Chapter 561: The Little Girl Hasn't Gone to Sleep Yet

Chen Hanqing had been stabbed in the thigh by Zhou Biao before.

Although he bled quite a bit at the time, the injury was not very severe.

When he finished visiting Chen Hanqing and left, the sky outside was already very late.

He arrived at the company's security station and saw Jue Kong standing there silently reciting scriptures.

After seeing him, Jue Kong joined his hands together in a salute, and Su Fan nodded slightly before driving the car into the company's parking lot.

He didn't go back to his own suite on the sixth floor, but rather went to the fourth floor, to the room of Su Ya and Su Xiaoya.

Su Fan knocked on the door, and when Su Ya saw that it was him, she opened the door.

In just a few hours, Su Ya had tidied up the room very neatly, as she was naturally a woman of wifely virtue and maternal kindness.

After Su Fan entered the room, he swept Su Ya into his arms.

He hadn't been in contact with Su Ya since he went to Xijing.

Since returning from Xijing, he also had a pile of matters waiting for him.

Not until today did he have the opportunity to be intimate with Su Ya.

Su Ya was a gentle and beautiful woman, as pure and unadorned as a lotus flower rises from the clear water.

Although her true identity was that of a lady of high society, years of impoverished living, coupled with her ignorance of her origins, made her seem more like a delicate beauty.

Suddenly embraced with such enthusiasm by Su Fan, Su Ya felt somewhat shy.

Moreover, she also noticed, somewhat irritated, that Su Fan's techniques were becoming increasingly proficient.

After lifting her into his arms, he casually undid her chest guard, and his rough hand launched a fierce assault on her tender and full peaks.

Not only that, her skirt was also lifted by Su Fan.

His gradually recovering furious dragon transformed in that moment into a sharp lance, aiming straight for her tender core.

After emitting a beautiful note from her throat, Su Ya felt the long-missed fullness and expansion.

It was an ultimate sensation of completeness and extreme pleasure, only because Su Fan had more than enough to ensure a snug fit between the two.

While Su Ya experienced this immense pleasure, she also felt a slight, tearing pain.

However, Su Fan's extremely skilled techniques inevitably left Su Ya feeling a touch of melancholy.

Strictly speaking, she and Su Fan had not been apart for a very long time.

The proficiency of Su Fan's methods, she couldn't help but wonder, had been practiced on how many other women.

Although Su Ya knew that Su Fan was never exclusively hers and that she was also willingly at his service, after being fiercely cultivated and harvested by him, she couldn't help but wish that she could have been the one he practiced with.

But soon, all such thoughts in Su Ya's heart turned into a trace of nervousness.

She immediately whispered, "Having moved to a new environment, I don't know if Xiaoya has fallen asleep..."

Hearing this, Su Fan also remembered this concern.

He immediately carried Su Ya and went to open Su Xiaoya's bedroom door.

Su Ya became anxious at once, "Don't do that, Xiao Fan, come out first."

Su Fan, unconcerned, said, "It's okay, I'll just open a crack to check."

As he said, he indeed only opened a crack in the door to Su Xiaoya's bedroom.

On the big bed, Su Xiaoya seemed to be sleeping very soundly.

Seeing this, Su Ya also breathed a sigh of relief.

However, neither Su Fan nor Su Ya expected that after changing to a new environment, Su Xiaoya would not fall asleep so easily.

At this moment, Su Xiaoya was squinting her eyes, observing the two of them.

But looking out through the crack in the door, she couldn't see much, could it be that Uncle Su Fan was holding her mother tightly?

Just as Su Xiaoya wanted to see more, Su Fan already closed the door.

Even though he had closed the door, the continuous, tender moans from Su Ya still kept drifting into Su Xiaoya's room.

This night was destined to be a sleepless one for Su Ya.

Her previous judgment was completely accurate.

During this period, Su Fan had interacted with many women and learned a lot of new things.

Today, since the opportunity presented itself, Su Fan naturally wanted to use every technique on Su Ya before he would allow her to go to sleep.

Chapter 562: Unbearable Pain

Su Ya had been missing Su Fan for some time.

This time, Su Fan had alleviated all her longing.

The night was already very deep, yet Su Fan seemed not tired at all.

As a high-level Martial Artist, his physical strength was extremely formidable. As long as Su Ya could cope, he could continuously make her happy for two days and two nights, or even longer.

On the sofa, Su Ya lay quietly, her soft gaze was filled with affection as she looked at Su Fan.

She didn't know how many times Su Fan had "charged" at her since his return.

All she knew was that at this moment, she didn't want to move at all.

Whenever Su Fan wanted to pick her up, she cooperated by clinging to his neck.

If Su Fan wanted her to lay flat on the sofa, she would just lie there silently, enduring his strength.

If Su Fan wanted her to lie face down on the sofa, she would turn over and do so, quietly relishing the delightful sensations Su Fan brought her.

In fact, she was feeling quite uncomfortable now.

Su Ya and Su Fan were different; she was not only not a Martial Artist, but she wasn't even a beginner.

She felt a tearing pain in her body, as if she was going to fall apart from Su Fan's actions.

At this point, her legs were even raised onto the back of the sofa by Su Fan.

Then, Su Fan began a new round of "charging" at her from a whole new position.

Su Ya gradually realized that this night was destined to be a battle without end.

Su Fan was happy, and so was Su Ya.

Because two people who liked each other had their souls merged together.

Wang Fei, however, was in agony, tremendous agony.

She was lying in Qi Tian's bed, their eyes locked on each other.

Qi Tian certainly hadn't noticed any emotional changes in Wang Fei during this time.

Even if he had noticed, he wouldn't care.

In Qi Dongliang's eyes, Qi Tian was dispensable, not very significant.

Although Qi Dongliang had only one son at home, he had other children with mistresses outside.

In Qi Tian's eyes, Wang Fei wasn't very significant either.

With Qi Tian's status, the number of women in Yang City who wanted to share his bed could circle the Qi Mansion several times.

Therefore, he didn't care about Wang Fei's situation or emotions, nor did he even consider what kind of circumstances Wang Fei was facing now.

Although he didn't value Wang Fei very much, he was very satisfied with her.

Wang Fei possessed beauty and a figure that rivaled Yin Qianyue, but unlike the cold Yin Qianyue, he had complete control over Wang Fei.

He could use her wherever and whenever he wanted.

Wang Fei looked at Qi Tian in front of her, her eyes full of sorrow.

Initially, she thought that even if life in a rich family wasn't as she expected, she could endure it for a while.

After all, Qi Tian, who didn't know moderation and indulged excessively, wasn't going to last long.

As for Qi Dongliang, he was already old and would soon be completely incapacitated.

As long as she could endure, everything would eventually pass.

The wealth of the Qi family would all belong to her in the future.

But even with her strong endurance, she was starting to find it unbearable!

The men of the Qi family were simply inhuman.

Qi Tian, perhaps too agitated by his experiences with Yin Qian Yue, seemed determined to completely compensate for it with her.

When together with Qi Tian, he could do overly intimate things to her anytime, anywhere, regardless of the situation.

For instance, while dining in a restaurant, Qi Tian's hand would boldly knead her breast the entire time.

Moreover, Qi Tian often sat holding her face-to-face outside, and then he would go through another output session.

It would be tolerable if only Qi Tian were abnormal, but Qi Dongliang was even more abnormal than Qi Tian.

Chapter 563: Imported Potions

While Wang Fei's mind was filled with numerous thoughts, Qi Dongliang was in his room, enjoying Wang Fei's performance.

He was a very successful businessman and, on the road to success, he had, of course, endured immense pressure and solved many difficulties.

As he had aged, his ability to handle pressure was not as strong as it had been in his youth.

Having this pressure, he needed a very thorough release.

And Wang Fei was his only and best choice for relieving this pressure.

In Qi Tian's bedroom, like every other place in the villa, there were surveillance cameras installed.

Thus, every performance of Wang Fei under Qi Tian was very clear to Qi Dongliang.

Qi Dongliang remarked that he was indeed getting old.

Otherwise, in his youth, he could have made a woman like Wang Fei scream non-stop.

Luckily, his preparations for tonight were also sufficient.

A safe was opened by Qi Dongliang, and inside there were several beautifully packaged glass vials of medication.

Some medications were in blue glass bottles, and others were in pink glass bottles.

This was something great Qi Dongliang had gotten from Europe, after a man took it, he could rejuvenate with maximum vitality.

This was different from similar products on the market; after using this medication, it would greatly deplete the person.

For the next three to five days, they might be in a weakened state.

The pink medication was, of course, for women.

After a woman took it, she would continuously reach the peak of ecstasy, wave after wave of unending heights, which could make their voices scream until hoarse.

As usual, when Qi Tian was so tired that he did not even have the strength to take a bath and just collapsed on the bed, Qi Dongliang appeared.

Qi Dongliang didn't even allow Wang Fei to get up and clean herself before he undid his robe and decisively entered.

At the same time, a pink vial of medication also appeared in Qi Dongliang's hand.

As a medical representative, Wang Fei had a passable knowledge of medicine.

Seeing the ingredient list on this vial of medication, she immediately understood what it was.

Moreover, these substances were definitely not allowed for sale through legitimate channels, many ingredients were clearly excessive.

Qi Dongliang, of course, would not care about Wang Fei's thoughts or feelings.

Tonight, all he wanted was to experience ultimate pleasure through Wang Fei.

Under Qi Dongliang's cold gaze, Wang Fei could only drink the medication in extreme humiliation.

Not only did drinking the medication bring her great humiliation.

With the essence of Qi Tian's life still lingering in that mystic paradise, Qi Dongliang began a new round of onslaught.

This made Wang Fei feel like she was nothing more than a slave or even a bitch used by the Qi father and son to vent their pressures and frustrations.

She was really fed up with this kind of life.

But at Qi Dongliang's place, there was a large amount of recorded footage.

And Qi Dongliang had made it very clear to her, if she dared disclose a single word, or had any thoughts of fleeing or committing suicide.

Then everyone in Yang City would, through various means, see her strenuous performance in bed.

This left Wang Fei feeling utterly desperate, helpless, and collapsing, yet all of this was her own doing.

Now, feeling the intense agitation from the medication, she was crying endlessly while simultaneously experiencing extreme pleasure.

The tears in her eyes were like strings of beads cut loose.

The upcoming weekend gathering with Su Fan and Bai Man became her last redemption, as well as her only lifeline!

She had to admit her mistakes to Su Fan and seek his help.

Now, Su Fan should have the capability to help her, it just depended on whether he was willing to help her or not.

At the same time, Chen Hanqing was browsing through the competing companies of Dawn Pharmaceuticals.

Extreme poverty at home had denied him educational opportunities.

But this would not keep a genius buried forever; his strong learning ability was now coming into play.

Chapter 564: The Dark Side of Baiwei Pharmaceutical

Previously, Chen Hanqing was completely ignorant about business.

Recently, he had purchased all the popular business books from the library.

Then, with a very fast reading speed and high learning efficiency, he rapidly grew and learned.

He discovered that there are many pharmaceutical companies in Yang City, but there are only three real giants.

Of the three pharmaceutical companies, the other two didn't have significant issues, but Baiwei Pharmaceutical had problems.

Many of the details Baiwei Pharmaceutical had released did not match their actual situation.

This suggested that the top management of Baiwei Pharmaceutical was trying hard to cover something up.

Even if others made such a discovery, it was difficult for them to delve deeper.

But Chen Hanqing was different, he was a hacker, and possibly one of the best hackers among his peers in the world today.

For him, the internet had no limitations.

Even a large company like Baiwei Group was no match for him, as he easily breached their network defenses.

A vast amount of information that only the top management of Baiwei Group, and very few major shareholders like Qi Dongliang could access, was quickly seen by Chen Hanqing.

The more he saw, the more alarmed he became; Baiwei Group was like a company with two faces.

On the surface, the company was conducting legitimate business and doing quite well.

In secret, however, they were also engaged in illegitimate business, and it was thriving.

Many of the raw materials for their drugs were being used in violation of regulations.

Baiwei Pharmaceutical was even selling some unapproved drugs directly, effectively experimenting on patients.

Issues like these were numerous within Baiwei Group.

Moreover, many of Baiwei Group's pharmaceutical plants were violating environmental regulations by polluting.

As a result, the environment around Yang City was continuously deteriorating.

On the surface, Baiwei Group was one of Yang City's success stories.

But in reality, it was a cancerous growth!

Chen Hanqing continued to download and organize the information, having already decided that he would hand it over to Su Fan the next day.

If this had happened before, he would have felt helpless even if he knew about these issues.

But now it was different; he was an employee of Su Fan Company, and Su Fan, along with Dawn Pharmaceutical Company, would empower all of them.

With so much information at hand, he was already in a position to do a lot for Yang City.

Su Fan had always known that Chen Hanqing was a steed that could cover a thousand miles in a day, a talent with astonishing potential.

But even he couldn't have imagined that before the first product of Dawn Pharmaceutical even hit the market, the information provided by Chen Hanqing would be enough to bring down one of the biggest future competitors of Dawn Pharmaceutical!

However, at that moment, Su Fan apparently had no mind to consider business matters.

He and Su Ya had tried numerous variations, but there were still some ideas they hadn't attempted.

Su Ya was so tired she was almost asleep, but this time she clearly had received Bai Man's treatment.

That is, she could rest, but her body could not.

That night, Su Ya didn't even know how she had fallen asleep.

The next morning, when she woke up, Su Fan had already gone to work at the affiliated hospital.

Although Su Ya had joined Su Fan's company, he had given her seven days off.

For the first seven days, she could get to know the environment and didn't have to work.

But after resting for a while, Su Ya still took Su Xiaoya to school and then returned to the company.

Su Fan's company was definitely a bit peculiar.

For instance, Dawn Pharmaceutical Company's security guard was just one person, and he was a monk dressed in gray robes.

Of course, though there was only Jue Kong as a security guard, he alone was definitely more effective than a hundred guards.

When Su Ya passed by, the perfectly upright Jue Kong kept his gaze straight ahead, without wavering.

The company didn't have many people yet, and guards like Jue Kong had long memorized the identities of personnel like Su Ya.

Chapter 565: Female Teacher Drowning

Su Ya arrived at the company and began working just as Su Fan was also working.

However, he had already received the material sent to him by Chen Hanqing and became aware of the insider information of Baiwei Company.

He had truly not expected that the outwardly sleek and sparkling Baiwei Company could be so sordid behind the scenes!

Although he now really wanted to take revenge on Wang Fei, even preparing to put it into action, he had not previously considered taking down the Qi family as well.

But there was no helping it; the talent he had uncovered was just too handy.

For Chen Hanqing, the internet was practically his own backyard.

Anything that passed through the network held no secrets from Chen Hanqing.

With the wealth of materials provided by Chen Hanqing, he was now capable of crushing both the Baiwei Group and the Qi family with a single blow!

But these matters didn't need to be rushed for the time being, let the Qi family jump around for a couple more days.

He would test Wang Fei during their dinner this coming weekend.

If Wang Fei truly showed no sign of repentance, he could then play this trump card.

Lately, the medical disputes at the affiliated hospital seemed to have gotten a lot better.

The extremely aggressive families of the patients had become a rare sight.

This allowed Su Fan to feel more at ease, for when he first arrived at the hospital, his prowess had not been as strong as it was now.

Those families causing trouble over medical issues had created great distress for him.

While Su Fan was contemplating these matters, a commotion suddenly erupted outside.

He immediately had no choice but to leave his office and check on the situation.

Seeing Liu Qing outside the crowd, he straightforwardly asked her, "What happened?"

Liu Qing, upon hearing the familiar voice behind her, of course knew who was speaking.

She immediately said, "A group of college students drowned; their boat capsized suddenly while they were rowing."

"There were no rescue workers in that area at the time."

"And now...sigh..."

Liu Qing didn't continue, instead, she let out a sigh.

Without her having to continue, Su Fan of course understood what had happened.

There is a saying, "Water and fire are merciless."

Both fire and drowning are extremely terrifying and fatal.

After drowning, if one can be saved, then they can be revived quickly.

If it is not possible to be resuscitated quickly, then it is almost certainly a death sentence.

In such cases, any medical expert would be helpless.

After describing the situation to Su Fan, Liu Qing immediately interjected, "You better not meddle this time!"

"Drowning is different from other illnesses; once someone drowns, they're gone just like that!"

"The public security officers are only asking us to confirm if there are any signs of life left."

"The families of the deceased can't accept it and insist on us saving them, but there's just no way to save in this situation."

Liu Qing knew Su Fan quite well and was worried that Su Fan would try to save people again at this time.

In the past, Su Fan had turned the tide because his medical skills were indeed very impressive.

And those patients weren't really beyond help; they were just difficult to save.

But this time was different, those lying on the ground had died from drowning, and were already dead, with no hope of being saved!

Su Fan nodded but still stepped forward.

Just as a doctor was about to sign off on confirming the death of one of them, Su Fan grabbed her hand.

This doctor was an ordinary female doctor at the hospital.

It's not easy to determine whether a patient can be saved or not.

But whether a person is dead or alive is usually very easy to ascertain.

At this point, this drowning victim no longer showed any signs of life.

From a medical perspective, this patient was already dead.

Su Fan prevented the other from signing the death confirmation for this drowning victim because he had detected an extremely faint breath.

Chapter 566: Life Vitality

The "qi" he spoke of is the vital energy of life within everyone.

Even when some people's hearts have stopped beating, their vital energy still hasn't completely vanished within an extremely short period.

If they encountered a Divine Doctor during this time, there would be a chance of reviving them.

At this moment, Su Fan noticed that the woman, who appeared to be around thirty years old and looked more like a college professor than a college student, had a faint vital energy inside her.

Therefore, he reached out and grabbed the arm of the doctor from the affiliated hospital who was about to sign off on her death.

This certainly also alarmed the hospital director.

Zhang Haitao admitted his medical skills were far inferior to Su Fan's, but when it came to discerning whether a person was dead or alive, he believed he could make the judgment.

From a medical and biological standpoint, this drowning victim was indeed dead.

Seeing Su Fan's actions, Zhang Haitao couldn't help but feel a thump in his heart.

As expected, Su Fan spoke up at this moment.

"This drowning victim, I can try to revive her, she might not be dead yet."

After Su Fan spoke, the people around were all startled.

What he said was shocking!

At least three doctors here had confirmed the vital signs of the drowning victim.

They were all very certain that this exceedingly beautiful college professor had perished completely.

After Su Fan spoke, a girl, who was crying profusely, suddenly looked up at Su Fan and asked,

"Doctor, is our teacher really still savable?"

Su Fan shook his head, "I'm not sure, I can only try."

While saying this, he also lifted the woman from the ground.

The victim was ice-cold all over due to drowning, and her limbs had even stiffened.

In such a scenario, to claim that this person was still alive would indeed be absurd.

Had it been before Su Fan's breakthrough in his cultivation, he would likely also believe that the woman was deceased, but now he was willing to try reviving her.

Su Fan carried Yan Danxuan into the emergency room and began performing emergency treatment.

The method he used this time was undoubtedly unusual.

Even medical workers, generally speaking, would probably not proceed in this way.

Because Su Fan directly held Yan Danxuan close and used his own body heat and True Qi to rapidly warm up Yan Danxuan's temperature.

After he did this, Yan Danxuan's temperature did warm up quickly, but she still showed no vital signs.

This was of course very normal since all of Yan Danxuan's organs, including her brain, had stopped functioning.

After bringing Yan Danxuan's temperature back to normal, he still needed to restart her life and then get her vital energy flowing again.

The process was extremely difficult, so he had not previously made bold claims that he could definitely save Yan Danxuan.

Outside the emergency room, Zhang Haitao was feeling somewhat angry at this time.

Su Fan was renowned for his superior medical skills, but this time, he was completely fooling around, thought Zhang Haitao.

No matter how skilled his medical abilities were, they could not revive a dead person.

The three doctors who had confirmed that Yan Danxuan showed no vital signs also felt that Su Fan was being rather frivolous this time.

Issues of life and death were often beyond redemption.

Even though Su Fan had created numerous medical miracles in the past, this time, everyone was skeptical about his chances.

If it were a case of a severely ill patient being brought to the hospital, everyone would certainly believe that Su Fan could restore the patient.

But now, the problem was that a drowning victim who had completely lost vital signs had been brought in.

Faced with such a situation, even if Hua Tuo were alive or Bian Que resurrected, what could they possibly do?

To revive someone, it would probably require a Daluo Immortal descending to earth, wouldn't it?

It wasn't just one or two doctors who harbored such thoughts.

At the moment, including Director Zhang Haitao, all doctors felt the same way.

Chapter 567: About to Take a Tumble

Fortunately, the ambulance from the Second City Hospital had already been to the scene for a diagnosis.

The doctors from the Second City Hospital had confirmed that these few individuals showed no signs of life.

However, the family of the deceased were unwilling to accept this reality and thus had them transferred to the affiliated hospital.

But under such circumstances, even if the affiliated hospital had superior medical capabilities, they were similarly helpless.

Yet Su Fan was destined today to create a brand-new medical legend.

After restoring Yan Danxuan's body temperature to normal, he used the True Qi of Tai Chi, traditional Chinese massage, the Acupuncture Technique, and his own precious blood to start reviving Yan Danxuan's life force.

This process was extremely difficult.

It was also the most difficult patient Su Fan had ever saved until now.

After a considerable amount of precious blood was used, Yan Danxuan finally regained a faint heartbeat.

But this was not the end, as Su Fan needed to continuously use the Acupuncture Technique to stimulate Yan Danxuan to release more of her life potential.

Only waking her truly would mark the accomplishment of a great feat.

Time passed by minute by minute, and quickly two hours had elapsed.

The crowd that was skeptical of Su Fan naturally understood that Su Fan must have failed this time.

Otherwise, when had Su Fan ever needed so much time to save someone?

Since two hours had passed and Su Fan was unable to awaken Yan Danxuan, giving Su Fan more time would obviously still not be enough to wake Yan Danxuan.

This made Zhang Haitao's mood become very irritable.

He had warned Su Fan long ago not to meddle in business that wasn't his.

The victim this time was not ill, but had drowned.

Under such circumstances, even the highest medical expertise was useless.

But Su Fan did not listen; he was stubborn about saving people, and now a mishap had occurred, right?

The good reputation he had built from saving people might lose much of its luster this time.

Thinking of this, Zhang Haitao felt increasingly more headache.

After all, Su Fan was the golden signboard of the affiliated hospital; a dent in Su Fan's reputation was not only his own loss but also a tremendous loss for the affiliated hospital!

Zhang Haitao had already begun to consider how to manage the situation so that the impact of this incident on the hospital could be minimized.

Furthermore, he hoped that this time, Su Fan would learn his lesson and not try to save everyone.

As a doctor, one could not save people solely based on a desire to do so; one must respect the objective laws!

In the hospital, most doctors respected and greatly admired Su Fan.

But there were also doctors who were very envious and even resentful of Su Fan!

This person was none other than Wang Peng from the emergency department.

Wang Peng was somewhat older, now forty-eight years old.

He was among the very senior batch of doctors in the hospital.

However, the medical industry, unlike most other industries, does not respect seniority.

This industry looks primarily at medical skills, comprehensive capabilities, and resource background.

Like Zhang Haitao, back in his youth, his medical skills were quite exquisite, and his comprehensive capabilities were beyond question, adept at managing relationships both up and down.

As for the resource background, Zhang Haitao was certainly not lacking.

So he had fought his way up to become the dean of the affiliated hospital.

Wang Peng and Zhang Haitao entered the hospital at almost the same time.

Although he was younger than Zhang Haitao, his seniority in the hospital matched Zhang Haitao's.

But his medical skills were mediocre, his comprehensive ability was average, and he had no resource background.

Under such conditions, he could only remain an ordinary doctor.

Because he lacked the ability and the talent, he was very envious of talented young doctors like Su Fan.

If he had even thirty percent of Su Fan's medical talent, he wouldn't be in such a sorry state.

Previously, when Su Fan was successful, Wang Peng could only keep his jealousy to himself, not daring to utter any cold words.

This time, undoubtedly, Wang Peng had found an opportunity.

Chapter 568: Please Leave the Hospital

The people around only heard Wang Peng sigh and said, "Young people, they are always impulsive."

"Once they receive some praise from the outside, they forget even their own name."

The doctors nearby, of course, understood what Wang Peng meant.

And they also concluded that Su Fan had most likely stumbled this time.

But Su Fan's contributions to the affiliated hospital were significant, so of course, no one should denigrate him at this time.

A doctor immediately whispered, "Dr. Wang, maybe say a little less."

How could Wang Peng possibly say less? If no one paid attention to him, he might get bored and stop talking.

But now that other doctors had spoken up, of course, he wanted to continue.

"We are doctors, not wizards."

"We can only restore patients to health by following medical science and using our professional knowledge and skills."

"We cannot, like wizards, bring the dead back to life."

"This isn't treating and saving people; it's outrageously causing a stir to attract attention!"

His voice grew louder as he spoke, drawing the attention of everyone around.

Zhang Haitao, hearing Wang Peng's remarks, was naturally enraged.

He had just been worrying about how to wrap up the mess for Su Fan.

Now, the affiliated hospital's other rivals hadn't even jumped out yet, but their own people were the first to fall into disarray.

While Wang Peng prattled on, Zhang Haitao angrily said, "Old Wang, that's enough, say less!"

Wang Peng's life had been rather repressed and pathetic.

This caused some issues in his heart.

Seeing someone who was doing better than him suddenly fall made him feel a pathological delight.

This mistake by Su Fan gave him immense satisfaction.

If it wasn't for the drowning victim, but a patient treated to death by Su Fan, he might have been dancing with joy.

Because that would mean Su Fan was completely knocked off his pedestal, and might even end in utter disgrace.

Therefore, after Zhang Haitao's scolding, Wang Peng actually responded, "Dean Zhang, since when does our hospital not allow the truth to be spoken?"

"If Dr. Su Fan wasn't trying to grab attention with his rescue, then what was it for?"

"Let alone the deputy director of the emergency department, even a new intern should know."

"If someone has drowned to death, then there's no saving them."

"What Deputy Director Su Fan is doing now is just vying for attention, just seeking more notice."

"Essentially, he's just insulting the corpse!"

Wang Peng's words were very harsh and had an extremely negative impact on the hospital.

Thus, Zhang Haitao's handling of him was very straightforward.

"Dr. Wang, there's no longer any need for you to continue working at the affiliated hospital."

The meaning of those words was clear; Wang Peng could get lost.

Even if Wang Peng was jealous of Su Fan, he couldn't spout nonsense at this time.

Wang Peng scoffed, "What, Dean Zhang? You really don't allow people to speak the truth?"

"I uttered a few truths and you want to smash my rice bowl?"

As Wang Peng's voice fell, a voice supporting him actually came from the crowd.

The newcomer was none other than Deputy Dean Liu, who hurried over after hearing the news from City Second Hospital.

City Second Hospital and the affiliated hospital are considered the two best medical facilities in Yang City.

City Second Hospital was established a very long time ago, and existed even when the Medical University was founded.

At that time, when faced with serious diseases, patients would flock to City Second Hospital instead of choosing other hospitals.

But the meteoric rise of the Medical University affiliated hospital in recent years had kept City Second Hospital down.

With the emergence of Su Fan, City Second Hospital was almost flattened by the affiliated hospital, barely able to turn over.

Fortunately, Su Fan had now dug his own grave by attempting to revive a dead person!

When Deputy Dean Liu heard the news, he almost died laughing.

Chapter 569: Creating Medical Miracles

Su Fan really had become arrogant, and extremely so.

He was no longer satisfied with treating difficult and complicated diseases, he actually wanted to bring the dead back to life!

This time, Deputy Dean Liu did not come alone, of course.

Since they wanted to knock Su Fan off his pedestal, they naturally could not do without the media's push.

The media are cold-blooded; they did not care about how much news value Su Fan had created for them in the past.

What they cared about was whether Su Fan could continue to create news value for them.

At least this time, Su Fan created a news value for them.

Reporters from various media outlets had already learned about the situation from Deputy Dean Liu of the Second City Hospital.

This time Su Fan was being utterly reckless, actually trying to save someone already declared dead.

At least three doctors had confirmed that the drowning victim had already lost all signs of life.

All of Su Fan's actions, to say he was insulting the body, would not be wronging him.

When Zhang Haitao saw Deputy Dean Liu from the Second City Hospital, he realized that things were not looking good.

And when he saw the many media people following behind Liu, his heart sank even more.

Zhang Haitao thought to himself, "It's over, it's all over; this time it's completely finished."

The many doctors from the affiliated hospital also changed their expressions slightly when they saw this scene.

This time was different from any previous time, even if Su Fan were to defy the heavens again, he could not create any medical miracles this time.

Medical skill is not a spell, it can't bring dead flesh and white bones back to life.

The numerous reporters, of course, also took this opportunity to confront Zhang Haitao.

The first reporter who spoke up did so bluntly:

"Hello, Dean Zhang, we understand that Su Fan, the associate chief of your hospital's emergency department, seems to be rescuing a deceased person?"

After the first reporter spoke up, the second quickly asked, "I want to confirm whether your hospital really has a treatment plan, or is simply insulting the body?"

"Hello, Dean Zhang, may I ask when Dr. Su Fan will come out and meet us?"

"Dean Zhang, I think this matter should be reported to the public security bureau, lest Dr. Su Fan really does something inappropriate!"

The crowd bombarded Zhang Haitao with questions, one after another.

Faced with all these questions from the surrounding people, Zhang Haitao naturally could not answer any of them, nor was he able to.

At the same time, he was certain in his heart that Su Fan was done for this time!

While he had this thought in mind, the door to the emergency room opened at that moment.

Su Fan came out of the emergency room and saw that many people had arrived outside.

Not only were there doctors from the affiliated hospital, but also quite a few reporters.

Many reporters gave Su Fan a cold reception upon seeing him.

They took the questions they had just asked Zhang Haitao and directly asked Su Fan.

"Associate Director Su Fan, may I ask if you were successful in saving the person?"

"May I ask, were you actually rescuing someone, or did you do something disrespectful to the deceased?"

This reporter's comment, aiming for sensationalism, was very impolite.

He was already convinced that Su Fan had failed in the rescue.

And he was even more convinced that Su Fan might have had some other intentions during the rescue process.

Facing such a person, Su Fan certainly did not show a good face.

He simply smiled and said, "My journalist friend, if you have poor eyesight, you're welcome to visit the ophthalmology department at our hospital."

"The medical level of our ophthalmology department is quite excellent."

"Of course, if the eyes are not needed, you could also donate them."

After speaking, Su Fan turned his head and said, "Miss Yan Danxuan, how do you feel now?"

Upon hearing Su Fan's words, sure enough, another figure walked out of the emergency room.

If it wasn't Yan Danxuan, who else could it be?

When they saw this scene, those waiting to see Su Fan embarrassed instantly turned into clowns.

Many more people around showed expressions of immense shock!

Yan Danxuan, who had just completely lost all signs of life not too long ago, was actually brought back to life by Su Fan!

Associate Director Su Fan of the Affiliated Hospital of the Medical University had undoubtedly created another medical myth of resurrection from the dead.

Of course, the reporters were invigorated and then became even more focused on this event.

Chapter 570: Fame Shakes the City

A drowning victim nearly pronounced dead brought back to life is an incredible event.

It is also an event that can be called a medical miracle.

The moment Yan Danxuan lost consciousness in the water, she knew she was a goner.

Therefore, she is still somewhat unaccustomed to facing the multitude of new media with their cameras and microphones.

She finds it hard to believe she's actually still alive!

Not only Yan Danxuan couldn't believe it, even Zhang Haitao and all the doctors at the affiliated hospital couldn't believe it was true!

Is there a limit to medical science? At least for now, there is.

A critically ill patient might be resuscitated.

But a drowning victim nearly pronounced dead is generally not expected to be revived.

But what others could not do, Su Fan did!

The just-now aggressive and rude Wang Peng and others, along with the unscrupulous media hounding for hot news stories without any bottom line.

At this moment, their faces are a mixture of green and purple, overwhelmed by shame!

The other reporters who had remained silent just a moment ago held quite a favorable view of Su Fan.

After all, every time Su Fan caught social attention in the past, he was doing good deeds.

They, of course, did not want to see his reputation damaged.

Even though the situation this time was incredibly dangerous, Su Fan's superb medical skills seemed never to disappoint.

Yan Danxuan, who was half a step into the afterlife, was miraculously brought back by him!

At this moment, all the doctors at the hospital looked at Su Fan with great respect and unquestioning acceptance, even extreme admiration.

The families of the other drowning victims had already gone to the funeral home.

But after seeing the news report, they began calling the hospital to confirm the authenticity of the event.

Simultaneously, they asked the hospital if their relatives might also be saved?

If this had been before, the attending physician who took the call would have clearly told them that the drowned victims were beyond help.

But this time, the doctor in charge of taking calls at the affiliated hospital didn't dare to make a hasty conclusion but instead immediately went to Zhang Haitao to inquire about the situation.

Zhang Haitao, of course, was also unsure, as no one but Su Fan could clarify this kind of matter.

Thus, Zhang Haitao also made his way through the crowd to Su Fan's side.

"Associate Director Su, those family members of the drowning victims who met you earlier want to know if other victims are also in a state of apparent death, like Miss Yan?"

Su Fan shook his head, "The others have unfortunately passed away; only Miss Yan Danxuan's condition was somewhat special."

After that, Su Fan spoke to the surrounding reporters, "My media friends, I have already addressed some of your questions just now, and now I need to rest for a while."

"For any further questions, you may interview the other doctors at the hospital."

Having said this, Su Fan headed to his office.

Getting media attention with an interview is indeed interesting once or twice, but being chased around by these reporters every day can become a bit of a headache.

By the time he got back to his office, Liu Qing was also there.

Liu Qing's appearance here this time was not due to any special reason, but purely out of curiosity.

For such matters, laymen enjoy the spectacle, while professionals seek the subtleties.

As to Yan Danxuan's exact condition, these doctors all had their judgments.

Therefore, Liu Qing directly asked, "Xiao Fan, how did you do it?"

"This time, you nearly brought someone back from drowning death!"

Su Fan poured himself a glass of water and then said to Liu Qing, "Her case was a bit special; she was just in a state of shock, not actually dead."

He didn't talk to Liu Qing about the concept of the life force because without a profound inheritance of Chinese medicine, one simply wouldn't understand.
