trouble.

Linda put the newspaper down on the table. Pierre might be able to do something if Selena was arrested in Astoria, but she’s in Yucaria, so he can’t possibly do anything to rescue her no matter how powerful he might be!

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 552

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 552-Unlike Astoria, foreigners could be easily incriminated under Yucarian law. Since Linda had some connections in Yucaria, and the Jensens would not let things slide, she was certain that Selena would soon be given the death penalty. In the meantime, Linda would simply wait to be married into the Murray Family.

On the other hand, the Oberlins also caught wind of Selena's arrest. After being shut down by Pierre, Bradley was feeling frustrated, so the news brought him great joy, which lifted his spirits significantly.

Jane was also extremely elated when she saw the news. Running into her father's study with the newspaper in hand, she cried, "Daddy! Daddy! Have you read the news? This is great! Selena Yard was arrested!" At that moment, she was literally on cloud nine.

While casually sipping on his wine, Bradley was beaming. "Yes, my darling. I've already read the news."

Sitting down on her father's lap, she chirped, "Daddy, I am so happy! Selena finally got what she deserved! I always knew she was a b*tch, but I never expected her to hook up with Scott! I suppose Jason had somehow misjudged her character." Since the incident would serve to sever Jason's affection toward Selena, Jane was undoubtedly happy about it.

"Would she date Scott though? I don't think that sly woman would have her eyes on Scott. I'm inclined to believe that there must have been some sort of misunderstanding." Unlike his daughter, Bradley wasn't so focused on relationships.

"Daddy, what do you mean? Are you thinking of helping Pierre to rescue Selena?"

With a sinister smile on his face, he replied, "Yeah. How else will I be able to get the scrolls back? What say you, my sweetheart?"

"Daddy, but... but I don't like the idea! Are the scrolls more important than your own daughter?" Jane would like to believe that she had the most important place in Bradley's heart.

"Both you and the scrolls are precious to me!" After giving Jane's nose a pinch, he went on to say, "Although Pierre Fowler might be the most influential man in Astoria, his influence doesn't reach Yucaria. Therefore, he will come to us for help, which means he will offer up the scrolls in exchange for our assistance."

Overjoyed, Jane said tentatively, “By that, you mean...”

“That’s right! We will rob him of both his possessions and the woman he loves! Hahaha!”

Jane burst into laughter while sitting on her father’s lap. “Daddy, you sure are the best! You’re so thoughtful!”

Snickering, he declared, “Nobody ever goes against me! I have a target marked on Pierre’s back now! I will make sure he pays for what he did!”

Suddenly, Jane seemed to have realized something. “Daddy, I think my dearest Jason might be willing to offer Pierre his assistance.”

“Why would he, my dear?”

The smile on Jane’s face vanished. “I don’t know. I could never shake off the feeling that he likes Selena, so I’m worried that he might disrupt our plan. I will have to take precautions.”

“I will leave that to you then, my dear.”

Jane nodded to show that she was determined to prevent Jason from meddling, or else her father’s plans would fail. Where should I start though? I can’t tell Jason, as he will definitely throw a tantrum. He already said such harsh words last time, so I have to make sure that I don’t cross him anymore.

Therefore, Jane went to the hotel where Pierre was staying, just in time to bump into Pierre himself, who was in a hurry to leave. On the other hand, he didn’t want to waste time dealing with Jane, as he had more pressing things that he needed to handle.

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 553

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 553-“You should calm down!” Jane shrugged as she blocked Pierre’s way. “You should stay away from me!” Pierre had always been annoyed by Jane.

“You’d better let me go in if you wish to rescue your wife.” Persistently standing in front of Pierre, Jane wasn’t about to relent. In the end, Pierre let her in, for part of him wanted to see what tricks Jane had up her sleeve.

While sitting on the sofa, Jane crossed her legs elegantly. “I know you must be feeling anxious, so I am certain the news I brought will help you relax a bit.”

“What news?” Pierre stared straight at the woman before him. “My fiancé, Jason, is already making moves to rescue Selena in secret.”

Upon hearing Jason’s name being mentioned, Pierre wore a deep frown. It’s him again!

“That’s right. My fiancé, Jason Murray. From what I gathered, he has been trying to find out more about the incident through the police. I’m sure you are aware that the Murrays are an influential family in Yucaria. With his help, you should be able to save time and effort.”

No man will be able to stand the fact that some other man is after his woman, Jane thought. That was the basis for her plan, so regardless of what she was scheming, she wasn’t lying. Jason went to the police for more info as soon as he caught wind of what happened.

Although Jane was irked when she found out about it, she was also aware that it could help her advance her plan. “Your wife, Selena Yard, sure is a whore. If I am not mistaken, both Scott and her were naked in bed when Scott died. It’s such a tantalizing sight to behold!”

“Shut up!”

“I don’t get why you would fall for a whore like Selena. Do you know why I went out of my way to hassle her during my birthday banquet? It’s all because she was involved with my fiancé! Why else would I do all of that, right?” Shaking her head, she continued, “I already told you what I came to tell you, so the ball is in your court now. Goodbye.” With that, Jane stood to leave.

As soon as she got home, Bradley held her up. “How did things go, my darling?”

Jane skipped over to him happily. “It’s done! My dear father, I had someone stand watch at the hotel. Pierre was on his way out when I arrived, but he remained in the hotel after I messed with his mind a bit.”

“Pray tell, my dear. How did you do that?”

Rolling her eyes, Jane shrugged. "It's easy! Daddy, no man would be able to stand another man lusting after his woman! I told Pierre that Selena was seeing Jason. He couldn't possibly stand that. By now, he must be fighting with Jason already!"

"Hahaha, you sure are my daughter! This is incredible!" Bradley gave her daughter a thumbs up.

Jane was so proud of herself for her swift actions. As long as Pierre would stop Jason from meddling, things would be considered as settled. She wished for Selena to be executed as soon as possible, for the moment Selena was gone, there would be nobody to stop Jason from marrying her. "But Daddy, I wish to move my wedding with Jason to an earlier date. I can't wait to marry him! God knows what else might happen if I don't marry him soon!"

"Don't you worry, my darling. I will talk to Jerry about this. However, the Murrays seem to currently be dealing with family issues, so Jerry hasn't been allowing visitors."

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 554

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 554-Puzzled, Jane asked, "What might they be dealing with?" Meanwhile, Linda had arrived at the Murrays' house. After Jerry moved his family and belongings to Yucaria, he bought the famous Vince Manor when he gradually gained more foothold in Yucaria.

Vince Manor was a romantic place. Other than the fact that it occupied a larger area, it could hardly compare to other manors. Therefore, it didn't cost Jerry much when he bought it. After acquiring it, he began refurbishing it. Aside from setting up a beautiful garden, he even repaired whatever that remained of the maze that was left behind by previous owners.

By now, Vince Manor had become a place that was filled with a romantic and artistic atmosphere, which was exceptionally loved by girls. Reportedly, tourists who came to Yucaria would love to visit the place, but it wasn't open to the public due to the fact that it was a private manor.

Linda had heard of the manor when she arrived in the city. Back when she first started going after Jason, she used to fantasize about becoming the lady of Vince Manor. She never expected her fantasies to come true in such a manner.

“This way please, Miss Dunn.” The servant had been waiting for a while. It wasn’t until Linda entered the manor that she bore witness to the romantic air and the enchanting sceneries within the manor. With every turn, she found herself being surprised by the architecture, which made her yearn for the place even more.

Jerry and his wife, Lindsay Davis, were already waiting at the entrance while supporting each other. Despite the tears on their faces, they were smiling. Jason already explained to them that their daughter, Jessica Murray, had passed away, but she had left behind a daughter. Although they were grieving over Jessica’s passing, the fact that they still had a granddaughter was solace to them.

After taking a deep breath, Linda approached them with tears in her eyes. Jerry was a man who had gone through the ordeals of life, so he straightened his posture without a word in a show of forbearance.

On the contrary, Lindsay walked up to Linda to hold her hand. “Child, I’ve been wanting to see you.” She couldn’t help but shed tears. In order to take a better look at Linda’s face, she kept on wiping her tears away. “You look just like her! You’re almost identical to her!”

All the while, Linda was rejoicing internally. This must be a show of benevolence from the heavens, she thought. Back when she decided to go for plastic surgery, she showed an image of Selena’s face to the doctor as Selena was the most beautiful woman she had ever met.

Although Linda’s original face looked nothing like Selena, a few tweaks to Linda’s face was enough to make her resemble Selena, owing to the advance technology and techniques in the plastic surgery industry. In a twist of fate, it turned out that the semblance she bore also made her look more like Selena’s mother.

“Alright, let’s not stand here. We should have a chat inside the house.” Lindsay was all smiles when she held Linda’s hand. “It’s my fault that we are standing here. I was so engrossed in checking out my granddaughter. Come on, in we go.”

Although Jason was also there, he thought he shouldn't be disturbing them, so he left straightaway. After that, Jerry and Lindsay brought Linda to the reception hall. Lindsay refused to let go of Linda's hand even when the three of them sat down. Then, she asked curiously, "Why is she so quiet?"

Like a wounded bunny, Linda glanced at both Jerry and Lindsay with fear written in her eyes.

"I suppose she is just too frightened. Child, you have nothing to worry about. We are your grandparents. Has your mother never mentioned to you about us?" It wasn't until then that Jerry finally spoke.

"Are you really my grandparents?" Linda's voice sounded full of timidity as she questioned them tentatively.

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 555

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 555-"Yes, we are your grandparents!" Lindsay replied in a hurry while eagerly hoping for Linda to recognize her as her grandmother. "I am your grandmother!"

"Grandma!" Linda pounced into Lindsay's arms. "I'm here!" Once again, Lindsay began crying. Beside them, Jerry wiped his tears away without a word. "Alright, let us stop crying. Your grandmother's eyes are already failing, so crying too much won't do her any good."

Upon hearing that, Linda scrambled up to get some tissues for Lindsay to wipe her tears. "Jason told me that Grandma had been crying because of what happened to my mother. Due to her age and incessant crying, her eyes are beginning to fail her. Grandma, it's all my fault. Please stop crying. It's a good thing that we're now reunited."

"Yes, yes. I'll stop." Lindsay was holding onto the tissue as if it were something precious. "My dear child, tell us more about your mother." Thoughts of her poor, stubborn daughter brought tears to Lindsay's eyes again, but she held them back.

"My mother suffered a lot. She married my father, who ended up having an affair. His mistress' children are only a few months younger than me. Due to a broken heart and severe depression, my mother passed away afterward. Her jade bracelets were sold in order to help sustain my father's company. After my mother passed, Dad married that mistress, so I have stepsisters. My stepmother treated me poorly, while my sisters were constantly bullying me. However, my father got dealt his share of karma, as his company eventually went bankrupt. Then, my stepmother ran away with all the money."

After listening to Linda's version of events, Lindsay was feeling both vexed and distressed. "My child, how did you survive all these? My poor Ceci, why are you so silly?" Lindsay couldn't help but bawl.

"Grandma, don't cry. Mom passed away long ago. I suppose she never contacted you because she didn't want you to feel sad and worried about her."

"Yeah, Ceci had passed, so there's no longer any reason to feel sad for her." Jerry managed to keep a cool head despite everything. No amount of grieving would change anything since it already happened. Fortunately, we still have our granddaughter.

With a nod, Lindsay replied, "My child, things will get better from now on. Nobody will bully you ever again now that you have your grandparents."

Linda leaned against Lindsay as she spoke. "Grandma, it feels great to have a family again. I assumed that I no longer have any relatives after my mother passed away. The heavens sure are benevolent to me."

Upon hearing that, Lindsay patted her on the back lightly. "You're such a good girl," she said. She must have had a lot of tough experiences that taught her to maintain such a positive attitude despite her circumstances.

"My child, where have you been staying while you're here?" Jerry asked.

"I'm already married." Linda hung her head low.

"You're married? To whom? Why did you not bring your husband along? Is he nice to you?" The topic piqued Lindsay's interest. After all, it was an important matter that should be treated with care.

"His name is Scott Jensen." Linda carefully revealed the name.

As soon as the elderly couple heard that name, they exchanged a knowing glance with each other. Having lived in this city for such a long time, they couldn't possibly not know who Scott was. "Why would you—"

“I was forced to marry him!” Linda blurted out. “I came to this city alone, and I had neither money nor connections. Scott noticed my beauty, so he...” While covering her mouth, she sobbed, which prompted Lindsay to pull her into an embrace.

“My dear girl, don’t cry.”

They believed in what Linda told them. After all, Scott was indeed a greedy pervert. Considering how pretty Linda was, it wasn’t out of their expectations that he would rape her.

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 556

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 556-“He insisted on marrying me, so I submitted to him. With his wealth and influence, I thought he might be able to find my mother’s bracelets, which was why I stuck with him. However, things are getting better now that I have found you, and Scott is also... He’s also dead.”

Both Jerry and Lindsay cried in unison, “Dead?”

“He got what he deserved. He was murdered when he was sleeping with another woman.”

Although both Jerry and Lindsay felt that what happened was rather absurd, they figured it was for the best, since it meant that Linda was free from him.

“It’s good that he’s dead. Scum like him should’ve been banished to hell since long ago!” Lindsay patted Linda on the back. “Now that he’s dead, you should move in with us. Keep me company, won’t you?”

“Grandma, I don’t think this is appropriate. I am an outsider after all, while Mr. Jason—”

“It’s not Mr. Jason, and you’re not an outsider! Jason is your cousin, so stop being so formal! Your uncle and aunt were thinking of coming back from your aunt’s hometown today. In fact, your uncle was overjoyed when he heard that you’re coming home. Back in those days, he used to dote on your mother a lot.” With a smile, Lindsay patted Linda’s hand as she spoke. “It’s great that our family is finally reunited. We will be able to live together happily from now on, and I should be able to die without regrets now.”

Linda quickly covered Lindsay's mouth. "Grandma, don't you dare mention that! You will have a long life!"

"Alright, I will live up until I am a hundred for your sake, if nothing else!"

After that, the family had a jolly meal before dispatching someone to fetch Linda home to pack her stuff. Both Lindsay and Jerry were sighing after Linda's departure. Although their daughter's death left them heartbroken, they were feeling fortunate enough to still have a granddaughter like Linda.

"Jerry, we have to do all we can to make it up to Linda. Even though she only mentioned it in passing, I can see that she had it rough as a kid. She is mature and obedient for her age."

"What good would obedience do her? Ceci also used to be such an obedient kid, but didn't you hear what happened to her?"

Jessica's death was a trauma that Lindsay and Jerry had yet to heal from. Back then, Jessica was also a chubby girl who was mild-tempered. Everybody who met her would comment that she was the most mature and obedient kid that they had ever met. She was so obedient and mature for a child that her parents ended up neglecting her feelings, as they began to assume that she would and should remain as such.

During Jessica's more rebellious teenage years, Jerry opposed her for doing something that she liked. Everybody thought she would defer to her parents' wishes just like how she always did. However, nobody expected her to have such a stubborn streak. She ended up running away from home and never returned. Even after she got hurt because of her marriage, she never contacted her family again.

"Jerry, promise me that you'll let Linda do whatever that she wishes to do. I don't need her to be obedient. I just need her to be my granddaughter who will keep me company." Lindsay's words sounded like a plea.

Similar to Lindsay, Jessica's death also came as a major blow for Jerry. Therefore, he nodded solemnly. "I promise you."

We will have to offer Linda everything that we didn't offer Ceci, Lindsay swore to herself. I will love my granddaughter as if my life depends on it.

That night, Linda moved into Vince Manor with her luggage in tow. Jerry had instructed the servants to clear out the largest and most spacious room for her. When she stared at the high ceiling, vast space, as well as everything else that came with her new room while standing in it, she was utterly overjoyed. After all, every girl like her wished to be treated like a princess. Finally, she was able to live her dream life without having to constantly check herself.

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO

Chapter 557

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 557-Knock, knock! Light taps on the door pulled Linda back to reality. Upon turning around, she saw Jason at the door. With a smile on his face, he asked, "Have you gotten used to the place?"

"Well..." As soon as Jason made the inquiry, he let out a chuckle. "I'm sorry. I suppose it's still too early to ask such a question. You can make a request to the butler regarding things that you need. Just think of this place as your home, so you don't need to be so formal with us. Still, I am quite busy with work, so please forgive me if I have neglected you in any way."

Tilting her head with a smile on her face as she squinted, she said, "Since I should be thinking of this place as my home, I believe there's no such thing as you being inhospitable."

Jason scratched his head while smiling after hearing her opinion. My cousin sure is cute, he thought. "You look like my aunt when you smile. Unfortunately, I never got to meet her." When he noticed that Linda had lowered her gaze, he realized he might have said something that he shouldn't have. "I'm sorry. I suppose I shouldn't have mentioned her." After all, she had passed away a long time ago.

"It's okay. Mom would be happy to see that she has such an outstanding nephew."

With a faint smile, Jason added, "Take your time to familiarize yourself with the environment. You can come get me if you need anything."

“Sure.” After Jason left, Linda checked the spacious room again. Then, she dashed toward the queen-sized bed before flopping onto it. I am so lucky! The wheel of fortune must be turning in my favor!

All that was left for her to do was to wait until news of Selena’s execution broke out. As soon as Selena was executed, her claim to the position as the Murrays’ only granddaughter would be unshakable.

Meanwhile, Bradley and Jane were still waiting for Pierre to beg them for their help. However, there was no news of Selena’s sentence, and neither did Pierre drop by at the Oberlins’ place. It was as if Pierre had flown under the radar.

Bradley was pacing around in the room with his hands behind him. All the while, he was wearing a frown with a solemn look on his face. On the other hand, Jane was also feeling uneasy about the fact that their plan had yet to succeed, or rather, had no progress.

“Shoot, Jane!” Bradley cried out abruptly.

“What is it, Daddy?”

“We might have made a wrong move. Tell me; who will be the greatest beneficiary if Selena dies?”

After some thought, Jane replied, “Her husband and her kids.”

“Exactly! Her kids are still so young, so the greatest beneficiary will be her husband, Pierre Fowler! That’s why he won’t be coming to me, because he is after Selena’s assets that are worth billions!”

With a look of horror, Jane stared at Bradley. “T-This can’t be! Daddy, they’re a married couple with three children. Pierre wouldn’t be that ruthless!”

“Marriage and relationships mean nothing in the face of wealth.” Bradley was extremely frustrated for having miscalculated. Although he wanted so much to retrieve the scrolls from Pierre, the fact that Pierre might want Selena dead meant that the scrolls were possibly gone for good. While sitting on the sofa, he was expressing his grief by stomping his feet and thumping his chest, lamenting about his pain.

On the other hand, Linda was enjoying life as a rich young lady of the Murray Family. Her maternal uncle, Reuben Murray, and aunt, Jocelyn Lloyd, had both returned. They were both gentle people with warm personalities.

Jocelyn was a prim and proper woman with elegant mannerisms. While holding Linda's hand, she couldn't stop herself from chirping, "You must be our precious niece. You're so pretty! I don't think I will be able to have a daughter of my own, but I am grateful that the heavens have given me a niece whom I can still care for at this age."

On the other hand, Reuben Murray had mixed feelings when he saw his niece. He had always missed the younger sister whom he loved dearly since a young age. Having spent so many years failing in his search for her after her disappearance, he already had a feeling that she might have passed away. However, the truth still hit him hard when he finally came face-to-face with his sister's passing.

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 558

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 558-Reuben Murray grew up with his sister, and he was the one who doted on her the most. Despite the fact that he was already well past his fifties, he couldn't help but shed tears of sorrow upon recalling memories of his sister.

"Hey, it's all in the past now. I've finally managed to stop it, so don't make me start crying again," Lindsay quickly chided. During the past few days, she had been immersed in the happiness of having a granddaughter, so she didn't want to cry anymore.

Reuben was a man after all, so he turned around to wipe away his tears quietly. "Alright. It's all in the past now. I'll stop crying. Linda, your aunt and I prepared for you a present when we got news that you're coming home. We hope you will like the present."

Then, he signaled Jocelyn with a look, which prompted her to go into their room with a smile on her face. After retrieving a pretty box with a folk design, she handed it to Linda. "Open the box and check it out."

When Linda opened the box, she found out that it contained a set of jewelry. Glimmering under the light, the ornate jewelry was obviously worth a lot. Upon seeing that, Linda reacted as if she was given a bar of hot steel, which she quickly tried to pass back to Jocelyn. "Uncle Reuben, Aunt Jocelyn, I can't take this present. It's too expensive."

"Just take it if people are giving it to you! The price doesn't matter! We're family after all," Lindsay quickly said.

"Yeah, Linda. This is nothing. We had planned to give you these to be added to your dowry, but... Oh, let's leave those behind us. Now that we have given it to you as a present, you should wear this when you get married in a glorious wedding."

However, Lindsay pouted before retorting, "That won't do! She can wear this during other more casual occasions. I will order better ones for her when she gets married!" Despite the fact that she was eighty years old, she looked all childish when she pouted.

"Okay, it's up to you."

Enamored of the set of jewelry, Linda was still holding onto them when she returned to her room. Lindsay declared that she will present me with better jewelry when I get married despite the fact that these look expensive enough! The Murrays sure are filthy rich!

Immediately, she did a quick search online to find out more about the Murrays' assets, only to end up finding nothing. She couldn't even find Jerry's name on the list of the world's richest people. That's impossible! Judging from the architecture of Vince Manor, it should be worth hundreds of millions! It's impossible that Jerry isn't on the list of rich people!

However, she just couldn't find Jerry's name on it even after spending a long time looking through the list. Eventually, the conclusion she came to was that Jerry was so rich that he bribed the people who made the list in order to wipe his name off of it.

Whenever the list was renewed annually, a lot of rich people would contact the producers to have their names removed from the list. Selena had been listed among the richest women before this, so she had told Linda about it. With that, Linda thought, It's perfect that I have such a rich grandfather! When will Selena be sentenced to death? Why is there no news about it yet?

During dinnertime, the Murrays sat in the dining room, livening up the space. After that, they gathered in the living room for a pleasant chat. They were so engrossed in their conversation that nobody was watching the TV even though it was turned on. In spite of the lively atmosphere, Jason seemed a little distracted, as he was fiddling with his phone while sitting on the sofa.

All of a sudden, Jocelyn brought up the topic he dreaded. "Jason, I met Lina recently, who told me about your marriage with Jane. When do you plan on holding it?"

The mention of Jane's name was enough to give Jason a headache, but he couldn't bring himself to tell Jocelyn he didn't want to marry Jane, as the family marriage was already decided long ago. "I've been busy as of late. Besides, Jane and I aren't well-acquainted with each other, so I suppose I should postpone it."

"That's true. The two of you aren't that close, so you'll probably need time to build up a relationship with her." Jocelyn didn't want to force things on her son, so she let it slide for the time being.

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 559

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 559-After everybody moved on from the topic, Linda settled down tentatively beside Jason before asking, "Jason, you don't seem to like the wedding."

With a faint smile on his face, he answered, "What difference does my preference make? Let's talk about something else." Apparently, he didn't want to talk about that.

"Sure. By the way, are there any updates regarding Scott's murder?" Linda tried to gain more info on that, as she was certain that Jason would know about it.

"Miss Yard was acquitted. There might be further investigations regarding the case," Jason informed her. When she heard that, the glass that she was holding slipped from her hand before shattering to pieces after falling onto the ground. The noise attracted everybody's attention at once.

“Linda, did you hurt your hand? Let me take a look at it!” Lindsay was getting anxious all of a sudden. While the servants retrieved some utensils to proceed with cleaning up the shards, Jason was staring at Linda, looking perplexed. After all, he didn’t expect her to have such an exaggerated reaction.

As soon as Linda snapped back to her senses, she quickly consoled Lindsay. “It’s alright, Grandma. I’m fine. I just lost my grip on the glass. I’m sorry, Grandma. I didn’t do it on purpose.”

“It’s no big deal. Don’t apologize. All is well as long as you aren’t hurt,” said Lindsay while holding Linda’s hand. She was so worried that something wrong might happen to Linda. With that, the incident was over.

When it was time to sleep, Linda went to knock on Jason’s door. As soon as he saw her, a faint smile crept onto his face before he brought her into his room. “What’s the matter? Why are you here at this hour?”

“Jason, you told me that Selena Yard was acquitted, and it was deemed that more investigation was required for the case. What actually happened after the arrest? According to the news, Selena was alone with Scott, so I’m fairly certain that she is the murderer,” Linda explained.

She had just moved into Vince Manor, so she wasn’t quite free to do anything she wanted for the time being. All she could do was enjoy life in the mansion, so she could only try to glean more info from Jason.

“Do you mean the murder? I’m not entirely sure what happened. In short, Selena was acquitted, and more investigation will be required.” From the beginning, Jason was quite concerned about the case. Knowing that Selena would never associate herself with someone the likes of Scott, he knew something must be wrong. However, Selena ended up being given an acquittal before he could even come up with a solution.

What happened didn’t seem to go according to the law in Yucaria, nor was it characteristic of the police force in Yucaria. Nonetheless, Jason was relieved that Selena was acquitted. As long as Selena was safe, he didn’t care who killed Scott.

“What’s the matter, Linda?” Jason noticed that Linda had an odd look in her eyes.

“It’s nothing. Scott and I used to be married to each other, so I figured I should at least find out who the murderer is even though Scott is dead.” A look of dejection flashed across her face. In fact, she was using a look of sorrow to mask her panic.

“You should forget about Scott. He’s scum anyway. You have a new life now, so just forget about the past.” Although Jason didn’t have an in-depth conversation with Linda, he heard from his grandparents about her unhappy childhood. As her cousin, he wished for her to find happiness, and in order to do that, she would have to bid goodbye to her past.

“Yeah, you’re right. I need to forget about the past. I will put the case out of my mind and let it be.”

“That’s the attitude.” Then, Jason reached out to caress her forehead.

At that moment, she felt her blood gushing to her face. His gaze and movements are so gentle!

Read Novel Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 560

Task NO 1 How To Pursue Miss CEO Chapter 560-As soon as Linda got back to her room, she shed all pretense. How could Selena even leave the police station? This is ridiculous! Pierre couldn’t have possibly been powerful enough to secure her release from the police force in Yucaria, say less of getting an acquittal!

Linda was clenching her fists. Selena can’t live! Her being alive is a threat to my current position! She must die! No, this can’t go on. I need to come up with a solution.

At the same time, the Oberlins also caught wind of Selena’s acquittal and subsequent release. Bradley had been pacing up and down in his room in a frenzy as soon as he heard the news. When Jane heard the noise he was making, she hurried downstairs. “Daddy, what’s wrong?”

“Selena got acquitted and released!”

“What? That’s impossible!” Jane couldn’t believe her ears. How could Pierre and Selena pull off such a feat?

The Oberlins themselves might have been able to pull something like that off, but both Pierre and Selena were not locals, so the law enforcers in Yucaria couldn't possibly have given them any leeway.

"Jane, your plan failed miserably!"

"Daddy, didn't you tell me back then it was brilliant?" Jane was feeling wronged.

"It's all your fault!" Bradley yelled at her. "Great! Now my scrolls are lost forever!" He was sitting on the sofa with his head under his hands while stomping his feet. My scrolls! I don't think I will be getting them back anymore!

"Daddy, I am skeptical about how things turned out. Neither Pierre nor Selena are of any importance in Yucaria, so Selena should be as good as being convicted. Why is it that she ended up being acquitted?" Jane's mind was buzzing. Just when she thought she would be able to sit back and relax, Selena was released. "Did Jason help them out? Yeah, that is very likely the case!"

Other than Jason, she couldn't think of anybody else who would help Selena. However, she didn't expect someone as proud as Pierre to beg for Jason's help to rescue his wife. Is this true love that is only heard of in fairytales? The thought of it was enough to make her burn with jealousy.

Back in the hotel, an odd atmosphere filled the living room as Selena stood beside the sofa in an upright posture, while her three kids stood beside her in utter silence. Meanwhile, the elderly man who was sitting on the sofa had gray hair, which matched nicely with the white military uniform he wore. Despite his age, he seemed sturdy. As a military serviceman in Yucaria, his face showed a stoicism that befit his identity, but he seemed benevolent nonetheless.

Compared to the elderly man, Pierre seemed almost indolent as he sat on the sofa with his legs crossed while scrolling on his phone. When he glanced at Selena, he asked, "Why are you standing there?"

Selena didn't know who the elderly man was, so she gave Pierre a look. It wasn't until then that he realized he hadn't made an introduction. After walking up to Selena, he told her, "He is my maternal grandfather, Admiral Evan Moody. Grandpa, she is my wife, Selena Yard, and these are our three kids." Pierre tapped on their heads as he spoke.

As soon as she heard Pierre's introduction, she gawked at him in awe. He said the old man in front of me is his maternal grandfather, who also happens to be an admiral! Gosh, are my ears playing tricks on me?

"Hello? You heard me?" Pierre knocked on her head slightly. "Sit down."

Admiral Evan also nodded his head. "Please take a seat."

It wasn't until then that Selena sat down. Even though she was still in a daze, she soon realized that Francesca Moody was indeed a stage name, and the woman was also of mixed blood. However, she didn't look like a foreigner at all, so the public always overlooked the fact that she was multiracial.