Chapter 114 - 114 Backing Up

"Sister?"

"Naughty brother?"

"What's going on?"

Seeing Su Fan and Nalanxue chatting and laughing intimately, the crowd at the door was dumbfounded.

How come this was different from what they had imagined?

The script wasn't supposed to go like this.

What the hell?

"Director Nalan, you, how come you're calling this kid your brother?"

"Shouldn't you be slapping him?"

Sun Zhigang was extremely astonished.

"I think the one who should be slapped is you."

"Slap."

Just moments ago, Nalanxue, who was all smiles, suddenly turned icy, and backhanded a slap across Sun Zhigang's face, forcing him to step back with his face flushed red, wishing he could burrow into a hole and hide.

The force of Nalanxue's slap wasn't heavy, but it was extremely insulting.

After all, he was hospital leadership, and being reprimanded in front of so many subordinates was too embarrassing.

But the problem was, the person who had slapped him was Nalanxue, the mayor's wife, someone he couldn't afford to offend.

"Director Nalan, you..."

Sun Zhigang, covering his face, looked at Nalanxue with teary eyes.

"What, you're not convinced?"

"Or else, shall I have my husband have a talk with you?"

Nalanxue raised an eyebrow, returning Sun Zhigang's look with a cold stare.

Sun Zhigang instantly forced an embarrassed smile.

"How could I, the Mayor has so much on his plate, he wouldn't have the time to bother with someone as insignificant as me, you must be joking."

"Hmph."

"Good that you know your place as an insignificant person."

"From now on, be nice to my brother Su Fan."

"Director Nalan, Su Fan, how did Su Fan become your brother? He doesn't share the Nalan surname," Liu Feng said anxiously.

Nalanxue spoke disdainfully.

"Can't we be sworn siblings?"

"Su Fan cured my illness, I've acknowledged him as my sworn brother. From now on, anyone who bullies him is going against me, and I won't let it go."

Nalanxue's voice was loud, everyone in the corridor could hear it.

Clearly, she was deliberately backing Su Fan up.

"What?"

The crowd was shocked.

Nalanxue's infertility had been cured by Su Fan in less than half an hour.

And now, Nalanxue was elevating Su Fan in such a way by acknowledging him as her sworn brother.

This way, hadn't Su Fan become the mayor's dear brother-in-law overnight?

Who in the hospital would dare to provoke Su Fan now?

"How could this happen?"

Zhang Haitao, hiding behind the door, was cursing inwardly at this point.

This was supposed to be about Nalanxue disciplining Su Fan, but instead, it turned into her supporting him in the blink of an eye.

The most anxious person was none other than Liu Feng.

After all, he had a bet with Su Fan.

If Su Fan really had cured Nalanxue, he would have to leave the hospital.

Having studied for so many years, and his family spending money and pulling strings to get him into the top hospital, leaving would mean facing his father's belt at home.

"No, Director Nalan, there must be some trickery here."

"You, you must have been deceived by Su Fan. Infertility can't possibly be cured so quickly, he, he must be deliberately deceiving you, you must have been duped," he insisted.

A few senior experts also could not help frowning and chiming in.

"Director Nalan, what Liu is saying is correct, your condition isn't that easy to cure, this is all just a fraud orchestrated by Su Fan himself, don't be fooled by him."

They had been insisting on how terrible and difficult to treat Nalanxue's condition was; if Su Fan cured her so easily, wouldn't it be a slap to their faces?

Facing the skepticism of a group of senior experts, Nalanxue also frowned.

Undoubtedly, she had some doubts as well.

"Well then, how about a comprehensive ultrasound to check?"

It was at this moment that Su Fan, with hands in his lab coat pockets, spoke calmly.
