

Read The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Chapter 2486

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress chapter 2486-Have You Considered It?

“What would you guys like to eat? I will prepare it right away.”

Everyone told the boss what they wanted.

Burritos, pancakes, bacon, eggs, coffee...

Selena noticed that they were all down-to-earth and felt comfortable around them, so she chatted and laughed with them.

Zachary sat at the same table with Selena, but the others were tactful and did not join them.

Zachary was an easygoing person. They talked and laughed so that Selena felt extremely relaxed and at ease.

When his gaze fell on Selena’s face from time to time, Selena was reminded that he had coveted her for a long time.

Selena was excited, but she also had mixed feelings about it. After all, this was the first time that such a wonderful thing happened to her.

She also intended to try it out with him.

However, she did not want to rush it. After breakfast, she mentioned that she was going back.

Zachary did not say much because they also had to hurry back to the station.

They parted ways, and Selena walked back happily.

Zachary stood and watched her from behind for a long time with a dazed expression. A hint of worry flashed in his eyes.

His colleagues leaned against him and had cynical smiles.

‘What are you looking at? She’s gone. Why don’t you chase after her and tell her that you like her?’

Zachary chuckled lightly with a bit of helplessness and hidden worry.

“I already told her how I feel. I’m just a little scared.”

'What are you afraid of? You're not one to hide your feelings!'

Zachary silently lowered his head.

"I'm afraid she'll get angry if she knows what I've done."

He said this very softly. His voice dispersed with the wind, and his colleagues could not hear him as they were distracted by other things.

No one heard him clearly.

Several days passed.

Selena was used to living a good life and almost forgot the harsh words that Eric said that day.

Soon, it was almost Valentine's Day.

The bar was bustling.

Selena had never celebrated this romantic day.

However, she saw the anticipation in everyone's eyes and felt that she was ready to watch a good show.

Thus, she was in a good mood.

That evening, Zachary sent her a text message inviting her to go on a night drive in the suburbs.

They did not watch a movie, and there were no roses.

However, the thought of going on a drive in the suburbs at night was exciting.

This was right up her alley.

If Zachary sent her flowers or brought her to the movies, she would probably laugh at him for being lame.

Thus, Selena readily agreed to the date and wore a beautiful dress.

Even Chaz was amazed when he saw her.

"I guess you already made your choice?"

Selena smiled and raised her chin with a smile.

“No, that man was never in my consideration.”

Chaz felt sorry for Eric’s failure.

It was Valentine’s Day, and Eric did not show up or do anything.

Sending someone to give Selena flowers would also be better than nothing.

What was going on?

Chaz shook his head helplessly and sighed. Perhaps they were just not destined to be together.

Selena was in a good mood, humming and skipping as she went to the door.

As a result, Zachary’s car was not the only car that was parked at the door. There was another black Bentley there.

No one got out of the Bentley, but Selena recognized that car in an instant. That car belonged to Eric.

Since Eric’s car was there, he must be in the car too.

Selena’s smile froze and slowly faded from her face.

Zachary, who was next to his car, walked over to Selena without fear, smiled gently, took her bag, and opened the passenger seat’s door.

“Selena, after you.”

Selena immediately saw the large bouquet of pink roses on the passenger seat with a faint scent of luxury perfume. It was very thoughtful.

She paused and was about to walk over when the driver of the black Bentley suddenly opened the door and got out.

“Ms. Nelson, Mr. Ferguson would like you to get in the car. He has something to talk to you about.”

The driver’s attitude was polite.

He went over and opened the back door of the Bentley, waiting for Selena to get in.

The interior of the car was luxurious, and Selena could vaguely see the corner of the man’s clothes.

It was luxurious but cold.

The air seemed to freeze for a while.

Eric was waiting for Selena to get in the car. He did not say a word, but the chill in the air was enough to express his inner dissatisfaction and anger.

Eric actually came over.

Selena never expected him to.

How could a busy president like Eric celebrate Valentine's Day and come to find her?

The last time, they parted on bad terms. Selena did not make a move afterward and thought that her meaning was clear. Did Eric misunderstand her?

Did he think that if she did not make a move, she had agreed by default?

Standing there, Selena frowned slightly. Zachary, who was next to her, squeezed her hand and said with a smile, "Selena, Mr. Ferguson has something to tell you. Why don't I wait for you here for a few minutes?"

Selena pursed her lips and was stunned.

"No need. I don't remember having anything to talk to him about."

Selena took a deep breath, looked at the driver, and said, "If Mr. Ferguson wants a drink, ask him to go inside. I have a date tonight, so I don't have time to entertain him. Goodbye!"

After that, she got into Zachary's car.

Zachary glanced in Eric's direction meaningfully.

Through the black glass, they could feel the chill coming off of Eric.

Zachary did not expect that Selena would choose him instead of Eric.

What a surprise!

Zachary could not conceal the joy on his face, which looked particularly glaring to Eric.

Before Zachary could get in the car, the door of the black Bentley opened suddenly, and a long and lean leg landed on the road.

Then, the indifferent and cold man with a tall and lean build, dark eyes, and surging emotions, came out of the car.

Eric seemed to be trying his best to suppress his anger as he did not want to show too much emotion in front of outsiders.

Thus, at this time, his deep facial features were calm and dull as he stared in the direction of the passenger seat.

In the next second, Eric walked over.

Eric opened the car door of the passenger seat and suddenly pulled Selena, who was already sitting there, with a rough and simple movement.

This was beyond everyone's expectations.

Selena was dumbfounded from almost being dragged to the ground. She looked up at him with lingering fear and cursed at him.

"Are you crazy?!"

Eric looked at the pink roses in her arms, and his face turned even darker.

He took a step forward, snatched the bouquet from her arms, and threw it on the ground in disgust.

The beautiful flowers were instantly stained with dirt.

Selena's face also turned glum as she watched him go berserk.

She looked at Eric indifferently like he was a madman.

When Eric met that indifferent gaze, he suddenly panicked.

"Did you forget what I said before? I didn't ask you to think about it, let alone use another man as a shield!"

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-