Chapter 1059 Never Get Married

Nicole thought about it for a moment, steadied her emotions, and picked up.

“Hello?”

Yvette’s voice came through.

“Nicole, is Julie really with Kai now?”

Nicole laughed. “Yeah, I couldn’t believe it either, so I just called to confirm.”

Yvette’s voice was brisk.

“That’s great! It’s good that they’re together. They obviously like each other, so why do they have to put up so many obstacles for themselves?”

Nicole curled her lips. Her voice deepened as she said, “What about you?”

Yvette froze in silence.

Nicole really could not help it. If it was someone else, Nicole would not even bother to ask about it, but that was Yvette.

No matter what, Nicole did not want Yvette to be hurt again.

Those gossips would just hurt Yvette over again.

Nicole then asked, “Aren’t you also putting up obstacles for yourself?”

After a long time, Yvette’s voice trailed off.

“You know all about it?”

“He blatantly came to pick you up, so it’s hard not to know about it.”

‘Wasn’t Sean Moore’s behavior flashy enough?’ Nicole thought.

Yvette paused. Even from such a distance, Yvette could feel Nicole’s anxiety and disappointment.

"I also know that it's ridiculous, but I just can't control my feelings. Every time I see him, I can't help but feel sad, but when I don't see him, I just really miss him. I hate him, but I can't help but miss the joy he brought me. Nicole, don't you think that I'm pathetic?"

Yvette's tone was low and hoarse.

Yvette, who was usually in control of her emotions, ran headlong into Sean Moore, even if this man brought her into a whirlpool.

Nicole was silent and did not speak.

She could not casually judge Yvette's feelings, especially when Yvette was sincere about those feelings.

Yvette was different from Nicole.

Back when Nicole decided to leave Eric Ferguson, although her heart was aghast and disappointed, she still could not help but look at him longingly.

Yvette's current struggle was the same as Nicole's back then.

However, Nicole did not indulge in her feelings.

Nicole did not want to get hurt for life, not to mention, she would not indulge in a little bit of guilt and become a moth to the flame again. Nicole was sensible and decisive enough to break away from this.

This was the decision that Nicole made, and Yvette made the opposite choice.

Yvette followed her heart to meet her selfish desires.

This was kind of brave.

"Yvette, since you've made a choice, you must have the courage to face the consequences. You'll need to give an explanation to your mother as well as the Sheldon family behind Lance Sheldon."

Nicole kindly reminded Yvette.

Yvette now had an engagement with Lance Sheldon, which would directly affect the cooperation and direction of the two companies.

Did Yvette really make up her mind?

Yvette could not help but laugh.

"I know. I've also thought it through. My mother will at most beat me up. As for the Sheldon family, I'll go to their door to make amends. After all, Lance Sheldon probably doesn't like marriage alliances either. I may be with Sean, but I won't do anything too risky. We'll go by the mood. If we're unhappy, then we'll break up. We'll never get married anyway."

Yvette seemed to have made up her mind. She spoke through clenched teeth.

"His marriage betrayal is a disgrace to me, so I don't ever want to carry such a name. This is my bottom line."

Yvette could be with Sean, but that was out of the indulgence of her emotions.

However, when it came to marriage, Yvette knew what it meant – loyalty, love, beauty, kindness, and so on.

None of these qualities would or much less could exist in her marriage to Sean Moore.

They were just a couple that deviated from societal norms.

Chapter 1060 The Arrogant Mistress

Yvette and Sean were two extremely selfish people that were together.

They only cared about their emotions and disregarded the network of interests affected.

Nicole paused for a few seconds and sighed.

"Since you've decided, I wish you all the best."

Yvette seemed to have completely stepped out of her obsession with Grant.

Yvette just felt a little resentful that she could not get Grant when she was young, but she felt even more regretful.

She was willing to hide her true feelings for Grant's happiness.

Sean, on the other hand, was like a drug that attracted her because he had the same energy levels and connected to her soul.

Yvette was willing to ruin all that she had for Sean and was willing to break away from everything to be with him.

After they hung up, Yvette stood on the windward side of the balcony with a very relaxed expression.

She did not have to spend so much effort to hide this anymore.

When she turned around, she saw Sean's dark face staring at her from behind.

His eyes were dark with complex emotions intertwined in them.

Yvette was stunned and glanced at him dully.

She casually walked over. His scent of having just finished showering was very alluring.

"You're done with the shower?"

She asked casually.

Before she could take two steps, her arm was fiercely grabbed.

Sean's knuckles were distinct and a little white from exerting too much force.

His breathing was extremely heavy.

"Who were you on the phone with just now?"

Yvette's eyes were slightly cold as she looked at him and hooked her lips.

"Nicole."

Sean's gaze was fixed on her.

"What were you talking about just now?"

Yvette looked at him silently for a moment. She suddenly curled her lips into a bright smile with a hint of mockery. "Didn't you hear it all just now?" The veins on Sean's forehead bulged. The emotions in his dark eyes surged violently. "You're not planning to marry me? That's your bottom line? Is that what you've always thought? I'm already divorced, so we can be together openly, and no one will dare to say a thing. What are you afraid of?"

Sean deliberately lowered his voice to restrain his anger.

Yvette raised an eyebrow and gently pulled her arm back from his hand.

She rubbed the place where she was pinched. Her tone was light and chilly.

"I'm afraid of embarrassing myself."

If Yvette married Sean, then she would forever be known as the mistress.

No one cared if Yvette meant it or not.

Everyone would look at her differently and poke her in the back.

"Look, she turns out to be a mistress who destroys other people's families!"

"How can a woman like this still have the guts to come out in the open? Aren't you afraid of retribution?"

"The mistress can finally stand tall once she's a legal wife."

Yvette had always been frank and never cared about what others thought of her, but she cared about this.

She was afraid that she would be criticized forever because she was guilty as charged.

Even if she was made a mistress, she was still a mistress.

Yvette could not afford to embarrass herself and her family.

When Sean heard Yvette's answer, his pupils shrank. His face was tense and glum.

After a long time, he finally opened his mouth with difficulty.

"I've already done what I can..."

He really felt like a dagger was stabbed into his heart and forcefully twisted a few times.

The throbbing pain made every pore in his body feel the pain.

For Yvette, Sean could fall out with his ex-wife's family and lose that cooperation with Ferguson Corporation.

Sean resisted the heavy pressure and did not vent out a bit of dissatisfaction on Yvette.

He tried to find ways to come back to her and begged her to get back together.

She finally agreed.

Just when Sean thought that everything could be set straight, he heard her heart-to heart talk with Nicole.

Chapter 1061 Annoying

Seductress Yvette actually never intended to marry Sean.

Sean did not care about marriage. Otherwise, he would not trade his marriage for Yvette, but he knew that Yvette cared.

Thus, he got a divorce.

When he heard Yvette say that she did not want to get married because she was afraid of shame, what else could he do?

Yvette bowed her head and laughed, then looked up at him warmly with a hint of lingering affection in her eyes.

She stretched out her slender arms and wrapped them around the man's neck. Her devilish gaze hooked his soul.

Her tender, stunning face was pressed against his chest.

Her soft words and her laughter were compelling to his ear.

"I know that you've done all that you can, and I will always remember everything you did for me. Even if we get married, we can still get divorced. We can just be together forever like this..."

Sean felt a sharp pain in his chest.

Obviously, the woman's every move made him fall so deeply in love that he could not extricate himself.

However, every word she said was suffocating.

Everyone wanted a title, but she did not.

Sean knew that his deception had hurt her badly back then.

He reached out and pulled the woman off of his body. He scrutinized every inch of her face with a deadly gaze.

"Yvette, you know that I'll have to get married one day."

Perhaps one day, he would envy other people's families with children.

However, he did not say the words that followed because when he saw her increasingly cold gaze, he suddenly could not bring himself to say a word.

The panic he felt in his chest was so overwhelming.

Yvette decisively let go of his arm and coldly wrapped her hands around her body.

Her red lips were delicate. Her eyes were bright but ruthless as she hooked the corners of her lips into a cold smile.

“Good riddance. I won’t cling to you. When you want to get married, feel free to do so. We’ll just get the hell out of each other’s life!”

At that time, Yvette must have exhausted all her passion and fondness.

Sending him away was also a relief.

Sean’s face changed viciously. His expression was complicated and stiff.

Since they got back together, Sean thought that the naive, lively, and passionate Yvette who loved him to death would come back to him, but that was not the case.

The Yvette in front of him was very strange.

Yvette still loved him, but there was no light in her eyes. She no longer pried into his personal life and friends, and she no longer anticipated his gifts and appearances.

When she looked at him, her eyes even carried a trace of coldness and detachment, but in the blink of an eye, she was just as she was before, like an annoying seductress.

When they were together, she was passionate in bed, but out of bed, Yvette would be indifferent to him. It was as if it was unbearable for her to stay a moment longer.

Occasionally, when she was in a good mood, she would coax him, and he would be surprised.

Sean could not tell if the person in front of him was really Yvette.

His gaze was obscure and complicated, and his eyes suddenly turned cold.

“You don’t want to marry me because of your marriage alliance with the Sheldon family? If it was Lance Sheldon, you would’ve married him, right?”

Sean knew the answer, but he still had to ask for clarification.

He was only torturing himself.

Yvette laughed with a hint of coldness.

“You already know the answer, yet you’re still asking. It’s not because of the Sheldon family. If it were anyone else, I wouldn’t reject marriage. I’ll marry anyone but you!”

Her words were like a knife that stabbed his heart little by little.

“You seduced me first. When we’re together, we’ll be called the “cheating couple”. Cheaters should never end well, so let’s just get along as we see fit. Don’t spoil something as sacred as marriage.”

After that, Yvette smiled, turned around, and walked past him to go out.

Chapter 1062 I Love Her Very Much

At this moment, Yvette did not want to say another word.

Since Sean wanted marriage, then he could look for someone else.

Yvette would never marry him.

She loved him, but she also hated him.

They would not have any results.

To be able to give up everything to reconnect with him was already her limit.

A full minute passed.

Yvette lazily sat on the sofa to watch TV, but she did not register anything that she watched.

Her heart was in turmoil, but she remained calm and self-possessed.

The next second, Sean’s body exuded a hostile chill as he strode past in front of Yvette and left.

The sound of the door slamming shut was very loud.

Yvette did not care, but her heart was like a boulder that fell to the bottom of the sea without ripples.

A few minutes later, Sean restrained his complex emotions, re-opened the door to come back in.

Without talking to her, Sean went straight to the bedroom to sleep.

Yvette blinked and snorted coldly.

Then, she lowered her gaze and pursed her lips.

She knew very well that they could not go back to the past.

Sean's future marriage partner would never be her either.

Yvette slowly exhaled and hooked her lips. 'Forget it, since he came back, I'll just compromise and coax him first.'

She then turned off the TV and walked into the bedroom.

Yvette walked over slowly and looked at the man that was lying on his side in bed, pretending to sleep. She began to undress.

She would make it up to him in her own way.

The night was dark.

The various comments online were overwhelming.

Kai and Julie's matter was brought up repeatedly.

Finally, when things were gradually stabilizing, Dominic put tremendous pressure on Kai to make a statement in front of the public.

Kai originally did not want his relationship to be talked about in front of everyone, especially since Julie had been subjected to cyberbullying.

It would not do her much good.

However, Julie did not seem to care. After getting Julie's consent, Kai finally agreed to Dominic's request. 1

Kai chose a very direct way to do this.

He posted a photo of the two of them wearing the couple ring with the caption, "My fiancée. I love her very much. Please love and care for her as you do for me."

Kai tied Julie to himself and was prepared to share the honor and shame.

Dominic was prepared for this and made a big deal about the twisted and precious love between the two in the media.

For a while, many netizens resonated with them, and they also received others' blessings.

Those who questioned the hype gradually faded away.

[My classmate just spilled the tea! Julie Nixon was dating Kai back in university. After experiencing so much, they can still end up together. Excellent people always attract each other...)

(Julie Nixon and Kai are like a couple in a TV series! I now believe in love again!)

[They're really meant to be! They end up together after so many twists and turns. I heard that Julie Nixon is Nicole's BFF. Her BFF and her brother are together now. I really want to be Nicole's BFF!]

[As Kai's old fan, I just want to say, "As long as you're happy, Kai!"]

[I hope that Julie quickly comes out from the past trauma. That psychopath Roman will be sentenced soon. Such a scumbag should just go to hell!]

[You'll know that Julie isn't that kind of person when you see Nicole's attitude. Otherwise, why would Nicole give up everything to protect Julie?]

Julie was busy in the office all day.

She agreed for Kai to respond publicly, but she did not have the courage to read the online comments herself.

The sky was getting dark.

Julie left the office and walked to the lobby.

She saw a flashy sports car parked at the entrance with a tall and handsome man standing in front of the car. He was standing tall and had such stunning features. The evening sun shrouded his body.

Every single frame was like a refined picture.

When Kai saw Julie, he smiled widely and waved at her.

“I came to pick you up from work!” He yelled as if he was afraid that others could not hear him.
