Chapter 69: Took the Medicine

"Oh, just now Wang Fei went out to buy food, I couldn't wait for her to come back, worried about her, so I went to check, I guess she took a wrong turn?"

Feeling guilty, Bai Man's attitude softened unusually.

"Now that you're back, let's give it a try."

Bai Man washed her body quickly and got into bed.

"Click."

The light went out.

Li Jian immediately rolled over and mounted her.

He began to gently kiss Bai Man's body.

"No, don't kiss."

Bai Man covered her mouth somewhat resistantly.

Li Jian wasn't angry, he continued kissing parts of Bai Man's body, especially her tender breasts.

The reason Bai Man turned off the light immediately was because Su Fan had just left a lot of blue bruises on her, afraid that Li Jian would see them.

Bai Man was just getting aroused when Li Jian interrupted; as Li Jian's kisses continued, the flames were stirred again.

She quickly became moist again.

"Hehe, so wet."

Li Jian felt around, chuckled.

He then raised his weapon,

ready to penetrate.

"Mmm."

Bai Man covered her mouth again.

"Harder, push harder."

Bai Man began to arch her back, actively moving towards him.

But the next moment,

she felt nothing, all fulfillment had vanished, leaving only emptiness.

"You, why did you stop, where did it go?"

"Hurry up, I'm getting into it."

Fortunately, the lights were off, otherwise Li Jian's blushing face would have wished to find a crack to crawl into.

"Maybe the dose was too low, how about I take it for another month and wait for you to ovulate next month?"

Li Jian rolled off.

"You, you're useless."

"You've started my fire, but now you can't keep going, you sick or something?"

Bai Man harshly pinched Li Jian a couple of times.

"I want it."

She turned over, trying to work on Li Jian

But after feeling around for a good while, there was still no reaction

"Honey, it's getting late, let's sleep, let's sleep."

"Useless, huh."

Bai Man finally gave up, turned away.

But the flames were still burning.

She thought of Su Fan.

That big treasure.

It was so big, so hard.

If Li Jian was a tiny worm, then Su Fan was definitely a donkey.

When that thing entered, what it must feel like.

"You useless thing, get out, sleep on the couch."

The more Bai Man thought about it, the angrier she became, and she fiercely kicked Li Jian off the bed.

"Ah."

Knowing he was at fault, Li Jian had nothing to say, his face sullen as he took the blanket to the living room outside.

Bai Man just couldn't sleep.

Her hand moved unconsciously downwards.

Imagining Su Fan, her fingers entered, starting to thrust.

...

And just as Bai Man was resolving her needs by herself, a sneaky figure darted across the yard, going straight to Su Fan's little room.

"Open up."

Su Fan was just about to sleep when suddenly his phone rang.

He opened it, it was a WeChat message from Wang Fei.

Su Fan was stunned for a moment.

"Shh shh shh..."

The next moment, light footsteps sounded at the door.

Wang Fei came.

Su Fan hurriedly got up and opened the door.

The door barely cracked open, and Wang Fei squeezed in.

"Hehe, did you miss me?"

Wang Fei directly pounced Su Fan onto the bed.

She began to have her way with him.

With the first touch, she accurately grasped Su Fan's treasure.

"Fei, stop messing around, be careful Bai Man hears."

Su Fan was freaking out inside.

But Wang Fei was calm, speaking,

"Don't worry, Li Jian's back, they'll definitely be busy with their own stuff, they won't care about us."

"We just need to keep it down a bit."

"Let me comfort you."

Before Su Fan could react, Wang Fei leaned down and took his treasure in her mouth.

"Sss."

Su Fan inhaled sharply, giving up resistance.
