

Temptation 145

Chapter 145 - 145 Saving the Beauty

"Ah..."

The red-haired young man let out a scream, causing Sun Rui, who had closed her eyes in despair, to open them and immediately see Su Fan standing at the entrance of the alley. "Save me..."

She fiercely bit the wrist of another blonde young man who was grabbing her arm.

Pain made the other party scream as well, and Sun Rui, having freed herself, hurriedly ran towards Su Fan, grasping at him like a lifeline, instinctively hiding behind him and tightly clutching the hem of his clothes.

"What are you doing, who let you bully people?"

Su Fan questioned the short-haired girl and the two young men sternly.

These three were not old, but the things they did were truly despicable.

They were simply scum.

Upon hearing Su Fan's questioning, the short-haired girl, far from being scared, yelled arrogantly at Su Fan.

"Who do you think you are to question me?"

"My friend was injured by you, right? Pay up, ten thousand yuan, or this won't end today."

The two young men glanced behind Su Fan, finding no one there.

Su Fan was all alone, which made the pair bold.

The young man Su Fan had injured grimaced at Su Fan.

"Kid, you dare injure your grandpa, today you won't get away without kneeling and compensating for medical expenses, or else I'll kill you."

With that, the uninjured left hand pulled out a switchblade from his pocket and flipped it towards Su Fan.

"Heh."

Su Fan looked at their behavior, his face filled with a cold laugh.

He had taken down dozens of gangs already; what were two young men and a girl to him?

Although Su Fan was about the same age as these three, in his eyes, they were merely bratty kids.

"You want compensation? There's none, but I can help you get government lodging and food."

With that, Su Fan was about to dial the police.

"Damn it, this bastard is calling the cops."

The short-haired girl looked somewhat panicked and anxious.

The injured red-haired young man's eyes turned cold.

"You're asking for it."

With that, he charged at Su Fan with the switchblade raised.

"Ah..."

Sun Rui screamed in fright.

Su Fan stood still, merely flicking his finger.

A small stone flew out, hitting the red-haired young man's knee.

"Ah."

The other fell face first in front of Su Fan.

"This kid is a trained fighter; we've met our match..."

Having seen Su Fan's formidable ability, the remaining blonde young man trembled non-stop, not daring to advance any further.

The short-haired girl also swallowed nervously.

"You, what do you want to do?"

Su Fan's eyes were filled with coldness.

"That question should be saved for the police."

With that, Su Fan continued to make the call.

At that moment, a delicate hand reached from behind Su Fan and pressed down on his phone.

A timid voice followed.

"Don't, don't call the cops..."

Su Fan slightly turned, meeting Sun Rui's pleading gaze.

"They bullied you so much, can we really not call the police?"

Sun Rui said with a sobbing tone.

"I know you're doing this for me, but I'm begging you, please don't call the police, or else I won't be able to stay at school anymore, and I, I'm also afraid to let my parents know about this."

"I'm begging you."

Su Fan hesitated.

He finally understood.

This was bullying.

This damned short-haired girl must be the boss.

"You, come here."

He looked at the short-haired girl and said coldly.