Chapter 107: The Righteous Liu Ye

"Forget it, such a big hospital and not a single capable doctor, it's fine if they don't come. I'll speak to Old Gao when I get back and tell him to send someone to give you all a lesson."

Nalan Xue was fuming and about to leave.

"Wait, Director Nalan, please wait, there's someone who can treat your condition."

Just then, a figure darted out, blocking Nalan Xue who was about to leave.

"Who are you?"

Nalan Xue, taken aback by the sight of the man with a bruised face and wearing bandages, stepped back cautiously.

The person was none other than Liu Feng, who had been severely beaten by Su Fan last night.

It was a miracle he could even come to work today.

Sun Zhigang explained to Nalan Xue from the side.

"Director Nalan, this is Liu, one of our emergency doctors."

"Doctor? You mean, you can cure my illness?"

"No, no, no." Liu Feng shook his head.

"I can't, but, I know someone who can."

"Oh?"

Nalan Xue showed a sudden interest.

She was over thirty and had yet to become a mother; her husband held a high position, and without bearing a son, her own status was insecure. She might be replaced by a new mayor's wife tomorrow.

"Who, where?" Nalan Xue asked eagerly.

Liu Feng said cheerfully.

"That person is right here in our hospital, and in the gynecology department."

Damn!

Su Fan was shocked.

He realized why Liu Feng had been beaten so severely yet still managed to come to work today clenching his teeth.

This guy was targeting him.

Of the thirty-six strategies, fleeing is the best one.

"The person is over there!"

The next moment, Liu Feng, with his bandaged hand, pointed toward the far end of the corridor.

Nalan Xue's gaze followed.

Damn it.

Su Fan was stunned in the corridor, running was too late.

Liu Feng, this damned guy.

"Are you, Divine Doctor Su?"

Nalan Xue recognized Su Fan.

Recently, Su Fan had been a media sensation, so it wasn't strange for her, being the TV station head, to recognize him.

"Hello there!"

Su Fan waved awkwardly.

At the same time, he glared fiercely at Liu Feng

He was already regretting not having killed Liu Feng outright yesterday to end this once and for all.

"Divine Doctor Su, it's great to see you."

Nalan Xue hurried toward Su Fan.

Her eyes were earnest.

Approaching him, Su Fan found Nalan Xue even more charming.

Over thirty, still with a pinchable skin, but most of all, that aristocratic aura was something none of the women Su Fan had met could compare with, even Bai Man fell short by three points.

Indeed, she was the mayor's wife.

"Hello, Director Nalan."

At that moment, Liu Ye, hiding in the office, hurried out to salvage the situation.

"Oh, Director Liu, weren't you supposed to have a cold today and couldn't see patients?"

On seeing Liu Ye, Nalan Xue exploded.

Her face was as cold as a storm in December.

Liu Ye trembled as he spoke.

"Oh, I... I thought I could hold up, so I came in."

"Well then, Su has just joined gynecology and isn't familiar with the work yet, so, let me do it?"

Su Fan looked deeply at Liu Ye

Liu Ye was truly loyal,

to dare to show up at such a time, and moreover, Liu Ye simply didn't have the capability to cure Nalan Xue's infertility, he was literally using his chest to shield Su Fan from the firing line.

"Hey, Director Liu, that's not right. Little Su is the star of our hospital. He was promoted to attending physician yesterday and has the qualifications to see patients now. Let Su do it," Sun Zhigang interjected.

That old fox was in league with Liu Feng.

"Doctor Liu, you've already seen me several times, and it has never worked. I have lost my patience. If you are going to treat me today, I can offer you one last chance, but if it fails again, then you might not be able to keep your job," Nalan Xue said coldly.
