

Chapter 168 Are You So Cheap?

Nicole was looking forward to that moment as she wanted to see what Ines Xavier's reaction would be.

"Nicole, don't think that I'm afraid of you! You're also relying on your family just like me, so what are you so proud of?"

'We're the same kind of people, so why should Nicole act like she's superior to me?!'

Ines was getting more agitated and wanted to expose Nicole's humiliation right in front of her face.

She folded her arms and lifted her chin to mock Nicole.

"Weren't you kicked out even after marrying into the Ferguson family? Now, you just want to take advantage of your family's power to get close to Eric just to get his attention, right? Is that what you want? Nicole, are you so cheap?"

Ines thought that she must have removed Nicole's disguise and wanted to see how Nicole could still pretend to be high and mighty.

angily.

She waited for Nicole to become annoyed and angry.

However, when Nicole heard this, she did not have the slightest bit of anger on her face.

On the contrary, she just smirked and looked at Ines.

Nicole's voice was cold as she said, "Ms. Xavier, this is common knowledge that you should know by now. The Fergusons didn't kick me out. I'm the one who didn't want Eric Ferguson anymore. Also... I'm not that cheap to change my face just to please a man, so I really can't compare to you in this sense."

She hooked the corners of her lips and turned on her heels without even looking at Ines again.

Ines took a while to react and finally realized that Nicole was humiliating her.

She stomped her feet and shook in anger. Her V-shaped jawline looked even sharper.

'How dare she insult me?! What gave her the courage to do so on my turf!'

the courage to do so on my part!

Ines was so angry that she became delirious. 'I won't let that b*tch Nicole get away with this!'

She glared at Nicole's departing back and chased after her without hesitation.

'I must teach her a lesson!'

Nicole stood in the elevator lobby and waited there.

Soon, the elevator arrived.

Ding--

At the same time, Ines had already caught up to Nicole. She yanked Nicole's arm and raised her hand high as she gritted teeth and yelled, "Nicole! Go to hell!"

Before her hand landed on Nicole, the person inside the elevator suddenly lifted his leg and kicked Ines' body.

"Ahh!" Ines screamed miserably as she fell to the ground and rolled around in pain.

When she came to her senses, she looked up in anger, but her face was incredibly pale.

"Eric "

ONE WAS MULTITUDELY SHOCKED.

Gabriel glared at Ines indignantly and gritted his teeth.

“How dare you mess with just anyone?!
Why didn't you just die on the operating table back in Korea?!”

Chapter 169 I Hit You on Purpose

Ines could not care less about anything.

She went forward to tug on Gabriel Xavier's arm. "Dad, why are you so afraid of her? That b*tch is a nobody!"

Gabriel shook her off and thought about Nicole's words, then yanked Ines back up again.

His action was harsh.

"Get this straight. Nicole is the successor of Stanton Corporation. She can make this company disappear with a snap of her finger, so you'd better behave yourself. If you dare to cause trouble again, I will throw you to Korea and won't give you a penny! You can find a way to survive on your own!"

Ines trembled in fear and looked terrified. 'Nicole...'

She felt a coldness in her heart that was eerily chilling.

Inside the elevator.

Nicole and Eric did not say a word until they reached the door of the conference they reached the door of the conference room. Logan was standing there waiting for Nicole.

Seeing the two of them approaching, Logan went forward and held the door open for them.

Eric's aura was always very strong, which made others fear and admire him. No matter where he was, he could instantly become the focus of the crowd and his presence could not be ignored.

However, Nicole walked in the front when they entered the conference room. Her aura was comparable to Eric's but was even more superior and striking because of her beautiful looks and aloof temperament.

As soon as they entered, Gabriel and Ines hurriedly followed suit.

The meeting began, but Nicole did not say much the entire time. Logan was the one announcing the agenda in an orderly fashion.

Ines felt like her head was numb as she sat there in a daze. Her palms were cold and sweaty.

Looking at Nicole, who was sitting in the main seat with such an outstanding, cool, and noble temperament, Ines suddenly felt a sense of distance in her heart.

The gap between Ines and Nicole's status seemed very large, so much so that Ines could never touch her.

Ines suddenly panicked. 'Is this what happens when Nicole gets offended? She's showing me what it means to be in power?'

Eric Ferguson, who was sitting on the side, looked firmly at Nicole as if she was the reason that he attended this meeting.

Ines heard loud and clear what this meeting was about.

Nicole was now in command of Gemini Entertainment as the largest shareholder.

She removed Gabriel Xavier as the Chairman of the board and replaced him with Dominic Young of Falcon Entertainment.

Gemini Entertainment was now a small company under Stanton Corporation, one of many.

of many.

Nicole watched with a smile as Ines' expression changed gradually throughout the meeting and thought, 'How amusing! She didn't disappoint me at all with her reaction... Perhaps after this incident, Gabriel Xavier won't let this troublemaker stay by his side anymore. After all, he has an illegitimate son... Ines can finally disappear from my sight completely!'

The meeting finally ended. Nicole did not want to exchange pleasantries with the others, so she gave Logan a look and left the room.

Logan stayed behind to deal with the rest of the people.

Nicole got into the car and planned to drive by herself.

She drove to the intersection, but the car in front of her was slow to move.

Nicole looked at the Range Rover in front and frowned slightly.

She was getting impatient.

As soon as the car started to move, Nicole followed suit and stepped on the gas pedal.

“Bang--”

The impact of the collision made her dumbstruck.

‘Why did that car stop so unexpectedly?! I shouldn’t have tailgated that dumb car...’

Nicole was only happy for a few minutes before encountering this minor accident. She did not know whether to laugh or cry at her misfortune.

When she was about to get out of her car, she saw that the car door in front of her was pushed open.

The person who walked out of that car was very familiar.

Eric Ferguson.

Nicole took a deep breath and took a closer look at the license plate number. It was the same car model but with a different license plate.

‘Oh... It seems like he bought several cars of the same model... Mr. Ferguson sure has a fondness for Range Rovers, huh? I hate this car model now!’

Eric walked over with a sullen face and knocked on her car window. His stern and

THIS CAR THOUGHT HOW!

Eric walked over with a sullen face and knocked on her car window. His stern and deep eyes peered at her through the window.

His gaze seemed to be able to penetrate the glass.

Nicole took a deep breath. Since she rear-ended his car, she was the guilty party and should take full responsibility.

‘What kind of sh*tty luck do I have?!’
Nicole thought.

“Nicole, you did it on purpose, right?”

Chapter 170 Private Settlement?

Nicole thought, 'I deliberately hit his car?! I can't even believe what just happened! Where did he get the confidence? It's obvious that he deliberately stepped on the emergency brakes out of the blue! But ... I think I saw a little kid walking away slowly from the front of the Range Rover earlier... So... Oh well, since it already happened, I can't possibly hide now, can I?'

She lowered the car window, pursed her lips, and hooked the corners of her lips. "Yes, I hit you on purpose."

Her smile was icy cold and provoking. 'So what if it's intentional? It's not like I can't afford to pay for it!'

Eric narrowed his eyes and frowned slightly.

"So, what are you planning to do?" His voice was hoarse and indifferent.

'She did it on purpose? That's surprising...'

Nicole looked up with cold and indifferent eyes. "How much is it? I'll compensate you."

you.”

In fact, if they were to further investigate this, Nicole did not have to take responsibility.

However, since she had already admitted that she knocked into him on purpose, she could not take back her words.

Eric looked away and took out his phone.

“I’ll let you know after it’s fixed. Did you change your number?”

“No...” Nicole subconsciously spoke and fell silent.

Eric dialed her number right in front of her.

“Sorry, the number you have dialed is temporarily unavailable...”

Eric looked at her with a deep frown. His face turned gloomy and glared at her intently.

Nicole pursed her lips. Her eyes flickered.

The person who she blocked was standing right in front of her. This made her feel a little complicated and awkward.

“Just state a price. I’ll transfer the money

d

now.”

She picked up her phone and did not want to delay another minute.

Eric’s voice was dull as he said, “We’ll have to wait until after the repair to know the price. Leave a phone number. I’ll contact you then.”

He admitted that he did this out of a moment of impulse.

His goal was not the repair fees, but to get her to unblock his number!

Nicole paused and looked at Eric.

She spoke without hesitation. “Just contact my assistant.”

Eric kept quiet and put away his phone. “Forget it then. Just pretend this never happened...”

It was obvious that he did not intend to contact another person.

Nicole was sulking and cursing him in her heart, but she remained calm and composed on the surface.

‘Eric Ferguson is tryna make me look like an irresponsible perpetrator?! Or did he an irresponsible perpetration of and he think that I wanted to take advantage of him?'

Nicole did not want to get into too much trouble.

'It's just a bloody repair fee anyway, and I can always block him again when we're done with this nonsense...'

Nicole took a deep breath and turned her cold gaze away.

"Fine. My number's still the same," Nicole said as she started the car engine and intended to leave.

She did not want to stay with him for another minute!

However, Eric had no intention to leave. H e stared at her for two seconds silently.

Suddenly, he bent down to look at the woman in the driver's seat, then grabbed her steering wheel with his strong hand.
His long and slender fingers were like a work of art.

Eric's move was too sudden and stunned Nicole. Before she could react, Eric's sexy and magnetic voice rang in her ears, "
Nicole, you won't drive away and forget,

and magnetic voice ringing in her ears, “
Nicole, you won’t drive away and forget, right?”

He reminded her because he felt unconvinced that she would unblock him so easily.

There was no guarantee that Nicole would not just push this to her assistant to handle this.

Nicole held her breath for a moment and glared at him with an unconcealed annoyance.

“I won’t.”

‘That’s one way to put it... He thinks I’ll renege on my debt?!’

Nicole immediately took out her phone, found his name on her contact list,
unblocked him, then called him.

His phone rang instantly.

The caller ID that showed was “Missus”.