

TASTING ALL MY MATES

Chapter 486

486-He Is Going To Seduce My Wolf

'There is no other way,' I told them once I noticed how everybody was against the idea of me signing the papers and submitting them.

'Let him fight,' Lazio pointed at Theo, who was standing in the corner and watching it all happen.

'Yeah! He can easily beat him for the crown,' Maynard agreed with Lazio. The others were also a little skeptical of me fighting against Corbin. But in reality, even I wanted to fight him now. I realized it all started when Corbin misused my care for him and tried to force me to sleep with him.

He never really paid for that crime. It was only because of that that Corbin thought he was invincible, and he would force any girl to mark and accept him without facing any consequences. I am fighting against him,' I said.

'But how?' Lazio yelled from the other side of the living room, "And why does it matter if he wins and becomes the alpha king?" He added that he disagreed with the idea that I wanted to endanger my life. Because it is my war,' I yelled back at him.

'Because Enya is the only one who has the ability to think and do the right thing. She is the only capable person here who has helped everyone and put everyone before herself.' Coming from Theo, it truly was a compliment.

'I don't deserve that crown, but she does.' He said, and that's when I remembered the prophecy.

'Actually, the prophecy said you deserve the crown,' I told Theo, and he frowned at me.

From the looks of it, I could tell even Kellice knew about the prophecy. I gave her a signal, and once again, she had to step in the middle to explain another hidden truth to us.

‘There was a prophecy that Thiago would turn into a lycan and become the alpha king,’ she said, making everybody gasp.

‘There were many versions of it but the truth is now coming out,’ she sighed before starting, ‘The prophecy only said a Lycan will become an alpha king, and then there was a mention of Thiago too. But now, looking at it, I believe it was fate that Enya’s mother was going to curse him, indirectly helping the prophecy.’ She further explained, making us a little more confused.

‘So, according to the prophecy, he should fight Alpha King Corbin,’ Lazio shrugged happily when he proved himself right.

‘We don’t know about that. Prophecies can be challenged at times. The thing is, Enya really deserves to win the title because she is the only one who had everyone’s burden on her shoulders. She deserves to be acknowledged.’ Kellice then explained, trying to shut down Lazio.

‘And-soon after we submit these papers, we will take Enya out and help her get in contact with her wolf. After that— I can train her,’ Theo said, looking a bit confused ever since he heard about the prophecy.

‘So let’s sign and get to work,’ I mumbled, watching Theo’s face. He faintly nodded while

I signed the papers. Janet grabbed the papers and left with Maynard to submit them, while Theo had asked me to change into something comfortable and join him in the garden.

By the time I was ready for my training, I found Lazio and Theo in the garden with everyone.

“So, are you ready?” Theo asked, unbuttoning his shirt. I felt a gulp run down my throat when he took off his shirt and displayed his abs.

‘I didn’t know I was fighting you,” I shyly mumbled, gulping down the thirst for his body.

‘You are not. I only took it off to seduce Nia!” He smirked and motioned for me to stand in the middle. He then tied me to the tree while I kept frowning at what he was up to.

‘We are going to help you get to your wolf,” he said, throwing a silver rod to Lazio, who had been prepared for this training by Theo when I was taking a shower.

‘Are you two going to torture me?” I asked with a broken smile on my lips. No!” Theo shook his head and said, “Lazio! Imagine me as someone who stole the love of your life. You are free to torture me,” The moment Theo said that, my heart skipped a beat. N-,” before I could even let out a complain, Lazio struck Theo hard enough to make him drop on his knees.

‘Lazio! stop!” I yelled as he kept hitting Theo without any pause. I was screaming as I watched Theo on his knees, getting beaten mercilessly by the rod. The strength Lazio was applying ended up cracking Theo’s bones, but they didn’t UGHH!” I shouted, closing my eyes and forcing Nia to wake up.

‘STOOOOOP!” I yelled and broke down. That’s when Lazio stopped hitting Theo and threw the rod aside.

‘What are you doing, Lazio?” Theo screamed at him, grabbing the rod and handing it over to him once again.

‘I cannot. I have made her cry enough times. If tears were what would help her wolf out, Nia would have been awakened a long time ago,” Lazio refused to continue. He rushed over to the tree and untied me. I didn’t waste a minute before reaching Theo and crying on his chest.

'It is important. I don't want you to end up dead in that match with Corbin, Enya! I am the one who made you sign those papers, and after hearing about the prophecy, I am afraid maybe I have made a wrong decision,' he said, pushing me back just so he could stare at my face and make me understand why it is important for Nia to wake up.

'I cannot see you in pain,' I said through tears.

'That's why you need to see me in tears. You have to let Nia breakthrough when she finds me in pain. Isn't that how you lost her in the first place?' Theo argued, but he also understood they would have to find another way because this was way too painful for me.

Update of Tasting All My Mates

487-It's About Time, Lazio!

'Are you feeling fine now?' Janet asked, sitting beside me after she had returned. I am, but I guess Theo is upset that I couldn't go through with the training,' I said to her, watching Theo from afar, who was walking in the garden and having a deep conversation with Maynard and Lazio. It seemed like they didn't want anybody else to join them.

'He has every right to be worried. When I went there, even I was confused if I should submit the papers or not,' Janet sighed, making me understand why waking up Nia is the most important goal right now.

'I also want to talk about the girl staying in the guestroom.' Janet gently patted my shoulder to get my attention back to her.

'Valerie? How is she?' I asked her, feeling bad because she deserved to enjoy her first pregnancy.

'She is not eating anything. I feel so bad for her. But then again, she should have been wiser and not trusted his words when he told her he was leaving you soon. Just look at him, he is wandering around like he didn't do anything wrong and she is taking all the pressure alone,' Janet was not wrong. Lazio needed to speak to her.

'I will go check on her,' I said, getting up from the seat and gesturing for the maid to prepare a food tray for me. Since I no longer felt any type of way about Lazio, I wasn't jealous at all. She was his one true mate, and he was mistreating her for me.

After grabbing the tray, I knocked on the door and entered the room to find her sitting by the window in tears.

'I heard you haven't eaten anything,' I said, sitting beside her and offering her food. She broke me a weak smile before she shook her head and refused to eat anything.

'You are not only starving yourself but your baby as well,' I told her, watching her tear up.

"But what do I do? It is not like I am not responsible for my condition. He told me we would need to keep our relationship a secret, and I listened to him. He told me not to tell anyone that we were fated mates and I did that too. I willingly made a fool out of myself, and now I have a life growing inside me whose father doesn't even want to do anything with the baby. I am devastated and I feel like it is my karma," she started laughing hysterically, "I feel caged again, Enya. I was so desperate to be with my fated mate that I didn't even realize how much I was hurting another she-wolf. I cannot give enough explanations because none of them will make me the victim. I did wrong, and I am facing my karma now." She was sobbing and talking with much difficulty. It broke my heart to see her like that.

She was pregnant and under so much stress.

"I cannot go back in time and stop myself from being a bitch, but what I can do is beg for your forgiveness," she said instantly, getting up from her spot and sitting on my knees, making me jump and pull away from her.

"Hey! No! don't do that," I complained, grabbing her by her hands and making her stand up from my feet.

'Please forgive me!' she begged again once she was on her feet.

'You didn't do it alone. I was mad at you in the beginning, but trust me, now I am just okay with whatever happened. It helped me move on from him. What happened, happened in the past? If my forgiveness is all you need, then I am forgiving you, Valerie!' I gently hugged her, and she hugged me back tightly. No wonder everybody likes you. You are very kind and generous." Valerie said, after pulling away from me. That's when I heard a guard informing the others outside that alpha king Corbin has arrived.

I knew he had heard about the papers and was probably here to talk about them. I left Valerie in the room and rushed outside to see what he wanted from us now. He was standing in the garden with the others, holding some papers.

'Ah! Here comes the Alpha Queen!' he joked, waving the papers and laughing his ass off. Maynard and Lazio had to hold Theo's hand to pull him back and keep him from attacking Corbin.

I thought I was up against the great Lycan," Corbin laughed, shaking his head at us.

'But I come to find out I am fighting this little human girl. I didn't know you guys wanted her dead so bad.'" He wrapped his arm around his belly and started chuckling again.

'Anyway, the match is fixed. In 10 days, we will meet in the public square and compete for the crown,'" he announced. I was on my way to leave when he stopped for only a few seconds to look me in the eye and say, "Oh, my goodness! I cannot wait to break your fragile bones and dig a grave for you with my own fucking hands,'" he muttered, his eyes yelling how badly he wanted me dead.

He rushed past me to the exit while we stayed in our spots cluelessly. Only today!

I could either get a wolf or train in these few days.

'We have to find the missing people,'" Theo mumbled under his breath, "Lazio, Maynard, Enya! we are headed to the woods,'" he said out of the blue. I noticed the way Lazio and Maynard looked his way and nodded; it was a clear indication that they were all onto something, but they were keeping it from me.

It was only then that I felt like I needed to speak to Lazio about Valerie one last time.

The only way for Lazio to understand he had no chance with me was to reject him, and I was going to do that before I headed to the woods.

Read the hottest Tasting All My Mates story of 2020.

488-A Perfect Time To Reject Some..

'Maybe we can wait a minute,'" I murmured, watching everyone look my way.

'We don't have time, though. Every minute is important now,'" Maynard argued, refusing to waste another minute. I truly felt like Lazio needed to talk to Valerie. She shouldn't be under so much stress.

I need to speak to Lazio first," I said, watching everyone look at him. He pointed his finger to his chest to confirm and then gulped loudly. I know he knew what it was about.

It was a long awaited conversation that we needed to take care of.

I wouldn't want him to linger around, thinking he had a chance, and lose a chance at a better life with his fated mate and his baby.

"We will wait by the car," Theo said, tapping Maynard's shoulder to drag him out of his thoughts. As everybody started walking away, I realized Lazio's muscles tensed up.

"So, this is it?" he asked, letting out a little painful grunt.

"I just want to know if I had treated you right in these two years, would you have stayed with me after Theo had come back?" He asked me, watching my face with hope.

Those few minutes were all I had to think of-an answer that would push him away from me.

"And please don't lie. I don't want to live with another lie." He remembered how they thought I was their curse.

"Lazio! Valerie cares about you," I said, dodging his question.

I am not talking about her right now. I want to know if you still care." Lazio insisted on knowing, but not decreasing, the distance between us.

"Ah!" I exhaled and then nodded to myself, encouraging myself for this conversation.

'Even if I had stayed with you, I would have wanted to be with Theo as well, because that's what the deal was in the beginning. You need to understand something. I would never be exclusive to you only, Lazio. I would have never rejected Theo after he came back. He was always the one to whom my heart felt inclined. As for you, you want exclusivity, the way I feel about Theo. Valerie is the only mate who can give you all the love and attention that you want and deserve. The way you are suffering and are devastated to be with me is the same way she feels about you." I started talking, and he instantly lowered his head. He wanted me to reject Theo over a scenario that never happened. Why would I stroke his ego and tell him I would have left Theo when I cannot even think about staying with Lazio anymore? But at least he heard it from me. "You are given a chance to live a perfect life with your mate, and you are blowing it up. And it is not even like you never liked her. You were in love with her, Lazio, until you found out you were going to lose me. If Theo hadn't arrived, I doubt you would have realized how you had hurt me. You just couldn't watch me be with someone else. You felt like you deserved me as a trophy because my mother ruined your life. That part of our lives is over now, and instead of moving on and accepting your fate, you are once again making a mistake. She is carrying your baby, and you are losing yourself over someone who isn't even going to pick you anymore." I told him in clear words that I intended to reject him.

'Do you not want to have a happy life and a beautiful family with her?" I asked him, watching him slowly raise his head, his eyes welling up.

I wish I had that chance with someone else, but I hear you. I liked her a lot, but I guess I never loved her," he admitted, "but I wouldn't want to lose my baby." He then confessed.

'Prior to Theo coming back, I was excited about my mating ceremony with Valerie. And now I have said so much to her, and she has heard so much from me, that I don't even think she will ever believe when I tell her that I like her or that I love her," he sighed defeatedly, understanding his mistakes.

But if you talk to her now, she will understand. She is over there all alone, starving herself, and you are — you didn't even go to speak to her. Lazio! These few months of pregnancy are important for any woman. Don't let her spend these in pain and agony," I requested him and watched him nod his head.

'What about you?" He then suddenly asked, "Are you never going to speak to me again?" The fondness in his eyes in the form of tears made me feel bad for him.

'Maybe things will go back to normal soon. But you will have to earn my friendship," I said, and he nodded hard.

'Hm! Well, I got demoted!' He joked, but a tear leaving his eye told me that's exactly how he was feeling in the moment.

'Well, it is time then," he said.

I, Enya Fosters, reject you as my mate," I mumbled, feeling all the memories from years ago rush back to me.

He closed his eyes and grunted, feeling the pain of rejection right through his heart, before he straightened his posture and looked back at me sadly.

I, the unlucky alpha in the world, accept your rejection," he finished in tears. I didn't feel any pain because I didn't have my wolf at the moment, but I felt the bond breaking inside me.

Now go and speak to her. I am sure we can wait another fifteen minutes while you feed her with your own hands," I forced a smile onto my lips as I still didn't know how I will forgive him entirely. He rushed past me, and soon he disappeared into her room. I started making my way to the exit when I heard them talk from inside the room.

I am sorry!" Lazio told her. "Just because I loved her doesn't mean I hated you. I just had more connection with her than you," he said, talking to her while holding her hands.

'I am happy you are back. I am sure we can connect well and soon, we will be the happiest," she started tearing up. He pulled her over to his chest and hugged her tightly.

I am sure we will. And I promise to fix things and mend your broken heart. I promise to make this pregnancy the best experience for you."

I smiled as I heard him make things right with her

Read Tasting All My Mates - The hottest series of the author Alexis Dee 489-Is He Gone Again?

'So, you and Valerie?" Maynard asked Lazio, who had just returned to us and sat down in the car. The two of them were sitting in the backseat while I was in the passenger seat with Theo, who looked happy ever since he heard Lazio was no longer going to bother me.

'Enya made me realize I shouldn't be running after someone who doesn't belong to me.

Besides, I did mess up with Valerie." Thankfully, Lazio had realized he was at fault and was willing to put in the effort to make things right again.

"That's good. I am happy for you," Maynard said in a murmur. I don't know what he was going through in his mind after finding out Christina played him big time, but he was avoiding speaking his mind to anyone.

'What about you, Maynard?" The moment Theo mentioned him, I elbowed him. I didn't want to hear another one of them wanting to pursue me.

I mean, did Christina try contacting you again?" Theo changed the subject really quickly once he understood I wouldn't want him to talk about Maynard and me. There were no us since the beginning. Like Lazio, he got many chances but ruined everything.

'She has been blowing up my phone nonstop, but I am not responding to her," Maynard answered. "I am beginning to feel like she will not rest until she eats me alive," he sighed. I could understand his frustration. Her mother tried forcing a mate bond of Christina with Corbin but accidentally tied Maynard and Christina in a twisted fate where she had to meet him and get accepted by him.

It was a mess.

'She will not sit silent for too long. Even I have been receiving calls from Emelia, trying to reminisce on the past and how she took care of me when I was a child. In fact, this is how Christina made me side with her for so long. She knew I was grateful for her mother, and she took full advantage of that,' Lazio mumbled in his mouth.

'Right here,' Theo said, and parked the car on the road.

'You seem so certain that we are going to find Oswin and Mother Witch here,' I told Theo, who had rushed out of the car before me in haste.

'Somebody told me they have seen Corbin come here,' Theo explained, gesturing Lazio and Maynard to follow him into the woods with me.

Really?" I asked Theo, hoping my brother would be fine.

"Let's find out ourselves," Theo said, holding my hand out of the blue and then stopping only for a second to turn to the boys.

'Here is what we should do.' Theo looked at Maynard and Lazio. "Why don't you two start from over there, the deep side, while we search the area around at the entrance?"

he pointed in two different directions when talking to Maynard and Lazio.

'Got it,' Lazio said, parting ways from us with Maynard. The two nodded to him and sprinted away from us.

Finally, Theo and I were alone. It had been a few hours since we'd been able to spend some time alone. And I knew he had a few things that he wanted to speak to me about.

'So, did you reject him?' Theo asked, taking the lead and looking around for any suspicious activity.

I did,' I said, walking behind Theo.

'What about Maynard?' he questioned.

'Him and I ended things years ago. I don't think there need to be any changes in our scenario," I answered, wondering what he was warming me up for.

'Ahem! Thiago has marked you in the past,' Theo said, recalling the night when they marked me because they wanted to protect me from Zander.

"Yeah! You weren't there, or else I would be a lycan right now," I joked.

'Wait!' I stopped walking behind him and pulled him back.

'Ask me whatever is bothering you," I said to him, pulling him even closer. I could tell something was making him anxious, but he was not openly talking about it.

I would want to mark you again whenever you are ready," he whispered, gently caressing my cheek.

"Thiago has already mark—," I couldn't finish because he bent over my lips and passed a gentle kiss to them.

I want to taste you myself," he whispered, breaking the kiss but standing closer than ever.

'Would you mind?' He questioned and when I shook my head at him, he smiled.

'You know; I want to make a baby with you. Imagine how beautiful those little creatures will be." He smiled widely, making me blush at his words.

'Oh! You are blushing," he poked my cheek, making me slap his hands away and frown at him playfully.

'We will have a mating ceremony, a very beautiful one." He then promised me while holding my hands tightly.

'What about Thiago?" I asked him, wondering when he will realize the two can live in the same body at the same time if only he lets Thiago take over.

'He will have to wait and watch me with his mate for some time," he shrugged and laughed when I slapped his chest.

"You are evil," I teased, but he knew that's all I was doing. I was not serious.

'Now let's go quickly find my brother-in-law," he turned around after joking and had only taken a step ahead when an arrow pierced through the air and shot right through him.

It happened in such a hurry that for a moment, I couldn't even move a muscle.

As his body landed on the ground, I sprinted and dropped to my knees beside him.

THEOOOOO!" I screamed at the top of my lungs, looking around and holding my hand near his chest, where the arrow was sticking out.

There was so much blood that I feared I was going to lose him.

'E—nya!" Theo stuttered, looking me in the eye with tears streaming down his cheeks.

'What happened-," He was confused, grunting, and bleeding excessively.

'We are going to get you help," I told him, lifting my head up and calling for the two, who had no idea what happened here, “LAZLOOO! MAYNARD!” I yelled, my eyes welling up.

Read Tasting All My Mates - the best manga of 2020

490-They Played Me.

‘I was supposed to have a famil—y with you,” Theo seemed to have lost so much blood that his mind was now all over the place.

*What is going o— oh shit!” Lazio and Maynard shouted in unison, but that was all they could mumble when they came out of the deep woods and saw Theo in my lap.

“He got shot by an arrow. We need to help him.” I lifted my head to speak to them, but they were staring at him in my lap.

When they didn’t say anything, I looked down to see why Theo wasn’t moving at all.

That’s when I realized fate had once again played a nasty game with me and had stolen the love of my life from me.

‘Theo!” I whispered, “Why is he not moving?” I asked Maynard and Lazio. By now, I have stopped crying. My body felt restless, and my eyes were shedding big tears, but my mind refused to believe I had lost him.

“Enya!” Maynard held my hand to pull me away from Theo, who had stopped moving entirely by now.

“Wait! he is— why is he not answering to me?” I yelled at Maynard when he dragged me away from Theo by force, “What are you doing? Let me speak to him.” I got angry at him for trying to pull me away from my Thiago.

Lazio knelt beside Theo and gently touched his wrist. The way he closed his eyes and rested Theo’s hand on Theo’s stomach made me want to throw up.

‘No!” I shouted from afar, being held tightly by Maynard, who was refusing to let me get closer to Theo.

‘The arrow seemed to be laced with the exact kind of poison that can kill a lycan,” Lazio murmured when getting up from the ground. Maynard started looking around in agitation as he feared the one who attacked Thiago must be around somewhere.

‘There is no way he can die,” I yelled, trying to free my arm from Maynard and getting angry when I couldn’t release myself out of his grasp.

‘We know you are dealing with a lot right now, but at this moment, we need to leave.’

Lazio rushed over to me, and the way Maynard started pulling me away, I understood he was agreeing with Lazio.

No! I am not leaving him behind.” I finally freed my arm from Maynard and let out a scream.

‘But he is dead, Enya!’ Lazio shouted back at me. I stared at his face for a moment before I lunged at him and slapped him hard.

‘You will not say that word for him again,’ I warned him, looking him in the eye and warning him.

“He will wake up—,’ as anger started boiling my blood in my veins, I felt this uneasy feeling inside my body that I had never felt before.

“Whoever attacked him is still around somewhere. Why do you want to waste time looking after a dead body? We can always come back with guards, but right now we need to leave.” Maynard was the one who shocked me with his indecency this time.

These two have always been selfish. When Thiago was alive, he took care of the two like his own brothers.

That was it. I glared at the two one by one before I walked past them to reach Theo again. I was not going to believe I had lost him again. But I couldn’t even approach him because soon my body felt this rising pain, which compelled me to kneel down and wrap my arm around my stomach.

“Ugh!” I let out a cry while Maynard and Lazio rushed over to me.

‘You are not feeling well,’ Maynard announced, which I already knew.

Let’s take her home,’ Lazio suggested, making me shake my head aggressively. I didn’t want to go anywhere. If Theo is really dead, then I must die, too.

N0000!” I shouted at the top of my lungs when Lazio tried holding my hand. He let me go because my bone cracked and a weird pain struck through my whole body.

“Ahh!” I gasped, fighting for air.

“What is happening to you, Enya?” Maynard asked me, kneeling beside me and checking my fever.

‘I a m feeling — like I am —I twitched, biting my bottom lip and unable to respond to them.

That’s when the pain suddenly started to subside, but that wasn’t it. Before I could straighten my back and reach Theo, I heard this little whimper inside me.

“Ah!” I covered my mouth with my hands and gasped into my palms, looking around at Maynard and Lazio with my big eyes.

“What happened? You are scaring us,” Maynard complained, and Lazio bobbed his head at his statement.

‘Did we lose him again?’ Nias sweet, almost-whispered cry broke my heart.

‘Nia!’ It has been so long that I forgot that I didn’t need to speak loudly for her to hear me.

Maynard and Lazio shared a glance and then looked at me excitedly.

Is Nia back?" Maynard asked, his voice filled with enthusiasm. I don't know what they were so happy about because I no longer cared about anything.

There will be no Enya without Theo or Thiago. I closed my eyes and let out a sob.

■You were sleeping all these years when I dealt with and faced the pain of living without him, Nia. And now that you are back, he is gone again,' I cried loudly, complaining that we have lost our one true mate again.

Nia is back!" Lazio straightened his back and announced. I stopped crying just so that I could stare at his face in disbelief, but that's when I saw something else.

Theo instantly rolled to the side and looked my way while still resting on the ground.

It worked!" Theo whispered, and the others nodded happily. For a moment, I couldn't comprehend if I was looking at a ghost or the person who fooled me into thinking he had died.

'That was—," I asked them, watching Theo jump up to his feet and throw the arrow away that was only sticking to his chest and not actually going through his heart.

'To help wake up Nia,' Theo mumbled, stealing his eyes from me because he could now see how angry I was.

[HOT]Read novel Tasting All My Mates