

Temptation 1221

Chapter 1221

After all, when he was young, he had an affair with Mrs. Tang.

Although Mrs. Tang had many lovers, Tang Luojun might not be his daughter, but it's better to be safe than sorry.

If Tang Luojun really is his daughter, then that would be troublesome.

The investigation results showed that Tang Luojun indeed was his daughter.

Because of this matter, he had more than once wanted to kill Sun Shaofeng with a palm strike.

Sun Shaofeng had no interest in the murky affairs of the older generation.

Even if there was a special relationship between him and Tang Luojun, he didn't care.

Judging by her birth time, he should call Tang Luojun 'sister.'

But he had no intention of calling Tang Luojun that; he only wanted her to call him.

After being pushed down by Sun Shaofeng once again, Tang Luojun still asked, "Why is everyone who goes never returned?"

"Su Fan shouldn't be a Martial Artist from a hidden family, could he be this powerful?"

Sun Shaofeng nodded, "Although Su Fan isn't a Martial Artist from a hidden family, his strength is indisputable."

"Since he dares to openly oppose the Sun family, he must have enough confidence."

"Judging from all his previous actions, the chances of the Sun family making him suffer are very small this time."

"However, the likelihood of him causing a big loss for the Sun family again is very high."

"Of course, out of the five people going this time, there might be one or two who can escape back."

"Do you think your old man can escape back?"

As he spoke, Sun Shaofeng suddenly thrust.

Tang Luojun's delicate petals were immediately spread open, and Sun Shaofeng smoothly entered.

What Tang Luojun said next also surprised Sun Shaofeng a bit, "Actually, I hope he won't come back this time."

Everyone thought Tang Changyuan was a decent person, but only Tang Luojun knew Tang Changyuan's true face.

In an off-road vehicle heading from Yu City to Qin Province, Tang Changyuan was resting with his eyes closed.

At the hidden Sun family, he'd always presented himself as an honest person.

But there aren't many truly honest people in this world, and Tang Changyuan certainly isn't one.

Over twenty years ago, when countless genius Martial Artists in the Sun family wished they'd die exhausted on his wife's belly, he was busy practicing martial arts.

Even when those Martial Artists were practicing martial arts, he continued practicing.

So even if his talent wasn't as good as theirs, he was the one who ultimately achieved the status of Martial Arts Grandmaster.

Among the old folks of those days, except for a very few like Sun Hongzhi, the rest wasted their talent and never became Martial Arts Grandmasters.

Therefore, the daughters of those old folks, and even some other women with good looks, became Tang Changyuan's prey.

This journey to Qin Province gave Tang Changyuan a bad premonition.

The hidden Sun family, over the years, fought whoever they wanted.

But those they handled were just insignificant characters.

This time, Su Fan is quite unusual.

"Screech—"

Two sharp and piercing sounds rang out, causing the two off-road vehicles to stop.

Tang Changyuan looked ahead, only to see several figures blocking their path not far away.

From the vehicle in front, three Martial Arts Grandmasters from the hidden Sun family had already gotten out.

Tang Changyuan exchanged a glance with another Grandmaster, then also got out of the vehicle.

"Whoosh—"

As everyone got out of the vehicle, mountain winds began to continuously howl through the forest.

They were traveling on a dirt road.

They originally intended to take a shortcut, but unexpectedly got intercepted by Su Fan's group here.

As the mountain winds blew, darkness gradually descended, and countless raindrops continuously fell.

Tang Changyuan and Su Fan had no grudge against each other, but appearing on this battlefield, they were enemies.

Tang Changyuan was astonished when he saw Su Fan.

Su Fan was younger than he imagined.
