

The Alpha's Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 121

Back at the campfire's POV:

Mina sat down ignoring the, "I know you see us staring at you." look that her cousins were giving her. She would avoid them for as long as she could, because once they get the chance they will pounce on her, and she will end up telling them about the deal. She knows they will not only kill Dradon and would probably kill her for even going behind their backs like that without telling them. Which was why she didn't want to tell them until after they get the twins back. She was hoping that having the babies back would lessen the chances of them killing her. She considered not telling them, but they would only hunt her down and would never allow her to do this. They wouldn't see or agree that she was the better option. The others have all found their persons, even Shawna. She believes Shadow loves Shawna, but he is lost and trying to find his way out. She truly feels like in the end he will figure it out, then him and Shawna will raise those beautiful boys together and live happily ever after. So, for as long as she can, she will not tell them about her deal with Dradon.

"Ok everyone lets gather up everything and get back on the road. Some of you go and check the surrounding area to make sure everything is all clear and the rest of us will clean up camp. Baby you guys stay near the fire and keep warm, we will put it out once we are ready to leave." Makahi said to Ji'lahni, she nodded. "Hey Rimmy, help me with these duffle bags I know they belong to the guys, so I'll go and pass them back to them." Mina said, getting up quickly, trying her best not to be alone with her cousins. "So, this is what we doing Mina. You real life think you can avoid us this whole trip." Lynn said, as Mina walked off pretending not to have heard Lynn. "Mina just acted like she didn't hear me." Lynn said, shocked.

"Oh st, this must be fg bad, that's the only time she ever acts like this. When she thinks that we would be super mad at whatever she has done. Like signing up for college and deciding to stay on campus, knowing that we would be against her leaving us, while she was so young. We were upset at first, but we figured it out." Ji'lahni said with a serious face like she was trying to guess what Mina was hiding. "Well, we not going to find out now and I have to pee." Shawna said, as she started rocking trying to get up. When out of nowhere Shadow was behind her picking her up easily, scaring all of us with how fast he got to Shawna. "Damn, Shadow where the hell did you come from? Did you teleport? Because your a*s was nowhere near us just now." Lynn said, laughing, as they walked off.

Walking away from the camp, Shawna looked like a baby trying to walk for the first time, with how she was walking in the snow. She was getting winded and tired, so she stopped. "I can just go over here next to this tree." She said, walking in the direction of the tree she pointed at. "We're still too close to the camp and the warriors are too close here." Shadow said frowning looking around. "OMG! Shadow I'm just trying to pee that's it, ain't nobody trying to look at me with this load I'm carrying. So, you do what you need to do, but I'm about to pee behind this damn tree, ain't nobody got time to walk eight miles just to pee. How about you try walking through snow, with the wind blowing hard, carrying three babies, who thinks your bladder is a squishy. I don't even know why you worried about who is looking at me anyway. Aren't we literally going to try and save your wife, mate or whatever. Hell on the way back, I bet you won't give a st about where I pee. Hell, I might have to ride on one of those dudes you worried about, because I'm sure your mate will be so helpless and hurt that you will dump my a*s like a hot potato. So, please stop acting like you care." Shawna said as she went behind the tree doing her business while cussing Shadow a*s slap out. As soon as Shawna was finished she turned back to go in the direction of where she left Shadow, but he was right behind her.

The anger in his eyes scared Shawna a little bit. "Shawna you can be mad at me. You could hate me all you want. But don't ever say that I don't care about you or that I would abandon you, or even imply that I would do that while you're carrying my pups. You are the most important person in my life, and I would die before I would let anything happen to you and my pups. Shadow said in a gravel voice his eyes flashed to show Rane was also present. Do you understand? Shadow said stepping closer to her. He bent down to look into her eyes. She was so shocked at the anger in his gaze she couldn't speak, so she just nodded her head. She realized that she may have taken it too far. Shadow had left her standing by the tree, he didn't leave her out there alone he would never do that he just needed space to calm down. He couldn't believe she thought he would ever do something like that especially while she was carrying his pups. Somehow knowing what she thinks of him gave him no hope of ever making things right with her. He has spent so much time trying to get her to understand where he was coming from when it came to his mate, that he failed to listen and see what his actions was doing to the faith she had in him. Rane howled at the sudden feelings of hopelessness that consumed him.

Meanwhile back at the campfire.

Lynn decided to go to the dragons campfire to have a little chat with Dradon. She knows he is up to something with Mina, and she was going to find out or Dradon gonna be missing a tooth. "Hey Dradon, what the hell do you have going on with Mina? What's with the secret talks? I told you if you even think of imprinting on her I will not only cut your dk off Drax will be missing his too. You will not use her as a baby machine." She said angrily. "Would you calm down Lynn no one is doing anything. Also, Mina is a grown woman she can take care of herself. If she wants to tell you what is going on then she will tell you, but I will not." Dradon said, which only made it worse. Lynn pulled out the dragon's blade and was about to step to Dradon when her sister stepped in front of her blocking her from Dradon. "Kat I am going to ask you only one time to get the fk outta my way before I have to move you myself." Lynn said stepping toe to toe with Kat. "Will you calm down you are so dramatic. We are your family not those humans, you should be with us and not them. Why do you care what happens to them, even if what you say is true which it's not. Why would you stop him from trying to save his people from extinction?" Kat said looking at Lynn like she betray them.

“Do you hear yourself? You make absolutely no sense. Why would you want to potentially kill someone just to save someone else? You don’t know them you have no idea what they have endured, for you to condemn them to death just to save yourselves. You are not god; you don’t get to choose who lives or who dies.” Lynn said looking at them in shock that she would even have to explain that. “Oh please, our dragons are far more valuable than those weak humans you want to call family. They should be honored to help carry on the golden dragon legacy.” Kat said smugly. “You know what, why am I even talking to you. You’re missing brain cells and I refuse to let that st jump on me. Because ain’t no way that I would want to live being as dumb as you are. How about go find a tree or something and sit down while I speak to Dradon for a minute alone.” Lynn said stepping around Kat, who took a step back to again block her from Dradon. “Anything you have to say to Dradon you can say to me.” Kat said crossing her arms over her chest.

Lynn saw that Kat decided that she wanted to fk around and find out. So, Lynn felt like as her sister she should show her. Putting her blade back in her belt because she wouldn’t need it. She balled her fist up, deciding she didn’t want to cause too much damage. Lynn knew that Kat still had her wisdom tooth because she hated the dentist. So, Lynn figured, she would just knock that bh out, because she’s obviously not using it anyway. Stepping towards Kat, who took another step back, her eyes widening in fear. Lynn smiled because she has been waiting to do this st. Just as she lifted her hand and reached back to her ancestors for extra strength. “Lynn, Stop!” was all it took, her grandmother to say, in order to stop her just before she connected with Kats’ jaw. Kat had her eyes closed tight knowing she was about to get knocked the fk out. But she wanted to show Dradon how much she loved him. She knew how important it was for him to keep this secret. So, if she pretends to help keep his secret deal, maybe he would see how much she loves him and is willing to do anything to make him happy.

The Alpha’s Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 122

Meanwhile, at the evil castle:

In Prison cells

Antoni’s POV:

“Antoni, I don’t think this plan is going to work. I’m too weak to be of any help to you. I will only slow you down. Allow me to distract the guards while you escape. The twin’s survival is way more important than mine. I couldn’t live with myself if I am the reason you didn’t get them to safety.” Cannon said, looking defeated. We came up with a plan to get the girls and find a way out of the castle, before Urrale had a chance to sacrifice them. “Nonsense, I will not leave you behind. We have a better chance with more than one person, regardless of your weakened state. You could be of some use. So, once the guards bring us our dinner you distract him, and I will handle the rest.” I said, calmly. “Are you sure you will be able to kill both the guards?" Cannon asked, doubtfully. I smiled. "Son, I'm not new to this. I have been around a long time and have done things I'm not proud of. I thought I had put that life behind me, but it seems as though nothing ever truly stays buried. I said, thinking of my past and the things I have done. "You mean you were something else other than the Alpha?" He asked with his brow raised. "Yes, I was young, dumb and in what I thought was love. Before I met my mate, she is the one who actually changed me for the better." I said, thinking of my mate, with her gone now.

I know once I get the twins out of this realm and my wolf comes back, I will more than likely die, which I was OK with because I can't imagine life without my mate. "What did you do before you met your mate?" Cannon asked. I really didn't like reliving that life. My son didn't even know about my past. With Lateri now gone, it really doesn't matter any longer. "Years ago, I dated Urrale, the witch who had us imprisoned." I said and heard Cannon gasp. I knew it was hard to believe. Hell, sometimes it didn't seem real to me either. "Damn, you dated the evil bh. Now she has you locked up here and plans to kill your grandchildren. That's some fatal attraction next level shit." Cannon said, absentmindedly. "She wasn't always like this. She actually saved my life more than once; through the years we were together. It is my fault that my grand pups are in this situation and why my mate is dead. Which is why I must do everything I can to get them back to my son." I said as guilt and anger mixed together, acting as booster cables feeding my need for revenge. "Damn, so I take it she couldn't take being dumped?" Cannon summarized. "Yes I had promised her that I would reject my other half mate. But again, I was young and didn't know the power of the connection once you meet your other-half mate. Once I met my mate, I knew I couldn't reject her. When Urrale found out, she was angry and hurt and something broke inside her and she became obsessed. I felt sorry for her because it was my fault that I broke my promise to her. I tried my best to get her to understand that I no longer felt the same for her. She was convinced that if she could remove the bond, that somehow my feelings for her would come back." I said, remembering that time in my life.

"I get the fatal attraction thing. But what did you do so badly that you had to keep it a secret from everyone?" Cannon asked. "I was a contract killer for a special organization called the Supernatural elimination team, or SET. Urrale thought that in order for us to rule over both witches and werewolves, I needed to be stronger than anyone who could challenge us once we took over. So, she used her magic to get me into the program. At first I thought it was just some training program, but it was far worse than I thought. They were training us to be assassins. Once we graduate from the program, we are sent to a remote location where we would do our first job. We received secret orders with only a name, then we basically killed the target. We were never given a reason why they had to be eliminated. We weren't allowed to ask questions about the targets. The less we know the better, just in case we ever get caught, we will never be able to implicate the organization. I didn't want to do it at first, but Urrale told me that I would have to be able to take a life when necessary, that I couldn't show weakness as a king. I really didn't care about anything or anyone at that point in my life, so the jobs were easy for me. Until one day, I was given a target that I refused to complete. I was put into a camp for future alpha's and warriors. I was to get close to the target's son and once I became friends with him, I was to find a way into his pack and then take him and his entire family out. But I couldn't because my target daughter was my other halfmate.

The first time that I laid eyes on my mate, everything changed, and I knew I had to somehow make sure that she and her entire family were safe. So, I did what I had to do, which was take out the entire organization from the inside. I used Urrale in order to find out who was the head of the organization. I told her that they were onto us and what we had planned and that we couldn't allow them to ruin our plans. She brought it so, once we found them, we destroyed the entire organization. Not long after that, Urrale found out that I had found my mate. When I told her that I couldn't reject her, Urrale lost it. Over the next decade, she tried everything to break our mates' bond. She even tried to kidnap my mate while she was pregnant. But my mate was an excellent fighter, stronger than most alpha males. One thing I learned during those times, is that you never fk with a mother and her pup because they will leave a path full of blood and no remorse." I said, remembering, seeing my mate walk casually back to the pack house after me and my warriors had been looking for her for weeks after Urrale had her kidnapped.

She was covered in blood with my son still growing in her belly. I thought that she was hurt, but she waved me off saying the blood wasn't hers. "Damn, that is crazy, no wonder you are so determined to get your grand pups out of here. Cannon said just as we heard the guards coming to deliver our dinner. Cannon got into position. I could see his doubt in our plan, but something came over him and he straightened to his full height and when the guard came to hand him his dinner, he grabbed the metal tray. He lifted it up and swung with all his might at the guard's head. The first guard stumbled back, and the second guard caught him, and I used that opportunity to grab his head and snapped his neck with ease, before the second guard hit the ground I reached around him, grabbing the first guard in a head lock and snapping his head backwards. Cannon stared at me in shocked silence. I started undressing the men and handing Cannon one of the guards' clothes. We dressed them in our clothes and placed them on the floor cots hoping it would buy us some time before anyone noticed that the men on the floor cart weren't us. I was able to find our way out of the cells because I made sure to remember the directions on the way in.

"We needed to find out where she had the twins. One of the servants told me that she had an omega caring for them in a room on the upper floor. But I'm sure the omega is either dead or locked away somewhere. Because she was the one who helped me escape the first time. They didn't bring us to the cells together. I can only assume she was killed. So, we will have to do some spying. It is up to you. I know where the kitchen is but I'm sure it is heavily guarded because that's how I escaped last time. I will get rid of the guards. I will need you to sneak in and see if you can find out where the girls are being kept. It is dinner time, so they should be taking food to the servant in charge of the girls.

It's not a great plan, but this is the best we got. You have on a guards uniform so just tell them that you were ordered to get an extra bottle for the girls." I said, as Cannon shook his head. "Yea, this plan sucks. They will never believe I'm a guard," Cannon said. Taking a deep breath knowing this was our only shot. "Oh well, here goes nothing." He said as I approached the guards standing at the doors to the kitchen. I didn't give them time to react before I pounced. I chopped one guard in the throat ,so he couldn't use his voice to yell for help, while I grabbed his knife and threw it right at the neck of the other guard. "Damn, you weren't lying about being a killer. I'm glad I'm on your side. You will have to teach me that throat chopping move when we get out of here." Cannon said as he stepped over the guards to enter the kitchen. I hope like hell that we can get out of here for good this time.

The Alpha's Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 123

Still at the evil castle:

Urrale's office:

Urrale's POV:

"Master, one of our scouts said that they spotted what looked like wolves and humans traveling this way. They're saying they think it is the alpha, the humans, and... your sisters." My servant said. I screamed, throwing the glass I was holding across the room. I was really hoping that what I told the father about them not being able to find me was true. But I was betrayed by my own blood. "I can't believe my own sisters would betray me and lead those filthy dogs straight to me. Make sure the guards are at the rift waiting to kill them as soon as they cross over to my realm. My sisters won't be able to cross over, those dogs won't be able to shift and then I will be able to destroy them. Once I disable them, I want the guards to make them suffer but keep the alpha and his human woman alive. I want them to see when I sacrifice their pups in front of them and watch me and my mate drink their blood. I want them to see when the father rises. They will be the first ones my father kills. Go and bring Shaid to me. She has been without food for a while and told her I have prepared a buffet of assorted blood she will be able to feast on. I just need to give her an injection to ensure that she will be under my control." I said to my servant, she nodded and hurried off to do my bidding. I paced my chambers angrily. I can't believe they actually found my realm, but it was only because my sisters helped them.

I can't truly say I'm surprised I haven't spoken to them since I was stripped of my status. They had found out I was using dark magic, which was forbidden. I tried to get them to understand that I only wanted to use it to break the bond between my mate and his tramp, but they sided with the tramp who stole my mate away. My sister absolutely refused to help me. Apparently, she and that we had known each other for years. They were actually friends, which only fueled my anger against her. She even had my own sister turning her back on me. I'm glad she was dead, because if not I would gladly kill her myself with my bare hands. "Master, Shaid is ready for you." My servant said, breaking me out of my thoughts. I turned and headed into my laboratory. The injection was already prepared for me when I entered the room. I could hear Shaid panting and growling at my servants. She was almost in a feral state. Once, I was standing in front of her she immediately stopped. "Master please, it hurts so bad. Why am I being punished? I have done everything you have asked of me." She said desperately. I actually did have a soft spot for Shaid. She was somewhat like a daughter to me. I hated using her this way, but sacrifices have to be made in order to achieve my goals. "Oh, Shaid, you have done nothing wrong. You are my best warrior. I hate doing this to you, but it seems as though those filthy mutts have somehow infected you and I needed to cleanse your blood before I could allow you to feed. They wanted you to become a mindless animal so they could kill you. But I saved you and now I have to make sure that they will never be able to hurt you again.

But I'm afraid they are very determined to get to you. Because one of the servants said our scouts spotted them heading this way. I'm afraid I don't have time to cure you like I planned, because of them. I'm afraid they are coming to finish what they started." I said with fake worry on my face. "Master, please just let me go and I will kill them all this time, even the one who thinks I'm his mate and his filthy human. But I can't do that while I'm hungry." Shaid said, and I gave the best look to show I was contemplating whether her plan would work. "I don't know, Shaid, you seem to be affected by whatever they gave you. Because you are starting to crave the one they claim is your mate, I have seen it in your eyes." I said, looking hurt and confused. "No, no, no. I didn't know that they had given me something to make me feel these things. Now that I know it is all fake, I will be able to kill him and whatever they did to me will go away. I will not fail you, master. I will kill them all." Shaid said with that killer instinct I loved so much coming out. Now all I need to do is give her this injection and a little blood, but not enough to remove hunger.

"Bring Shaid her favorite meal and check on my mate while you're down there tell him I'm sorry I had to lock him up down there. Tell him all our dreams will come true just like we promised each other years ago." I said to the servant, and she nodded before leaving out to go get the human male. Shaid looked relieved that she was able to talk me into letting her eat, so she could fight against the threat. "MASTER!" My servant came running into the room breathless and afraid. "What is it?" I asked impatiently. "It's your mate master, he is somehow escaped again, and this time he took Shaid's human male." She said, as Shaid let out a feral angry scream. "Damn I don't have time for this. Go and take three of the men with you, and have someone guarding the door the twins are in. Make sure one of the servants is with the bh who helped him escape. I had to put the twins with her because she was the only one they would allow to hold them. But I didn't trust her, so I had one of my servants assigned to watch her. I want to make sure she didn't do anything to my servant. I have no doubt that she would try and help my mate again. My servant nodded and left the room.

"fk! I hope father doesn't find out what is happening around here." I said to myself as I paced the floor. I hated surprises. "Wow what is this place? Is that Scarlett? What the hell is wrong with her?" I heard a voice that I had grown to hate. "What the hell are you doing down here in my office. My father told me to put you into a room. That doesn't mean you are free to roam around my house." I walked over to stand directly in the pregnant bh face. I really wanted to melt her face off, but the father forbade me from killing her. By the way, she totally ignored me. She also knew I couldn't kill her as well. "I got tired of sitting in that room doing nothing. I decided to take a walk, which is when I heard the scream which I assumed was coming from Scarlett.” She said, walking over to Shaid, who bared her fangs at the mutt who flinched. I smiled, knowing she wasn’t as fearless as she wanted us to believe. “What is wrong with her? Why is she acting like a wild animal? When we were escaping from Crystal Moon she was in full control. She never showed any signs of being a wild animal like she is now.” The she wolf asked, walking over to me.

“It is none of your business. Now please leave before I throw you out and I can assure you that it will hurt. Father said I couldn’t kill you. He said nothing about hurting you.” I said, and she took a fearful step back. “Master, there are two guards at the door where the pups are. The servant assigned to watch the slave girl with the twins has not harmed. The five other guards are searching the castle for the escapees. There is ten guards at the rift. The scouts said they will be here in the next hour or so.” The servant finished with a nod. “Damn it! They’re getting in the way of my plans. I cannot let them delay the ritual it has to start on time in order for the sacrifice and the transfer of power to be successful. Maria, have Ragna release the death hounds into the rift. That will slow them down and take out some of their men.” I said, pacing the floor again. “Master, are you sure you want to release the death hounds in the human realm?” I reached out and allowed my magic to lift Maria into the air by her throat. “Did I ask you for your opinion. Have I been so lacking with you that you are now comfortable questioning my orders?” I asked, angrily. “No master.” She barely got out between shallow breaths. I released her, she picked herself up and hurried out of the room. Damn, you don’t think that was a bit much? She just asked you a question.” that pregnant she wolf said. I ignored her and walked back over to Shaid and injected her with my serum. She immediately calmed down.

“Damn, whatever you gave her worked wonders. She is completely calm now.” The bh said, walking closer to us. “Yea, it allows her to think and act more human. But it doesn’t take away the hunger, I’m afraid. That can only be cured by ingesting blood.” I said with a smile as I unbuckled Shaid’s scraps. The master said, I couldn’t kill you. He never said I couldn’t allow anyone to feed on your blood.” I said, smiling at the she wolf. She frowned for a moment before my words sunk in and she looked over at Shaid, who was completely free and staring at the wolf like she was a buffet. “No, no, no you can’t do that. The father will be angry.” She said through her tears. “No worries, Shaid won’t kill you and the Master wants it to look like you have been through hell when the alpha gets here, well if he even lives long enough to get to you.” I said as I left my laboratory going to find my mate.

The Alpha’s Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 124

Ji’lahni’s POV:

We’ve been walking for the last hour and a half, through this winter hell fire. Me and my cousins are the only ones who are suffering. “Cuz, is it possible for your kneecaps to freeze? Because I feel like that is exactly what is happening.” Shawna said, as we fought the snowy wind. "Damn, Shawna, did you pee on Shadow? Is that why you froze?" Lynn asked, which made Shadow growl. We all laughed out loud. "Mina, why are you so damn quiet?" I asked, looking over at her. "st, do you see where we are? I'm scared to open my damn mouth. The wind blowing so hard it made tears come out of my eyes and it was so damn cold the tears froze." Mina said, and we laughed again. And just like that, something had to ruin the moment. We heard howls that drowned out our laughter. We stopped and looked wide-eyed at each other. "Well, I'm telling you now, if you ask me if I peed on Rane this time, the answer would be yes. Yes I did. What the fk was that?" Shawna asked, looking around.

"I don't give a rat's a*s what it was, all I know was it sounded entirely too fg close to us." I said, all the wolves picked up their pace with some of the warriors breaking off in the direction of where the howls were coming from. "Hey, yall load the fk up, Shawna pull your fg guns, no throwing knives. Don't let anything get close and stay between or ahead of us. Got it?" I asked and she nodded. Lynn had given her extra ammo, guns, and some dragon weapons, since she can use their powers as long as she is pregnant with the boys. We were now running full speed through the woods. The witches were running just as fast as the wolves. "Rane, I swear you, better speed the hell up if I get eaten by whatever the hell those damn things are out here, I will cut off your nuts and hang them on a rearview mirror like dice." Shawna yelled. Rane and Shawna were trailing behind because he was being overly cautious. He growled but sped up. We were looking around when we saw the first pair of red eyes. Coming our way, with our wolves, warriors, and the dragons right behind them shooting, attacking, and breathing fire at them, but that didn't stop them, they were taking hits and kept on coming. "What in the entire hell is that?" Lynn yelled, as the first beast came into view. "st is that a demon dog? That motha fucka not even stopping with the dragons breathing fire at them." Mina yelled.

"That means only head shots yall. Take their motha fg heads off." I yelled as I fired my first shot, which the bh dodged, and that made me mad. "Is that momma Teri and your grandma Lynn?" I said, looking at the wolf and the old lady broke off and headed straight to the demon dog. Now here we go again with the bullshit. Now we have never seen momma Teri fight, but we are going to find out why. Now, unless my eyes were playing tricks on me, which could very well be the case, because it's fg cold. But Lynn's grandma threw that damn cane in the air, and it started spinning. When that st dropped, Lynn's grandma had disappeared and an an warrior took her place. Oh, and let's not forget momma Teri's wolf somehow got fg bigger. I'm talking He-Man transformation or some thundercats st. Momma Teri jumped on the back of the Demon Dog's back, bit into the back of his neck, which made the dog rear back on its hind legs and Lynn's grandma summersaulted in the air, way better than Lynn if I say so myself. Her cane turned into a sword and when she came down she sliced that demon dog's head right the fk off. Momma Teri was like a savage beast as she shook the dead demon's body and threw it into a tree. "Damn momma Teri, is a fg killer, I'm almost scared of her at the moment." Mina said, looking at momma Teri in shock as we continued running. Out of nowhere, another demon dog tackled momma Teri. Lynn's grandma threw her sword at the Demon Dog. It landed in his back. She jumped on its back, grabbed her sword and pulled it down, splitting the demon dog in half. "st! Lynn, your damn grandma is a real fg ninja, did you just see that shit.” I said, as Maka roared, alerting me that more demon dogs were coming in hot from the other fg side.

“st, st, st, demon dogs coming in our direction. Remember aim for the fg head Shawna and Rane get your a*s up front.” I yelled, in her direction. “Hell No, I’m not leaving yall.” She yelled back. But Rane ignored her and picked up speed. I could hear Shawna saying she was going to not only cut his balls off, but his dk would be included. Maka veered off in the direction of the beast. I fired two shots at his head. The first missed but the second one hit him between the eyes, but the bh kept coming, but he was definitely fd up. I fired two more shots just as Maka grabbed him by the throat and ripped his head off. Blood splashed everywhere. “Ewe man that st got on my damn clothes. That’s fg nasty as hell. We don’t know if that thing has diseases or not.” I said, trying to wipe the blood off my clothes. We heard a deafening scream. “SHAWNA!” We all yelled at once. Maka howled, and we all went racing up ahead. When we caught up to them, we saw Shawna’s chair empty in the snow. We looked frantically around for Shawna but couldn’t spot her nor Shadow. “No, no, no, no, Where’s Shawna please, please, please, we have to find her.” I said, the tears were falling fast down my cheeks as I panicked. Maka howled and started running deeper into the woods. He must have mind linked Shadow. When we reached them, we found Shawna sitting up against a tree firing shot after shot as more demon dogs came from everywhere. Shadow had shifted into his human form and when I tell you I think he was more deadly in human form than his wolf, I mean that st. He was truly a Shadow killer.

I unsnapped my harness and hopped off Maka. He growled at me. “Go help Shadow, I got Shawna. He huffed and went in the direction of Shadow and joined in the fight. Mina and Lynn followed suit, unhooking their harness and hopping off their wolves as well. We all raced over to where Shawna was. “Damn Shawna, your arm is bleeding. Are the boys OK?” I asked, kneeling beside her. “The boys are good. One of them got my arm though. I swear to god I better not turn into one of those things. I would rather be a damn dragon.” Shawna said, hissing in pain when I went in to inspect her arm. “God damn Lahni! That’s an arm with a bite mark be gentle shit.” She yelled. “My bad, I’m sorry, I said, covering it back up. “How many of these suckers are out here?” Lynn asked as she fired two head shots taking down two demon dogs using her dragon guns. “st if I know, they’re multiplying like gremlins out here.” Soon after all our warriors, wolve, dragons, and witches cut down all the demon dogs. The once wintery white snow was now red with blood. Shadow ran over to Shawna, who was still sitting under the tree. He scooped her up and hugged her tightly. “Hey, man, not so dang on tight. st, now I gotta pee, see what you’ve done? And I’m telling you now, I’m not walking into those woods to pee either. At this point, I don’t care who sees me or these cookies.” Shawna said, trying to squirm outta Shadow’s death grip. He kissed her on the lips and carried her behind a tree a few yards away and stood guard growling every time he saw someone’s eyes glance in their direction. “Can someone tell me what the hell those damn things were? Our fire didn’t faze them at all.” Maxisin said, walking up with his dragon beside him.

“Those were death hounds my sister must have sent them. That means they know we’re coming. We have to keep moving now that she knows. This is just the first line of defense. It will only get worse from here.” The white-headed witch said, as she went over to Shawna, who took a step back when the witch reached for her arm. We all pulled our guns because you just never know out here in these snowy streets. The witch smiled. "I'm only trying to heal your arm dear; you don't want to have an injury going into this fight." She said, reaching out her hand to Shawna.

She looked at us and I nodded, keeping my gun out, letting her know I would put a bullet in that bh head if she breathed too hard. Because I'm getting really fg tired of people trying me and my cousins. "I'm done playing with this bh. Let's go, I'm pissed the fk off!" I said, walking pass my cousins who backed up as I passed by. "Ooohhh st that witch is about to get f*d up, because Lahni's mad nii." Mina said, walking too caught up with me. "What is she talking about?" Shadow asked confused.

"Hey, don't talk too loud around me. Are you trying to get me slapped? When Lahni say she's pissed. That means she will kill any and everyone who looks at her wrong, including us, then she said fg pissed, that means if she got to go down too, oh fg well. The last time she was this mad was right after our family died, and a boy decided he wanted to make jokes about our family. Homeboy woke a week later not remembering anything about what happened to him." I heard Shawna tell Shadow. That is another story for another time. Right now, I got a bh who needs all the bullets in my gun.

The Alpha's Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 125

Antoni's POV:

"What were you able to find out where the twins are?" I asked, as Cannon came out of the kitchen. "No, they were saying only the guards know where they are. Because a servant helped you escape the first time," Cannon said sadly. "Damnit! We have to start looking. I can't leave without them. I can't ask you to risk being captured because he was trying to help me." I said to Cannon, he has every right to save himself." He didn't owe me anything. "No, You're the reason that I was able to even get out of those cells. I won't abandon you. Those babies are more important than me at the moment. So, let's start checking each room until we find them." Cannon said, walking away from me, leaving no room to argue. This castle had too many rooms to count. I decided to start from the floor. I was hoping I could remember everything that was on the map. "Grandpa is coming babies. If you could give your old grandpa a sign about where you are, that would be great.

Urrale's POV:

"CAN YOU PLEASE GET THOSE DAMN MUTTS QUIET! I'm trying to think." I yelled. I came here because I know my mate wouldn't leave without those little mutts. Once he comes here, I will take them and start the ritual. I can't waste any more time. "Master!" My servant Maria came rushing in. "What is it?" I asked, pacing. "The scout just reported back he said that, that the death hounds were slaughtered.” She said fearfully. I screamed, throwing everything off the table I was standing nearby. The twins stopped crying when they heard me screaming. “How many were killed?” I asked, already knowing. “Master, you sent all of them through the rift.” My head began to pound. My anger caused my magic to overwhelm everyone in the room. “Master please?” I heard Maria begging. I drew in my magic, and everyone gasped, breathing air into their lungs. “How much time do we have before they make it to the rift?” I asked Maria, who was picking herself up off the floor. “The scout said they will be at the rift in an hour or less master.” Maria said, with her head down. “Damn it! Get Shaid and tell her to tie up the pregnant she-wolf and take her to the stone formation and then get everyone and meet me at the stones. Get the twins and bring them to stones.” I said, walking out of the room to prepare to finally have everything I had wanted.

Antoni’s POV:

We had checked almost every floor until we came upon the last room on the top floor. There we saw four guards standing at the entrance and we could hear my grand pups crying their little hearts out. We had to stay hidden until the coast was clear. We saw the head servant go in and then we heard Urrale screaming at the top of her lungs. We saw the guards drop to their knees, which would have been perfect, but we would then have to face Urrale, and I didn’t want to do that. She wouldn’t hurt me, but she would more than likely hurt my grandpups or Cannon and I couldn’t do that. We saw the head servant girl rush out, followed by Urrale a few minutes later. “Now here out chance you stay behind while I handle the guards.” I said, preparing my head for the fight. “No, I will fight.” Cannon said. “No, you’re weak you can’t risk you getting hurt now.” I said shaking my head. “Antoni, I am weakening but I am not weak.” He said, abruptly walking pass me before I could stop him.

I caught up with him as he walked casually to the first guard with his hand clasped behind his back. As soon as he spotted Cannon, he attacked. I went to try and get Cannon out of the way, but the damn boy looked like he was moving in slow motion. He easily dodged the attack and used two of his fingers to hit the guard’s pressure points and the guy’s eyes widened and stood straight up before falling to the ground. I was so shocked that I didn’t see the second guard charge at me. He tackled me and I landed hard on the ground. I used my elbow and used it to smash it into the back of his head, causing a sickening crack to sound off. I pushed the guard off me just as Cannon finished the fourth guard. “Damn son, you have been holding out on me.” I said as he helped me up off the floor. “My grandmother has been training me since I was born, she made sure that we mastered all fighting styles.” Cannon said as we ease the door open. Making sure no guards we left inside.

Stepping inside, my eyes immediately landed on Fiona holding the girls close to her as they squirmed and cried. I immediately felt relief and my emotions took over. I rushed to them, grabbing them up, inhaling their scent. They immediately sniffed the air, and their tears turned into tears of joy, and they began giving me sloppy kisses. “Well, isn’t this a sweet little surprise? Aren’t we one big happy family?” Urrale said, from the doorway. She looked over at Cannon, who was standing stock still with pure fear in his eyes. “Well, Shaid will be happy we found you. She was very sad that she had lost her favorite meal. I will need to make sure she is well fed. Before my mate's horrid son gets here. Which is working out just as I had hoped, now that we are all together, we can get started." Urrale said excitedly. "Urrale, don't do this, just let my grand pups, Fiona, and Cannon go and I will come with you, willing. I will do whatever you want. I will stay here with you forever." I said, handing the pups to Fiona, who immediately stood directly behind me.

Urrale's eyes lit up with happiness. "Oh, you have no idea how happy I am that you have said that. I have waited so long for you to see that I am the one you need by your side that we could still rule the witches and werewolves like we plan all those years ago." She said, dreamily. "Ok, so just let Fiona and Cannon take the girls to my son, then we can start our lives together." I said feeling like I may be able to save my grand pups after all. "Oh honey, I can't do that the pups have to stay, that's the only way master can rise, and we can become the most powerful couple in the supernatural world. Those babies are the key to our happily ever after." Urrale said apologetically. "Urrale, you will have to kill me before I allow you to touch my grand pups. If anything happens to them, I will never be yours." I said, taking a defensive stance.

Just then, Cannon snapped out of his stupor and attacked Urrale, easily blocked his attack and used her magic to throw him into the wall outside the door. I used that opportunity to attack and understand. We were together for a long time, and we trained together. Just as she knows my weaknesses, I know hers. Even with her use of dark magic, Urrale has an issue controlling her powers, while in a physical fight she can't focus on her energy and her magic is unreliable. I punched at her as she dodged, which caused her to release Cannon from her hold. She swung at me, I dodged and kicked her in the stomach.

"RUN!" I turned to Fiona, who didn't waste any time and bolted for the door. Urrale screamed and used her magic to hold Fiona in place and created a force field around her so I couldn't attack. "I thought you were finally seeing what must be done. But you can't let go of the past and that bh of a mate and her offspring you and her created. But once I get rid of all of them that bound you to her, then you will see that I was right all along. You need to let them go. There is nothing you can do to stop what's coming. You can't stop the master from rising. I'm just trying to save us so when this is over, we can start fresh and create the life that we always wanted." Urrale said as I banged on the force field.

I watched as she took my grand pups out of the room. A guard came in with a gun pointed at me. Signaling me, Cannon, and Fiona to follow Urrale out the door, I could have disarmed him and killed him on the spot, but Urrale had my grand pups and I needed to think of another way to stall her. She said my son was a problem. That must mean he's close to finding us and I needed to do whatever I could to keep us alive until he gets here. "Son, get your a*s here, before we lose everything," I said, trying to use our mind link. Prey to the Moon Goddess, it reaches him.

The Alpha's Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 126

The rift part 1:

At the opening of the rift, POV:

“This is as far as we can go unfortunately. The rift is up ahead, there is a cave off to the right behind a big tree trunk. Once you go into the cave you will see the Rift. It is a glowing red portal.” The white-haired witch said, pointing at this big tree up ahead. We couldn’t see a damn thing in this wintry hell fire. “Why do we always have to walk into or go into the most haunted places? When I tell you this goes against everything that is black in us, we mean that shit.” Mina said as we looked around and only saw blackness and the snow slapping us in the face. “I don’t care where it is at this point as long as it’s warm. This st is for the birds.” Shawna said, rubbing her arms trying to warm them, which was useless. “Thank you for bringing us this far. We can’t thank you enough.” Makahi said, shaking each of the witches’ hands.

“Yes, what he said, I would hug you but I’m afraid we would end up frozen and stuck together.” I said, trembling because the wind decided to be a bh and blow even harder. The witch smiled and nodded. “We have decided to set up camp here to help you with whatever you need, once you return.” The dark-haired witch said. “Thank you again, that would be great. We don’t know the condition of the people we will have to bring back, so we could use any help we could get.” Makahi said, looking like the Alpha he was. “Alright, let’s roll out, be on guard. We know the witch knows we are coming. Midnight is approaching quickly, so we must hurry.” Makahi said, and his warriors nodded. Makahi walked over to me, pulled me away from the group. “Baby, I need you to be safe, I won’t be able to protect you when you’re in that castle. I need you to get the girls and get the hell outta there. Do you understand? I need you to listen to me just this once please?” Makahi said, cupping my cheeks looking me in the eyes intensely. “Hey, I listen to you.”

I said, and he raised his brows. “Ok, sometimes.” I said, and he snorted. “Fine I will listen to you this time.” I said, making a face. He laughed and kissed me. “Hey! It’s cold as st out here and yall trying to make out, that’s some bullshit.” Shawna said, and we broke apart when somebody threw a snowball at us. “I promise if that snowball would have hit me. Somebody’s a*s will have a rift in it.” I said as Makahi shifted into Maka, and I hopped on him snapping myself in. We began walking in the direction the witches told us. After about ten minutes, we saw the biggest tree trunk we have ever seen. “What in the entire hell is that? That tree looks like it’s living. I don’t see any part of this ending while.” Mina said as we approached and pass by the haunted tree trunk.

“st! Mina you spoke to fg fast. You know you don’t put stuff out into the universe. Now look where the hell we got to go, that cave looks like every kind of nasty bug, spider, bat, and a fg bear family in there. That witch put up every black person’s kryptonite.” Shawna said shivering for the thought of anything that might touch or fall on our shoulders or crawl across our feet. “Cuz now I gotta pee.” I whispered to them, and they laugh. They knew what I meant when I said that. I get the bubble guts when I get super nervous, and that cave is at the top of the fg list of fuckery we have had to deal with. Taking a deep breath, I laid flat on Maka holding on tight with my eyes closed. He purred as he went into the cave. “Hey Lahni, no fair you know I can’t lay on Rane like that.” Shawna whispered. “Oh, well cuz you’re on your own. You can still close your eyes.” I said not even trying to move or even peek at where we are.

“OK, we’re at the rift. Alpha says the first team goes in and checks the surroundings and to be careful because the witch knows we’re coming. Everyone knows their assignments. The witches gave us potions to cloak ourselves so we aren’t attacked off guard. The first team take it now.” Hunter said, relaying what Makahi said via mind link. He wasn’t going to shift until we were through the rift. As usual, Lynn just had to look inside the spooky cave. “st, that looks like we will be walking straight into hell, look yall this st is freaky.” She said and we cursed her a*s out. “Lynn, if we wanted to know what this st looks like, we would have be just like your looking a*s. We sure as hell didn’t ask for a visual blind man tour.” Mina said, as she closed her eyes tighter. Lynn laughed. “Yall so damn scary, I swear yall would be afraid of your own shadows.” Lynn mocked us. “And sure, would if that bh looked like she wanted to kill me or liked Freddie.” Mina said, we all laughed.

“Alright the coast is clears the warriors said it seems as though there is another opening, up ahead which they believe is where the witches has her men waiting for us.” Hunter said, leading the team through the rift. I felt the same feeling I had when we went through the other portal. But it was very warm and bright. It took awhile for our eyes to adjust to the brightness. Once we were able to open our eyes. The scene before us was unreal which considering we just walked through a damn portal it shouldn’t be a surprise. “This place looks like a unicorn threw up in a bad way.” Mina said looking around. The trees we every color you could think of the grass had different shades of purple, blues, and reds. “Is that a fg monkey head with a bunny body?” Shawna said, pointing in a blue tree.

“Oh, that is all kinds of fd up.” I said, as the monkey bunny jumped from one tree to another. “Yea I already know this is about to be ten years’ worth of nightmares. Ain’t no way we walking out of here thinking we are mentally stable.” Lynn said and we all laughed. Because not a lot of things shock’s her. So, you can tell that whatever we are seeing is creepy as hell. Maka dropped to his stomach again singling me to get off. I was real hesitant because I wasn’t sure that there wasn’t something in this jungle hell that we may need to make a quick getaway. I got off Maka. He and the other wolves went off behind some trees to shift and change into their clothes.

When I got off Maka I immediately pulled my gun and took the safety off, and just like when black people see somebody running like they running from something we gone take off running and ask questions later. My cousins pull their guns and took the safety off. “Damn, Lahni you see something? Why we pulling our guns out?” Shawna asked as she got off Rane. “Did you not see that monkey bunny? I can only imagine what other kind of st is in this jungle hell, so I’m go be ready, so I don’t have to get ready. st there might be an alligator with a lion body and which one of yall can outrun a lion? Exactly so go ahead and call me robo cop because this gun is now a part of my hand.” I said and we all laughed quietly because we not trying to tell the killer animals where we are. Just then the men came from behind the tree fully dress.

“Hey baby.” Makahi said pulling me into his arms for a hug kissing me on my head. “Alright, it’s game time lets had to the other opening you guys found up a head I think we will set up camp on the outside of the opening and then we start phase 1 of the attack.” Makahi said to us in a low voice and his men nodded and starting moving meaning he must have mind linked them and only said it aloud for our benefit.

Once we made it to the second opening the men set up camp while we stretched our bones out from the long ride and got out of the wintery hell jumper that the witches gave us and put our vest back on. We loaded up with our guns, knives, blades, and of course my babies my crossbows and errors. I turned to Shawna who was also loading up even though we will make sure she is far away from any fighting that may go on. I turned to her because I needed to tell her what not to do, because I know her, and we think the same. “Shawna, you are the look out, you do not come out of your hiding spot no matter what you see got it?” I said waiting for the push back, and then it came.

“What? I’m not doing that, and you know it. I will make sure I’m safe. But if I see anyone of you in danger or worse, I am going to help point blank period. I will make sure to protect myself but don’t ask me to sit back and watch you all be killed if I can help in some way.” She said as tears formed in her eyes. I knew not to argue about it anymore. She had made up her mind and knows she has those boys to protect. “Just don’t do anything to our baby boys at risk, OK?” I asked, and she nodded. “Hey, baby the camp is set up, We’re are going to debrief and then start the mission.” Makahi said, waving me over to where the rest of the warriors were. “Well, it’s time to get this fg st show started. Are yall ready?” Mina asked, as we walked towards the guys. “Nope I’m not, but fk it. Let’s do it.” I said, putting my focus on getting my babies back.

The Alpha’s Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 127

The Ritual Begins.

Back at the evil castle:

Deep in the dungeons of the castle. “Do you have everything prepared for my ascension? Do I need to tell you how important this is? And what would happen if you failed?” The dark one asked. “No father, everything is in place and going according to plan. Shaid is preparing the stones and getting the twins into place.” I said nervously. “And what about the twins’ parents? Have they made it here yet?” he asked. “My scout said they wouldn’t be here in time to stop me. But they wouldn’t be able to get past my men that I have set up at the entrance to my realm even if they somehow made it in time.” I said, confidently. “You are such a fool, didn’t I say, do not underestimate them, you never underestimate your enemy no matter how strong or smart you think you are. I have come too far to allow your ego to ruin my plans to kill my sister and her precious werewolves.” The dark one said as the room began to pulse with the anger that the dark one was releasing, making it hard to breathe.

“Yes, father, I understand I will personally make sure they are dealt with. They will not ruin your plans.” I said, as I rushed to the exit. “Urrale?” he called before I could open the door. “Yes father,” I answered nervously. “Do make sure the she wolf is in the perfect place to be found. She has a special job to do, and once I’m free she will provide me with the answers I need to finally rid the world of all werewolves and then I will finally be able to kill my sister.” He said, I nodded and quickly left the dungeons. “Master are you alright?” My servant asked, I didn’t even know I made it back into my castle. I was too engrossed in my thoughts. “Yes, yes, I’m fine. Is everything in place?” I asked and she nodded. I went into my room to change into the clothes I had laid out for the ritual. A few minutes later, there was a knock at my door. “Enter” I said, and my servant, Maria, opened the door. “Master, it is time. The stone lanterns are lit, the babies are prepared and ready for the rituals,” Maria said with her head bowed. I turned to her. “Where is my mate and the dragon rider?” I asked, absentmindedly.

“Shaid has your mate tied to the throne chair next to yours and the dragon rider is tied to one of the stones. It seems as though the dragon rider’s presence outside is somehow calling the dragon, our men have seen him flying close to the stones.” My eyes widened, ever since we had the dragon rider. I have been unable to summon the dragon even though I had cast a spell on him to blacken his heart. He has resisted my efforts to control him, he has even taken out some of my men. I needed to handle him before he ruins my ritual. “Take me to where they say they saw the dragon. I must make sure he doesn’t ruin anything.” I said, heading to my door. “Master, if we do that, then you will not be able to start the ritual on time. We must start now if we want the ritual to be successful,” Maria said urgently. I turned back and looked at the clock. She was right. We must start now. I can’t risk anything going wrong. “You’re right, I will just handle the dragon if he threatens to ruin anything.” I said, heading to the stone where my new life with my mate will start.

Antoni’s POV:

I sat silently looking around, surveying the area. I needed to wait for the right moment to strike. The fools thought these chains could stop me. Urrale knows that was the first thing we were taught at the organization. The issue was it was too many guards, wolves, and other creatures that I couldn’t recognize, further proving that Urrale was using more than just dark magic. She had the help of a God. The girls are crying and afraid. The servants were handling them roughly. I had already promised I would remove their hands because of what they had done to my grand pups. “You don’t have to handle them like that, they are afraid and tiny pups.” Cannon said, also seeing how rough they were handling the twins.

That comment earned him a punch from one of the guards. Cannon didn't even flinch, but we heard screeching sounds from the air. Cannon smiled with the promise of vengeance in his eyes. The guard's eyes widened as he looked frantically around, trying to see what the direction of the noise was coming from. He hurriedly went to the other side of the stone away from Cannon. "Oh my god, everything is set up so beautifully. It's like we're having a wedding ceremony. I have been dreaming of this moment for years. All my dreams are coming true. Once the ritual is over, I know you will understand everything I have done was for us and our future." Urrale said, coming onto the stones, looking around dreamily and coming next to me cupping my face, I jerked away from her touch. "You're crazy. I will never be yours. I will die before I will ever be with you. If you touch my grand pups I will rip your throat and watch, you die slowly." I said, just as a blow landed on the side of my head. It made me dizzy and angry.

"Do not threaten my master ever again." I heard a voice yell. "Shaid don't ever touch my mate again. He is upset because he has been under the spell of an evil she-wolf for years. We just need to do the ritual and he will finally see clearly and remember the love we shared. Now can someone please quiet those damn babies." Urrale said, as Fiona was pushed towards the twins, she picked them up, looking at them with worried eyes, because they had put needles in their arms with tubes that ran to buckets. There were clamps that were stopping their blood from draining. If I was going to stop this, I had to do something. I had already got out of the chains the moment Shaid hit me. Urrale was facing her and didn't see me free myself. "Someone bring the book to the altar. When I give you the signal, you will play each baby on the altar. Once I resight the spell, you will release the clamps and the blood will start to drain the babies."

She opened the book and began to read the old ancient words from the book. The clouds formed in the middle of the stones, all of a sudden thunder started clapping and the lightning lit the sky up. "Master, the guards are saying they are being attacked by wolves." The Servant Maria came into the middle of the stones looking nervous. Urrale's eyes widened in shock. "That can't be. I thought you said they wouldn't make it here in time, and I have a spell in place so they should be able to shift." Urrale said, looking around nervously. "I know that master, but none of your potions are working on them and they are killing out warriors." The servant said, with fear in her eyes. "Makahi, you made it my boy." I whispered, as tears of joy swept through me as well as something else.

Urrale must have heard me because she turned in my direction. "I wouldn't be too happy crossing over to my realm. He has no idea what I will do to him. I will make sure you see when I kill him, because I will kill him for ever stepping foot into my realm." Urrale said as her anger rose, she was so angry her power was radiating off her in waves. "Master, there is something else." The servant said fearfully. Urrale turned back to her. "What is it? Do hurry and tell me so I can go and kill his son." She said, thinking she was going to get a reaction out of me. "Well, one of the men that were with the men who kidnapped and killed his mate said that..." She paused, and she began to tremble in fear. "What is it Maria? Spit it out." She said, her anger still coming from her in waves. It was almost suffocating. "The warrior who was with the team that killed his mate, kidnapped him and the babies said he swore he had seen her." The servant said in a whisper that I almost didn't catch. "Seen who?" Urrale asked with a frown of confusion. I will admit I was a bit confused about where this was going myself. "He says he saw his.... mate."

The Alpha's Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 128

Zane's POV:

I know yall thought I was gone for good, but you can't get rid of me that easy. That evil bh set me and my men up , and she was going to pay. She knew Alpha Makahi was still at Crystal Moon. The bh used me as a tactic to weaken them in the hopes of stopping him from coming for his pup or when he does come for his pups she would easily defeat him. "Alpha are you sure we should be doing this so soon after our fight at the Crystal Moon, we lost a lot of our men. I just think we should allow them to battle it out and we take out the winner while they are still weak from the battle " My beta said, nervously. "Don't worry I don't plan to risk anymore of my men I just need to make sure the witch loses tonight and knows that it was me who did it. No one uses me, treat me like a fool, and get away with it. I'm glad I saved this little potion to create a portal to her realm. I paid one of her servants to steal a few bottles for me just in case. The only thing they wanted was money and freedom. If the witch loses tonight that servant plans to leave and disappear, and I have giving her the money to live comfortably for a while. She told me that you spray the wall and picture any room in the castle where you want to be, and it will create a portal. So, I pictured a basement. I knew she had one because I overheard her once talking about it. So here we are below the castle. "Alpha where are we? And what is that smell? Are we even in the castle?" My beta asked. I will admit it was complete dark down here and it smelled like death. "I just pictured a basement, and it brought us here, Maybe this is where she keeps her prisoners. If we come across any, we can see if they would pledge allegiance to me by blood if we offer them freedom. I am here to get my revenge on the witch. But more men to aid in my fight is a bonus." I said, we started walk down the long creepy hallway.

We came upon large wooden door that looked like it was at least a thousand years old. We only so it because it had what appeared to be a small light above it. "Is that the way out of here?" One of my men asked. "It's only one way to find out. Lets check it out." I said. We got to the door and turned the knob surprised that it was unlocked. It opened easily, but it just appeared to be a door to another dark room. "It's just another room, let's go back the other way; the exit must be on the other end." I said just as something grabbed my arm, yanking me back into the room as my wolves turned when they heard me yell. They rushed to reach me, but the door slammed shut. I could hear them ramming into the door because I was now locked. But I couldn't focus on that right now I needed to try and focus on my surroundings. "Well, well, well, I wasn't expecting dinner, I mean company tonight." I heard from somewhere in this room. My wolf wasn't with me because this realm has a spell to block a werewolf from shifting. So, I was on my own, but I wasn't a weak man I am capable of being the same kind of deadly killer my wolf was. "Who's there? Open the damn door. I don't want any trouble I am just here to see the witch." I said out loud. "Oh, alpha Zane, I know why you're here. I know everything there is to know about the almighty alpha Zane. Who do you think told the witch to seek you out?" The voice said. "What the hell is going on? Who is this, show yourself." I yelled into the room. "Gladly." The voice said laughing. My heart started to race; I didn't know who that voice belonged to. I was starting to have a bad feeling about coming here. Maybe I should have just waited for Alpha Makahi to kill the witch or at the very least weaken her. So, I could finish her off for betraying me. I never trusted her completely, because we both had an agenda and at the time our goals aligned with each other's goal, without crossing paths. I was using her, and she was using me. But this last time was her betraying me almost getting me killed by lying to me to achieve her goal alone and left me out to dry.

Shaking away those thoughts to focus on what or who this voice is and what does he want with me. All of a sudden there was a small light that formed in the center of the room. "Please forgive me I wasn't expecting guess as I said which is way I didn't get a chance to properly dress for the occasion." The voice said as he stepped into the light. What I saw was not human. It's face had skin falling off of it and his eyes weren't in the sockets they were just sitting on the outside of his face. He had no lips it was just teeth with what appear to be fangs. He only had a few pieces of hair attached to his head. I stumbled back falling to the ground but kept backing away from whatever this was.

"Why alpha it's rude to stare. I know I didn't comb my hair today, but it can't be that bad can it? Oh well it doesn't matter because I will be getting a makeover. I thought I would have to take over the witch's body. But a fate would have it, My Christmas present came early this year. The witch was under the impression I would allow her to live she was such a foolish child when I met her. She was heartbroken by some werewolf, and all I had to do was promise to spare him and she would help me with my plan." He said, walking in circles with his back turned to me as I try and find that damn door. I could barely hear my men still trying to break down the door. I just hope by the time I make it to the door they will have gotten in somehow. "So, with the witch's help I will finally be able to walk the earth once more and be rid of those filthy werewolves my sister loves so much. Oh well except you of course I have a better job for you. You will be able to help me more than the witch ever could." He said finally looking at me. I stopped in my tracks as he smiled.

"Wha, what do you mean I can help you? What do I have to do?" I asked as my voice trembled. "Well, that's the easy part. I would just use your body to destroy all the werewolves on the planet. Easy right?" He said shrugging like he just didn't say he wanted to use my body to kill all werewolves. "Are you crazy? You want to use my me to kill my own people. What would make you think I would do that? I want to rule the wolf shifters not eliminate them."

I said my voice sounding more confident then I felt because my men still haven't broken that damn door down and this whatever it was didn't sound like he was working with a full deck. "Oh, I must have misspoken. I didn't mean that you would be killing your own people that will be too cruel. I do have some morals. No, I meant that, I would be doing the killing....using your body as my personal vessel." He said with an evil no lip smile.

My eyes widen in shock. Did he just say he was going to use my body as a vessel? You will not use my body. I don't know what type of sick game you and the witch has going on, but I want no parts of it. I said not even caring if he sees me trying to get out of here. I should have listened to my beta and waited until that alpha to weaken the witch and then get my revenge. I was blindly feeling around the room touching nothing. I didn't think I was pulled this far into this room, was I? All I do know is I couldn't allow that thing to get near me.

"Awe, trying leave so soon Alpha Zane, I really thought my idea was a great one you would get to live albeit from the inside looking out. It seemed like a win, win to me." He said, laughing into the darkness. I started to scream for my men hoping I could use their voice to head in the right direction. But I could no longer hear anything but the laugh of that evil being. It had to be who the witch was working with and the one who gave her those powers.

She was sicker then I thought. She has completely lost her mind, agreeing to working with an evil such as this. "Oh, alpha I thought you were going to make this easy for me. I mean I explained everything to easy and even offered to spare your life if you allowed me to use your body to kill my sister. But I guess I will have to do what I do best which is take it by force." He said just as I felt something cold and slimy wrap around my legs and pulled me into the darkness.

The Alpha's Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 128

Zane's POV:

I know yall thought I was gone for good, but you can't get rid of me that easy. That evil bh set me and my men up , and she was going to pay. She knew Alpha Makahi was still at Crystal Moon. The bh used me as a tactic to weaken them in the hopes of stopping him from coming for his pup or when he does come for his pups she would easily defeat him. "Alpha are you sure we should be doing this so soon after our fight at the Crystal Moon, we lost a lot of our men. I just think we should allow them to battle it out and we take out the winner while they are still weak from the battle " My beta said, nervously. "Don't worry I don't plan to risk anymore of my men I just need to make sure the witch loses tonight and knows that it was me who did it. No one uses me, treat me like a fool, and get away with it. I'm glad I saved this little potion to create a portal to her realm. I paid one of her servants to steal a few bottles for me just in case. The only thing they wanted was money and freedom. If the witch loses tonight that servant plans to leave and disappear, and I have giving her the money to live comfortably for a while. She told me that you spray the wall and picture any room in the castle where you want to be, and it will create a portal. So, I pictured a basement. I knew she had one because I overheard her once talking about it. So here we are below the castle. "Alpha where are we? And what is that smell? Are we even in the castle?" My beta asked. I will admit it was complete dark down here and it smelled like death. "I just pictured a basement, and it brought us here, Maybe this is where she keeps her prisoners. If we come across any, we can see if they would pledge allegiance to me by blood if we offer them freedom. I am here to get my revenge on the witch. But more men to aid in my fight is a bonus." I said, we started walk down the long creepy hallway.

We came upon large wooden door that looked like it was at least a thousand years old. We only so it because it had what appeared to be a small light above it. "Is that the way out of here?" One of my men asked. "It's only one way to find out. Lets check it out." I said. We got to the door and turned the knob surprised that it was unlocked. It opened easily, but it just appeared to be a door to another dark room. "It's just another room, let's go back the other way; the exit must be on the other end." I said just as something grabbed my arm, yanking me back into the room as my wolves turned when they heard me yell. They rushed to reach me, but the door slammed shut. I could hear them ramming into the door because I was now locked. But I couldn't focus on that right now I needed to try and focus on my surroundings. "Well, well, well, I wasn't expecting dinner, I mean company tonight." I heard from somewhere in this room. My wolf wasn't with me because this realm has a spell to block a werewolf from shifting. So, I was on my own, but I wasn't a weak man I am capable of being the same kind of deadly killer my wolf was. "Who's there? Open the damn door. I don't want any trouble I am just here to see the witch." I said out loud. "Oh, alpha Zane, I know why you're here. I know everything there is to know about the almighty alpha Zane. Who do you think told the witch to seek you out?" The voice said. "What the hell is going on? Who is this, show yourself." I yelled into the room. "Gladly." The voice said laughing. My heart started to race; I didn't know who that voice belonged to. I was starting to have a bad feeling about coming here. Maybe I should have just waited for Alpha Makahi to kill the witch or at the very least weaken her. So, I could finish her off for betraying me. I never trusted her completely, because we both had an agenda and at the time our goals aligned with each other's goal, without crossing paths. I was using her, and she was using me. But this last time was her betraying me almost getting me killed by lying to me to achieve her goal alone and left me out to dry.

Shaking away those thoughts to focus on what or who this voice is and what does he want with me. All of a sudden there was a small light that formed in the center of the room. "Please forgive me I wasn't excepting guess as I said which is way I didn't get a chance to properly dress for the occasion." The voice said as he stepped into the light. What I saw was not human. It's face had skin falling off of it and his yes weren't in the sockets they were just sitting on the outside of his face. He had no lips it was just teeth with what appear to be fangs. He only had a few pieces of hair attached to his head. I stumbled back falling to the ground but kept backing away from whatever this was.

"Why alpha it's rude to stare. I know I didn't comb my hair today, but it can't be that bad can it? Oh well it doesn't matter because I will be getting a makeover. I thought I would have to take over the witches body. But a fate would have it, My Christmas present came early this year. The witch was under the impression I would allow her to live she was such a foolish child when I met her. She was heartbroken by some werewolf, and all I had to do was promise to spare him and she would help me with my plan." He said, walking in circles with his back turned to me as I try and find that damn door. I could barely hear my men still trying to break down the door. I just hope by the time I make it to the door they will have gotten in somehow. “So, with the witches help I will finally be able to walk the earth once more and be rid of those filthy werewolves my sister loves so much. Oh well except you of course I have a better job for you. You will be able to help me more then the witch ever could.” He said finally looking at me. I stopped in my tracks as he smiled.

“Wha, what do you mean I can help you? What do I have to do?” I asked as my voice trembled. “Well, that’s the easy part. I would just use your body to destroy all the werewolves on the planet. Easy right?” He said shrugging like he just didn’t say he wanted to use my body to kill all werewolves. “Are you crazy? You want to use my me to kill my own people. What would make you think I would do that? I want to rule the wolf shifters not eliminate them.”

I said my voice sounding more confident then I felt because my man still haven’t broken that damn door down and this whatever it was didn’t sound like he was working with a full deck. “Oh, I must have misspoken. I didn’t mean that you would be killing your own people that will be too cruel. I do have some morals. No, I meant that, I would be doing the killing....using your body as my personal vessel.” He said with an evil no lip smile.

My eyes widen in shock. Did he just say he was going to use my body as a vessel? You will not use my body. I don’t know what type of sick game you and the witch has going on, but I want no parts of it. I said not even caring if he sees me trying to get out of here. I should have listened to my beta and waited until that alpha to weaken the witch and then get my revenge. I was blindly feeling around the room touching nothing. I didn’t think I was pulled this far into this room, was I? All I do know is I couldn’t allow that thing to get near me.

“Awe, trying leave so soon Alpha Zane, I really thought my idea was a great one you would get to live albeit from the inside looking out. It seemed like a win, win to me.” He said, laughing into the darkness. I started to scream for my men hoping I could use their voice to head in the right direction. But I could no longer hear anything but the laugh of that evil being. It had to be who the witch was working with and the one who gave her those powers.

She was sicker then I thought. She has completely lost her mind, agreeing to working with an evil such as this. “Oh, alpha I thought you were going to make this easy for me. I mean I explained everything to easy and even offered to spare your life if you allowed me to use your body to kill my sister. But I guess I will have to do what I do best which is take it by force.” He said just as I felt something cold and slimy wrap around my legs and pulled me into the darkness.

The Alpha’s Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 130

The beginning

Makahi's POV:

It's time for war. I nodded at the dragons who were to be the first to go through the entrance and set it ablaze. Once, we heard the screeching of the dragon, which was our cue. My team entered and half of us shifted while the rest of us stayed in human form. At the entrance we saw hundreds of creatures, some we recognized and some we didn't. They all looked like demons. The witch must have them all under a spell or hyped up on potions. But there was no time to think of that now. We are here to do what we do best. I ran into the sea of creatures, cutting them down one by one. Rimmy, Hunter, Bruin, and Hawk change of plans. There are too many creatures out here. I need you to shift, get to your Luna and then follow my mother to help get the twins. Hawks get Shawna to safety NOW!" I mind linked and they obeyed without question. I saw the dragon giving the signal of where the witch was. My mother shifted, and Mylan threw her cane in the air, the warrior appeared in her place, she jumped on my mother's wolf and they both fought their way through the creatures who were attacking them. There were so many creatures That I couldn't remain in my human form, so I allowed Maka to join me, and I half shifted.

That allowed me the strength and speed of Maka in human form. This allowed me to kill more creatures. I looked over where Ji'lahni was as she used her guns and crossbows. She and the girls couldn't make their way through the creature to reach the girls or my dad. Just then Maxisin and his dragon came and breathed fire, clearing a path for the girls just as he was hit with black fire. "fg hell! Is that the black dragon Mylan told us about? st, he's huge." I heard Montego say, as Dradon tackled the black dragon in the air. They both slammed into the ground hard, blowing fire and snapping their teeth at each other. Their fire was lighting up the grass and trees. I have a bad feeling about this.

Urrale's POV:

"This can't be happening. There is no way she is still alive. Why are they trying to ruin everything I have worked so hard for?" I yelled. "Master, Should I summon Gunner and his men?" My assistant asked. "No, not yet. Shaid take Maria with you and slow the alpha down while I finish the ritual." I said, handing Maria a small vial which she swallowed without a second thought. "Now go and stop them from ruining my wedding. And if you see that we, YOU KILL HER!" I said and my energy surged from my anger. How the hell is she still alive? My guard said he snapped her neck. There is no way she is alive. Once Shaid and Maria ran off to the fight, I turned back to the altar and the babies were crying angrily. I closed my eyes and began the ritual again. Nothing is going to stop me from my goal.

Antoni's POV:

This is my time. Once Shaid and her servant left, there would only be her guards to protect her. "I told you that if you touched my grand pups that I would rip your throat out." I said as I got up from the chair, where I was cuffed. Urrale turned to me with a shocked face. “How the hell did you get free?” She asked, confused. I held up the chain that was around my wrist. “Urrale, you should have remembered that at the organization, that was the first thing they taught us was how to build up a tolerance to wolfbane.” As I swung the chain at her, which I knew she would dodge. She threw an energy ball that barely missed me. I went in to strike her in the face. I hated hitting women, I had morals, but once she touched my grand pups there was no hesitation.

She blocked me and threw another energy at me and this time it hit me in the arm and burned through my shirt sleeve. I hissed in pain and one of her guards took the opportunity to attack me. I saw Urrale grab Fiona, who held the babies, dragging them back to the castle, but Fiona was fighting, trying to get away from the witch. I caught the hand of the guard who threw a punch at my head and snapped it until the bone stuck out of his wrist, then used the palm of my hand and hit him in the nose, breaking it. Immediately he dropped to the ground. A guard kicked me in the back, and I stumbled forward, righting myself to block the punch. The last guard tried to land on my face. I used my hands to clap his ears, throwing his balance off enough for me to land two hard blows to his gut and landed an uppercut to his face. I caught him before he landed and broke his neck. I turned to see eight more guards coming my way.

“Hey, do you mind if I join you, you look a little winded old man.” I heard from behind me, to see Cannon had also managed to free himself and wrapped his chain around his hand fisting the chain. “Who the hell you calling old? I could take these weaklings by myself.” I said, and he smiled, but his face turned cold as the guards raced in our direction. I glanced at Fiona, and she seemed to be holding her own against Urrale. Urrale couldn’t use her magic on Fiona as long as she had the girls in her hands. I just needed to get rid of those guards. The guard that punched Cannon earlier ran to attack him again and Cannon smiled as he tried to land a punch and Cannon moved like he was in slow motion. Then he used his foot and landed a kick to the man’s knee that made a sickening crack and he immediately bent down to protect his knee and Cannon easily grabbed his head, lifting it, punching the man directly in his throat. The guard grabbed his throat, choking and spitting up blood, before hitting the ground dead. Well, any thought of Cannon being too weak to fight went right out the window. I thought just as the rest of her guards ran to attack us. Hang on, girls’ papa’s coming.

Ji’lahni’s POV:

“What in the entire hell is going on out here? This crazy bh is crossbreeding animals and has men and women who look feral and animalistic.” I said as I shot my automatic crossbow and gun. “God damn Mina duck.” Shawna Yelled in the coms. Mina did it without thought. “These bitches out here trying to kill us for real.” Mina said as she threw a throwing star at a woman who got entirely too close to Lynn. “st you thought they were playing when that lion monkey was trying to kiss you instead of trying to rip your head off.” Shawna said from her hiding spot. She had Hawk with her to help protect her just in case. Momma Teri and Lynn’s grandma were killing animals and humans with ease. Lynn’s Grandma threw her cane in the air and all the animals and humans slowed down as she swung a long chain with blades on the end of it around and it cut the throats of all the animals and humans that were surrounding her. she jumped in the air grabbing her cane, landed on momma Teri's wolf's back and they continued down the path the dragons made for us. Damn, I want one of those grandmother chains." Mina said, which caused Lynn to look at her. "What? We're family, so she is our grandmother too." Mina said to Lynn, who rolled her eyes as she shot two guards in the face without flinching. We ran trying to keep up with Momma Teri's wolf.

"You guys are really bad asses when you got those guns and wolves to protect you." We heard a voice right, before we saw none other than Shaid and another woman who looked like she was on the thriller video walked in our wolves' path, making them stop abruptly. "Oh st, here comes this bh again. I mean damn, we can't catch a fg break around this bitch." I said, rolling my eyes. "Now that you don't have those pups to protect you, this should be easy. You fat bitches have been lucky. I am truly surprised you lasted this long. But aren't you missing the fat we who had the nerve to touch what's mine." Shaid sneered. "Is that zombie bh talking about me?" Shawna asked via com.

But apparently that was enough for the zombie bh to ck her head to the side and then look in the direction of where she heard the voice coming from and smile. "I'll be up in a minute once I kill your family, then I will cut that pup out of your stomach and drain it while you watch bleeding out right, before I allow my friends to drain you to death." She said with sicken smile, nodding her head to the men behind her who raced in Shawna's direction. "Shawna gets your a*s out of there now!" I yelled in a panic. "bh I was gone when she spotted me. You just keep your asses alive and get the girls. I'll be fine." Shawna said. I breathed a sigh of relief. st is about to get real disrespectful.