Chapter 461: Gold Needle Seals the Brain

Shen Xinyi's brows were tightly knit, the exquisite beauty of her face marred by an expression of agony.

Even though Su Fan was saving someone with silver needles, the Acupuncture Technique he was now using was called "Golden Needle Seal the Brain."

"Golden Needle Seal the Brain" aimed to thoroughly protect most brain regions of Shen Xinyi's brain.

A part of Shen Xinyi's brain had already been damaged.

This was extremely serious, but not beyond remedy.

As long as the other regions of her brain were completely protected and then the damaged regions were repaired and the drug effects in her body were neutralized one by one, Shen Xinyi could be saved.

With the current level of Western medical treatment, only the third stage could be completed.

Western medicine had absolutely no means of achieving the crucial first two stages.

What the Western medicine expert Lu Heng could not accomplish, Su Fan, the Divine Doctor, was able to do.

Lu Heng, who had previously been furious and ranting, was now dumbfounded.

It wasn't just Lu Heng; at this moment, all the doctors in the emergency room who saw this scene were basically dumbstruck.

Even Tang Sanchun, who had seen Su Fan's skilled medical interventions several times, was at this moment stunned.

But he quickly came back to his senses, elated, and said to Tang Wan, "Your aunt will be saved!"

Tang Wan did not understand the current condition of her aunt.

She was a pharmaceutical expert, not a medical one.

Therefore, she could only ask uncertainly, "My aunt will be saved?"

Tang Sanchun nodded very affirmatively, "Her biggest problem before was that her vital signs wouldn't stabilize, which in our terms means her life force was continuously weakening."

"Now that her life force has stopped weakening, all that is needed is for it to recover as much as possible, and then she could be considered saved."

"As for the residual drug effects in her body, there are many ways to resolve it, in both Chinese and Western medicine."

As if to confirm Tang Sanchun's judgment, after Su Fan inserted several more needles, Shen Xinyi's complexion did indeed improve slightly.

Moreover, as time went by, the monitors on the life sign detection equipment she was connected to started showing increasingly favorable readings.

Upon seeing this scene, Tang Wan was simply overjoyed.

Tang Sanchun was just astounded and thrilled because he had witnessed the miraculous medical skills of Su Fan more than once.

Others, however, could not remain so composed!

Especially Lu Heng, who at that moment was utterly terrified, immensely shocked, with waves upon waves of astonishment crashing in his heart!

He was completely dumbfounded!

At that moment, he didn't even care about being humiliatingly contradicted by Su Fan.

Because to him, what was happening before his eyes was a medical miracle!

The method Su Fan used to save people was far beyond his comprehension!

He vaguely understood the principle behind Su Fan's lifesaving technique.

But that was precisely why he was even more shocked.

Because understanding the theory and doing it in practice are two completely different things.

For example, in theory, cryonics could grant a certain degree of immortality.

However, current cryonics are far from meeting the theoretical requirements.

Thus, today's cryonics are merely a scientific way of making mummies.

The fact that Su Fan could treat Shen Xinyi first involved stopping the drugs from further damaging her brain and then gradually repairing the damaged brain regions.

That statement is easy to make, but Lu Heng couldn't comprehend how Su Fan actually achieved it!

There were reasons for his lack of understanding, of course.

First, Lu Heng was not a Chinese medicine expert.

Second, Lu Heng was not a master of Inner Strength.

He had a severe lack of understanding of Chinese medicine, and he was just as ignorant about masters of Inner Strength.

Chapter 462 - 462 Lu Heng Makes a Formal Apology

Su Fan was able to achieve this step because, while performing the Golden Needle Sealing Brain Technique, he could use Inner Strength True Qi to nourish Shen Xinyi's damaged tissue cells.

At the same time, the silver needles he left in other parts of Shen Xinyi's body were slowly expelling the medicine from her system.

This process not only tested medical skills and Acupuncture Technique but also seriously challenged the doctor's use of Inner Strength True Qi.

Western medical experts might not necessarily be masters of Inner Strength.

But Divine Doctors of Chinese medicine generally understand Inner Strength, and their level of skill is often high.

Like Su Fan, who was both a Divine Doctor and a master of Inner Strength.

At that moment, Su Fan continued to channel his Inner Strength True Qi, helping Shen Xinyi disperse the medicinal power.

The medicine in her body turned into streaks of black blood at that time, happily flowing out through the silver needles.

On the side, her vital signs on the machine were also gradually returning to normal.

Although Shen Xinyi had not fully awakened yet, everyone, whether it was Lu Heng or the others, already knew that Shen Xinyi was out of life-threatening danger.

Lu Heng and the doctors of the Second Municipal Hospital, though they had been figuratively slapped across the face by Su Fan.

At that time, everyone was too startled to feel ashamed; their hearts could only accommodate a feeling of immense shock.

Even after a good while had passed, everyone was still unable to fully come to their senses.

Everyone felt that the scenes unfolding before their eyes were like a dream.

Such events were too fantastical, too unreal!

Compared to the other doctors, Director Lu was very eager to consult with Su Fan at that moment, wanting to know how Su Fan had managed to do this.

But since Su Fan was still saving someone, it was not a good time for him to speak up.

He remained silent, but Tang Sanchun spoke up.

"Director Lu, are you still going to hold me and the Divine Doctor accountable?"

Tang Sanchun was not gloating over his success; he was truly irritated by Lu Heng.

When he tried to save someone earlier, Lu Heng had been continuously obstructing him.

Now, when Su Fan came to save the person, he faced all sorts of obstructions and even covertly belittled Chinese medicine.

Tang Sanchun made his living in this field, and with Lu Heng smashing his "rice bowl" like that, he was naturally very angry.

Moments ago, Lu Heng had not felt any particular way, but after Tang Sanchun's remark, he could not help but feel extremely awkward.

A short time before, he had been adamantly preventing Su Fan from saving the patient, and now, Shen Xinyi had been saved by Su Fan.

Lu Heng could only apologize to Tang Sanchun and Su Fan with great sincerity, "Divine Doctor Tang, Divine Doctor Su, I was short-sighted this time. I must offer you both a serious apology!"

After Lu Heng finished speaking, he bowed deeply to Tang Sanchun and Su Fan.

Tang Sanchun stepped aside, not accepting his bow.

After all, it was Su Fan who had saved the patient; he did not want to gloat over the embarrassment of Lu Heng accepting his apology.

After solemnly apologizing to Su Fan and Tang Sanchun, Lu Heng once again bowed to Tang Wan and Shen Xinyi.

"This time, I must offer a sincere apology to the patient and her family members," he said.

"Due to my lack of skill as a physician, I almost delayed the patient's treatment."

"Had anything untoward happened to the patient, it would have been entirely my responsibility."

His statement was without fault.

But now, anyone with clear eyes knew that Shen Xinyi had been saved by Su Fan.

For Shen Xinyi to regain consciousness was just a matter of time.

However, as the Director of the Second Municipal Hospital, it was not easy for Lu Heng to admit his mistake and acknowledge it at once.

The other doctors of the hospital, at that moment, were simply flushed with embarrassment, their faces burning with heat.

After all, during the previous expert consultation, each one of them had made very definite conclusions.

That was, Shen Xinyi was basically beyond help!

While everyone was feeling uncomfortable, Shen Xinyi weakly spoke up, "How am I still alive?"

Chapter 463: The whole city is shocked

After Shen Xinyi spoke, Tang Wan, of course, hugged her aunt with great tenderness.

"Auntie, you're so silly. What kind of man is worth dying for like this?"

"How could you do such a foolish thing? We were all worried to death!"

"You have no idea how dangerous your situation was this time!"

"If it hadn't been for Divine Doctor Su..."

While holding Shen Xinyi, Tang Wan recounted the entire incident to her once again, point by point.

In fact, Shen Xinyi didn't need Tang Wan to explain so much; she already knew what had happened to her.

Because Shen Xinyi was a doctor herself!

However, Shen Xinyi didn't work at City Second Hospital but at the Provincial Hospital.

She was very clear that taking such a large dosage of medicine, the only outcome for her was death.

Now that she'd been saved, her first reaction was even to wonder if she had taken the wrong medicine?
Or had she bought counterfeit drugs?

It was only after listening to Tang Wan recount everything that she suddenly realized.

She hadn't taken the wrong medicine; she had encountered a master!

She couldn't help but cast her glance in the direction of Su Fan.

She still found it incredible to this moment.

If someone like her could be saved by Su Fan, then many other patients deemed hopeless, if encountered by Su Fan, would clearly have a chance to cling to life again.

It's just that these people, obviously, weren't as lucky as she was to meet a Divine Doctor like Su Fan at the brink of death.

Once Shen Xinyi's vital signs stabilized, Su Fan also said to Lu Heng, "Doctor Lu, do you have paper and pen? I need to prescribe a few formulas for the patient."

Right now, Su Fan wasn't really mocking Lu Heng.

He truly needed to prescribe some medicine for Shen Xinyi to nourish her body.

Despite Shen Xinyi now being awake, her vitality had been greatly damaged.

If she wasn't properly cared for, her body would develop many complications.

Lu Heng felt even more ashamed and embarrassed, especially since not long ago, he had been insisting that the patient wouldn't survive long enough for Su Fan to prescribe and decoct the herbal medicines.

And now, the person whom Western medicine had given up on, unable to save, had been revived by traditional Chinese medicine.

This time, Lu Heng's face as a medical expert had been soundly slapped by Su Fan, left and right!

Yet all he could say was, "Yes, we have some. I'll get them for Divine Doctor Su."

Before meeting Su Fan, Lu Heng had thought the title "Divine Doctor" was a joke.

Now he understood that indeed, a Chinese medicine national treasure could rightly be revered as a Divine Doctor—they were truly extraordinary!

Just like Su Fan, who had, right before his eyes, saved someone on the verge of death, he couldn't comprehend how Su Fan had achieved it.

He also came to the realization that if even Shen Xinyi could be saved by Su Fan, then many others deemed beyond help weren't truly hopeless after all.

It was just that their Western medical abilities were limited, unable to extend someone's life any further.

Paper and pen were quickly brought over, and Su Fan immediately wrote down several prescriptions, along with instructions for decoction and requirements for administration.

As long as the patient followed his prescriptions, took medicines accordingly, and rested earnestly, after a period of recovery, she would be able to heal completely without any lingering health issues.

The events here had also quickly come to the attention of the television stations—and not just one news program, but many!

In Western medicine, Lu Heng was considered the leading expert in Yang City.

The medical center where he had worked abroad was extremely well-known globally.

If a patient was diagnosed as hopeless by Lu Heng, then in nine out of ten cases, it truly meant there was no hope.

But who could have imagined, who would have dared to believe, that despite Lu Heng and other doctors agreeing that there was no hope for Shen Xinyi, she was miraculously saved by Su Fan!

Such explosive news naturally stimulated the nerves of many journalists!

Suddenly, reporters from various media outlets, carrying all kinds of cameras and equipment, flocked to the City Second Hospital.

At any other time, having so many journalists visit the hospital would, of course, make Lu Heng and the hospital's leaders very happy.

This time, however, Lu Heng and many hospital leaders couldn't feel happy at all.

They simply loathed the person who had leaked the news to the major media outlets to no end—this influx of journalists was the ultimate embarrassment for them!

Meanwhile, Su Fan remained unaware that he had become famous throughout Yang City once again.

This time, however, it was a little different from before.

Because this time, he had saved a patient whom Lu Heng and the experts at City Second Hospital had declared beyond saving.

Not only were all major news media paying attention to this event, but many significant figures in Yang City who knew of Lu Heng's medical skills were also watching closely.

Chapter 464: Racing to Report

Lu Heng had never expected that this incident would evolve to this stage.

Otherwise, no matter how critical he was of traditional Chinese medicine, he wouldn't have launched veiled attacks on Su Fan.

Now he had brewed a bitter wine that he had to swallow himself.

When hordes of journalists from various media swarmed in and gathered not far from the emergency room, Lu Heng's face was filled with shame.

Unfortunately, most of the journalists didn't recognize any other doctors in the hospital; they only knew him, the hospital director.

In front of Lu Heng, reporters quickly surrounded him, and all sorts of cameras were pointed at him at this moment.

A journalist was the first to inquire, "Director Lu, is the saying that's circulating outside true?"

"I heard that your hospital admitted a patient whom Director Lu and many experts at your hospital unanimously thought was beyond hope."

"But after Su Fan, the Divine Doctor, took action, this patient was saved. Is that true?"

The reporter's words cut to the quick.

As she finished speaking and handed the microphone to Director Lu Heng, the usually eloquent director found himself stammering, at a loss for words.

And just at that moment, another journalist twisted the knife further.

"Director Lu Heng, is it inconvenient for you to speak, or do you concede to this matter?"

Lu Heng was filled with regret.

If he had known there would be so much trouble afterward, he would have never slandered Su Fan and traditional Chinese medicine.

If Su Fan hadn't been able to save Shen Xinyi, it would have been one thing, but now that the patient was alive, what more could he say?

For a moment, Lu Heng could only respond with silence.

In front of all the journalists, he couldn't say anything about his own lack of medical skill, as that would not only impact him personally but would also have a very negative effect on the hospital.

While Director Lu Heng remained extremely silent, Su Fan emerged from the emergency room.

He had heard the commotion outside but didn't know what was happening.

When he came out and discovered there were so many journalists, he was somewhat surprised.

Having appeared on television a few times before, many of the journalists recognized Su Fan.

After they saw Su Fan, the cameras and many microphones were all presented before him.

"Divine Doctor Su, may I interview you?"

"Divine Doctor Su, are the rumors that are circulating true?"

"Was a patient who had been declared incurable by Director Lu Heng and other medical experts truly saved by you?"

"They say you used a 'spell' to save this person, is that true?"

For ordinary people, bringing someone back from the brink of death would certainly be akin to a spell.

The numerous journalists around were very curious, and they had many questions.

They were asking so many questions partially to satisfy their curiosity and partly because of work needs; they had many questions for Su Fan.

Although Su Fan wouldn't answer all their questions, he still selected some to respond to from those asked by the people present.

When a journalist asked if he used traditional Chinese medical skills to save the person, Su Fan spoke up,

"When I saved the person, I didn't use any spells, because I'm not a divine being, I'm just a doctor, and what I used was traditional Chinese medical skills."

Upon hearing this, the surrounding journalists immediately had many more questions.

Surrounded by them, Su Fan wasn't overwhelmed and handled their questions aptly.

If initially this matter was followed only by Yang City's high society, after these media reports, the people of Yang City and its surroundings quickly became aware of it.

If Lu Heng was just a figurehead, it would have been one thing, but this man was genuinely skilled.

As a result, Su Fan's reputation was naturally elevated even higher.

Chapter 465 - 465 The Foolish Woman Who Jumped into the River

Su Fan didn't care much about the attention from all walks of life in Yang City.

After numerous reporters had interviewed him, Tang Wan formally invited him to visit the Tang family.

The Tang family was not involved in politics, business, the military, or martial arts, but was rather a scholarly family.

In the past, it was enough to be considered a scholarly family if you had a collection of books and a tradition of classical studies.

Nowadays, if your family doesn't have several high-level intellectuals to present, you certainly can't claim to be a scholarly family.

In Tang Wan's family, they were generally PhDs and masters; there were even two postdoctoral researchers.

Such a family, of course, deserved the title of a scholarly household.

Because he was going to attend Old Master Liu's hundredth birthday celebration with Tang Wan later on, Su Fan did not decline Tang Wan's invitation.

Having saved Tang Wan's aunt this time, the many relatives in her family were naturally grateful to him for a while.

During the meal, they also frequently urged him to drink.

After the lively festivities, Su Fan and Tang Wan finally had the opportunity to be alone again.

Su Fan thought for a moment and still had to ask, "Was your aunt deceived by someone, or what happened?"

"If she can't overcome the emotional block in her heart, it's still very dangerous."

His words were not an exaggeration.

As the saying goes, "One's mental problems need to be treated with the right mental medicine."

Shen Xinyi was saved by him this time, but if she couldn't come to terms with things and decided to do something foolish again, that would surely be troublesome.

After thinking for a while, Tang Wan immediately replied, "My aunt was in love with a divorced man."

"Before that man got married, my aunt dated him."

"Later, when my aunt went abroad to study, he got married not long after, and the two of them stopped contacting each other."

"It's just that my aunt still couldn't forget him, and then she ran into him when he was divorced."

"The two of them were together again for some time when my aunt was very invested in this relationship."

"Then, the man reconciled with his ex-wife and remarried, and my aunt couldn't handle it and ended up like this."

After Tang Wan finished speaking, Su Fan was also silent for a while.

In this situation, Tang Wan's aunt and that man, obviously both had their issues.

However, Su Fan was a doctor, not an expert in emotions.

He was also not clear on how emotional issues should be handled.

At this time, all he could say to Tang Wan was, "Make sure your aunt takes her medication on time, and her health should recover quickly."

"Also, when Old Master Liu's hundredth birthday celebration begins, I'll come to your home to pick you up."

Tang Wan nodded, "Okay."

After speaking, she continued, "Dr. Su, I truly can't thank you enough for today."

"Even when we were dining at the restaurant, it was Dr. Su who helped me."

"Later, when my aunt had an accident, even Director Lu was out of options, but it was all thanks to Dr. Su that my aunt was brought back."

As Tang Wan said these things, she felt extremely grateful to Su Fan in her heart.

Su Fan just smiled and said, "I'm a doctor, and saving people is something I'm supposed to do."

The two chatted for a while longer in Tang Wan's home before Su Fan took his leave.

He would have to wait for Old Master Liu's hundredth birthday celebration before he would see Tang Wan again.

After leaving the Tang family's villa, Su Fan drove off, ready to head back home.

He could have gone to Bai Man's place or met up with another woman for the night.

But Su Fan did not expect that tonight, he wouldn't be able to go anywhere.

For on the bridge not far away, a woman in a light purple dress had already leapt into the air.

Beneath the bridge was a river. The water wasn't too deep or too shallow, and one could easily swim across if they knew how.

But the woman who had jumped was Shen Xinyi, and she clearly was in despair once again!

Chapter 466: A Slap to Awaken

If Su Fan hadn't come across the incident, that would be one thing, but since he did, even though he felt furious inside, he couldn't stand by and watch someone die.

Su Fan quickly parked his car by the roadside, then he leaped from the bridge and immediately went to rescue the person.

The river's current was not very rapid.

But the visibility was poor at the moment, and it wasn't until after Su Fan had jumped in and observed for a while that he spotted Shen Xinyi struggling in the water.

He immediately started to paddle toward Shen Xinyi with haste.

When he got to Shen Xinyi's side, he found that she had already swallowed a few mouthfuls of water.

This woman clearly couldn't swim; had it not been for Su Fan noticing her foolish act in time, she might have already sunk to the bottom of the river, her life extinguished.

After seizing Shen Xinyi, Su Fan supported her with one hand, while with the other hand he began to paddle and then, using both hands and feet, paddled with remarkable agility.

Before long, he managed to get Shen Xinyi to the shore.

Once onshore, without saying much, Su Fan raised his hand and gave Shen Xinyi a fierce slap!

His slap was not very heavy.

But since Shen Xinyi was a frail woman, under his slap, a trace of blood appeared at the corner of her mouth.

Even so, Shen Xinyi's heart still felt dead as ashes.

Today in the hospital, she had in fact decided not to do anything foolish.

But as she dwelled on her past, the more she thought about it, the unhappier she became.

Then, in a dazed state, she came to the bridge and jumped off.

Seeing that Shen Xinyi didn't speak, Su Fan could only say in extreme anger, "What were you thinking?"

"If you're not afraid to die, what else is there to be afraid of?"

Su Fan was truly infuriated by Shen Xinyi. If it weren't for him, she would have died in the hospital.

Now that she had narrowly escaped death, she still didn't know how to cherish her life and continued seeking death.

In response to Su Fan's scolding, Shen Xinyi didn't reply but just stared blankly, her eyes showing a dead and unresuscitable mood.

Su Fan felt somewhat helpless and could only say, "I'm taking you to a hotel now. Your physical condition is not good as it is, and you were just exposed to the cold."

"I'll give you another acupuncture treatment, or else you're going to get seriously ill."

"If there's anything you can't get over, although I'm not a psychologist, you can still talk to me."

As Su Fan spoke, he picked up Shen Xinyi and walked toward his car.

In the moment he held Shen Xinyi, Su Fan was also momentarily dazed.

This woman felt so soft, and her figure was unbelievably attractive.

He almost couldn't understand why that man had ultimately not chosen Shen Xinyi in the end.

After getting Shen Xinyi into the car, Su Fan took her to a nearby hotel.

Upon arriving at the hotel, he adjusted the air conditioning to a suitable temperature, wiped wet hair of Shen Xinyi, and then used the hotel's hair dryer to dry her hair.

After all this, Su Fan removed Shen Xinyi's clothes and treated her with acupuncture.

Before, Shen Xinyi had always been like a soulless puppet, letting Su Fan manipulate her.

But this time it was different. While Su Fan was giving her acupuncture again, she finally spoke a few words.

"Thank you."

This sentence was, of course, meant to express gratitude toward Su Fan.

Today in the hospital, it was indeed Su Fan who saved her life, and the same was true a short time ago.

After saying that, Shen Xinyi added, "I'm sorry..."

She said this because the efforts of Su Fan and others to save her were not easy.

After they had rescued her, she showed no appreciation for her own life.

In not much time, she went to seek death once more, which was clearly very sorry toward Su Fan and the other people who had saved and cared for her.

Su Fan shook his head, "You need to resolve your own troubles, or you can talk to me about what you can't let go of."

"Life is extremely precious, and everyone only has one life to live; how can it be given up so easily?"

Chapter 467 - 467 What Nonsense

Su Fan had originally intended to give Shen Xinyi a piece of his mind.

Behavior like Shen Xinyi's, which showed no respect for her own life, clearly deserved severe reproach!

But seeing Shen Xinyi's pitiful appearance, as if she were pearls struck by rain, Su Fan ultimately did not speak the harsh words.

Shen Xinyi hesitated for a moment but finally said, "I just feel that I've been deceived..."

"He had said he would wait for me to finish my studies, but he didn't wait."

"He also said that his marriage was a mistake, and that he and I were supposed to be together."

"But just when I started planning our wedding, he remarried that woman!"

At this point, Shen Xinyi broke down in immense sorrow and started crying.

Not only that, the usually meticulous Shen Xinyi, who had been lying on the bed, got up all at once, embraced Su Fan tightly, and wept bitterly in his arms.

Just then, Su Fan was helping Shen Xinyi with her acupuncture.

Given her extremely unstable mood, he clearly couldn't continue the acupuncture.

He promptly raised his arm and gently removed each silver needle from Shen Xinyi's back.

Shen Xinyi's emotional fluctuations were too great, making it easy for the needles to harm her.

It would not be too late to continue her treatment after her emotions had stabilized.

However, Shen Xinyi's emotions clearly were not going to stabilize easily.

Her full, soft bosom pressed tightly against Su Fan, and she seemed not to care.

She just kept holding onto Su Fan, crying incessantly.

Su Fan could only keep trying to comfort her, but regrettably, he wasn't an expert in handling emotions, so his attempts to comfort Shen Xinyi were not very effective.

What Su Fan didn't expect was that Shen Xinyi suddenly raised her pretty face, looked at him very seriously, and said:

"If he dares to wrong me, I'll make sure he regrets it thoroughly!"

"Everything I had could have been his."

"But from now on, any man but him can have my body!"

"I want to show him what a slut the woman he once deeply loved has become!"

Upon hearing this, Su Fan couldn't help himself and slapped Shen Xinyi.

"Calm down, what nonsense are you talking?"

Shen Xinyi did not think she had said anything wrong just now.

Just a moment ago, she had expressed her gratitude and apologies to Su Fan, but now she had become extremely radical.

After being slapped by Su Fan, she still looked at him seriously and calmly said:

"I want to become a whore that thousands mount and millions ravish, a cheap slut!"

"This is all his doing! It's all because he has deceived my feelings over and over again!"

"I want to see if he truly feels no guilt at all!"

Su Fan, by now, could tell that Shen Xinyi still couldn't let go of that man in her heart.

The things Shen Xinyi said were partly in anger, partly in retaliation against that man.

This time, Su Fan couldn't bring himself to slap Shen Xinyi again.

In her current state, it was clear that slapping her wouldn't wake her up.

Instead of scolding and hitting her, what Shen Xinyi needed more right now was consolation.

Su Fan thought for a moment, then could only take off his jacket, put it on Shen Xinyi, and then just held Shen Xinyi quietly in his arms.

Shen Xinyi was clearly engulfed by her anguish, her entire being submerged in pain.

Thus, even though she was enveloped in Su Fan's warm embrace, she kept ranting, "Don't you want to sleep with me? To be the first among ten thousand men, aren't you willing?"

"Are you going to do it or not? If you won't, I'll find someone else! Even a homeless man on the street would do!"

Su Fan wasn't particularly good at comforting people, so as Shen Xinyi said these things, he could only hold her quietly.

Chapter 468: The Resentful Wife in the Inner Chamber

Shen Xinyi's emotions were initially very agitated.

But as time passed, she gradually began to tire.

After all, her body was somewhat weak and had recently been chilled.

After her emotions had calmed down, Su Fan brought her a cup of hot water and wiped her tear-streaked cheeks with a towel.

Having done all this, Su Fan then took out the acupuncture needles and treated Shen Xinyi again.

Shen Xinyi really was too weak and utterly exhausted.

Or perhaps it was because Su Fan was by her side that she felt very safe and at ease.

Once she lay down on the bed again, she fell asleep.

After Su Fan finished administering the acupuncture to Shen Xinyi, he didn't leave.

He simply walked over to the nearby sofa, sat down, and fell asleep.

If Shen Xinyi woke up in the middle of the night and did something foolish, he was clearly there to stop her.

Luckily this time, Shen Xinyi didn't cause any trouble.

She didn't attempt anything life-threatening until the next morning.

Shortly after Shen Xinyi woke up and sat up in bed,

Su Fan, leaning on the sofa, also opened his eyes.

Seeing Su Fan, who had slept uncovered on the sofa all night, Shen Xinyi couldn't help but feel deeply guilty.

After a comfortable night's sleep, her physical condition and mood had greatly improved.

At this time, she was no longer thinking of any life-threatening acts.

Having been saved by Su Fan twice, just the thought of Su Fan immediately dispelled any negative thoughts from her mind.

This time, Shen Xinyi looked very seriously and gratefully towards Su Fan and spoke earnestly.

"Dr. Su, thank you for saving me twice, I don't know how I can ever repay you."

Su Fan shook his head, yawning as he said, "Just take good care of yourself, recover well, and don't think too much about those emotional issues."

After speaking, he stood up, picked up his coat, and put it on.

Then he said to Shen Xinyi, "I need to go to the hospital for work now. Will you be okay here alone?"

Shen Xinyi nodded seriously, "I'll be fine. If possible, I would like to go to the hospital where you work for further treatment."

Hearing her say this, Su Fan was also relieved.

It seemed that Shen Xinyi had indeed come to her senses and would no longer seek life-threatening actions.

As for her wishing to go to his workplace for further treatment, Su Fan naturally would not refuse.

Although Shen Xinyi was recovering well, further treatment would obviously help her recover even faster.

Su Fan and Bai Man had left Yang City not long ago and spent some time in Xijing.

Of course, the hospital was abuzz with rumors about the two of them.

But now that they had returned just like nothing had happened, the various rumors about them in the hospital inevitably collapsed on their own.

After Su Fan had taken Shen Xinyi to the hospital, he went to his department.

The other doctors in the hospital were more than capable of handling Shen Xinyi's follow-up treatment; his direct involvement was not necessary.

During the time Su Fan was away, Liu Qing had clearly been missing him terribly.

Just after Su Fan had sent Shen Xinyi for treatment, Liu Qing called him to her office.

"Xiao Fan, why were you gone for so long!"

Liu Qing looked at Su Fan with a tone full of reproach, sounding like a lovelorn woman.

Seeing her like this, Su Fan couldn't help but laugh, and immediately embraced Liu Qing.

"What's the matter, can't you stand being apart for just a few days?"

As he spoke, Su Fan's hand made a bold move, starting to knead Liu Qing's soft peaks.

Liu Qing's eyes immediately filled with a seductive charm.

Indeed, Su Fan was right; during his absence, Liu Qing had missed him terribly.

Chapter 469: Can Watch, Cannot Interfere

Liu Qing and other women were somewhat different.

Many women are afraid of getting screwed, but Liu Qing belonged to the type who wasn't afraid at all.

Almost every day, she craved to receive tons and tons of Su Fan's fierce output.

However, when Su Fan and Bai Man were in West Capital, it clearly was impossible for her to chase them there and have Su Fan fiercely output on her.

"You slut, unbutton yourself," Su Fan said coldly as he noted Liu Qing's appearance.

Liu Qing's qualities were actually not lacking at all.

Among the many beautiful female doctors, she was definitely one of the most outstanding.

Even compared to a top-notch beauty like Bai Man, Liu Qing was only slightly less attractive.

But Liu Qing was very picky about men, and after experiencing Su Fan's "Nine Heavens Raging Dragon," she completely lost interest in other men.

Only Su Fan's rugged and robust "Nine Heavens Raging Dragon" could fill the emptiness and loneliness in her heart.

After Su Fan spoke, Liu Qing didn't hesitate.

She not only quickly unbuttoned and removed her intimate clothing but even pulled Su Fan's big hand to her rounded, full breasts.

This time, Su Fan didn't immediately let Liu Qing experience the terrifying impact of his "magic spear," but rather showed her the skilled techniques he had been practicing and improving recently.

Liu Qing's two extremely soft doughs constantly changed shape under Su Fan's skillful hands.

Just as Su Fan was about to unleash the dragon and start a further fierce battle, the office door was knocked on.

Liu Qing and Su Fan were both slightly startled, and both thought it was a mood killer simultaneously.

Su Fan had no choice but to let go of Liu Qing, signaling her to quickly fix her clothes.

After Liu Qing fixed her clothes, he also went to open the door.

As the door opened, Su Fan found that the visitor was a new female doctor he had never seen before in the hospital.

While Su Fan knocked on the door, he was also looking at his phone.

When Su Fan opened the door, the person also called out "Sister."

Su Fan was initially puzzled, but then realized that Liu Qing had arranged for her younger sister to work at the hospital.

Liu Xin originally assumed her sister would be the one opening the door at this moment.

Unexpectedly, the person opening the door turned out to be Su Fan, a big celebrity in their hospital and even across the entire medical community of Yang City!

Seeing Su Fan, Liu Yun was very happy.

She quickly said to Su Fan, "Hello, Divine Doctor Su, I am your little fangirl."

Liu Yun's words were half-joking, half-serious.

As a doctor, she greatly admired Su Fan.

After all, based on recently published news reports, Su Fan's medical skills even surpassed those of Yang City's leading Western medicine expert, Lu Heng.

This statement, light as it was, actually carried a lot of weight!

Lu Heng's medical skills were definitely not inferior!

Anyone in the industry knew that Lu Heng was genuinely talented and learned.

Unfortunately, after encountering the divinely skilled Su Fan, his proud medical skills were clearly not on par.

That's why he was overtaken by Su Fan massively.

After Liu Yun said she was his little fangirl, Su Fan also smiled and said, "Now that we're colleagues, we can discuss medical skills when we have the time."

Liu Yun was, of course, very happy to agree, so much so that she utterly failed to notice her sister's flushed complexion.

What they had just been up to in Su Fan's office was definitely not something decent.

But now, Liu Yun wouldn't think about these things.

Since Liu Xin came looking for Liu Qing for some reason, it obviously meant that he and Liu Xin could no longer continue.

This made Su Fan feel somewhat depressed.

Last night, Shen Xinyi, who was Tang Wan's younger aunt, had just suffered an injury.

Although Shen Xinyi said some things that made Su Fan's blood boil, his current view of Shen Xinyi was still that she was off-limits.

Chapter 470: Hundredth Birthday Banquet

Liu Qing was different; he was an old flame of hers.

He knew the depth of Liu Qing well, and Liu Qing was familiar with his strengths and shortcomings.

In such a situation, it was only natural for them to engage in some wonderful activities.

Especially since absence makes the heart grow fonder, and they had just been apart for a while.

If this could be managed, Su Fan and Liu Qing could certainly soar to new heights together.

Regrettably, the arrival of Liu Yun put a temporary stop to Su Fan's plans.

After Liu Yun came over, Su Fan also went to other wards to check on the patients.

Adding to Su Fan's frustration, Liu Yun would find excuses to visit her sister's office frequently.

This left Su Fan and Liu Qing quite exasperated.

Liu Yun's frequent visits prevented them from working peacefully.

Liu Yun came over every other day, initially to see her sister, of course.

But later, she mostly came to see Su Fan.

Regarding this beautiful colleague, Su Fan was at his wit's end for a while.

He and Liu Qing could have enjoyed their fun in the open, but with this "little aunt" around, they had to look for opportunities.

However, from the start of the centennial birthday celebration for Elder Lord Liu of Yang City, Su Fan and Liu Qing hardly had a chance to engage in meaningful exchanges.

At the Liu's Mansion in Yang City, when Elder Lord Liu's centennial celebration started, the entire Yang City stirred momentarily.

On the highway near the Liu family estate, luxury cars gathered like clouds, and celebrities fell like rain.

Such a grand scene was quite rare in Yang City.

This also showed just how pivotal the Liu family's status in Yang City really was!

Su Fan had earlier agreed with Tang Wan that they would attend the centennial birthday together.

Thus, after the celebration started, Su Fan drove to pick up Tang Wan.

Unexpectedly, he not just picked up Tang Wan but also Shen Xinyi, who had dressed up meticulously.

If Tang Wan was a cool beauty, then Shen Xinyi was a cool yet enchanting beauty.

Su Fan had already found her very beautiful when she wore little makeup.

After she dressed up carefully this time, he was even more stunned by her appearance.

Ordinary women, even if they gave their all, might find it difficult to attain a level where countless men desired them.

After all, if a woman isn't very beautiful, men obviously wouldn't be interested just because she is female.

But if Shen Xinyi really wanted to, Su Fan thought that there would be well over ten thousand men willing to be with her.

However, Su Fan currently only regarded Shen Xinyi's previous words as idle talk, and of course, would not bring up a sensitive topic at this time.

Upon seeing Shen Xinyi, Su Fan greeted her, "Ms. Shen, are you joining us as well?"

He had already noticed that Shen Xinyi had also received an invitation.

Previously unaware, he now fully understood how prestigious Elder Lord Liu's centennial banquet was.

Shen Xinyi's possession of an invitation indicated that her status was genuinely high.

Shen Xinyi nodded and then said jokingly, "I'm not going to be a third wheel by going with you two, am I?"

"If it would be troublesome, I can drive there myself."

During the conversation, she covered her mouth and giggled.

When she was not having a breakdown, Shen Xinyi was indeed a very cheerful woman.

Being with her was always a pleasure and quite entertaining.

Tang Wan embarrassingly said, "Little aunt, what are you talking about!"

"I'm just an ordinary friend with Dr. Su, I'm not seeing anyone."

While speaking, Tang Wan stole a glance at Su Fan.

Su Fan, of course, did not take Shen Xinyi's joke to heart.

Instead, he said, "Let's all go together; the more, the merrier."

As he spoke, Su Fan opened the car door and let Tang Wan and Shen Xinyi get in.
