

Chapter 453: Plot And Promise

PLOT AND PROMISE

"You don't need to drag me here, you know!" Redmond glared at Avid. This warrior had dragged him out of the bar before he could finish his second bottle, thus Redmond was sober enough to know where they would go. "I don't want to go to the pack house!" he growled.

"Oh! Shut up! Why are you whining so much!?" Avid finally couldn't take it anymore and snapped at him.

Strangely enough, Redmond didn't talk back and only grumble here and there, while he shook Avid's hand from his shoulder. "I can walk on my own!" he said viciously and Avid rolled his eyes.

"I only want you to know, if you dare to runaway, I will ask all the warriors to hunt you down like a dog and drag your ass back to the pack house!"

Redmond scrunched his nose in disdain. "I don't know that you can swear like that."

"Oh, shut up."

Probably this was Redmond's curse, because he would end up bickering with whoever he was with, especially right now when he was in a very bad mood.
