

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 2051

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 2051 Doesn't Know How to Act

Zach was observing Tina's reaction. Tina was not hysterical as he had imagined, and she did not mention divorce. She must have already thought it through and accepted it.

Zach was relieved and chased after her.

"Wifey, don't worry. I'm always loyal to you. That woman will never appear in front of you again!"

Tina went inside with a calm face.

The aerospace exhibition was on the thirteenth floor of this building.

Enter title...

Zach and Kirsi came here for another event, and they did not have an invitation letter to attend the exhibition.

Thus, Zach could only watch helplessly as Tina and Nicole entered the venue. He smiled and took out his phone.

"Babe, where are you?"

As soon as Tina entered, her expression changed. She was no longer in the mood to check out anything.

Nicole took Luke around and came back to see Tina in the lounge, lost in thought.

Luke paused when he saw Nicole's hesitation.

"Ms. Stanton, I won't go over there. I'll go over and consult Dr. Campbell about something."

Nicole pursed her lips, smiled, and had a sudden thought.

"Mr. Youngblood, will you really give up such a big piece of pie? You must know that even if Tina gets a divorce, her family is ultra- rich! Not to mention, she's not ugly. Everyone says that she's as beautiful as a movie star. Aren't you moved?"

Luke paused and looked at Nicole strangely.

"Ms. Stanton, based on my looks, I can still take my pick even if I'm looking for a sugar mommy. Not to mention, I prefer to rely on my capability."

Nicole raised her eyebrows.

"Off you go then."

Luke immediately left.

Shane followed Nicole.

Nicole sat opposite Tina and sighed.

"Look at you... Didn't you say that you don't care anymore? Why do you look like you've lost your soul?"

Tina clenched her teeth tightly. Her face was pale.

"I don't. I just think that cheating couple got away too easily."

Nicole raised her eyebrows.

"Your lawyer will settle the accounts and find a problem with Zach, so it'll be easy to get back at them."

Tina looked at Nicole quietly. Her lips were pressed tightly into a straight line.

“Nicole, please do me a favor...” Nicole frowned at her.

An hour later, Nicole Luca stood by the railing on the thirteenth floor, quietly waiting to watch a good show. Luca frowned and said in a low voice, “Miss, are you sure it’ll work? I’m worried that their act will fall through!”

Nicole pursed her lips and said in a low voice, “No, women are born to act, and Tina is a master!”

Luca said, “I’m talking about Shane. There’s a reason that he didn’t become an actor!”

Shane stood with Tina.

Tina was clinging to Shane’s arm, trying to act the part and make it seem like they were intimate.

However, Shane stood there stiffly and looked alert as he observed the surroundings, like he was ready to attack at any moment.

The venue below was very spacious, and many people were chatting and laughing. It was a press conference for a niche brand.

This was also why Zach came to accompany Kirsi.

After all, a business owner like Zach was very attractive to the entertainment industry.

Thus, as soon as Zach appeared, everyone greeted him with respect.

After all, he attended the event with an actress, which meant he had a foot in the entertainment industry.

This meant he was interested in developing in this area.

Naturally, everyone would not let go of an investor.

Kirsi was injured, so she had been restricted to film.

Ever since Samuel Lindstrom stopped backing Kirsi, most of Kirsi’s already dwindling resources were taken away by newcomers.

If it was not for Kirsi being pregnant and Zach pampering her, it would have been harder for her to attend such an event.

If she could not become a famous actress, she could use the little bit of advantage she had to be behind the scenes.

That was what she thought.

Thus, Kirsi wanted Zach to connect with the people there immediately. It was very smoky inside.

Kirsi could not catch her breath and went out for a breather. She did not expect to see Tina, Zach’s legal wife, as soon as she went out.

Kirsi froze for a moment, rolled her eyes in disdain, and walked over.

“Are you waiting for me, Mrs. Gilbert?”

Kirsi looked at Tina with a hint of mockery, smugness, and arrogance that made her seem superior.

Kirsi’s frankness did not make her seem like a mistress.

That was because Kirsi now had the confidence to hold her head high.

Kirsi touched her belly, as if to show off, covered her mouth, retched for a while, and glanced at Tina, who had a gloomy face. She hooked her lips and said, “Mrs. Gilbert, you probably know about me and Mr. Gilbert, so I won’t hide it anymore. The sooner you get divorced, the better it is for you. Otherwise, I’m afraid that you'll lose your reputation if you drag it any longer."

Kirsi's smile was an eyesore. She only dared to say that because she was pregnant.

Tina's gaze landed on Kirsi's body. She snorted lightly.

"If a b*tch like you can keep your reputation, what do I have to lose?" Tina laughed and walked to Shane's side. She pulled the man closer to her, held his arm intimately, and smiled.

"Don't worry, you can keep that good-for-nothing man who only has looks but no brain. I only want money. If I'm rich, I'll be able to get anyone I want!"

When Kirsi saw Shane, her expression changed slightly.

Back then, Kirsi almost lost her future because of Shane's over-shoulder throw.

Shane was so strong.

Kirsi's face turned glum, and she became a little uncomfortable.

Kirsi intended for her agency to make Shane pay a large compensation.

As a result, because of Shane's background, he did not pay her a penny, but even sent her a lawyer's letter.

Kirsi had to pay all the medical bills herself.

The newcomer, who Kirsi thought was easy to bully, suddenly overtook her, which frightened her.

Kirsi's manager also warned Kirsi to be careful not to offend Shane and his backer.

Shane looked at Kirsi indifferently.

Kirsi shuddered, clutched her belly, and suddenly felt short of breath.

Kirsi turned slightly pale. She did not want to be at a disadvantage in front of Tina.

However, her stomach inexplicably felt a little uncomfortable.

Kirsi looked back with a glum face, searching for Zach's figure in the venue.

"Zach..."

As soon as she shouted his name, Zach noticed her. He saw Kirsi and Tina standing together and suddenly panicked.

Zach ran over quickly and glanced at Tina.

"Wifey..."

His tone was cautious.

When he saw Kirsi's pale face, he suddenly turned livid. He quickly held Kirsi and glared at Tina fiercely.

"What have you done?! I already told you that I'll break up with her. Why are you bullying her? She's not feeling well. Do you know that she's..."

Zach suddenly stopped speaking, and his expression changed dramatically. He could not let Tina find out about Kirsi's pregnancy.

Kirsi tugged at Zach's arm nervously.

"Zach, take me to the hospital..."

Zach took a deep breath, carried Kirsi, and ran out.

"Don't be scared. I'll take you to the hospital right away!"