

THE BEAUTIFUL TIME WITH YOU

Chapter 5: God Amongst Gods (1)

Chapter 5: God Amongst Gods (1)

After they picked up Shi Yao, her two teammates didn't abandon her and instead, guarded her for the entire duration.

"Babe, there's a Level Three Backpack in this house. Come over and pick it up."

"Babe, don't be afraid. Lay low in that bush and wait there, I'll go and clear them all!"

"Babe, get in this car. We're leaving the blue zone now..."

Just like that, without even firing a bullet, Shi Yao successfully entered the final circle after being carried by her two teammates.

However, she was ultimately still a newbie and thus, unfamiliar with the controls, which inevitably dragged down the team. In the course of protecting her, her other two teammates died along with her.

Since they had one last teammate still alive, the game didn't just end there for them. Shi Yao tapped on the spectator option and changed her view to [111111]'s.

Previously, she had been too immersed in playing the game, so it was only now that she realized that [111111] had already managed to kill 11 players.

Who would have thought that the Numbers Teammate who'd ignored her earlier pleas and heartlessly ran away would be such a formidable player... However, his IGN sure was perfunctory, 111111...

As these thoughts popped up in Shi Yao's mind, several notifications popped up on her phone screen:

[111111] killed [Ye Fei Ye's Book Is Amazing] with 98k.

[111111] knocked out [You Have Big Breasts You Win] with AKM.

[111111] killed [Watermelon Cat Hands On Hips] with grenade.

As these notifications popped up before Shi Yao's eyes, a crimson number at the top of the screen began rising swiftly: 11 kills... 12 kills... 15 kills...

She was looking at the same interface as [111111], but in her case, why couldn't she spot any enemies, while the other party was killing a person with every shot?

Furthermore, both of their avatars had the same amount of health points in the game, but how was it that her health got depleted in a single hit whereas the other party could run through a storm of bullets and still remain at full health?

Wasn't this [111111] a little too formidable? It looked like he'd have a fighting chance against her Adonis, Legend... No, there was no way she'd acknowledge that. Her Adonis had to be at least a little stronger than him...

While Shi Yao's thoughts were wandering around, four huge words suddenly appeared on her screen— [Winner Winner Chicken Dinner] 1.

Shi Yao blinked her eyes in astonishment, and it took her two seconds to realize that she'd actually teamed up with a godly expert and successfully had a chicken dinner!

Returning to the main lobby, Shi Yao was still immersed in the feeling of sweet victory from the previous round and was intending to continue playing in Squad mode. However, before she could tap on the option, a notification suddenly appeared on the screen:

[Expert of the Monkeys] invited you to a team.

Without any hesitation, Shi Yao accepted the request.

Entering the lobby, she realized that the other two teammates were [111111] and [Juice].

Shi Yao was silent for two seconds before asking, "The three of you know each other?"

[Juice]: "That's right. Expert is my grandson and 111111 is my daddy."

[Expert of the Monkeys]: “Scram, you bastard. You’re the grandson.”

Just like in the game, the two of them started bickering again.

While this happened, [111111] didn’t say a word at all.

[Expert of the Monkeys] and [Juice] finally ceased their bickering only after the game began. After which, [Expert of the Monkeys] explained to Shi Yao, “The three of us room together in the same dorm, and 111111 is our boss.”

Shi Yao asked curiously, “Boss?”

[Juice]: “He’s our boss because he’s the richest one in our dorm room.”

[Expert of the Monkeys]: “Also, our boss has the highest rating in the game, followed by me, then my grandson.”
