

Temptation 691

Chapter 691 - 691

Before, Su Fan knew this thing was extremely powerful, but now he realized just how strong the shock within actually was.

He casually placed the prop on the sofa, then wiped his hands on Liu Qing's black-stockinged long legs.

Then he saw that even on the sofa, the prop could bounce up—it really was a torture device.

And he felt that the item seemed familiar.

Qi Dongliang had previously ordered a special case from abroad to be made for Wang Fei.

Inside that case were various chemicals and all sorts of props.

That item, he had acquired it long ago and had placed it in a room in the residential area of Eastern Medicine Company.

But he had been so busy lately, with many things to handle, that he hadn't yet had the chance to utilize the various props Qi Dongliang had prepared for Wang Fei.

Liu Qing struggled to get up, reached for the remote control that was far away, and then completely shut off the small prop.

Su Fan originally wanted to have a thorough go at Liu Qing, but seeing her guard against him like a thief, he couldn't help but be amused and gave up the idea.

This time, Liu Qing was obviously devastated by the extremely powerful prop and needed time to fully recover.

He didn't take advantage of Liu Qing; instead, he got up and said, "Sister Liu, you rest well; I'm going back to my office."

Upon hearing this, Liu Qing breathed a sigh of relief, "Okay, I'll come to you next time."

She didn't specify what she would come to Su Fan's office for but obviously both of them knew full well.

Every time she went to Su Fan's office, she would basically have to endure his stormy and ferocious onslaught.

Not long after leaving Liu Qing's office, Su Fan received a very unexpected phone call.

The call was from Wang Xiaoxiao, and her tone was somewhat urgent, "President Su, there's been an accident."

Hearing her anxious tone, Su Fan knew something big must have happened, but he was calm, asking, "Don't panic, what happened?"

Wang Xiaoxiao couldn't stay as calm as Su Fan because the incident this time was huge!

"One of our pharmaceutical factories has had a production accident."

"For some unknown reason, six employees fainted while producing medicines. They are currently being resuscitated at the nearby First Hospital and are in a very dangerous condition."

This was clearly no small matter!

Because if mishandled, it meant six lives at stake!

Lives are paramount; this was definitely a major production accident!

After hearing the news, Su Fan hurriedly told Wang Xiaoxiao, "Has the production site been sealed off? In addition, arrange for those six employees to be transferred to the affiliated hospital immediately, I'll handle the rescue personally."

Wang Xiaoxiao immediately replied, "The production site has been sealed off by the public security office, and I will arrange for those six employees to be transferred right away."

After the call ended, Su Fan's expression turned very grim.

The production process for all kinds of drugs at Eastern Medicine was without any issues.

The simultaneous fainting of six people, and their being in critical condition, hinted that most likely someone had poisoned them.

This was normal too; the business world is like a battlefield, and Eastern Medicine's emergence disrupted many people's interests.

It made sense for these people to want Eastern Medicine to fail in its development completely.

He had decided that after rescuing these six employees, he would go to the pharmaceutical factory and seriously investigate the matter!

The six employees, whose lives were in danger, were quickly brought into the affiliated hospital.

Even the affiliated hospital did not have an emergency room that could accommodate so many patients at once.

Under the watchful eyes of many, Su Fan had no choice but to take the six employees of Eastern Medicine to a spacious ward.

All six were deeply unconscious, even to the point of being in a shock state.

Su Fan could only rely on traditional Chinese medicine techniques of sealing veins, combined with Tai Chi True Qi, to first protect their heart and brain.

Then he proceeded to administer detoxifying acupuncture to each one of them, one by one.

Chapter 692 - 692

Su Fan's previous judgment was completely correct; this was not a natural disaster but a man-made one!

Someone couldn't stand to see Eastern Medicine use traditional Chinese medicine to sort out the chaotic pharmaceutical market, and they actually did such a despicable deed!

Although Su Fan knew what was going on, the outside world had no clue.

A large number of media outlets, as well as many individual bloggers, rushed to the pharmaceutical factory of Eastern Medicine or its headquarters to find out what was happening.

Some media reporters and bloggers even went directly to the university hospital affiliated to demand an explanation from Su Fan.

Most people hadn't expected that Eastern Medicine, which had been all the rage across the city not long ago, would be exposed so soon.

If those six employees had indeed died because of a production accident, Eastern Medicine's drugs, no matter how good, would definitely not sell.

Many media outlets, especially numerous unscrupulous ones desperate for viewers' attention, demanded a direct response from Su Fan and Eastern Medicine immediately.

At the affiliated hospital, Zhang Haitao was extremely stressed.

Not long ago, he had believed that traditional Chinese medicine would completely replace Western medicine as a new competitive track.

He had even prepared to have his pampered wife, who had always been kept at home, come to work at the hospital.

Who would have known that Su Fan's Eastern Medicine wouldn't hold up to scrutiny?

And now, such a serious incident had occurred so soon!

The medical reports for those six people were now in Zhang Haitao's hands.

After looking through those six medical reports, he couldn't help but chain-smoke.

"It's over, it's all over! There's definitely not enough time this time!"

Zhang Haitao was of course aware of how skilled Su Fan was in medicine.

If Su Fan had enough time, he would certainly be able to save these six people; there was no doubt about it.

But now there was trouble, time waits for no one, and those six patients wouldn't wait for Su Fan to save them one by one.

Su Fan might be able to save two, maybe even three patients.

But even if only one person died, the impact on Eastern Medicine would still be tremendous.

Doctors like Bai Man, Liu Qing, Lu Wenwen, who had received the news, all gathered outside the ward.

At this moment, the ward had been locked from the inside by Su Fan; they had no way of knowing the situation inside.

Outside the ward, aside from the doctors from the affiliated hospital, there were also many media reporters.

They were all prepared to interview Su Fan at the earliest opportunity.

In recent times, Su Fan was the top celebrity in Yang City!

He and Eastern Medicine were the focus of attention across all levels in Yang City.

Not only that, they had even caught the attention of many people in the province and internationally.

Simply reporting anything related to this incident could definitely attract a huge amount of traffic.

Su Fan was not aware of the public's thoughts; he was fully focused on saving lives at this moment.

Dean Zhang's worries had not materialized.

The technique of "sealing the meridians" in Chinese medicine had emerged precisely to solve this kind of problem.

In such situations, using the "sealing the meridians" technique could maximize the time available to him.

After four straight hours of treatment, he finally neutralized the toxins in the bodies of the six patients.

But the situation of these six people was still not optimistic.

The mastermind behind the scenes had intended to take their lives and wouldn't let them be easily saved.

However, after neutralizing the toxins, their lives were no longer in immediate danger; subsequent treatment could be followed up with regular procedures.

The True Qi in Su Fan's body was significantly depleted this time.

After the rescue, he spent another half hour to recuperate before slowly getting up.

This had caused him to disappear from the public eye for about five hours.

In these five hours, various rumors had already spread far and wide.

Chapter 693 - 693

The once highly acclaimed Eastern Medicine Company, which was also dubbed a great seller, suddenly found itself in the eye of the storm, plunging into a massive public relations crisis.

Many media outlets had already brought in various experts to analyze the situation.

Among them was a top authority, Sun Zhe, the Director of Medical Technology at Shipps Company.

Shipps Pharmaceutical Company and Eastern Medicine were essentially polar opposites.

Eastern Medicine Company aimed to replace Western medicine with traditional Chinese medicine comprehensively.

Shipps Pharmaceutical Company, on the other hand, aimed to replace all traditional Chinese medicine with Western medicine in line with modern science.

In the eyes of Shipps Pharmaceutical Company, most traditional Chinese medicines were nonsensical.

From the perspective of modern medicine, these kinds of medicines were simply problematic, where many of their components served no beneficial role in treating and saving lives.

These medicines could save lives only because they contained effective components that had therapeutic effects on diseases.

Those nonsensical components, however, would harm the body.

Therefore, it was necessary to use the wisdom of Western medicine to extract useful components and discard the nonsensical ones.

In theory, Shipps Pharmaceutical Company didn't seem to have done anything wrong.

Yet, despite growing in Yang City for many years, the company had only just managed to enter the top twenty enterprises.

Seeing the meteoric rise of Eastern Medicine following a "flimsy" press conference that still managed to garner such high attention,

Shipps Pharmaceutical Company was understandably not pleased.

After Eastern Medicine Company experienced a production incident, they were the first to jump out.

Residents of Yang City, who were watching TV, virtually all saw the media interview with Sun Yan, the Director of Medical Technology at Shipps Pharmaceutical Company.

When Su Fan walked out of the hospital room, he happened to see the TV in the hospital corridor was also showing this interview.

His gaze involuntarily shifted toward it.

When Su Fan stepped out of the hospital room, numerous media people immediately surrounded him.

Seeing where Su Fan was looking, they also couldn't help but turn their attention to the same.

Although everyone was eager to interview Su Fan, the matter that Sun Yan was discussing was, certainly, also newsworthy.

The TV screen showed medical expert Sun Yan pouring scorn and mockery on Su Fan and Eastern Medicine relentlessly.

On one hand, Su Fan and Eastern Medicine had cut off their revenue streams.

On the other hand, it was his envy and jealousy towards Su Fan.

As the saying goes, rivalry among professionals is inevitable, and although Sun Yan was a top medical expert in Yang City, his influence did not even measure up to a tenth of Su Fan's.

Had he not stepped forward to criticize Su Fan openly, many people would never have known of his existence.

Earlier, while Su Fan was saving someone, expert Sun Yan had already been mocking him on a TV show for quite a while.

Now that he had come out, he just caught Sun Yan summarizing the previous issues, where Sun Yan adjusted his gold-rimmed glasses and said,

"The academic community has always mentioned it; so-called traditional Chinese medicine is merely a backward experiential medicine, or simply a matter of luck."

"Traditional Chinese medicine and its formulations only happen to succeed in healing, and then they continuously repeat these patterns."

"Just think about it—a group of people who don't study cells or tissue organs,"

"when faced with problems in human cells, tissues, or organs, are brazenly treating people."

"Isn't this extremely laughable?"

"In the past, poor medical and health conditions could be excused, but in today's highly developed modern medicine, this kind of medicine, stemming from witchcraft and only slightly more sophisticated than witchcraft,"

"is, in my view, entirely dispensable."

With this, expert Sun Yan's address had thoroughly concluded.

However, his last remarks were somewhat nuanced.

His earlier blasting of Su Fan and Eastern Medical Group, even if many felt indifferent towards Su Fan and Eastern Medicine Company, seemed a bit excessive to them.

Chapter 694 - 694

After Sun Yan's speech, many journalists' eyes, of course, were focused on Su Fan.

Following such a major safety incident, Su Fan, the founder and chairman of Eastern Medicine Company, was clearly expected to provide everyone with a reasonable explanation.

Reporters from several media outlets jostled to be the first to put the microphone in front of Su Fan.

These journalists were motivated by pursuing traffic, as for whether the news story would provoke positive feedback or have a negative impact, that was no longer their concern.

"Divine Doctor Su, can you explain this major safety incident to everyone?"

"May I ask, what is the current condition of those six patients?"

"Divine Doctor Su, is Eastern Medicine Company lacking in production capabilities?"

"Have other workshops of Eastern Medicine been shut down? Is there a possibility of similar production safety incidents occurring?"

The questions from the crowd were sharper and more tricky than the last.

If one didn't have real knowledge and skill, if one didn't have enough confidence, they would have already been unable to field these questions.

However, following the questions, Su Fan still made a response.

"The six patients who were recently rushed to the university-affiliated hospital for emergency treatment have now all been out of critical danger."

"However, they have not fully recovered and will need continued follow-up treatment."

"Please clear the corridors to let the hospital's doctors take the patients to various treatment rooms for continued observation and treatment."

Hearing this, Zhang Haitao, Bai Man, Liu Qing, and Su Fan's assistant, Lu Wenwen, outside the crowd, all breathed a sigh of relief.

They were worried just now that, with so many patients, Su Fan wouldn't be able to save all six of them due to being spread too thin.

Now they could finally let down the heavy heart they had been carrying.

Su Fan was, as always, never one to let anyone down.

Even though the difficulty of this treatment was beyond imagination, he still incredibly managed to create a medical miracle.

Zhang Haitao didn't care about the business competition between Shipps Pharmaceutical Company and Eastern Medicine.

But since Su Fan had created yet another medical miracle, he, as the hospital director, needed to speak up.

"My friends from the media, I am Zhang Haitao, the director of the university-affiliated hospital."

"Director Su Fan has just been battling to save patients for over four hours; he should be allowed to rest."

"From the first day Director Su Fan joined our hospital, I have been continuously monitoring him."

"I understand most of his situations, so if you have any questions, you may ask me."

At this point, Zhang Haitao paused for a moment before he started getting to the crux of the matter.

"However, before the media friends start asking questions, there are some established facts that I need to state."

"Director Su Fan, is now our hospital's chief physician in traditional Chinese medicine."

"Since Director Su Fan has joined our hospital, he has been using traditional Chinese medical practices to heal and save lives."

"All of the patients treated by Director Su Fan, even those mistakenly diagnosed as medically deceased, have without exception, been completely cured and discharged."

These few words carried tremendous force.

This interview was also being broadcast live.

After Zhang Haitao said this, he didn't even need to continue to speak well for Su Fan; the direction of most people in Yang City had once again shifted!

Actions speak louder than words! Su Fan had always been using Chinese medicine to treat and save lives, and his success rate was one hundred percent!

Medical incidents caused by Western medicine and drugs are endless, yet Su Fan's hands had never made a mistake.

It was self-evident which kind of medical science was more useful when it came to treating and saving lives.

To put it more bluntly, if he, Sun Yan, fell ill and was on the brink of death, would he choose Western medical science which might save him, or would he choose Su Fan with a hundred percent cure rate?

Chapter 695 - 695

This question does not need to be answered by Sun Yan, as to any normal person, the obvious choice would be to seek medical care from Su Fan.

Therefore, the accusations Sun Yan made against Su Fan purely reflect his personal lack of medical ethics.

However, the safety accident that occurred at Eastern Medicine Company still cannot be avoided.

But with what Zhang Haitao had just said, the questions posed by the audience were naturally not as sharp.

While many reporters were asking questions to Zhang Haitao, Su Fan's phone also received a video sent by Chen Hanqing.

After watching the video, he quickly called Chen Hanqing.

"Hanqing, what's going on?"

Chen Hanqing immediately explained to Su Fan, "Mr. Su, these are surveillance footage from the roads around the pharmaceutical plant."

"Starting shortly after the product launch at Eastern Medicine, there were two groups of people scoping out the area."

"And these people, when they disappeared from the nearby surveillance, the cameras at the pharmaceutical plant also started to malfunction."

"I'm hurriedly working to restore the deleted surveillance footage from inside the pharmaceutical plant, it should take about half a day to initially fix."

The companies that were blasting Eastern Medicine surely did not expect that a pharmaceutical company like Eastern Medicine would have a computer expert like Chen Hanqing.

Their little schemes, which might have caused real headaches for average medical companies, were nothing more than child's play in front of Chen Hanqing.

Indeed, by that time, some data from the surrounding surveillance footage had already been lost.

Obviously, the other side also realized that in their haste, their actions were not entirely clean, and they took remedial measures.

But they were just a step too slow, the internet, for Chen Hanqing, was a domain of freedom, without any restrictions.

After receiving this video evidence, Su Fan immediately asked Zhang Haitao for leave because he needed to return to his company for a meeting.

He was determined to use the material in his hands to smack down any company that had set a trap for Eastern Medicine, no matter which one it was.

Even Baiwei Pharmaceutical, which had been flourishing like the midday sun, was now as past its prime as faded flowers.

These clowns actually had the audacity to cause trouble right under the emperor's nose!

Su Fan approached Zhang Haitao and said solemnly, "Director Zhang, I'm requesting half a day off to handle some issues at Eastern Medicine."

"Take it easy, justice lies in people's hearts," Zhang Haitao still counted on Su Fan to lead the hospital to greater glory and naturally did not want Su Fan and his company to encounter any trouble.

So when Su Fan came to ask for leave, he approved it immediately.

Without any hesitation, Su Fan quickly left the Medical University affiliated hospital and drove to the Eastern Medical Technology Company.

As he left, a large number of media reporters also followed suit, as he was currently a point of interest and naturally, they wanted to keep up with him.

Su Fan drove quickly to the headquarters of Eastern Medicine Company, where there were also many reporters present.

As the crowd gathered around him, Su Fan could only say, "Eastern Medicine will not elaborate too much on this matter for now, we will provide our media friends with a factual and sincere response afterwards."

Having said that, he pushed through the crowd and headed for the large conference room at Eastern Medicine.

The staff at Eastern Medicine looked as if they had lost a battle, with everyone appearing dejected.

When Su Fan entered the large conference room, he began by saying, "According to the surveillance data retrieved by Hanqing, the production accident at the pharmaceutical factory was not a natural disaster but rather sabotage."

As he spoke, Su Fan's gaze turned toward Chen Hanqing.

Chen Hanqing understood and started playing the surveillance data and the partially restored footage he had retrieved.

Initially, Wang Xiaoxiao thought it possible that due to their lack of expertise in the medical field, an oversight during production might have led to a significant accident.

But after seeing the surveillance video retrieved by Chen Hanqing and the annotations he made deliberately on the video,

Wang Xiaoxiao, the executive director, was immediately livid with anger.

Chapter 696 - 696

Not only Wang Xiaoxiao, but even Shen He, a woman as gentle as water, was so outraged that her chest ached.

Shen He couldn't help but speak up, "These people have gone too far in bullying others, and these are six living lives they've harmed!"

After watching the video materials, the legal director of Eastern Medicine Company, Yan Qian, immediately stated, "This is no longer business competition, but deliberate poisoning and murder."

"We don't need to continue the meeting, report directly to the public security bureau, and at the same time, collect relevant evidence to bring the perpetrators to justice through legal means!"

Although she spoke very calmly, she was also infuriated by this incident.

Business activities might be a battleground without smoke, but such behavior clearly erases humanity!

At that moment, a ticking notification sound came from Chen Hanqing's computer.

Chen Hanqing was delighted and said, "President Su, the lost surveillance data from the factory area has been restored!"

On hearing this, Su Fan immediately said, "Play it!"

Chen Hanqing didn't hesitate and clicked play.

As the surveillance footage played out, a scene that made people's veins pop with rage appeared.

In the factory area's surveillance footage, there were Eastern Medicine's employees interacting with people from other companies.

The two parties were clearly discussing something, and after two or three meetings, they seemed to have reached an agreement.

Two of them then brought an outsider into the sterile workshop and tampered with the pharmaceutical equipment.

Two of the employees that Su Fan had recently saved were present in this surveillance footage.

Eastern Medicine Company offered very good welfare and benefits, yet these two ungrateful wretches sold out the company just as it was starting up.

More interestingly, they almost became victims of a murder to seal their lips.

Luckily, Su Fan's medical skill was exceptional, or they would have already died!

With this evidence, there was nothing more to say, they just had to report to the public security bureau.

Now the evidence was plentiful, and there was no need for a complicated investigation to immediately pinpoint the murderer.

After Eastern Medicine reported to the public security bureau, the suspects in the surveillance footage were quickly identified.

Ironically, one of the suspects just happened to be a close relative of a senior executive at Shipps Pharmaceutical Company.

Soon, all the related suspects had been taken into custody.

Time flew by, and it was three days later!

These three days, for the employees of Eastern Medicine Company, were filled with indignation.

The production and research phase of Eastern Medicine Company had no issues, but they had been slandered.

For the people of various circles in Yang City, their feelings during these three days were extremely complicated.

The Eastern Medicine Company, founded by Su Fan, was a very meaningful company.

However, to have such a large problem arise during its early stages was deeply disappointing if there was no reasonable explanation.

For Sipps Company, these three days were agonizing!

Strictly speaking, this incident had no relation to Sipps Company.

If it were related, Sun Yan wouldn't be so foolish as to be so overly exuberant and directly lash out at Su Fan.

But the incident was related to Wu Bin, the vice president of Sipps Company.

Wu Bin, a medical doctor who had studied abroad, was strongly opposed to traditional Chinese medicine.

It was for this reason that he joined Sipps Company, intending to squeeze the living space for traditional Chinese medicine.

To expel these barbarians, as he saw them, from the sacred profession of medicine.

Therefore, as soon as he found out what kind of company Eastern Medicine was, he was infuriated.

After Eastern Medicine's first press conference was a roaring success, Wu Bin was furious, and his anger boiled over!

He then had his nephew bring people over to one of Eastern Medicine's pharmaceutical factories to commit this act.

They sabotaged one of Eastern Medicine's pharmaceutical equipment, then added a substance containing a deadly toxin to the machinery.

And those six who narrowly escaped death were indeed affected.

The truth of the matter thus came out in the open!

A press conference was also held in the reporting hall of Eastern Medicine.

Chapter 697 - 697

Over the past three days, everyone at Eastern Medicine was in a nonstop rush.

Apart from Su Fan, the master of exploding energy, almost everyone else was exhausted.

However, when the time for the press conference arrived, all the executives were present.

The last time Su Fan was at this location, it was for a product launch.

Little did he think that just a few days later, he would have to clear up a so-called production incident at the same place.

At the product launch, Su Fan was full of boundless enthusiasm and passion.

This time at the press conference, however, he seemed somewhat disinterested.

Facing the media and the gaze of Yang City's celebrities, Su Fan calmly began,

"Three days ago, a serious production incident occurred at the Dongshan production base, and now the truth is clear."

"According to the security office's investigation, there is already a mass of factual evidence."

"It has now been determined that the major production incident at Eastern Medicine's Dongshan production base was not a natural disaster, but a man-made one."

"Shipps Pharmaceutical Company's Vice President, Wu Bin, completely disapproves of Eastern Medicine's business philosophies."

"Therefore, by hiring criminals to poison our products, he has caused significant losses to Eastern Medicine."

"Now, to our friends in the media and to friends from all sectors of society, we openly present the relevant video materials."

Having said these words, Su Fan no longer needed to say much more.

In front of ironclad evidence, all words became powerless.

As the situation was broadcast live, the public opinion in Yang City rapidly shifted.

Those who previously shouted abuses at Eastern Medicine immediately turned their attacks on Shipps Pharmaceutical Company.

Organizations and individuals who were highly optimistic about Eastern Medicine and were preparing to engage in business collaborations with them breathed a sigh of relief.

Of course, the press conference did not just end there.

Luckily, Eastern Medicine's other executives could answer the upcoming questions, allowing Su Fan to rest.

Shipps Pharmaceutical Company's Vice President Wu Bin had already been arrested.

But this company had already been marked on Su Fan's blacklist.

Su Fan decided that the second batch of Eastern Medicine products would completely replace all drugs developed by Shipps Company with traditional Chinese medicines.

The deputy president's mishap had already dealt a severe blow to Shipps Company.

Wu Bin's actions had further turned Shipps Company into a pariah in the industry.

What they hadn't expected was that Su Fan's second batch of products would directly bombard Shipps Company!

Although this accidental incident had been resolved, it was clear that Su Fan and Eastern Medicine would continue to pursue accountability.

Because ample evidence was available, the press conference did not take too long.

After fully explaining the situation, Su Fan returned to his room with Wang Fei.

These three days had been extremely exhausting.

Now that everything had settled down, he needed a thorough and complete release.

Wang Fei, however, was silently lamenting.

During these three days, Su Fan had suppressed a lot of anger and indignation.

Expecting her to completely take it all on was no different from asking for her life.

After Su Fan closed the door, he certainly did not disappoint Wang Fei.

While Wang Fei was still reassured and wondering what would happen today, she found herself entirely embraced by Su Fan.

Even though Su Fan had not yet launched a tempest-like violent offense, Wang Fei quickly spoke up,

"Little Fan, this incident isn't completely over yet, you should save your energy to deal with what's coming."

Wang Fei knew that Su Fan had not been completely relieved in the past three days and had been busy.

With three days of suppression and accumulation, heaven only knows what kind of terrifying onslaught Su Fan could unleash.

After Wang Fei's reminder, Su Fan, unconcerned, replied, "No worries, just leave the follow-up matters to our Legal Director Yan Qian."

"With Yan Qian's capability, Eastern Medicine can reclaim its losses from Shipps Company, with interest."

Chapter 698 - 698

Su Fan, although highly skilled in medicine, also possessed immense strength in martial arts.

But in the business world, he had just entered the field.

This time, faced with such an unexpected situation, it still brought him a great deal of trouble.

Fortunately, the matter had been thoroughly investigated, and it was found that Wu Bin, the instigator, along with his backing from Shipps Pharmaceutical Company,

And those two turncoat employees from the Eastern Pharmaceutical Company were about to face the most severe legal sanctions and pay a painful price.

Wang Fei was extremely tense when Su Fan held her tightly.

Her nervousness, of course, was justified, for she was quickly invaded.

A sense of being completely filled surged in her heart once again.

"Hiss—"

As Su Fan continued to push forward, Wang Fei couldn't help frowning and involuntarily inhaled a breath of cold air.

She whispered in Su Fan's ear with a breath as fresh as orchids, "Xiaofan, it hurts."

Wang Fei had already been thoroughly explored by Su Fan, and not just by Su Fan alone.

The first time she strayed, she had been fiercely explored by Qi Dongliang and his son as well.

But now, she was still somewhat overwhelmed.

Perhaps it was because Su Fan had been busy day and night with the company's emergency for the past few days.

Without Su Fan's continuous nourishment, she became tight again.

Perhaps also because with the continuous enhancement of Su Fan's strength, his physical fitness had also been rapidly improving.

Especially since the Iron Horse Twelve Stance Skill inherently had the effect of strengthening kidneys and bones.

While practicing the Iron Horse Twelve Stance Skill, he was also painstakingly training in the Dragon Tiger Hard Qi Skill.

The Dragon Tiger Hard Qi Skill nourishes the internal breath and toughens muscles, bones, and skin, making his body even harder than steel.

Under such circumstances, his already ferocious and robust dragon vein, of course, became even more terrifying.

As Su Fan continued to advance, he felt a tremendous resistance.

He even felt that to continue pushing forward would completely tear Wang Fei apart.

But at this moment, he could no longer care about that.

These past few days, the frustration in his heart needed to be fully released, otherwise, it would be bad for his body.

"Ah!"

Facing Su Fan's onslaught, Wang Fei couldn't help but let out a painful scream.

Her breathtakingly beautiful face was filled with an expression of pain and drunken stupefaction.

Before she could continue to voice her pain, Su Fan kissed her lips.

Wang Fei did not respond with enthusiasm but instead tried to stop Su Fan's invasion.

But Su Fan brutally pried open her pearly teeth and red lips and then forcefully sucked and scraped her tender pink tongue.

Wang Fei's nectar was also completely drunk by Su Fan.

Su Fan's ambrosia, of course, was also swallowed down by Wang Fei.

If it had only been this, Wang Fei wouldn't have thought much of it, but Wang Fei knew that the main event hadn't even begun.

She was right, for at that moment, Su Fan suddenly thrust deeply.

"It hurts!" Wang Fei screamed again, this time even tears streamed down.

Unlike Su Fan's gradual advance before, this time he drove straight in with full force, as if to shatter her core completely.

Even though Wang Fei cried out in pain, Su Fan continued like thunder and lightning, thrashing wildly.

The intense friction made Wang Fei's body convulse uncontrollably, and she wailed incessantly.

Her hands clung desperately to the sofa, as if enduring some form of cruel torture.

Her feet were completely stretched taunt, as she silently bore the pain with all her might.

Su Fan's assault was far too fierce.

Wang Fei felt as if the delicate petals of her flower were about to sustain injuries from the violent impact and friction.

As for the core they aimed for directly, it was even closer to being completely pounded to mush.

As Wang Fei and Su Fan repeatedly soared into ecstasy, feeling the ultimate pleasure, a storm was brewing in Yang City.

A large number of eyes were focused on Sipps Company.

Chapter 699 - 700

When Su Fan's company previously fell into a huge crisis, at the affiliated hospital of the Medical University, a very few doctors were secretly rejoicing.

It wasn't that they had enmities with Su Fan, rather it was pure jealousy towards him for achieving such great success at a young age.

They had thought that Su Fan was bound to take a big fall this time.

Who would have expected that Su Fan and Eastern Medicine Company would not face any trouble at all?

Instead, it was Sipps Company, which had stood up to challenge Eastern Medicine Company, that was now struggling to operate.

Sipps Company, conference room.

A long conference table was flanked by many people.

On the left side sat several founders and executives of Sipps Company.

On the right were representatives from Nuohui Company and investors of Sipps Company.

After taking a deep breath, Dong Ning, the president of Sipps Company, spoke indifferently, "Nuohui Biotechnology wants to acquire Sipps Company. Why?"

There were two reasons for today's meeting.

One reason was that Sipps Company required further investment; otherwise, it could not continue to operate.

The other reason was that Nuohui Biotech, an international pharmaceutical giant, wanted to acquire Sipps Company.

Although Dong Ning and Sun Yan faced significant setbacks, they had no intention of selling the company.

If they couldn't beat Su Fan and Eastern Medical Group in Yang City, they could go to Xijing, or develop in Wei City.

After hearing Dong Ning's question, the representative from Nuohui Biotech replied in fluent Chinese:

"Mr. Dong Ning, Mr. Sun Yan,"

"I think you both are aware that Nuohui Biotech, like your company, is purely a Western medicine and biotech firm."

"Our philosophies are aligned, and our research directions, development paths are also consistent."

"The difference is, Nuohui Biotech is now a multinational corporation, while your company is encountering some difficulties."

"Nuohui Biotech's acquisition of Sipps Company at this time is not opportunistic plundering but rather providing timely aid."

"Nuohui Biotech possesses a top global research team, a multitude of patents, and substantial research funding."

"We will empower Sipps Company to enable it to survive."

After the representative from Nuohui Biotech finished speaking, Dong Ning and Sun Yan fell into deep thought.

However, they actually had no choice, which was also what Nuohui Biotech's investors meant.

After a brief silence, Dong Ning then said, "After Nuohui Biotech acquires Sipps Company, who will be in charge?"

The representative from Nuohui Company who came this time was named William.

Hearing Dong Ning's question, he knew Dong Ning had agreed.

Immediately, he also said with a smile, "These matters, of course, can be negotiated."

Su Fan did not know that an international pharmaceutical giant like Nuohui Biotech would acquire Sipps Company.

However, he did not care much as Sipps Company had never been the target or competitor of Eastern Medicine.

In the office of the affiliated hospital of the Medical University, Su Fan was browsing through medical books.

He had previously asked Chen Hanqing to help him keep an eye on medical ancient texts from various places, which obviously had an effect.

Chen Hanqing had already purchased some medical ancient texts from across the country for him.

While he knew the content of some ancient texts, there were others that he did not.

This allowed his medical skills to progress further.

After the last major safety accident, Su Fan's life had temporarily calmed down for a few days.

During this period, he was reading medical ancient texts and also practicing martial arts.

A few days later, something he had anticipated happened.

Jiang Gao, the mayor who had been very wise and valiant for some time, suddenly collapsed today while celebrating his eldest daughter's birthday.

Chapter 700 - 699

Sipps Company, in Yang City, was barely within the top twenty companies.

However, this company had always been very scientific and rigorous, so it still had a considerable amount of attention in Yang City.

When Sun Yan, the pharmaceutical technology director of Sipps Company, came forward to blast Su Fan and Eastern Medicine Company, it brought them a huge amount of traffic and attention.

But the higher-ups at Sipps Company had never imagined that Wu Bin, the vice president of Sipps Company, would be so foolish.

This is like the saying that you don't fear a god-like opponent but fear a pig-like teammate.

Now, with irrefutable evidence, even though Wu Bin's actions were his own, to outsiders, he represented Sipps Company.

A Sipps Company that once had a decent reputation had overnight become a business detested and despised by everyone.

On the internet, insults toward Sipps Company were everywhere.

Some key employees could not bear the immense pressure and resigned directly.

As vice president, Wu Bin didn't even take human life seriously.

Who would dare to stay at such a company?

What if they angered Wu Bin one day, could they also possibly end up dead?

And who knows if it was only Wu Bin who behaved this way or if it was a common issue among the company's executives?

Sipps Company faced the biggest crisis since its establishment.

Their products could no longer be sold, and upstream and downstream partners were severing ties with them.

It was clear to any discerning person that Sipps Company was now thoroughly ruined!

Su Fan had somewhat anticipated the downfall of Sipps Company.

Competition in business is expected, but it should not be so extreme as to use any means necessary.

Sipps Company's tactics were so foul that their fall into disrepute was no surprise at all.

However, Su Fan was no longer concerned with Sipps Company's affairs; all his attention was now focused on Wang Fei.

There are many beautiful women in the world, and a man may have many beautiful women in his life.

But with some beautiful women, the desire to be with them stems from the most basic primal impulse.

While for some women, they hold a special place for men.

Even after countless explorations, there's still the desire to explore them further, the yearning to passionately explore them.

Su Fan was already very familiar with Wang Fei; he even knew about the small mole beneath her snowy peaks.

But every time he saw Wang Fei, there was still a flame that burned within him.

The intense irritation of knowing that she had been previously touched by Qi Dongliang and his son made him want to ravage her to death.

Under Su Fan's relentless pounding and wild intrusion, Wang Fei had already cried.

She didn't just cry, but it was as if both her top and bottom were crying.

Under the deluge, the sofa was completely soaked through.

After another of Su Fan's ferocious assaults, when he suddenly pried open Wang Fei's shell-pink lips with his dragon energy, she could only endure quietly.

At that moment, she was between ecstasy and death, utterly spent.

Su Fan's abundant life essence indeed filled Wang Fei completely.

After an intense release, Su Fan also stepped into the shower.

It was only then that Wang Fei managed to sit up with difficulty.

Just as she had imagined, under Su Fan's ravaging, what had been delicate soft lips were now swollen like steamed buns.

This revealed just how beastly Su Fan had been, and the extent of the ravaging she had endured.

Meanwhile in the outside world, the affairs of Eastern Medicine Company continued to ferment.

Both Eastern Medicine Company and Shipps Pharmaceutical Company were thrust into the limelight.

Su Fan was not nervous or guilty about the sudden surge of attention.

Having handed over all matters concerning Sipps Company to the legal department of Eastern Medicine Company, his life returned to normal.

During the day, he continued to work at the medical university hospital, and at night he returned to Eastern Medicine Company.

On his days off, he could naturally call up Bai Man and the others to continue enjoying hot springs.
