

Temptation 72

Chapter 72: Ethical Joke

Although Su Fan knew that Wang Fei wouldn't care much about his first time, it would still be better if it were a good one, plus he couldn't let his affair with Liu Ye be exposed. After all, Wang Fei was Liu Ye's close girlfriend, and they had that kind of relationship - if Wang Fei accidentally spilled the beans, could he still expect a good outcome once Bai Man found out?

"Not at all, Sister Fei, when I was in the village, I only had my grandpa, how could I have had the chance to touch a woman?"

"I've only been in the city for a few days, and I'm so poor that I jingle when I walk, which woman would like me?"

Su Fan showed a pitiful expression.

Wang Fei immediately said with a laugh,

"Silly little brother, that's just because those women don't know how awesome your 'assets' are. If they knew what you were capable of, they wouldn't need you to be rich. I bet countless wealthy women would be rushing to throw themselves at you. I think Bai Man would be the most aggressive among them."

Hearing Wang Fei mention Bai Man, Su Fan panicked for a moment.

Previously, he had almost completely possessed Bai Man's body.

If that had truly happened, how could he ever have the face to meet Zhang Haitao again?

This was definitely something Wang Fei couldn't find out.

Everyone has their own secrets.

Feigning shock, Su Fan said,

"Sister Fei, don't make such unethical jokes. You know what my relationship with Bai Man is like, and if my uncle heard this, I'd be done for."

"I know, I know,"

Bai Man said with a giggle.

"Your sister Fei understands, I won't talk nonsense. But honestly, Bai Man is quite flirtatious, you should maintain some distance from her. I'm just afraid you wouldn't want to, and that foxy vixen would force herself on you."

"Maybe she's even dreaming about you right now. Make sure to avoid her when you're taking a shower. Don't let her discover your 'big treasure', because with what I know about her, she'd definitely go to any lengths to devour you."

Su Fan chuckled bitterly to himself.

The warning was obviously a bit late, since Bai Man had not only seen it but also had her hands—and her body—on it at night.

Still, he nodded.

"I'll remember that, Sister Fei. Don't worry, I definitely won't have anything to do with Auntie."

Wang Fei smiled and then picked up her phone.

Right after, Su Fan's phone rang.

Looking at it, Su Fan saw that Wang Fei had sent him money via WeChat.

Ten thousand yuan.

"This much money, Sister Fei, why are you giving me so much?"

"Didn't you say you were extremely poor? When you just arrive in the city, there are many expenses."

"And I'm not giving you this money to waste. Since you've offended your dean, buy a couple of packs of Zhonghua cigarettes to give as a gift tomorrow, speak well of him. City life is complicated, you can't be as impulsive as in the countryside."

Wang Fei said, her voice full of earnest concern.

A warmth filled Su Fan's heart.

She really was a good 'sister'.

Not only had she brought him tremendous physical satisfaction, but she was also considerate of his circumstances.

"Sister, you're so good to me. But the thing with the dean, I've already handled it. I promise he won't trouble me again. This money... you should take it back."

"Really?"

"I've dealt with Zhang Haitao before; he's a tough nut to crack. How did you manage it?"

Wang Fei looked at Su Fan curiously.

Su Fan just smiled, without saying a word.

Wang Fei wasn't upset,

"You little rascal, keeping secrets from me. But it's fine, as long as you're safe. However, keep the money, it's better to be prepared."

"Consider it a red envelope from your sister for looking after the 'chicken'. After all, I can't just enjoy your services for nothing, right?"

Su Fan forced a smile.

And at that moment, Wang Fei suddenly bent down to help Su Fan remove the still-worn helmet.

Inside the helmet was Su Fan's life essence.

He had thought Wang Fei was going to throw the helmet away.

Who knew Wang Fei would make such a crazy move.