The Divorced Billionaire Heiress chapter 2597-After the doctor patiently explained, Eric's eyes relaxed for a moment.

Eric lowered his eyes and loosened his fist slightly.

Thank goodness!

Eric felt like he almost lost his whole world and that God played a joke on him.

He let the doctor give him injections to reduce the inflammation and clean up his wounds.

The bodyguard covered the glass of the swimming pool, and the movement alarmed the silent Eric.

Eric raised his eyes and looked deeply in the direction of the pool. His gloomy gaze made people shudder.

Soon, the bodyguard pushed Jennifer over.

Eric used so much strength in that kick that he probably broke two of Jennifer's ribs.

He was indeed not as righteous and magnanimous as he seemed on the surface.

When Eric strangled Jennifer and kicked her chest, he never thought to be merciful and sympathetic because she was a woman.

He was like an eagle lurking in the dark. No matter who provoked him, he would fight back mercilessly.

Jennifer happened to provoke him.

Jennifer suddenly trembled all over, and panic spread all over her body.

Eric lowered his eyes to hide his dangerous and sharp gaze. He stepped forward and looked down at her.

In the face of such a strong oppressive feeling, Jennifer finally could not hold back and cried. She trembled violently.

"Mr. Ferguson, I'm sorry. Please forgive me. I won't dare to do this again. Selena is fine now. I just wanted to scare her."

Jennifer wailed, coughed, and prostrated herself on the ground in pain.

Eric stared at her coldly and said with a chill, "Scare her? Since it's a threat, you should be mentally prepared."

He spoke casually and glanced at the bodyguard next to him.

The bodyguard understood, immediately lifted Jennifer up, and walked toward the swimming pool.

Jennifer was so frightened that she immediately shouted at the top of her lungs.

"Don't! I was wrong, Mr. Ferguson! Please forgive me..."

However, no one took pity on Jennifer, especially Eric.

He was already extremely rational not to kill her immediately.

As soon as Eric came in and saw Selena falling into the water and being bitten by the fish, he wished he could kill the person behind this.

However, he just kicked her, which was kind enough.

That was because he did not want to delay rescuing Selena.

Now that he was free, he would naturally settle the score with Jennifer.

The bodyguards ignored Jennifer's cries for mercy and threw her into the water.

The ugly fish swam all around and jumped to the surface of the water from time to time to show its sharp and ugly teeth.

As soon as Jennifer fell in, they jumped on her as if they spotted their prey.

Jennifer screamed in pain and misery. However, she was soon bitten by the ugly fish and lost all her strength.

She struggled to swim up by herself, but the pain of the fish's bite pulled her into the water again.

After struggling several times, her strength was almost exhausted.

When the fish's teeth sunk into her flesh, she felt a sharp pain that made her feel that she was being torn apart.

Jennifer's face was pale, and there was no trace of blood left.

The pain was long and arduous. The bodyguards above watched indifferently.

Eric's punishment was justified and cruel.

Jennifer wished she could die here, but she also wanted to live.

Out of the corner of her eyes, Jennifer saw that Eric had already left with Selena in his arms.

The bodyguards were still watching her.

It seemed like an endless torment.

Eric spent a little longer in the water than Selena, but Selena's skin was more tender, so the wounds were a bit deeper.

That was why Selena passed out so quickly. After the injection, Selena's face was gradually turning rosy. Eric also noticed her pained expression from time to time.

After the anesthesia passed, the pain gradually became clearer.

Selena seemed to feel the fear of being bitten and helplessness in her sleep.

The desperation and pain of being on the verge of death could destroy a person's will.

Selena saw Jennifer's abnormality and cruelty.

Since when did they have such a deep grudge that Jennifer wanted her dead?

However, Selena panicked, which made her extremely restless in her sleep.

Sweat oozed from her forehead. Eric also sensed discomfort in his body probably due to the effect of the medicine.

However, the pain from his wounds seemed insignificant compared to the person in front of him.

Eric froze and took care of Selena.

His eyes were cold, dark, and unapproachable.

Soon, the bodyguard came and knocked on the door.

Eric went out quietly and closed the door on purpose.

"How is it?"

“She passed out probably due to excessive blood loss. She had the strength to struggle and wasn’t restrained like Madam was, so even when the fish bit her, she could resist. We waited for a full hour and fished her up when she fainted. She was bleeding and had more wounds on her face. Her flesh was also turned out. At present, the doctor only injected the antidote and did not do anything to deal with her wounds.”

Eric sneered with a bit of indifference in his eyes.

“Don’t deal with it. She asked for it.”

He paused and remained silent for a moment before he said, “Just throw her here. There’s no need to tell the hotel to take care of her. Does the person in charge know?”

“He knows. He went up after us.”

“When my wife wakes up, we’ll go back. Get the plane ready. As for the hotel, my wife almost died here, so I don’t think they should stay open. Find a reason to expose the illegal construction here.”

“Yes, Mr. Ferguson. Do you want to take that woman away with you?”

The bodyguard asked.

Eric snorted coldly. “Since she likes fish so much, then take her along and throw her off the plane to feed the fish when we reach the surface of the sea.”

This woman hid her whereabouts to seek death, which saved him a lot of trouble.

After all, in the eyes of outsiders, Jennifer went back with the Nelson family.

Eric never hid his evilness, but he had always been a man who would not offend others first.

The bodyguard understood what Eric meant, nodded, and went to clean up the scene.

Late at night, Jennifer heard the bodyguards talking about throwing her body into the sea to feed the fish.

She was already in pain. At that moment, she trembled violently.

The panic in her heart did not ease in the slightest. On the contrary, it became more serious.

At midnight, Selena developed a high fever.

Eric took care of her by himself.

Selena had always been fearless and courageous. The scariest thing she had encountered was Derek Norton.

She had never encountered the more tragic things that Eric had experienced, so Jennifer's torture was almost unbearable.

Thus, her reaction was stronger than usual.

Eric took care of her all night.

Finally, at dawn, the bodyguards came over.

"Mr. Ferguson, she finally opened her mouth. She admitted that the person who ordered her to do this was Madam's biological father."
