

Chapter 694

694 BLACK RAIN AND DARK SKY (36)

"How can I get out of here?" Haco looked around him, he was having a headache.

"You can protect us, Haco, I am sure you can do something to get us out of here by using your magic." Joel groaned when the pain on his shoulders were almost unbearable.

"Magic?" Haco stared at his hands. "I am a magic user?"

"Yes, yes, you are Haco." Joel was sure, his right shoulder was dislocated because he covered Aliana's body with his when they fell down. "Haco, listen to me, you need to concentrate. You need to get us out of here, or else, all of us will die, including you."

Haco frowned even deeper. "But, how?" He hit his head, trying to think, but there was nothing coming to his mind. Seeing that, Joel asked him to stop hurting himself. "Why don't you be the one, who looked for away out of here?"

"I can't move my arms, Haco. I don't have the power to do so, but you can. You are a sorcerer. The best one!" Joel cheered him, because that was what Haco always said, he praised himself a lot to be a great sorcerer.

Well, indeed he was, if his mind was lucid enough.

"I think you keep your magic stone around your ankle, check it, Haco." Joel breathed raggedly. His best shot was this sorcerer, but it was hard when Haco had his own battle against himself.

Aliana was currently unconscious, but she lost a lot of blood, her life was in danger if her healing ability couldn't keep up and they couldn't get a healer for her.

"Please, Haco... try..." Joel said desperately. "We need to get Celia to the Serafim too, she is sick. The Serafim needs to cure her."

"Celia...?" Haco remembered his promise to Celia's brother that he would protect the little girl.

Iris's stomach churned, it seemed her baby also didn't like to be in this situation, she didn't have an appetite to eat, but Cane kept coaxing her to swallow something.

Currently, they were in the pergola near the lake, enjoying their dinner with the four of them with a few servants stood on the side.

"I don't believe it, for such a brute pack, Golden Light pack has this beautiful place. They know how to make things look beautiful." Koda smirked, he looked so proud of himself for being able to subdue this pack, even though they wouldn't make it if it was not for Clan's plan.

"What about the children that came with us?" Iris asked, she was well aware that her question had ruined the atmosphere when Koda and alpha Colter wanted to brag about how they won the battle against the Golden Light pack.

For Iris, there was nothing to be bragged about when they were only a puppet in her mate's palms.

Alpha Colter and Koda didn't like their story to be interrupted when they were talking about the victorious moment they managed to take down the second attempt of Golden Light pack's warriors to take back their pack.

However, the annoying part was; they couldn't rebuke Iris for that, since they couldn't afford to be on Cane's bad side.

They couldn't beat a dog without knowing its master, right?

"Don't worry, luna Iris. We have prepared the south pack house for them, they are well taken care of. Sir Lou's people will look after them," alpha Colter replied.

Iris didn't believe with Lou's men, she would check those children on her own, but obviously not now, because this time, there was more urgent matter at hand. More so, she wouldn't talk to Lou, because this method was way more effective to torture him than her being angry and scolding him. Cane suggested this actually... and this was the easiest way for her too.

"What about the pack member of the Golden Light pack?" Iris asked when alpha Colter wanted to change the topic and focus on their achievement.

What achievement? All they had achieved was thanked to her mate and they shamelessly claimed it! The audacity of these people...

Somehow, with how bad her mood was and their current situation, Iris became easily angry. She hated these people and this hatred gnawed in her heart like a venom that spread through her veins.

"They will make good slave. We have tried to make contact with Karam people to sell some of them to work in their continent." Alpha Colter explained his plan without having any guilty feeling, since this was a normal thing for the pack member of a fallen pack to be slave for the victor pack. Cane's pack was the example.

Cane himself put some pack member of the Blue Moon pack into slavery, though he didn't do the same with the other innocent pack member, but this tradition was hard to be erased completely.

They had accustomed to this, more so, there was not yet a suitable term of how to treat the member of the fallen pack.

"You need to eat more," Cane said, as he put a piece of meat into Iris's mouth gently, this was also a reminder that she became too emotional.

Lowering her head, so she didn't need to see the people in front of her, which only pumped her anger, Iris munched on her meat diligently.

"You are very lucky, luna Iris, you have an affectionate mate," Laluna spoke softly, she was staring at Cane a little bit longer for Iris liking. "It must be nice to have a mate, who is very caring with you."

Iris raised her head and smiled sweetly at Laluna, but then, she pecked on Cane's lips and grinned. "I am blessed!" she said cheerfully.

Cane was utterly speechless to see how Iris's mood changed in a heartbeat. This was not the first time for him to witness this, but it still amazed him.

"You are my blessing." Cane played along with her. He kissed her cheek too as a response.

After such affectionate moment, the atmosphere turned awkward for the other three people in the table, while Iris munched her meat more happily.

"Where is the white diamond tiger?" Cane finally broke the silence. He was done eating, so did Iris. Now, they wanted to leave the table and be done with them for tonight as soon as possible.

Alpha Colter waved his hand and one of the warriors nearby immediately rushed away, he returned with the other four warriors, carrying a huge cage that was covered by black clothes.

Iris's expression turned down again when she saw this. She didn't need to be a genius to guess, who was inside the cage. They treated the little white diamond tiger like he was nothing, but a stray dog.

"I hope you can treat Vernion as soon as possible," Koda said in light tone, as the warriors put down the cage and Iris could hear a whimper from inside.

It was already more than half a year now since the last time Iris saw the white diamond tiger in Alan's secret underground room, where he tortured his victims. She didn't know how bad the condition of this white diamond tiger, whether he was treated nicely or not.

"Open the cover," Iris said, she stood up, but the warriors didn't take her order, thus she turned her head to look at alpha Colter right in his eyes. "I need to see whether the condition of the diamond white tiger is worth my effort or not."

Alpha Colter had this sweet smile on his lips, but his thought was not as sweet as he appeared. "Open the cover," he ordered his warrior.

And to Iris relief, the diamond white tiger looked fine. At the very least, he was not bleeding like or sustained any serious injuries from her quick observation, only scared and was very malnourished.

"Is it to your liking, luna?" Koda asked, but his question sounded like a mock.

Iris directed her eyes on him now. "Not really." She shrugged her shoulders. "I don't know that you are so cheap to your precious creature that you don't feed him enough. He is too skinny."

"That's because he has not yet grown up. He is still a child," Koda replied.

Iris raised her brows and didn't engage in conversation with him again, instead, she turned to Cane. "Let's feed him until he becomes fat!"

With that, the cage with the white diamond tiger was brought to the room next to Cane and Iris's bedroom.

Iris wanted the white diamond tiger to be unchained, but they didn't agree, because he could escape and it would be a troublesome for them.

With that, Iris had to stop complaining, until the white diamond tiger was completely in her hand and she could do whatever with the poor creature.

"Your baby will be cured tomorrow, what else do you want?" alpha Colter asked when he was about to return to his bedroom after such a long and draining dinner with Cane and Iris, but Laluna stopped him.

There was no one else, aside from the two of them and the four warriors in the corridors.

"I have an idea," Laluna said. She had been thinking about this for a while now. "I hope you can reconsider this."

Alpha Colter frowned. They were not that close to share an idea. "Speak."

Laluna took a deep breath. "Let alpha Cane to take me as his mate, so he will be Vernion's regent instead of Koda." Laluna approached alpha Colter closer. "Even until now, Iris has not yet pregnant and he has not yet taken any mistress, with him taking me as his mate, we can solidify our union."
