

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 355: I SWEAR, I DONT LIE!

I SWEAR, I DONT LIE!

Iris had never seen something like this before, neither she had any idea the little lizard had such ability to disappear and appear again in different media of flames.

"How can you do that?" Iris was dumstruck to see the little lizard in the other young man's hand.

The young boy smiled innocently and put the little lizard back on her hand, as he waited with expectant eyes. His green eyes looked so beautiful under the sunlight that streamed down through the window.

Iris received the little lizard and the creature curled its body on her palms, making small noises, as it nuzzled her thumb and closed it eyes.

"Who are you?" Iris narrowed her eyes. She didn't feel this young man was dangerous, but their whereabouts must be kept secret. One word out about them being here, would cause trouble for Cane's entire plan and that was the last thing Iris wanted.

Albeit, she was not clear with his whole plan, but she knew this much not to divulge their location.

The young boy with golden hair only shook his head. He looked at her sadly and pointed his finger at Iris, which only made her more confused.

"What do you want to say?" Iris frowned and the little lizard in her hands had fallen asleep, purring like a kitty. "Who are you?"

With the same question Iris asked him, he made the same gesture; pointing his finger at Iris.

"I don't understand, why don't you talk?" Iris forgot her fear a moment ago and took a step closer toward him. She remembered the last time they met, he talked to her, but why he refused to talk now?

Once again, he looked at her sorrowfully and shook his head, but then, his body stiffened and he stared at the door before he turned around and was about to leave, as if he was sensing something.

"No! Don't go! Wait!" Iris grabbed his arm and was slightly surprised. She knew this man was lean, but not this thin. It almost felt like an arm of a child.

And everything happened so fast.

Cane entered the room with Jace behind him, he looked furious because he smelled another scent from inside the room and at the same time, the young man twisted his arm out of Iris's grip, as he turned around and leapt from the window.

"Get him," Cane said coldly at his beta and Jace immediately shifted into his beast, as he leapt from the window as well to follow after the man, while Cane grabbed Iris's arm and turned her body around to get her attention. "What is this?" he asked grimly.

Iris was stunned to see Cane was there, but then she immediately explained everything, since she was afraid, he would think it was her, who invited the man to come. She didn't want to be under Cane's suspicion, because she had seen how devious he was against his enemy, she didn't want to be on his bad side and more so, she didn't want to lose a little trust she had gained from him.

"Oh, and look at this!" Iris tugged Cane's sleeve to come closer to the fireplace and toss the poor sleeping lizard into the flames. The little creature's eyes widened when its body flew into the fire, as it let out a squeaking noise. "Come here, look!"

This time, Iris tugged Cane's sleeve again so he would follow her to the brazier. She looked a little bit panic in her attempt to explain herself to Cane, while the alpha slightly furrowed his brows, trying to figure out what his mate was trying to do.

"Here, see this!" Iris pointed her finger to the brazier, but there was nothing happened.

"What should I see?" Cane asked and Iris became even more panic when the lizard didn't appear from the brazier, she pulled her hair in distress.

"The lizard should appear there. I swear. I don't lie to you!" Iris turned her head to look at Cane, she was about to cry. "I don't lie. I swear!"

Iris had always this fear to be called as a liar, since that was what Mason always told her; a liar and an attention seeking, it engraved in her mind deeply. Especially when Cane didn't say anything, but his eyes fixed on the brazier.

"That man did it in this way and the lizard will appear from the brazier," Iris explained it again hastily. "I don't lie."

"Iris." Cane grabbed her hand that pulling her hair relentlessly, he put his other hand on the back of her head, as he made a circle motion in order to soothe her anxiety. "Tell me slowly."

Iris started to explain it again and this time, she was a little bit calmer than before, as she told him about more detail she failed to mention before.

Cane then looked at the fireplace, but he was sure, the lizard didn't come out from there. It could be said the creature had died and turned into ashes by now, but then there was no way the lizard didn't struggle first, before it was burned to death. When Iris tossed the creature, it vanished, once the flames swallowed it.

"So, he lit up the brazier?" Cane muttered to himself and then move away from Iris to put off the flames on the brazier, before he lit it up again and there.... The little lizard scrambled out of the flames, shaking its small body, as it was water instead of fire.

"Ah! There!" Iris immediately rushed forward, as she was about to get the lizard, but Cane did it first, he felt its body and only when he thought it was safe that he handed it over to Iris.

"He showed you this?" Cane narrowed his eyes.

He smelled someone else's scent from inside the room when he was halfway here and immediately rushed inside to see that young man and Iris.

"Yes." Iris nodded immediately. "Oh, he was also the man, who appeared inside my bedroom when we were in the black market, did you remember when you rushed inside the room and smelled someone else's scent?"

Cane absolutely remembered that. So, it was not the first encounter between Iris and that mysterious man. But, what his motive and intention? He became alert with this fact. Someone was trying to make connection with his mate and he didn't have any idea at all. Was it from the royal family? The people from Blue Moon pack that was still on the run, as his men still hunted them down? What was this?

Cane hated it when something was out of his control and he was clueless regarding the matter.

"I don't know him, I don't lie..." Iris said, fiddling with her fingers nervously, seeing how serious Cane's expression was, it made her felt unwell.

Cane then shifted his attention toward his mate and caressed her rosy cheek and kissed the tip of her nose. "I know."

At the same time, Jace returned and watched the scene. The beta shifted into his human form and stared at Iris with complicated look on his eyes. This was the first time after months they met again.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 356: CANE'S ENDEARMENT GESTURE

CANE'S ENDEARMENT GESTURE

Before Iris went to the capital city, she had followed Cane to the black market and Jace would always be left behind to take care of the pack every time the alpha went away, thus the time he spent with Iris was very limited. They were at the point of being courteous with each other, but he had not yet reached the point of trusting her completely.

Not like Ethan, Jace was still thinking Iris was the member of Blue Moon pack and was not one of them.

He also always thought Cane treated Iris considerately because he needed her, since he had to get a grip of the Blue Moon pack and the whole magic stone mines. More so, she held some of Cane's secret and the fact, her presence eased Cane's transformation during the new moon justified his needs to take her whenever he went away.

However, what Jace witnessed just now was simply too shocking to be believable.

He kissed her! He kissed the tip of her nose!?

Cane only did the endearment gesture to the people that dear to him! He did that to his previous mate and his twin siblings! Something that not many people realized it, but of course, as his beta, he knew this much.

And now, he kissed her that way?! Did he even realize it?! Or was this some kind of his ruse again? He didn't do anything casually, ever since they managed to be free from their slavery, he became a calculative person.

Yet, from the way Jace looked at it, Cane did it very naturally. He probably didn't even think about it.

"Who is that person?" Cane asked all of sudden when Jace only stood in his place, he was in daze, his expression was complicated.

Jace snapped back to reality and shook his head. "I don't know, I lost him..." He walked over to approach them. "He suddenly disappeared and I can't find him, there is no trace whatsoever and his scent also vanished all of sudden."

"His scent too?" Cane's expression hardened, he rested his hand on Iris's waist, as he talked to Jace. His tone became cold.

"Yes. I don't know how." Jace glanced at Cane's hand on Iris's waist. He was not seeing things.

A lot of things happened in the span of less than an hour Cane was away and on top of the plan they had to work on, he needed to prioritize what he should do next.

"Let Arthur knows about this matter and ask someone else to look into this matter. We will proceed with the plan tonight." Cane was well aware, there would be nothing much he could find about this mysterious man, since they didn't know where to start to gather the information about him, but he needed to alert his men about his appearance.

"What about the sorcerer?" Jace asked. He shifted his attention from Cane's hand.

"Haco will arrive tonight."

And with that, the plan was in the motion, while Cane was still trying to figure out the mysterious man, who had shown Iris the ability of this little lizard. He had never heard something like this, but probably it was because Cane was too ignorant about the matter regarding magic and Holy Kingdom and the rare creatures of the Serafim.

But, after he heard what Haco said about the lycan and the attachment of the cursed beast toward Iris, so did the salamander, which was no other than a creature that belonged to Serafim, he wanted to get more information about the Holy Kingdom, but it was almost an impossible thing for him to get any information even if he went to Andelus continent, as the Holy Kingdom was not a place for a shifter like him.

More so, he had a way to make them to come here instead...

=====

"Master, are you sure this is wise to help that alpha?" Sabian asked his master. He stared at the flying hawk Lou set to fly across the ocean to reach the Holy Kingdom, carrying Alan's handwriting, where he spilled the bean about what happened in the continent and the appearance of the lycan and black magic. "This is so dangerous to get involved with the Holy Kingdom..." The old man looked worried for his master's sake.

As far as he knew, it was Lou, who wanted to take advantage of Cane and used this alpha for his own benefit, but instead, it was the other way around from the way he looked at things right now.

His master was smart, but how the alpha confirmed him to take this risk?

"Why not? Why do you think it is dangerous?" Lou asked nonchalantly, as he stared at the flying hawk, which looked so tiny in the vast night sky.

"Master!" Sabian felt so helpless with his master's recklessness. Before, he caused trouble within the palace with the sudden monster attack, that almost cost him his life, because he couldn't control the portal, but right now, he poked his head into the problem between the Ogregon continent and the Holy Kingdom.

"Nah." Lou waved his hand casually. "You are worried too much. I sent the letter with Alan's handwriting and it's also him, who spilled the bean about what happened here, though his father tried his hardest to conceal it." There was an amused smile on the corner of his lips when he said those things. Stupid people was amusing, after all, as long as they didn't drag him down with their stupidity. "I have nothing to do with it. They can't track me down, even if Alan confessed, I only need to deny it."

"Master! It's not easy to deny such thing! You meet with him in person inside his bedroom."

"That's right. The room is locked and there are guards in every corner, how can I enter the room? I was not there in the first place." Lou shrugged his shoulders and walked away, whistled happily.

But little did Lou realize, if they couldn't track him down with his involvement of suggesting such thing to Alan, it would be even more impossible for them to make connection to Cane.

A week had past after Lou sent the letter to the Holy Kingdom, they must have received it by now and this early morning, the whole capital city was in an uproar with the news alpha Cane managed to track down the lycan that had kidnapped his mate to the Riverside pack.

Not only that... there was other shocking news about it.

"They found Vemion's body?" Lou looked at Sabian in shocked. "In the Riverside pack house?"

"Yes, master," Sabian reported it to his master in low voice, on their way to the site, where they would be finishing up the device. It would take them a few more days and they would be done with it. "Actually, not his body... but, only his head, the lycan had decapitated the fourth prince's body."

"What about Iris?" Lou couldn't care less about Vemion, the lycan could chew Vemion's body for all he cared. "How is she?"

"The luna is fine. Currently, they are residing in the Riverside pack house. Alpha Cane is investigating alpha Gill now."

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel
Online Free, Chapter 357: DEGRADING STATEMENT

DEGRADING STATEMENT

Hanna was running on the corridor, as she was frantically looking for Ethan or anyone else, who could confirm the latest news about her missy.

However, she was stopped by two guards, who blocked her way to enter the warrior quarter.

"Excuse me, I need to go inside," Hanna said politely, she had met with the two of them a few times, because she used to come and go this place frequently, especially after her missy was being kidnapped. She relentlessly pestered Redmond, Ethan, Trion or anyone else she could find, who were able to give her any information regarding the progress of their search of the alpha and luna.

She almost broke down in tears when the rumor of alpha Cane managed to find his luna in the Riverside pack after almost a month of her missing.

Hanna dropped everything she was doing and rushed toward the warrior quarter to confirm it, because the rumor started to circulate within the citizen and they were in uproar, happy for the alpha and luna.

Though their time in the capital city was not too long, but their contribution to the orphanage was well known. The women would talk about how they wished they found someone like the alpha from the Howling Wolf pack, who would chase down even a cursed beast to find his mate and almost all the people wished the luna would go back to the capital city and continued with the plan to teach those poor lowborn people how to read and write.

They were so relieved and it showed how much impact Iris and Cane had made during their time in the capital city.

"You know, you shouldn't be here," one of the guards said in cocky tone, as he took a step forward, forcing Hanna to take a step back. "You can't come here."

She frowned because this guard invaded her space. "I have been coming here so often. Why I can't come here now?"

Hanna could smell there was something wrong with them. They were trying to give her trouble. No, it was not a trouble... Hanna recognized the way they looked at her. They wanted her.

This was not the first time she got this kind of gaze, thus she recognized it almost immediately. What a jerk!

"Move!" Hanna said coldly, she felt disgusted when their eyes moved to her chest and a lustful smile appeared on the corner of his lips.

"You don't need to be so angry. Tell me, who you have fun with? A warrior from the Howling Wolf pack? Which one? I am sure we can give you more," the other guard chuckled, as he licked his lip. "Good thing needs to be shared, you know..."

Hanna growled at that statement and she was ready to defend herself. She forgot how immoral these people were, because she was surrounded by the people from the Howling Wolf pack, who would never touch her inappropriately, she forgot how most of the male shifters viewed a woman, especially someone, who were born with low status like her.

Most of them was driven by their carnal desire and it was not a secret some of the maidservants and omegas without a master, who could protect them would end up to be a bed warmer to please these low guards.

Their choice was very limited because these guards couldn't get their hand on women above their rank, thus for someone as beautiful as Hanna to be roamed around them was a temptation, especially when she currently didn't have her master around.

"Touch me and I am going to rip your face!" Hanna growled dangerously, she was ready to shift into her beast when they came closer to her, though she knew her skill wouldn't be enough to take down these two guards, but then, she could runaway faster in her beast form and look for a shelter later on.

They wouldn't dare to do this to her if the alpha and luna were still here.

"Don't be so dramatic, you come here so often, why are you trying to act pure and innocent now?" The first guard smacked his lips and didn't even try to hide his intention.

"If the warrior from my pack see this, you will be dead!" Sharp claws emerged from the tip of her fingers, she wouldn't hesitate to claw them if they were going to touch her, while she was trying to see over their shoulders, whether she could catch a glimpse of one of the warriors.

The two guards chuckled derisively and amused by Hanna's attempt to fight them. "Howling Wolf pack warrior will not bat an eye if we have our time together. I heard you are not from their pack, you are from the pack that enslaved them for a decade, I am sure they will be fine."

Hanna growled dangerously. "Step back or else you will regret it!"

Instead of being scared, the two guards laughed at her, shaking their head. "Silly girl. I can pay you if you want, though it shouldn't be necessary, since your kind should be grateful for being pleased. Woman only existed to bear children and please men after all."

Hanna was shaking with anger and wanted to cry out of rage for that degrading statement. It was so common for male shifters to think that way, especially for lowborn, as they used to talk vulgarly and voice out what was in their mind with people in the same rank like them.

"Fuck off!" Hanna clawed the first guard, who made a move on her, as blood dripped from his wounds and this aggravated him.

It was still in the middle of the day and there were a few other guards and royal warriors around, but they only watched in amusement, as if this was something common for them.

"You bitch!" The guard was enraged.

Hanna immediately shifted into her beast, while the other two guards did the same thing, as they circled her.

Hanna's grey beast snapped at the other two, while warriors and guards cheered for them from the side.

However, before things could escalate further, there was a brown wolf dashed toward them and without a second thought, it attacked the two wolves, as it stood in front of the grey one, snarling at the two guards.

The two wolves immediately shifted back into their human form and were anxious to see this brown wolf, which was no other than the gamma of the Howling Wolf pack.

Soon after, three more pack members of the Howling Wolf pack came and stood by Ethan, who had shifted into his human form, so did Hanna.

"Are you okay?" Trion asked Hanna.

Ethan glanced at Hanna over his shoulder, but then he fixed his eyes on the guards before him.

"I am fine," Hanna muttered.

"Are you trying to attack our pack member?" Ethan asked them icily, his body emanated killing intent. He and his pack member had been very sick with these people fucking any women they could have their hands on, but now they really crossed the boundaries by targeting Hanna.

"Come on, gamma Ethan, is not that serious..." The first guard tried to play it down.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free, Chapter 358: WHERE IS HIS BODY?

WHERE IS HIS BODY?

"It's not that serious? You insulted the member of our pack." Ethan's voice was so icy.

The guards and warriors alike knew about how he had beaten up the former crown prince, until he almost died, but with the help of his alpha, he could get away with only an apology. If it was someone else, they would have died a miserable death instead.

Therefore, though the warrior from the Howling pack were not many, they were respected among the royal warriors and guards, especially Ethan, as he was hot headed and showed his dislike very openly. If they could help it, they didn't want to get trouble with them.

Not to mention Ethan had become one of the leaders of the searching team for his alpha and luna, along with the representative from the Red Claw pack. It was such achievement, as he was in charge for hundreds of royal warriors as well.

"We- we are not trying to insult her. I only suggested for her to spend more time with us. There is nothing wrong with that." The first guard tried to avoid Ethan's dangerous eyes. Chill ran down his spine. He was very afraid of this gamma right now, but trying to calm himself down, so he wouldn't look so bad in front of his fellow guards. "If you like the girl for your own, I am fine. I will not touch her." He raised his hands, acting nonchalantly.

Ethan tilted his head. "What is your name?"

The two of them looked confused, but in the end, they gave Ethan their name, though they didn't have any idea what he would do with that.

"Good. I will expect both of you to be in the North training ground, we will depart early in the morning." Ethan smiled, but no one would believe it was because of something funny.

"Wh- what? Where?"

"We will hunt down the lycan, of course, I recruited you to be part of searching team." Ethan then added with malice flashed in his eyes. "Under my command."

As one of the leaders of the searching team, he got a free access to choose the people, he would take with him. More so, no one would bat an eye, if he took these two.

"Gamma Ethan! You can't... I didn't do anything!" the second guard trembled. Searching for the lycan?! All of them even trembled when they heard what kind of creature it was from the other warriors and guards, who saw the cursed beast.

Ethan shrugged his shoulder and then took a step forward as he spoke in low voice. "You shouldn't have touched her in the first place, mutt."

And with that, Ethan took Hanna's hand and walked away from there. The two of them would definitely come tomorrow.

Ethan looked pleased, he should ask Will for a treat for saving his girl, but unfortunately the man was getting worse by day. He looked so angry every time to the point they were afraid to approach him...

On the other hand, Hanna glanced to the two guards over her shoulder and watched how their faces were crestfallen. Their days wouldn't be good under Ethan's command.

But, Hanna immediately turned callous to their fate, it was their own doing that brought them to their own misery, more so, their wellbeing were not important for her, they could die for all she cared.

"Tell me, is the rumor true?" Hanna immediately bombarded Ethan with questions, while Trion and the other two warriors walked behind them, they looked at each other meaningfully to hear such question.

"What rumor?" Ethan feigned ignorance, which got him a slap on the back, because Hanna knew he was teasing her.

Hanna had grown close with the warrior from the Howling Wolf pack, especially Ethan, because both of them liked to exchange gossip.

"Okay, okay." Ethan raised both of his hands in surrender gesture, indicating he would answer her seriously this time. "Yes, the rumor is true. Your missy is alright, the alpha managed to find her, you don't need to worry. This morning, Redmond had gone to the Riverside pack along with the other three warriors."

"Why they didn't take me with them?" Hanna looked somber when she heard that. "I want to go too, if miss Iris is not here, why should I be here?" she was not part of the royal servant and her main concern was Iris, thus she should be where her missy was.

"They went in hurry and more so, you will not be able to keep up with them. You will only slow them down."

Hanna gave Ethan a look upon hearing that. She knew she wouldn't be able to keep up with the warriors, who had trained every day.

"Instead of going to the Riverside pack, why don't you go to the Orphanage instead? I am sure you can have a lot of things to do there. We will go back together once we are clear to leave the capital city." Ethan then added. "More so, it is safest for you to be there, so you will not need to deal with such mutt like earlier."

"Okay," Hanna muttered. It was not because she didn't want to go to the orphanage, but because Will was also there. Their last conversation didn't end well and he looked uncomfortable whenever she was nearby. He didn't even try to hide it when he tried to avoid her.

On the other hand, Ethan simply wanted the two of them together, probably Hanna could help with whatever trouble Will was having and sort out with their problem, but even more because he felt a little bit guilty for deceiving her.

Almost all of the warriors from the Howling Wolf pack and also Redmond knew about Cane and Iris were fine and they were heading to the Riverside pack, though some of them were not clear why the lycan involved in this matter, but they didn't ask question.

It was only Hanna, who was clueless about all of that and it was some kind of a torture for them to see her crying every day and kept asking news about the alpha and luna.

They did this because the story would look more believable to see how distressed Hanna was, since the warriors were not really good at acting.

Well, if there was someone to be blamed for her grief, it would be Cane, since the alpha was the one, who came up with the plan, knowing his warriors lacked of emotions, thus it was Hanna, who carried the emotional part of his plan this time.

=====

"Cane! You had hidden prince Vemion's head in this pack?" Iris looked at Cane in horror, she lowered her voice, so no one would listen to their conversation, though it was only the two of them alone in their bedroom, in the Riverside pack house.

"Yes," Cane replied simply, as he sat down next to her on the sofa and caressed her cheek absentmindedly.

Iris shrunk her body in fear, she remembered how he had killed him. "What about his body...? Where is his body?"

"Do you really want to know?"

Iris was not sure, but Cane beckoned her closer before he whispered it to her ear.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel
Online Free,Chapter 359: A PLEASANT DINNER

A PLEASANT DINNER

Iris frowned. She pouted her lips when Cane whispered to her ear, as he told her where the body of prince Vemion.

She then tilted her head and stared at him in disbelief as she said in annoyance. "You know I deaf, right?"

There was mirth in those dark eyes of his and a small smile tugged on the corner of Cane's lips when he heard her protest. "I know," he said curtly.

"Are you playing with me?" Iris narrowed her eyes at him, but he simply brushed her bangs and stood up.

"Let's go, we have dinner with alpha Gill." Cane took Iris's hand. She looked reluctant to have dinner with alpha Gill. She didn't even want to be near him at all.

Cane could see that, but he couldn't cater to her every need, Iris needed to learn how to face her discomfort because just like what he had told and showed her, their road ahead would fill with much worse than only a discomfort, thus she needed to figure out how to face her own crisis.

Protecting her was his priority, but coddled her wouldn't help anyone in the long run.

Iris took his hand and then stood up. She was not happy to have dinner with alpha Gill, but she didn't refuse to go as well. As long as Cane by her side, she could endure this dinner.

"Tell me, where is prince Vemion's body?" Iris became curious because Cane tricked her.

"I have told you earlier," Cane said, as both of them stepped out of the bedroom, holding hands like usual, but for Jace, who had been waiting for them outside of the door, this was something that made him frowned.

Since when the alpha was being so touchy? He was not even like this with Aria. Because of the nightmare they had gone through, most of them hated it to be touched casually and developed a habit to avoid skinship altogether, unless it was with someone they were comfortable with.

Did he feel comfortable with her? What actually happened in the capital city? For someone who didn't see them for months, this change puzzled him.

"Hi, Jace," Iris greeted him sheepishly when she saw him.

"Oh, hi luna..." Jace mumbled. He saw the difference in Iris as well, because she was way more comfortable with Cane than before so did the alpha and this luna was talking a little bit more than her usual reserved self that he knew in short time he met her.

Iris smiled, but she avoided to see his eyes, as she turned her focus on Cane again. "Tell me..." she said in low voice, tugging at his sleeve, but Cane simply repeated the same answer, making his mate frustrated.

Meanwhile, this subtle gesture and the banter between the two of them didn't go unnoticed by Jace. He was floored. Did Cane tease her? Was that even make sense?

They exchanged letters very often, whether it was a secret message or a report regarding the two packs, which would be fine if the king's spy read that, since it would be too suspicious if they couldn't find anything to be reported back to the king.

But then, of course, even in two types of letters, Ethan had never mentioned anything about the progress of the relationship between Cane and Iris.

Jace determined to interrogate the gamma once he got back to the pack. He was going to dig every detail of it, because for him it was so absurd.

And if the beta thought that was it and he wouldn't be surprised again, he witnessed how natural when Cane leaned over and kissed Iris's forehead, as if he was coaxing her, because he refused to tell her the body of prince Vemion. Cane casually slid down his hand and rested it on her waist protectively, as they walked in this long corridor.

Somehow, the beta felt awkward. He felt like he was disturbing their time together, though they were in the enemy's territory and such display of affection was not necessary.

However, for Cane and Iris, the time when they spent together inside the forest for two weeks, made them grow closer, even without them knowing it. It just happened...

Thankfully, Jace didn't need to be fed by such sweet scene when he didn't have a mate on his own for long time, as they arrived in the dining hall, where they could hear a lot of laughter and music on the background.

This must be a typical dinner in the standard of the southern pack, as they loved to be fed and to be pleased.

Jace immediately scrunched his nose when the smell of sex filled the air.

Iris's body stiffened when the door to the dining hall was opened and before her eyes, there were a few naked women, sitting on some men's laps, walking around the table, or some women was being passed to another man.

Alpha Gill himself had a naked woman with brown hair, sitting on his laps, while he dripped honey on her bare chest and licked it from there. He was too occupied with his own pleasure, as he didn't realize Cane was already there.

On the other hand, Jace felt like he revived the days of their slavery. This was the same exact thing they used to see.

There was not only woman, but also naked men there, as they pleased their master or giving them a show.

This was not a dinner, but if you came from the southern pack, you would know this kind of thing was very common here.

The alpha and all the highborn in this pack loved to have their carnal desire be fulfilled. They would use any occasion to have this kind of party and this time, this 'welcome party' was to honor Cane and Iris.

"Alpha Cane!" Alpha Gill raised his head from the woman's breast and grinned at him and Iris.

Iris felt like she wanted to vomit, she kept her eyes down and didn't dare to look around this room. She lost her appetite. She didn't want to eat anything here, which had contained with those people's fluid...

"Alpha Gil," Cane said politely, as he sat down next to him, while Iris was by his side. She clutched onto his pants, as he uncorked a bottle of wine and poured it for her, so she could relax a little bit.

"Someone come! Serve them their meals!" Alpha Gill's voice boomed inside the room and two maidservants wearing transparent dress, which covered nothing of their skin immediately came to serve two meals for Iris and Cane.

One of them intentionally brushed their chest against Cane's shoulder, which made alpha Gill grinned.

"You must have been dreaming of being served like this right? After all, you have been in many parties that was held by alpha Gerald. Unfortunately, at that time, you were not in the position, where you can do as you please..." Alpha Gill smacked his lips in lewdly. "Now, I have prepared some women for you!" he slurred, he was drunk, but not completely forgot about his mission to get Cane's good side, since they found Vemion's head in his pack and now Red Claw pack was enraged.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 360: DON'T BITE ME!

DON'T BITE ME!

Alpha Gill didn't have any idea how the head of prince Vemion was in his pack and why the lycan brought the fourth prince and Iris here when he didn't know anything about the lycan.

Thankfully, Dexter had gone, the king had summoned him back to the capital city because he needed him to check on princess Osana's curse. The former head of royal sorcerer had been given death sentence, but the curse on the princess had not been lifted.

From what alpha Gill heard, Dexter had been appointed as the new head of royal sorcerer and currently was trying to figure out the curse on princess Osana.

There were a lot of things that didn't make sense for Gill, since his line of information was flawed and his sources were limited, thus he refrained himself from getting involved further, because things could get messy and he could be dragged into a muddy water without him knowing it.

After all, it was the king himself, who created this plan. He could end up like alpha Josh, Cane's father, if he was being nosy.

More so, with the newly found of Vemion's head in his pack, currently, the Red Claw pack was enraged, their alpha demanded an explanation from them, or else, they would march toward Riverside pack and took one of his sons. Life for life...

Therefore, he was determined to get Cane's good side, because he was the person in charge for the search of the lycan.

Cane could clear his name and prove his innocent.

"You will like this!" alpha Gill guffawed, as he fondled his woman's breast, while two other women rubbed themselves against him. "I prepare the best women in this pack for you!"

Jace, who heard that from afar, scoffed disdainfully. If there were best women in this pack, those women must have ended in alpha Gill's bed countless times. There was no way he would skip such opportunity to dip his dick inside those women.

With a cue from the alpha three women emerged, they were wearing nothing, but transparent blue dress, which didn't cover their body at all, since you could see their skin beneath the fabric.

They walked seductively, puckering their lips and made all the men inside the dining hall to turn their head toward them, as they salivated over their bodies.

Those three women were alpha Gill's favorite and it was him being 'generous' to share them with Cane, because he thought, in that way, he would make Cane's happy. After all, he was a person, who would judge other by his own standard and unfortunately for him, he was not really bright to read other people.

Iris was stiffened to see the three women, who made their way toward Cane and her, she glared at their voluptuous body and couldn't help, but compared herself with them, although this was not the right time for such thought. Iris glanced at Cane, who kept pouring her a glass of wine, but he didn't touch the food that was served for them.

"Drink," Cane said simply, as he nudged the glass against her lips.

Iris couldn't understand why Cane kept insisting for her to drink, did he want her to get drunk? But, she couldn't reject him, thus she drank it obediently with sour expression, as those women were walking closer to them.

However, Cane was unfazed, he didn't even glance at them and all of his attention was on his sullen mate, while he kept pouring her another glass of wine. It was so obvious he wanted her to get drunk.

Meanwhile, when Iris finished her fourth glass, the three women had surrounded Cane, as they started to rub their body against him, whispering seductive words to his ears, which made Iris wanted to claw their faces. Unfortunately, she couldn't shift into a beast like a normal shifter.

"I came in contact with a lycan when I rescued my mate, so I am not sure if I am not affected by any curse," Cane said simply, which made them stopped touching him. "Have you heard of princess Osana's curse?"

Understanding dawn on them before fear came creeping up their faces, as they simultaneously took a step back from him.

"I will get myself tested first before I can enjoy your gifts," Cane said politely to alpha Gill, who was frowning now, suddenly he became sadder after hearing the word 'curse'.

The king didn't give any detail about the curse on princess Osana, thus he was not sure whether it came from the lycan or there was another dark sorcerer, who had done that.

"Don't worry, tomorrow, I have invited a sorcerer to check on me and my mate," Cane said, as he poured another glass for Iris, at this point, her face was very red. "I hope you don't mind to let him stay here for a while."

"Of course!" Alpha Gill was in the mood of kissing Cane's ass, thus he would approve anything he wanted, so he would help him to deal with the Red Claw pack and explained his innocent regarding the matter with the lycan. "Is this sorcerer someone that close to you."

Cane shook his head. "We just met a few times before and I think he is quite skill." Cane casually pulled Iris closer and sat her on his laps when one of the women tried to approach him again, seemingly she didn't take seriously the word 'curse' from Cane, but stopped in her track when the alpha started kissing her tipsy mate's neck. Somehow, she felt awkward. "I want to meet with the head of royal warrior, who guards the border. How many royal warriors is available there?"

"There are five hundreds for each pack," alpha Gill immediately answered him.

Every territory of the pack in this continent would be guarded by the royal warriors, along with the pack warrior, thus whatever happened between the packs and if there were conflict of territory, they could act quickly and acted as a peacemaker. In that way, they could report it to the king immediately.

After all, conflict between pack was something common, it happened a few times, though it didn't escalate further.

"So, there are two thousand five hundreds of them in the southern kingdom."

"More or less." Alpha Gill was a little bit off with this conversation. They should have fun, rather than talking about serious matter, but then, Cane was having fun with his mate on his laps, without feeling awkward at all...

"Hm." Cane nodded, as he nibbled on Iris's earlobe, which made her squirmed on his laps and tried to get his face away from her.

"Alpha Cane... about the Red Claw pack..."

"Call the other southern alphas to come here and we will discuss this together," Cane said, he cut off his words, since he knew what he wanted to say.

Meanwhile, feeling neglected because Cane talked to alpha Gill and the alcohol had clouded her mind, Iris cupped Cane's face with both of her hands, so she could make him stopped nibbling on her earlobe, she pouted and stared at Cane.

"Don't bite me!" she said in clear voice, glaring at Cane before she bit his lips!